Warren 2006 building permits top $1.8 million in big jump

Warren - "Warren's 73 building permits in 2006 had a total valuation of $1,863,330.63, City Hall reports. This is a substantial increase (up 142 percent from 2005) and exceeds building permit activity in 2005 and 2004 combined, which was $1,635,356.64.

"The surge in building permits last year resulted from $1,409,357 in commercial-industrial building permits with an additional $7,000 of commercial demolition. That left $446,973.63 in residential building permits." - Warren Sheaf, Jan. 3, 2007

Minnesota snowmobile trails are missing one ingredient – snow

Hallock - "The lack of snow throughout Minnesota continues to hinder riding opportunities on the state's more than 20,000 miles of snowmobile trails.

"Although trails typically open in early December snow depth determines whether a trail is ready for riding."

"While the snow may seem scarce in Kittson County, it is even more scarce in other parts of the state. In fact, most areas of the state (as of Dec. 29) had no snow at all."

"A minimum of 12 inches of adequate snow cover is necessary for packing and grooming trails, according to Les Ollila, Northeast Region Trails and Waterways manager for the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources." - Kittson County Enterprise, Jan. 3, 2007, by Cindy Stewart

Many pitch in for "Don't Spend Christmas Alone"

Roseau - "Outside the Four Seasons Senior Center on Christmas Day, Duane Comstock lent a helping hand to Phil Sallberg and Jon Smebak, who were heading out to make more deliveries to the homebound.

"In the back seat, they carefully placed two large boxes, packed with individual containers of meatballs, ham, corn, mashed potatoes and gravy.

"Comstock had the unofficial title of greeter and coat hanger, and was wearing a red and green plaid flannel shirt, which one senior citizen remarked as being 'Christmasy.'

"Nobody got past Comstock, who was full of Christmas cheer at the annual event.

"For the past eight years, the local Eagles service club has hosted 'Don't Spend Christmas Alone,' which began at least two decades ago." - Roseau Times-Region, Dec. 30, 2006, by Jeff Olsen

Grinolds bound for nationals

Erskine - "Christina Grinolds, a Win-E-Mac junior and a member of the Polk County 4-H Shooting Sports team, has been selected to represent Minnesota at the 2007 4-H National Shoot. Grinolds, along with Marcy McNichols of Itasca County, Amy Hodges of Anoka County and Jason Welter of Olmsted County, will make up the 2007 Minnesota Air Rifle Team. The 2007 4-H National Shoot will be held in Rapid City, S.D., the last week in June." - The Erskine Echo, Jan. 4, 2007

Drug and gang summit set for Jan. 17-18 in Red Lake

Several organizations will sponsor a methamphetamine, crack cocaine and gang summit at the Red Lake Humanities Center on Jan. 17 and 18 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on each day. The summit, titled "Breaking New Ground for a Better Tomorrow," will include 17 presenters and facilitators.

In addition to the speeches and workshops at the Humanities Center, there will be three community presentations by motivational speaker David Parnell, who will share his personal experience in a talk titled "Facing the Dragon: One Man's Battle Against Methamphetamine." The talks will be held Tuesday, Jan. 16 at 5:30 p.m. at the Ponemah Community Center; Wednesday, Jan. 17 at 9 a.m. at Red Lake High School, and Wednesday, Jan. 17 at 6 p.m. at the Humanities Center.

Mornings at the Humanities Center will concentrate on presentations by people associated with Native American Law Enforcement Summits and include: John Boulger on Crack Cocaine and Meth, Bill Blake of the Minneapolis Police Department on Gang Awareness, Jim Warren on Meth in Indian Country, Ron Glamun on Meth Awareness, Susan Whitehorse about Amber Alerts/Missing and Abducted Children, and Janelle Rasmussen from the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension.

Break-out sessions in the afternoon will be facilitated by law enforcement faculty from Fox Valley Technical College of Appleton, Wis.

The summit's mission is to educate, mobilize tribal agencies, professionals, schools and community members in efforts against illegal drugs and crimes on the Red Lake Reservation. The goal is then to produce committees that will advise communities on how to effectively address issues of crime, drugs and violence while working closely with district representatives and the Red Lake Tribal Council.

Sponsors for the events at the Humanities Center include the Red Lake Tribal Council, Indian and Free, Red Lake Project Safe Neighborhoods, Red Lake Nation Coalition, NALES, FVTC, Seven Clans Casino, Ponemah Outpatient, Warrior Down, and Comprehensive Health Services.

The Parnell presentation is sponsored by Red Lake Chemical Health Programs: Warrior Down and Indian and Free Prevention/Treatment Program.

Excel Dairy proceeds with improvements

by David Hill
Editor

Progress on improvements at Excel Dairy is continuing as cows are being milked.

Rick Millner, Excel Dairy in Veblen, S.D., said that they expect Phase I, which includes an additional free-stall barn and manure storage area, to be complete in late January.

Millner said about 850 cows are now being milked at Excel Dairy, which is located just north of Thief River Falls. Although the facility is licensed for 1545 cows, Millner said they like to see a good 15 months of manure storage available along with additional barn space before increasing the size of the herd. The milk is being shipped to Perham.

Excel Dairy is in the midst of a permit process that would allow for improvements to the facility (not to increase the size of the herd beyond what they are permitted to have at the facility).

In a separate agreement, Millner also said they are agreeing with the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency to conduct air quality monitoring. He said they are committed to making sure it isn't a problem.

A group of producer-investors, known as The Dairy Dozen - Thief River Falls, owns Excel Dairy. Approximately 12 individuals are working at the facility.

On Jan. 2, MPCA announced that it had made a preliminary determination to issue an individual National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System and State Disposal System permit. Public comment on the notice of intent to issue the permit began on Jan. 2, 2007, and ends Feb. 2, 2007."

According to the MPCA document, The Dairy Dozen "has proposed to construct two additional earthen basins to correct a shortage of manure storage capacity, to allow increased flexibility in manure

Pennington Co. looks at future

Courthouse expansion among options

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

The future landscape of Pennington County became a little more clear Tuesday (Jan. 2) as county commissioners and county department heads participated in the second workshop of a space needs analysis and facility needs assessment of the county.

Klein McCarthy Architects of St. Louis Park was hired by Pennington County in August, to analyze and assess the space and facility needs of the county. Additionally, commissioners hired the firm to determine what potential uses, if any, the county could have with the city auditorium if it was purchased from the city of Thief River Falls, and assess the county's need for additional and more secure courtroom space.

In November, the firm held its first workshop with county officials. That workshop focused on the needs of various county departments based on staffing projections for the next 20 to 50 years.

Bruce Schwartzman and Rich McCarthy of Klein McCarthy met with county officials for the second workshop Jan. 2. This time, they presented five preliminary options to address the county's space and facility needs. Each option included a cost estimate.

Schwartzman said feedback from the second workshop will aid Klein McCarthy in creating the final proposal. "What we found, was a confirmation of what we discussed in November. There's not a real space problem now. A lot of those space needs can be met by reconfiguring current work space."

Three of the five options call for an addition to the county courthouse, while two others would leave the courthouse structurally as is, but would add space to the Law Enforcement Center.

Option one calls for remodeling of the existing city auditorium with

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacourse@mncable.net

Today's recipes are also from the new cookbook of Evangelical Covenant Church in TRF. Enjoy.

I can't resist soup recipes. This one sounds so good for a cold winter's supper:

HAM AND BEAN SOUP
Judy Inglis

Ham bone
Leftover ham, chunked
5 quarts water
6-7 whole allspice
4-6 bay leaves
1 medium onion, chopped
1 large bag navy beans
6 carrots, shredded
Salt to taste

In large soup pot, boil ham bone, ham chunks, water, allspice, bay leaves and onion for 3-4 hours. Refrigerate the soup overnight.

The next day, skim excess fat off top and reheat stock. Strain the stock and add the chunked ham back into the soup. Bring the soup to a boil and add navy beans, carrots and salt. Simmer for 2-4 hours or until beans mash easily.

Make this soup for supper tonight - if you do like I do and make broth from your turkey carcass, this is the perfect place to use it - and look, you can use packaged coleslaw mix instead of having to chop your own cabbage and carrots:

CREAM OF CABBAGE SOUP
Florence Hillyer

1/4 cup margarine
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
3 (14 ounce) cans chicken broth
1 (16 ounce) bag Coleslaw mix
1 large kielbasa, Polish sausage or ham
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon caraway seed
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 pint half and half
1/4 cup flour

In large soup kettle, sauté onions and celery in margarine until they are translucent. Add chicken broth, coleslaw mix, kielbasa, salt, caraway seed and pepper.

Bring soup to a boil, reduce heat and simmer for 35 minutes or until cabbage is tender.

In small bowl, whisk the half and half with the flour to remove any lumps and add it to the soup, stirring constantly. Bring soup to a boil again and stir until thickened, about 5 minutes. Serve.

What a great soup this is - tasty and filling - just right for the weather we're having:

CHEESEBURGER SOUP
Judy Sorum

1/2 pound ground beef
3/4 cup chopped onion
3/4 cup shredded carrots
3/4 cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon dried basil
1 teaspoon dried parsley
4 tablespoons butter
3 cups chicken broth
4 cups cubed potatoes
1/4 cup flour
2 cups cubed cheddar cheese
1 1/2 cups milk
1/4 cup sour cream (optional)

In large kettle, melt 1 tablespoon butter over medium heat. Add ground beef, onion, carrots and celery and cook until beef is brown. Drain off excess fat. Stir in basil and parsley. Add broth and potatoes. Bring to a boil and then simmer until potatoes are tender, about 10-12 minutes.

In another saucepan, melt remaining 3 tablespoons butter and stir in flour. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly until smooth. Gradually add milk mixture to the soup, stirring constantly. Bring soup to a boil and reduce heat to a simmer. Stir in the cheese. When cheese is melted, stir in sour cream and heat through, but do not boil.

Have these ready in the freezer to serve as a complement to any of the soups above:

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD
Doris Swanson

2 cups sugar
1 cup water
1 (9 ounce) packages frozen strawberries
1 quart can crushed pineapple, drained
1 quart can sliced apricots, drained
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 bananas, diced

In small saucepan, boil sugar and water until sugar dissolves. Transfer the simple syrup to a large bowl and add frozen strawberries. Stir until they are thawed.

Add crushed pineapple, sliced apricots, lemon juice and bananas and stir. Spoon fruit mixture into paper lined muffin cups and freeze. Take out of freezer 20 minutes before serving.

TRF man charged with assault after pointing rifle at woman

A Thief River Falls man has been charged after he allegedly pointed a rifle at a woman and later threatened law enforcement.

Timothy Douglas Bangen, 46, has been charged with second degree assault and terroristic threats. The assault charge stems from an incident in the early morning hours of Dec. 29 at his home in the 15000 block of 130th St. N.W. The terroristic threats charge stems from alleged threats that Bangen made toward Pennington County deputies Ray Kuznia, Kurt Nelson and "other jailers" over a period of hours, according to the criminal complaint.

As of early Thursday afternoon, Bangen was still being held at the Pennington County Jail. Bond had been set at $25,000 cash or $50,000 surety.

The incidents began after Bangen, who was intoxicated, started harassing his girlfriend. (Since she is an alleged victim of a domestic assault, The Times isn't listing her name nor the specific address of the home.) The woman left the home and later came back with an elderly man, who wasn't identified in the criminal complaint. Later in the evening, Bangen hung a sheet in the living room doorway of the home. When the woman pulled the sheet up, Bangen allegedly pointed a .22-caliber long rifle at her. He then told her, "I'm no one to be messed with." Bangen then handed the woman the rifle, and she ejected the shell in the rifle.

While reporting the incident to the Pennington County Sheriff's Department, the woman then told officers that Bangen had discussed having shootouts with law enforcement. The complaint alleges that they had watched a TV show in which police were shot, and that Bangen thought this was impressive. "All of this occurred on or about 1 or 1:30 a.m. Dec. 29," according to the criminal complaint.

The woman was then able to get out of the house with the excuse that she was bringing the elderly man to a nursing home. She immediately went to the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center. The woman informed deputies about the incident and told them that Bangen allegedly had guns "all over the house," the complaint alleges.

Pennington County and Red Lake County deputies waited until daylight to go to the home. They entered the residence and allegedly found "guns hidden all over the house," according to the complaint. They verified that a sheet was hanging from a wall. The deputies were also able to secure the rifle that Bangen allegedly pointed at the woman. When they approached Bangen, they discovered he had prepared himself for law enforcement by hiding two knives near his wrists.

After he was arrested, Bangen was allegedly combative. He allegedly threatened law enforcement, making threats and, at one point, saying, "How do I step this up from a second degree assault to a first degree assault?" Throughout the process, he allegedly threatened Kuznia and Nelson. The complaint alleges Bangen made numerous threats to assault the deputies and that they were concerned enough that "... Kuznia pulled out a Taser to protect himself and other deputies because they thought Mr. Bangen was crazy enough to assault them." Bangen also stood next to them in a combative manner with his fists clenched.

The complaint indicated an order for detention was requested for several reasons, including that Bangen has prior convictions for felony theft and felony burglary. The Pennington County Sheriff's Department recently responded to a call at the same residence. At one point, Bangen held a wood spindle up towards Nelson in a threatening manner. (It was unclear from the criminal complaint whether that incident occurred Dec. 29 or after the other recent call pertaining to the residence.) Bangen also has had previous terroristic threats charges.

Minnesota traffic deaths drop to lowest level since WWII

Preliminary 2006 Minnesota traffic death figures reflect 67 fewer deaths than in 2005 – a 12 percent decrease. The 475 deaths – including five people killed over the year's final weekend – cap three consecutive years of fewer traffic fatalities since 2003, when there were 655 deaths. While noting the dramatic progress, Department of Public Safety officials deemed the nearly 500 deaths "preventable tragedies," and called on all Minnesota motorists to commit to driving the state toward zero deaths.

The current 2006 death count is the lowest number of annual traffic deaths recorded in the state since 1945. The 2005 preliminary death total was 542 at this time last year; the final 2005 traffic death count was 559. The 2006 total reflects motorists (360), motorcyclists (64), pedestrians (38), bicyclists (eight), all-terrain vehicle operators (two), snowmobilers (two) and a motor scooter operator (one). The tally will rise as more reports are received from police departments and county sheriffs' departments.

While pedestrian deaths decreased slightly and bicyclist fatalities increased, there were 64 motorcyclist deaths in 2006, six more than 2005, continuing a decade-long state and national upward trend. While motorcycles account for only 3 percent of registered vehicles in Minnesota, motorcyclists represented 13 percent of all traffic deaths in 2006.

Common themes from previous years are expected to surface in analysis of last year's crash data, according to Kathy Swanson, director of the Office of Traffic Safety. "Teens and young adults, especially males, are those most often killed in crashes," said Swanson. "The most frequent factors in fatal crashes – the great majority of which occur in Greater Minnesota – are speed, unbelted passengers and impaired driving."

The significant decrease in traffic deaths is attributed in part to the Toward Zero Deaths program, which combines the resources of state and local agencies, county engineers and community organizations to address traffic safety issues through the "Four Es" – enforcement, engineering, education and emergency trauma care.

While acknowledging that the reduction in traffic deaths was significant, Swanson warns against complacency. "Hundreds of families will lose members next year by sudden, violent means – and this should be intolerable to all Minnesotans. If we can help affect fewer than 500 deaths in 2006 this coming year, we must aim for 400 or fewer."

Several statewide enforcement efforts in 2006 yielded dramatic results. During HEAT (Highway Enforcement of Aggressive Traffic), law enforcement agencies stopped more than 88,000 vehicles and cited nearly 34,000 drivers for illegal speed. According to Minnesota Department of Transportation data, there were fewer vehicles traveling more than 10 miles over the posted speed limit both in the metro area and Greater Minnesota. HEAT also yielded more than 45,000 speed warnings as well as nearly 14,000 citations for non-speed related offenses.

Seat belt enforcement campaigns in May and October resulted in more than 19,000 seat belt citations. A three-week effort targeting impaired drivers in August resulted in 2,500 driving-while-intoxicated arrests. The number of DWIs from a similar effort in December will be announced in January. NightCAP, a federally funded program targeting the state's 13 deadliest counties for impaired driving fatalities, netted nearly 2,800 DWIs as well as 17,000 other traffic citations. OTS officials anticipate a record high of 40,000 DWI arrests in 2006.

Relative to vehicle occupants and their safety, Minnesota's seat belt use rate dropped from a record-high of 84 percent to 83 percent in August 2006. Also troubling to safety officials was a significant drop of five percentage points in seat belt use rate from 79 percent to 75 percent among 16- to 29-year-olds, an age group disproportionately over-represented in traffic crashes and deaths.

Preliminary crash reports for December indicate 32 people died and 94 were seriously injured. The deaths include 29 vehicle occupants and three pedestrians. Thirteen of the 32 people who were killed in the crashes were 15 to 29 years old. The 32 fatal crash victims included five in Hennepin County, four in Crow Wing County, three in Chisago County, two people each in Anoka, Lanhart, Kandiyohi and Winona counties, and one death each in Carlton, Dakota, Itasca, Lake, Mille Lacs, Pipestone, Polk, Ramsey, St. Louis, Steele, Stevens and Washington counties. Of vehicle occupants seriously injured, 30 weren't wearing seat belts. Alcohol is a known factor in 29 serious injuries; alcohol use in fatal crashes is unknown at this time.

Cell phone donations benefit service members

Nearly 200 million people use cell phones in the U.S., with numerous releases of increasingly high-tech cell phones each year, millions of those people are leaving their out-of-date mobile units in the dust. Right now, you can get rid of the old technology and turn that old phone into cash for Soldiers' Angels.

Soldiers' Angels has teamed up with Pacebutler for a first national campaign to collect cell phones (handsets and batteries only) to be recycled for cash to purchase pre-paid long-distance calling cards to provide military members overseas the ability to stay in touch with families and friends. This partnership is not only good for the environment with regard to recycling but also for service members that Soldiers' Angels are reaching out and touching through this effort.

Community members and businesses interested in donating phones or setting up a collection location on behalf of Soldiers' Angels are requested to send their name, address, phone number and how many boxes or bags (up to five) they would like sent to them to the following e-mail address: saphonedrive@gmail.com.

The pre-paid boxes and bags will be sent out to the person requesting to host a collection and all shipping labels will have Soldiers' Angels information on them, thus giving Soldiers' Angels credit for the donated cell phones. Individuals who set up a host location are asked to ship cell phones back to Pacebutler in the pre-paid boxes on a monthly basis.

Soldiers' Angels is an all-volunteer, 501(c)(3) non-profit organization dedicated to the support of the brave men and women deployed in support of the War on Terror in Iraq, Afghanistan and wherever the United States flag is flown. For more information about Soldiers' Angels, check out the Web site www.soldiersangels.org or contact Debby Frenchs, vice president of donations at (816) 550-9095. Shelle Michaels is the local Minnesota/North Dakota/South Dakota regional manager. She can be reached at (218) 779-7271.

I saw the big pickup roll slowly down onto the ice, but still with enough speed and determination to make it clear that he didn't intend to stop and inspect or assess just exactly what it was he was rolling onto. Yes, it was late December, but the month had been mild and ice conditions weren't all they were cracked up to be. (cracked up to be? Get it? Ice? Man, am I good sometimes) and that pickup looked to be a heavy load. I briefly considered keeping my nose out of the situation and my opinions to myself. Hey, I said "briefly," so that's not a real stretch of the truth. Besides, if God burdens you with a meddlesome and self-righteous nature, isn't it my right and destiny to use it? Anyway, the truck was a big, shiny black, king cab that sported a matching topper and darkly tinted glass. It was a distinctly imposing character that reminded me of the big, shiny black Lincoln Continentals that cruised the evening streets of my Rhode Island youth. I thought it ironic that those vehicles were (at least in my dramatic adolescent mind) looking to punch holes in kneecaps while this present day Ford, similarly, was looking to punch holes in the ice.

I steered to the side of the trail and hopped off my four-wheeler, waiting for the truck to pull abreast. He stopped a little shy of my position and waited for me to walk up to the mirrored façade of his driver side windows. I could see from this position that the back of the truck was loaded with ice fishing equipment - an auger, a few portables, several 30-pound propane cylinders, a cooler, a bunch of 5 gallon pails and a couple of cases of beer and pop. He paused a few moments before electrically lowering the glass. I got the sense that this guy had already caught wind of my "meddlesome and self-righteous nature" and was barely tolerating this interlude.

Inside the cab, five good-sized, tightly-packed prospective anglers glared silently out the now open window, apparently daring me to occupy yet another moment of their ice-fishing expedition.

"Just wanted to let you know," I offered, "that the ice is still in that 13-14 inch mode and there are a few spots to the east with less than that." I received barely a blink from the quiet congregation, leading me to wonder if this group was from Wisconsin or some other foreign country and I needed to speak a different language.

"There's a crack in about 22 feet that you should watch out for and a second ridge running north-south through the area that moves quite a bit in the midday sun," I continued.

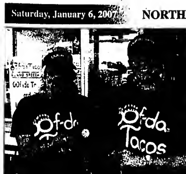
Again the silent stares.

Beginning to feel the distinct lack of neighborly goodwill I'd hoped to elicit, I finished up. "You're the first good-sized vehicle I've seen out here and I just thought I'd let you know."

"We're always first," came the flat, unexpected response from somewhere deep inside the cab. The window glided slowly closed and the truck drove out onto the lake. I stood there for a moment like a boob (kind of like being meddlesome and self-righteous - if the shoe fits, wear it). The fact that I had actually been addressed surprised me almost as much as the content of the reply itself.

Did he say "first," as though it was an honor and a privilege? I certainly could see "first" as a bragging point in a county fair potato-sack race or in connection with a class rank standing. "First" is certainly positive in the race to land on the moon or when a newly married couple lands in their honeymoon bed. But this was a big, heavy truck on early ice in December and I'm not sure that "first" was an appropriate position to highlight.

Maybe, I thought, he meant "first" in a more obligatory nature, kind of like those guys in the front row during revolutionary war battles. "No, you first. No really, after you. Go ahead." Those darn soldiers were so polite, weren't they? Or maybe he meant "first" like a sacrificial honor. You know, like when they're looking to throw a few maidens into the volcano to appease the deities and all the young girls from the village clamor to the front of the crowd waving their arms screaming "Pick me first, me first!" Or maybe, I thought as the big black pickup drove off to the east in search of fishing adventure, he meant "first" as in being first on the ice in a heavy truck would bring him all those notions combined. Honor, glory, praise and riches. All for being first on the ice. Hmmm. I weighed all those accolades in my mind against the obscure, anonymous comfort of being second. Or even 19th.



Or maybe he just meant "first" as in line at the insurance company.

Cancer Center of North Dakota first to offer image guided radiotherapy treatment

Cancer Center of North Dakota, the state's newest free-standing independent cancer center in Grand Forks, has become the first cancer center in North Dakota to offer On-Board Imaging to its cancer treatment options.

The Varian Medical Systems' On-Board Imager accessory for medical linear accelerators is designed to improve the precision and effectiveness of cancer treatments by allowing physicians to target and track tumors more accurately.

The On-Board Imager is an automated system for image-guided radiation therapy (IGRT). High resolution X-ray images are taken to pinpoint tumor site, adjust patient positioning and complete the treatment in a standard treatment time slot.

According to William Noyes, M.D, radiation oncologist for Cancer Center of North Dakota (CCND), offering OBI in the Grand Forks region ensures that residents are getting the latest technology without having to travel out of state.

"This is the absolute latest available technology to treat malignant tumors," said Noyes. "Until now, we had to contend with inadequate information on tumor location and we ended up treating the healthy tissue around the tumor with radiation. The On-Board Imager is able to pinpoint the tumor location to within half a millimeter, which means we treat the tumor, not the healthy tissue."

The On-Board Imager is mounted on the linear accelerator via robotically controlled arms which operate along three axes of motion, so it can be positioned optimally for the best view of the tumor, without ever having to move the patient. An amorphous silicon flat-panel X-ray image detector yields digital images showing internal anatomic landmarks with a high degree of precision, treatment can then be delivered from virtually any angle.

In addition, the technology incorporates a Respiratory Gating system that monitors and compensates for tumor motion during the radiation treatment. In other words, if the patient breathes deeply during the radiation treatment and the tumor moves out of the pre-set guidelines, the radiation beam shuts itself off.

The OBI device enables radiographic, fluoroscopic and 3D Conebeam CT images to be swiftly acquired at the time of treatment. Any adjustments to the patient's position can be carried out by a radiation technician from outside of the treatment room, ensuring the fastest, most automated and most accurate IGRT in the world. The treatment appointment lasts an average of 10 to 15 minutes, and is administered over a period of time based on each specific patient's needs.

"Prior to the introduction of OBI, the patient had to be repositioned several times for X-rays to ensure treatment was accurate, said Noyes. "And even after that, the radiation treatment still had a relatively large margin of healthy tissue that was affected, which is a major cause of the unpleasant effects felt after treatment.

"On-Board Imaging is a new standard of cancer care, allowing for better treatment within a shorter window of time with fewer side effects and better results. We are proud to be the first to offer this treatment to people of North Dakota."

About Cancer Center of North Dakota

It is home to the Grand Forks region's only board certified radiation oncologist who is a doctor of medicine, Dr. William Noyes, and board certified medical oncologist, Dr. Richard Cambareri. CCND offers technology, therapies and services that cannot be found anywhere else in the Grand Forks region, northwest Minnesota or all of North Dakota including On-Board Imaging for Image Guided Radiation Therapy. Fewer traffic deaths is no reason to celebrate

There were fewer traffic deaths in 2006. Wow. Terrific ... that is, unless one of the people killed in traffic crashes in 2006 was someone you know. Isn't that the way it is? There's always one death too many.

Minnesota Department of Public Safety reported last week that preliminary 2006 Minnesota traffic death figures reflect 67 fewer deaths than in 2005 - a 12 percent decrease. The decrease caps three consecutive years of fewer traffic fatalities. So, it's notable, even commendable.

The decrease is attributed in part to the Toward Zero Deaths program that combines the resources of state and local agencies, county engineers and community organizations to address traffic safety issues through the "Four Es": enforcement, engineering, education and emergency trauma care.

Perhaps increased awareness of traffic issues also contributed to the decrease.

While acknowledging that the reduction in traffic deaths was significant, Kathy Swanson, director of the Office of Traffic Safety, warns against complacency. "Hundreds of families will lose members next year by sudden, violent means - and this should be intolerable to all Minnesotans. If we can help affect fewer than 500 deaths in 2006, this coming year we must aim for 400 or fewer."

To accomplish this goal, we have to look at hard statistics, not the names and faces. Cold, hard, statistics should tell us where efforts should be focused. The 2006 list of traffic deaths includes 360 motorists, 64 motorcyclists, 38 pedestrians, eight bicyclists, two ATV operators, two snowmobilers, and one scooter operator. While it's important not to ignore any group, obviously the greatest difference can be made by focusing again on motorists. Underlying causes vary, but factors that contributed to the deaths were excessive speed, unbelted passengers and impaired driving.

It seems like the same ol' story - excessive speed, unbelted passengers, and impaired driving. While fewer traffic deaths last year is good news, it's never a reason to celebrate.

Family asks people to "Push for Bree"

To the Editor:

What does "Push for Bree" mean?

On Dec. 8, 2006, there was a house fire in Dklee. In that fire, three people lost their lives - Keith, Darlene and Bree - our son, daughter-in-law, and granddaughter.

Bree was only 5 years old. Why this happened, only God knows. But from this tragedy, we realized there is a lot of love in this world. We received more cards and flowers for our son and his family. I want to thank everyone for their kindness.

But there is one thing every household can do to help us through this time. "Push for Bree" means push your smoke alarm to make sure it works. Replace the batteries at least twice a year, and replace the smoke alarm every 10 years.

There were smoke alarms in the house that they lived in, but they were not working. Why they weren't working, will never be known. If they had been, maybe we wouldn't be feeling the pain we feel today.

So, help us. Prevent this from happening again. Push your smoke alarm for Bree, and keep fresh batteries in them. Only you can prevent empty seats at Christmas for this reason.

Remember, a house can be replaced: lives cannot! We know.

Freedoms jeopardized by universal health care

To the Editor:

On Tuesday, Nov. 14, 2006, a speech was made by Gov. Tim Pawlenty at the Midwest States Health Reform Summit in Minneapolis. The forum focused on bringing the Massachusetts Universal Coverage Law, and in particular, its controversial health insurance mandate to Minnesota. The following is what the plan does:

Requires individuals to buy insurance; limits health insurance options chosen by government; sets up multiple new unelected decision-making bureaucracies; requires citizens to report insured status, under oath, to the government; invades personal, financial, and medical privacy; permits financial penalties on employees and doctors; and expands entitlement programs.

On Nov. 14, Pawlenty made his plans for "universal coverage" clear. As the keynote luncheon speaker at an all-day forum focused on the Massachusetts plan and hosted by former U.S. Sen. David Durenberger's National Institute of Health Policy, the governor said, "Requiring insurance is a worthy goal ... one we're intrigued by ... we are open to ... we all, I think, can chart a path toward universal coverage ... we're going to have to move in stages ... we've been diligently studying the Massachusetts model ... we should start with covering all kids."

An article on the front page of the Dec. 25, 2006, Grand Forks Herald, has a picture of Pawlenty, and an article entitled "Lawmakers plan health care changes." Powerful players outside government are joining the governor to push for universal health care ... Blue Cross Blue Shield of Minnesota is publicly endorsing an insurance mandate and a new "Access 07 Alliance" has emerged putting your pocketbook and your constitutional rights in jeopardy.

The cost of universal health care will be expensive. U.S. Sen. Tom Colburn, M.D., said that Gov. Romney decided to sign the legislation first, and figure out the cost later. The cost to Massachusetts taxpayers is now estimated to be $400 million per year. On top of that, higher insurance premiums resulting from the mandate and decreased competition means fewer dollars left at the end of the day for taxpayers.

Health care rationing is a real threat. Universal health care impinges on patients' access to care of their choice, the practice of medicine, professional obligations of physicians, private use of income, and the integrity and ethics of medical decision making.

Merill Mathews, Ph.D., executive director Council for Affordable Health Insurance (CAHI) has made the following statements on the Massachusetts plan: The recently passed Massachusetts health insurance bill that requires everyone to buy insurance, is being touted as a model for the country. But, is it? There are several lessons that will help states avoid the mistakes made by Massachusetts and adopt policies that will actually reduce the cost of health insurance and the number of uninsured. A new idea isn't necessarily a good idea. Massachusetts is trying to fix a problem of its own making. They passed laws in the 1990s that destroyed its individual health insurance market. So, a better solution would have been to repeal those laws, just as Kentucky did. Know what legislation will cost before passing potentially expensive legislation.

Citizen freedom is clearly jeopardized. With a DFL majority in the House and Senate and the governor siding with the DFL to direct health care, the plan to take power from patients and doctors, and give it to the government is very real.

Much of the above information has been received from "Citizens Council on Health Care, which is located in St. Paul.

I urge you to call your legislators now: governor at 651-296-3391, Senate at 651-296-0504, House at 651-296-2146.

Pennington County looks at future

the construction of an addition to connect it to the county courthouse. Option one addresses the Department of Human Services' need for additional office space. That department is expected to see an increase in total employment of 32.5 to 52 between now and 2026.

Option one also includes the construction of three courtrooms in the new addition/renovation. The total cost for option one is $7,160,750.

Option two is virtually the same as option one in terms of plans, but it calls for the complete demolition of the city auditorium. A new justice center that would connect to the existing courthouse would be constructed in its place.

Like option one, option two will include new office space for the Department of Human Services and the construction of three courtrooms. Option two includes both complete demolition and new construction, but it is expected to cost less than option one at $7,111,200.

Schwartzman presented two versions of option three. Option 3A calls for the construction of a housing unit and support space to the existing Law Enforcement Center. The jail annex would be demolished in both options, and in its place, a new three-story justice center would be constructed. The estimated cost for Option 3A is $8,960,775.

In Option 3B, the LEC would be remodeled and additional jail bed-space would be constructed. Jail bed space became an issue during the November meeting, as it was announced that the county could be forced to close the jail annex if inmate population wanes in the coming years. Like Option 3A, the jail annex would be demolished and a new justice center would be constructed.

Option 3B is the most expensive option at $10,043,775, but it is the only one to address potential problems with jail bed space, creating as many as 50 beds in the main jail. In both Option 3A and 3B, the justice center would house the master calender courtroom on the first floor, two additional courtrooms would be housed on the second floor, with office space for the county attorney, court administration and probation housed within the justice center.

Neither Option 3A or 3B specifically mention the space needs of the Department of Human Services, but space would exist within the existing courthouse that would be vacated when the master calender courtroom, county attorney and court administration offices are moved to the new justice center. Both Option 3A and 3B would be expected to save the county money over time, because they would eliminate staffing of the annex.

Klein-McCarthy's final option (option four), does not immediately involve the city auditorium or the LEC. Instead, a three-story addition would be constructed on the west side of the existing courthouse. Option four would involve interior remodeling of portions of the existing courthouse and it includes office space for the Department of Human Services on the ground floor, county attorney probation offices on the first floor and three courtrooms and court admistration offices on the second floor.

The future of the Old Arena was discussed at both meetings, as it relates to parking space that may be needed. Schwartzman said the county could probably handle its growth without touching the arena.

Addressing parking, County Board Chairman Oliver "Skip" Swanson said no matter what the county does with parking presently, it will have to look at the long-term need to acquire the old arena to address parking in the future.

Following the presentation, Commissioner Bob Carlson said this is probably the biggest project the county has ever undertaken. He asked his fellow commissioners if they felt the county should go to the public for funding. "We could tell our constituents that this is the best option for them – but they're footing the bill," he said. "School districts can take their issue to voters, saying 'we need this now.'"

The cost estimate of all five options is based on current cost numbers. As Carlson stated, the county could attempt to address its needs through a referendum. Another option that was discussed was the use of capital improvement bonds.

The workshop ended with discussion on the needs of the LEC. Commissioner Charles Naplin said he didn't agree with the opinion that there is a jail problem. He said if the county closed its annex, it would be sending five inmates out each day. "It all comes down to how the county wants to run its budget."

Sheriff Mike Hruby responded that without the annex, the county would have no state programs and no per diems would be received for housing inmates from other counties. "It's going to become a money monster and the only option could be to close the annex and take care of our own."

The next meeting between Klein-McCarthy Architects and county officials has not been scheduled.

Prowlers win 75-53 girls basketball match-up vs. Rams...

TRF offense has big game

Featuring four double figure scorers, Thief River Falls put together its biggest offensive night of the season Tuesday in a 75-53 girls high school basketball win over visiting Roseau.

Shawna Rogalla and Chelsea Sorteberg had 16-point games for the winners, while Amanda Hoard and Hannah Kainz both netted 10 as the Prowlers improved to 4-5. It was the most points they scored in a game since a 71-57 season-opening victory over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo.

Thief River Falls never trailed. A 4-4 tie turned into a 14-4 spread when Mandy Thompson scored on a lay-up, Rogalla took a drive to the basket, Hoard banked in a 10-foot jumper, then Soneberg converted back-to-back Roseau turnovers into a fast break bucket and a lay-up.

Emily Beito interrupted the Prowlers' breakaway with a rebound basket, but it turned into a 14-2 run when Chelsea Weeding scored off her own rebound and Sorteberg connected from the side for an 18-6 gap 6:44 into the game.

"We got a run – something we haven't been able to do this year," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe.

Roseau came back to chop the difference to 24-21 on a 3-pointer by Tonya Timmersman, but the Prowlers never surrendered the lead. It was 26-22 following a free throw by the Rams' Sada Puckett with 6:37 remaining in the first half before an 8-0 Thief River Falls response created a 34-22 difference following a pair of Rogalla free throws with 4:55 left.

The Rams never presented another challenge. It was 42-29 at halftime.

"We got the lead and never let them get too close," noted Loe. "That was important."

Roseau was still hanging around when a Beito free throw made it 51-40 with 11:48 to play in the game. However, that's when Thief River Falls put it away with an impressive five-minute 16-0 game-breaking surge.

Chelsea Soneberg, an offensive spark off the bench, had six of those points. Toni Soneberg, Hoard, Rogalla, Walrath and Kainz also scored during that stretch to make it 67-40 with 5:52 on the clock.

The Rams' offense finally came through when Timmersman scored

Prowlers notch first shutout of 2006-07 season

■ Girls hockey teem beats Penthers 7-0

Thief River Falls reopened its girls high school hockey schedule following a two-week holiday break with a 7-0 Tuesday win over host Park Rapids/Menahga/Nevis.

Winning the twice-postponed game improved the Prowlers' record to 4-9. It was the first shutout of the season for the Corey Poole-coached Thief River Falls girls, who beat the Panthers earlier this year 9-2 at the Ralph Engelstud Arena.

Thief River Falls goalie Brandy Hermanson stopped 16 shots for the shutout.

"We played well after being off for the holidays," said Poole. "I don't think they had more than two shots inside the blue line. It was a nice game for us to get our feet back into game speed."

Six players scored goals for the Prowlers, who led 2-0 after one period and had a 5-0 cushion at the second intermission.

Northern Freeze wins close game vs. Storm

Northern Freeze, after finishing 2006 with a 66-63 loss at the hands of Roseau, began 2007 with a 64-58 win over Stephen-Argyle in a Tuesday girls high school basketball game played at Newfolden.

"We finally won a close game," said Northern Freeze coach Tom Mjelde. "We've lost some of those, so it's nice to come out with a win."

Northern Freeze had a 29-23 halftime edge and led by as many as 10 points in the second half. The Storm pulled within four points with three minutes to play, but couldn't complete the comeback.

Lacey Peterson scored 22 points, Alycia Dahl 19 and Sasha Magner 10 for the 4-6 winners. Michelle Jensen scored 17 points to lead Stephen-Argyle. Brooke Sauskojus contributed 13 points to the Storm offense, while Bekah Henrickson and Becky Crummy both had 10.

Northern Freeze shot 44 percent from the field (25/57), made 10 of 16 free throw attempts, lost the rebound county 24-22, but turned the ball over just 11 times, compared to 17 for the visitors.

"That was a big key," said Mjelde, pointing to the Nordics' low turnover figure. "We've been having upwards of 30 turnovers per game. We did a much better job of taking care of the ball this time."

Stephen-Argyle shot 50 percent from the floor (22/44) and had an 11-for-17 free throw game.

TRF girls defeat Roseau in junior varsity contest

Chelsea Sorteberg scored 15 points to lead Thief River Falls past Roseau 51-35 Tuesday in girls junior varsity high school basketball.

The Prowlers led 30-19 at halftime.

In pre-holiday starts, the Prowlers built a 25-7 halftime cushion en route to a 52-26 Dec. 19 win over Park Rapids Area and turned a 15-14 intermission edge into a 32-28 Dec. 21 victory over Red Lake Falls.

Kristine Sletten scored 13 points, while Sorteberg and Cassie Gunderson both had 10 against the Panthers. Soneberg's seven points led the Prowlers' low-scoring effort against the Eagles.

Bearcats beat Gators a second time, 52-39

Kittson County Central beat Badger/Greenbush-Middle River a second time this season Thursday when the visiting Bearcats emerged a 52-39 winner in a match-up of top area girls high school basketball teams.

It was just the third loss in 12 starts for the Gators, who fell to Kittson County Central 61-53 in the Dec. 4-7 Northland Community and Technical College Invitational.

The Bearcats led 28-23 at halftime and limited the Gators to 16 second half points.

"We just plain got beat," reported Gators coach Tom Neibauer. "They played the game better than we did."

Rachel Noel led the winners with 15 points.

Kaley Mekash scored a game-high 19 points for the Gators, but they had nobody else in double figures.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shot 38 percent from the field (18/48) and had a quiet 2-for-3 free throw game. Kittson County Central was a perfect 10-for-10 at the line.

"We had five offensive rebounds and 25 turnovers," pointed out Neibauer. "That's not a good combination."

Freeze tops Warroad

Alycia Dahl scored 17 points, Lucey Petersen 14 and Kala Anderson 10 as the Northern Freeze defeated Warroad 54-38 Thursday in girls high school basketball at Karlstad.

Winning for the second time in two days to improve to 5-6 for the season, the Northern Freeze led 27-18 at halftime.

Nicole Hoefs of Warroad led all scorers with 20 points.

Northern Freeze coach Tom Mjelde was excited by his team's defensive effort against a Warroad team coming off an 80-59 Tuesday win over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke.

"We played awesome," he said. "I really didn't know what to expect with Warroad coming off that 80-point game. But I was very impressed with our defense, and our offense is playing better, too. It was a nice win for us."

It was a double-double for Dahl, whose 16 rebounds helped the Northern Freeze to a 28-21 edge on the boards. "Alycia had a great game, and Kala Anderson played really well offensively and defensively off the bench," mentioned Mjelde. "Overall, it was a strong team effort."

Northern Freeze was 20-for-49 from the field (41 percent); Warroad went 13-for-41 (32 percent). Both teams struggled at the free throw line, where the Northern Freeze made 12 of 23 and Warroad connected on 11 of 19. Warroad topped the turnover charts 18-15.

Hawley wins 65-46

Hawley improved to 7-2 Thursday with a 65-46 girls high school basketball win over visiting Thief River Falls.

Junior center Angie Jetvig was 13-for-18 from the field and scored 28 points for the Nuggets, who led 36-25 at halftime.

Thief River Falls' only double figure scorer was Amanda Hoard with 10 points.

"We had a good effort," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "We couldn't keep Jetvig down. She's 6-1 with a great finish. I was impressed with her quickness on rebounds. On the rare occasion when she missed, she was able to get her own rebound and put it back up."

The Prowlers fell to 4-6 with the loss.

"We played very well in the first part of the first half," offered Loe. "We let them get away from us a little right before half. They got a run on us to begin the second half and we just couldn't catch up."

The Prowlers were 21-for-57 from the field (37 percent) and 2-for-4 at the free throw line. The Nuggets went 27-for-55 from the floor (49 percent) and 8-for-11 at the line. Hawley had more rebounds (29-20) and more turnovers (18-15) than the Prowlers.

TRF offense has big night against Rams on a drive with 5:22 left that qualified her for membership into the 1,000-Point Club.

A 6-0 senior forward, Timmersman went down with an apparent ankle injury just 4:14 into the game. She returned in the second half, only to aggravate the injury. Another brief stretch of floor time produced the basket needed to reach the scoring milestone. The achievement was recognized during a short stoppage of play. Timmersman, whose 11 points upped her career total to 1,001, then went back to the bench for the rest of the night.

Puckett, a 5-11 senior forward, also had an 11-point game.

Thief River Falls went 31-for-68 from the field (46 percent). Roseau was just 21-for-73 (29 percent). Both sides had trouble at the free throw line, where the Prowlers finished 12-for-20 and the Rams were 10-for-26.

The Prowlers managed to come out a 40-39 winner on the boards, but they gave up 22 offensive rebounds – 17 of them in the first half.

"Roseau has some size," noted Loe. "We've got a smaller team. Our kids need to work on positioning and blocking out on the rebounds."

There were 61 turnovers in the game: 31 for the Prowlers and 30 by the Rams.

"Way too many turnovers," acknowledged Loe. "We need to do a much better job taking care of the ball."

MPCA gives preliminary approval to Excel Dairy

Dozen - Thief River Falls, LLP of Veblen, S.D., has proposed to construct two additional earthen basins to correct a shortage of manure storage capacity, to allow increased flexibility in manure storage and handling, and to accommodate a possible future expansion of the facility. An addition to the existing barn complex is also proposed to allow restructuring of the free-stall housing. No additional animal units are being proposed at this time.

The public comment period began on Jan. 2, 2007. It ends on Feb. 2, 2007.

According to the MPCA notice, written comments must include the following:

"1. A statement of your interest in the permit application or the draft permit;

"2. A statement of the action you wish the MPCA to take, including specific references to sections of the draft permit that you believe should be changed; and

"3. The reasons supporting your position, stated with sufficient specificity as to allow the commissioner to investigate the merits of your position."

Individuals may also request that the MPCA Commissioner hold a public informational meeting. That request must include the following information:

"1. A statement identifying the matter of concern;

"2. The information required under items 1 through 3 of "Written Comments;"

"3. A statement of the reasons why the MPCA should hold a public informational meeting; and,

"4. The issues that you would like the MPCA to address at the public informational meeting."

Individuals may also submit a petition for a contested case hearing. "A contested case hearing is a formal evidentiary hearing before an administrative law judge. In accordance with Minn. R. 7000.1900, the MPCA will grant a petition to hold a contested case hearing if it finds that: (1) there is a material issue of fact in dispute concerning the application or draft permit; (2) the MPCA has the jurisdiction to make a determination on the disputed material issue of fact; and (3) there is a reasonable basis underlying the disputed material issue of fact or facts, such that the holding of the contested case hearing would allow the introduction of information that would aid the MPCA in resolving the disputed facts in making a final decision on the draft permit. A material issue of fact means a fact question, as distinguished from a policy question, whose resolution could have a direct bearing on the final MPCA decision.

"A petition for a contested case hearing must include the following information:

"1. A statement of reasons or proposed findings supporting the MPCA's decision to hold a contested case hearing according to the criteria in Minn. R. 7000.1900, as discussed;

"2. A statement of the issues proposed to be addressed by a contested case hearing and the specific relief requested or resolution of the matter.

"In addition and to the extent known, a petition for a contested case hearing should also include the following information:

"1. A proposed list of prospective witnesses to be called, including experts, with a brief description of proposed testimony or summary of evidence to be presented at a contested case hearing;

"2. A proposed list of publications, references, or studies to be introduced and relied upon at a contested case hearing; and

"3. An estimate of time required for you to present the matter at a contested case hearing."

Comments, petitions, and/or requests must be submitted in writing on or before the end date of the public comment period to: Jim Courneya, Minnesota Pollution Control Agency, 714 Lake Avenue, Suite 220, Detroit Lakes, MN 56501.

storage and handling, and to accommodate a possible future expansion of the facility. An addition to the existing barn complex is also proposed to allow restructuring of the free-stall housing. No additional animal units are being proposed at this time."

Last September, a public meeting was conducted to address whether Marshall County should place a moratorium on the construction of new feedlots or the expansion of existing feedlots while the county studied the issue of feedlots. At that time, county commissioners voted against the proposed moratorium. The issue came up at about the same time Excel Dairy announced plans to reopen. During the meeting, residents living in the area close to Excel Dairy complained about the smell and health issues they believe were caused in the course of operating the business. While the county board voted the moratorium down, it did not put an end to the development of a feedlot ordinance.

The Marshall County Feedlot ordinance is still moving forward. Howard Person, the University of Minnesota Extension Agent for Pennington and Marshall counties, said the committee developing the ordinance is planning to meet next Thursday night. That meeting will be their fourth meeting. He said the committee does have a draft ordinance, but there are a few things they need to work on, yet. He anticipates that a preliminary draft ordinance will be presented to the Marshall County Board of Commissioners in February. Following that meeting, the committee will present the ordinance to township officials at their meeting in March. Once the entire process is completed, the ordinance will be presented to the Marshall County Commissioners for a yes or no vote.

Seminar in India will provide her with a global experience

"I am so thrilled and overwhelmed by this amazing opportunity. ... I know the trip will be life changing. I hope to bring back what I learn to increase awareness in this country about the struggles of our sisters in Christ in other places," Haukaas wrote in a letter.

The Thief River Falls resident is one of six women in the U.S. who will travel to India through the program this year. For the program, one woman was selected from each of the six ELCA synods with companion synods in India. Haukaas was nominated by Wenda Sang, president of the Northwestern Minnesota Synodical Women of the ELCA. Haukaas is one of two women from Minnesota synods participating in the program. The other four participants are from Alabama, California, South Carolina and Wisconsin. They will travel to southern India.

In addition to young women from the American synods, young women from companion synods in Hong Kong, Singapore and Japan have been invited to attend the travel seminar program in India.

About the Indian synods, Haukaas said, "Their synods are huge compared to ours." She noted the Northwestern Minnesota Synod of the ELCA has 280 congregations. Its companion synod, Andhra Evangelical Lutheran Church (Andhra Suvisesha Lutheran Sanghamu), has more than 5,000 congregations and 500 pastors. That synod is located in southern India.

"I was just totally stunned because I always think we have so many Lutherans here," Haukaas said.

In India, 2.3 percent of the population is Christian, according to the CIA World Factbook. In July, the country's population was estimated to be 1.1 billion.

It doesn't seem like the country's Christian population is a lot, but that's still a lot of people considering the population of the entire country, Haukaas noted.

The trip is being planned by women from the companion Indian synods. They will also travel with the participants from the synods in the U.S., Japan, Singapore and Hong Kong. Haukaas anticipates the majority of the trip will be centered in an area from Hyderabad, India to Madras, India.

Haukaas hasn't yet received her itinerary for the trip. She suspects the itinerary will enable her to learn more about worship services and the organizational structure of the churches in India. Haukaas also anticipates the trip will include other experiences to provide participants with information about the education system, government, churches, business environment and HIV/AIDS issue in India and, in particular, how those issues impact young women.

Along with the other women who were selected to go on the trip, Haukaas, the daughter of an ELCA pastor, was provided with a job description about what she would do before, during and after the trip. Before she leaves for India, she is required to learn about the Andhra Evangelical Lutheran Church from others in her synod who have gone to India. Haukaas is also required to talk to others about her experiences in India upon her return to the U.S. She is required to commit at least two years to the program.

One-third of the cost of the trip is covered by the Women of the ELCA, and Haukaas is required to come up with the remaining two-thirds, $3,700, of the cost for the trip.

"They specifically said, 'We want you to fundraise this, so other people are interested in your trip and invested in your trip, so they ask about your trip,'" said Haukaas, who noted she is accepting donations.

The deadline to submit tax-deductible donations for Haukaas' trip is Feb. 1. Checks can be made payable to The Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA). In the memo line, write "India Seminar – Susan Haukaas." The donations can be sent to Sandra Holloway, ELCA Global Mission, 8765 W. Higgins Rd., Chicago, IL 60631.

TRF hospital delivers

NWMC makes epidurals available during childbirth

by David Hill
Editor

Expectant parents can now expect it in Thief River Falls. The staff at Northwest Medical Center is even excited about it.

"It" is something only mothers and medical staff may fully appreciate, but "It" may have a far-reaching impact on deliveries in northwestern Minnesota. "It" is epidural anesthesia.

Beginning Jan. 18, Northwest Medical Center will begin offering epidural anesthesia, which is considered the most effective and easily adjustable pain medication for childbirth. Epidural pain medication, which is inserted through a thin tube (epidural catheter) into the area surrounding the spinal cord, goes through the outer membrane directly to the spinal nerves that cause feeling in the lower body. Because it doesn't go directly into the bloodstream, it is unlikely to affect the baby.

Dr. Eloise Clark, OB and gynecology, said it's the method used by the rest of the world, and expected by the general population. Clark is excited about it and notes that it's only possible because medical staff now have an anesthesia staff across the board that can do it.

Dr. Maile Roper, family practice with obstetrics, said child birth is not just a medical event. It's a family event, and this supports the family. Medical staff is excited about it because they want to be a part of making families happy.

Because most people would rather stay close to family and friends when they go into the hospital, introducing the epidural pain medication delivery system, it likely will increase the number of deliveries that take place at NWMC.

NWMC has four birthing rooms. But that doesn't seem to pose a problem. Director of Nursing Karen Knudsen said staff is quite capable of handling the increased demands. She also noted that the type of service provided by the hospital makes it possible to easily shift patients to other rooms, if necessary. And, she said, if more staff is needed, they will hire and train more staff.

Thursday, Knudsen and the others weren't really focusing on impacts on the hospital or the improved relationship with Dakota

Are we in the midst of a baby boom?

In the last 10 years, births at the hospital have fluctuated, but now they seem to be on the rise. In 1997 there were 244 births at the hospital. That dropped to a low of 225 in 2002. Births climbed and then seemed to hit a plateau - 288 in 2003, 279 in 2004, 262 in 2005. In 2006, there were 289 births at the hospital. In fact, deliveries are up 33 percent at the hospital for the first seven months of its fiscal year 2007.

You know you're a redneck when ...

Redneck Limo redefines public transportation

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Comedian Jeff Foxworthy would have a blast if he heard the name of Thief River Falls resident Jeff Redden's new business. Redden began a unique business last summer, that he calls Redneck Limo.

Redden's business got its official beginning in June 2006, when he used his snowmobile trailer, a United 34-foot enclosed trailer, to transport friends from bar to bar for his brother's (Matt Peters) bachelor party.

The name Redneck Limo has nothing to do with Redden's last name or himself in particular, though the Alabama native has been called "Redneck" in the past. Instead, it came from a group celebrating a birthday party in the trailer. The raucous group had guitars and guitar amps set up inside the trailer. Over the course of the night, the group started referring to Redden's trailer "Redneck Limo."

"It sounded good to me," Redden said, and the name stuck.

Redneck Limo operates much like a typical small scale limousine service. Redden is the business owner and he does all the driving, using a Ford F-350 Quad Cab to tow the 34-foot trailer. He is also accompanied on each trip by his girlfriend, Michelle Rose.

"Right now, I've done wedding parties, birthdays and bachelor parties," Redden said. "I've got bachelorette parties booked – anytime people want to get together and go bar hopping – that way they don't have to drive."

The name Redneck Limo has nothing to do with Redden's last name or himself in particular. Instead, it came from a group celebrating a birthday party in the trailer.

Redneck Limo has become a secondary career for Redden, who is also employed by Arctic Cat as a fork-lift operator.

"Since I had my gastric bypass surgery and lost 147 pounds, I don't drink as much. It doesn't bother me to go into a bar and not drink."

Redneck Limo's history dates back to June, but its inspiration goes back a little further. Redden first used a friend, Johnnie Green's, trailer to transport party goers from bar to bar for both a bachelor party for Green's brother.

Redden and Green contacted the state highway patrol to find out what the rules were regarding the use of a trailer for transportation. "We didn't want to take four different vehicles if we could all party together," Redden said. "They told us the rules. We did everything they told us to and we had a good time."

Redden follows those same rules with his ...

Iraq War

IED kills soldier on patrol with Co. B 2nd Battalion, 136th

The Department of Defense announced Jan. 10, the death of a Minnesota National Guard Soldier who was supporting Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Sgt. James M. Wosika Jr., 24, St. Paul, was killed during a foot patrol on Tuesday, Jan. 9 at approximately 3 p.m. Iraq time. He was on patrol in Fallujah with soldiers of the Crookston-based Company B, 2nd Battalion, 136th Infantry when he was struck by an Improvised Explosive Device. No other Minnesota National Guard soldiers were injured in the incident.

"The loss of Sgt. Wosika is a tragedy," said Maj. Gen. Larry Shellito, the Adjutant General of Minnesota. "He was proudly serving his state and nation in a combat zone when he was taken from us. It is with a heavy heart that I once again ask the citizens of Minnesota to remember this soldier and his family in their prayers."

Sgt. James M. Woslka Jr

Sgt. James M. Wosika, Jr., is a 2000 graduate of Highland Park High School. A life-long resident of St. Paul, Wosika joined the Minnesota Army National Guard on Nov. 3, 2000, as an 11B - Infantryman. He deployed to Kosovo in 2004 for a six month peacekeeping rotation. He was mobilized with B Co., 2nd Combined Arms Battalion, of the 1st Brigade Combat Team, 34th Infantry Division. He deployed with B Co. to Camp Shelby in September 2005 and to Iraq in March 2006. He was stationed at Camp Fallujah in Iraq when he died on Jan. 9, 2007.

■ President addresses the country

Wednesday evening, President Bush announced that he is sending more than 20,000 U.S. troops to Iraq in support of troops already there. Bush said not enough troops had been sent to Iraq initially. He said, "where mistakes have been made, the responsibility lies with me." But he added that to step back now would force a collapse of the Iraqi government. He warned the leadership of Iraq, however, that America's commitment was not open-ended.

■ Minn. Guard tour extended

The Adjutant General has been informed that the Minnesota National Guard's First Brigade Combat Team of the 34th Infantry Division will have its tour extended in Iraq.

The duration of the extension and affect the mission of the brigade is unknown at this time.

"The Minnesota National Guard is disappointed with the impact of this extension on our citizen-soldiers, families, employers and the communities they serve," said Major General Larry Shellito, the Adjutant General of the Minnesota National Guard. "We are confident that the citizens of Minnesota will continue their outstanding support to the soldiers and airmen of the Minnesota National Guard and their families."

The First Brigade Combat Team of the 34th Infantry Division has over 5,000 soldiers. Over 2,600 soldiers are from Minnesota, but there are units from Iowa, Nebraska, New Jersey, Kentucky, Kansas, North Carolina, California, West Virginia, and Georgia. The soldiers are mostly from the Army National Guard, but there are also regular Army and Army Reserve soldiers.

■ Politicians comment

• Thursday Minnesota Governor Tim Pawlenty said, "I am extremely disappointed and frustrated that the tour of duty for 2,600 Minnesota National Guard soldiers in Iraq apparently will be extended.

"This decision by federal officials is not consistent with the expectation or understanding provided to our soldiers. It's unfair to them and their families. It's extremely important that all of us continue to support members of our military and their families in every possible way."

• U.S. Senator Amy Klobuchar, said, "With this speech, President Bush continues to take his failed Iraq policy in the wrong direction. Sending even more American troops is not the change of course that the American people want, or that our military forces deserve, or that Iraq needs to halt its civil war. A number of the president's fellow Republicans in Congress also believe he's not taking the right approach.

"As of Thanksgiving, this war has lasted longer than World War II. And after nearly four years of intensive military involvement in Iraq, including more than 3,000 American deaths, the president should be focused on reducing our troop presence in Iraq."

Hasnedls honored as 2006 Outstanding Conservationists

We're really proud of the Hasnedls and what they have done for conservation in Pennington County.
- Bryan Malone

Jerry Roth and Jeremiah Hasnedl were recently honored as Minnesota's Outstanding Conservationists for 2006. The announcement was made at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts in December.

The Hasnedls were selected for the top award out of 91 candidates by the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts with support from "The Farmer" Magazine.

Each year the state's 91 SWCDs recognize individuals and organizations for outstanding accomplishments in implementing conservation practices and improving Minnesota's natural resources.

According to Bryan Malone of the Pennington SWCD, Hasnedl Farms was recognized for a variety of reasons.

The Hasnedls have planted three windbreaks for energy conservation. To reduce wind erosion, the Hasnedls use no-till and minimum tillage practices.

Hasnedl Farms was accepted into Conservation Security Program, which rewards participants for the conservation practices they have already incorporated into their farming operation. Soil samples are taken as part of their nutrient and pest management program. Consultants are used for integrated pest management. Buffer strips and filter strips have been installed between watercourses and crop fields. Grade stabilization structures were installed to reduce gully erosion.

"We're really proud of the Hasnedls and what they have done for conservation in Pennington County," said Malone. "Hasnedl Farms provides a wonderful example for conservationists by their willingness to try new practices to become more efficient while improving productivity."

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacours@mncable.net

Breakfast, brunch or lunch, these dishes will be a hit.

This creamy fish dish will be great on a cold day - when we get one:

SEAFOOD CHOWDER
1 can condensed cream of potato soup, undiluted
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
2 1/2 cups milk
4 medium carrots, finely chopped
2 medium potatoes, peeled and cut into 1/4 inch cubes
1 large onion, finely chopped
2 celery ribs, finely chopped
1 (6 ounce) can medium shrimp, drained
1 (6 ounce) can chopped clams, drained
4 ounces imitation crab meat, flaked
5 bacon strips, cooked and crumbled

In slow cooker, combine soups and milk. Stir in vegetables. Cover and cook on low 4-5 hours. Stir in clams, shrimp and crab, cover and heat through, about 20 minutes. Garnish with bacon. Recipe serves 8.

The kids will love these - and so will the adults:

CORN DOG MUFFINS
2 (8 1/2 ounces each) packages corn bread/muffin mix
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 (11 ounce) can whole kernel corn, drained
5 hot dogs, chopped

In bowl, combine corn bread mix and brown sugar. Combine eggs and milk and stir into dry ingredients until moistened. Stir in corn and hot dogs (batter will be thin).

Fill paper-lined muffin cups 3/4 full. Bake at 400 degrees for 14-18 minutes or until golden brown. Serve immediately or refrigerate. Makes 1 1/2 dozen muffins.

Want a tasty way to serve eggs? Try this:

HOT & SPICY OMELET
8 eggs
2 tablespoons water
4 garlic cloves, minced
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon crushed red pepper flakes

In bowl, beat eggs. Add water, garlic, salt and pepper. In large nonstick skillet over medium heat, heat oil and butter. Add egg mixture. As eggs set, lift edges, letting the uncooked portion flow underneath.

When eggs are completely set, remove from heat. Fold omelet in half and transfer to a warm platter. Sprinkle with red pepper flakes before serving.

These tasty morsels will make for a hearty and healthy breakfast this weekend:

HEARTY HOTCAKES
1 cup flour
1/2 cup whole wheat flour
1/2 cup cornmeal
1/2 cup quick cooking oats
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg
2 1/2 cups buttermilk
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

In bowl, combine dry ingredients. In small bowl, beat egg, buttermilk and melted butter. Stir into dry ingredients just until moistened.

Pour batter by 1/4 cupfuls onto a lightly greased hot griddle. Turn when bubbles form on top. Cook until second side is golden brown. Serve with syrup or other topping of choice.

Nutritional Information: One hotcake prepared with 1 percent buttermilk and without toppings equals 111 calories, 189 mg sodium, 15 mg chol, 17 gm carb, 4 gm protein, 3 gm fat, 1 gm fiber. Diabetic exchange is 1 starch, 1 fat.

Have any of that leftover meat from the holidays stashed in the freezer? Use it to make this delicious dish:

CREAMY TURKEY & BISCUITS
1/3 cup green pepper, chopped
1/3 cup onion, chopped
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup biscuit baking mix (like Bisquick)
1 1/2 cups milk
1 (10 3/4 ounce) can condensed cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
2 cups cubed cooked turkey, chicken, ham or canned tuna
1 cup frozen peas
2 tubes (7 1/2 ounces each) refrigerated buttermilk biscuits
3/4 cup shredded cheddar cheese

In large saucepan, sauté green pepper and onion in butter until tender. Stir in biscuit baking mix until blended. Gradually add milk and soup and stir until blended.

Bring to a boil and cook and stir 2 minutes. Stir in turkey or other meat or fish and peas. Transfer to a greased 9x13 inch baking dish. Separate biscuits and arrange of top. Sprinkle with cheese and bake, uncovered, at 425 degrees for 17-20 minutes or until golden brown. Recipe serves 6 people.

Marshall County UFO story told on History Channel

Word has been received by the Marshall County Historical Society that the History Channel story about the UFO car stored in the Settlers Square Museum in Warren, will be aired on Monday, Jan. 22. Viewers will find it at 7 p.m. central time on Monday, Jan. 22, on the History Channel.

For some time now, the History Channel has been featuring programs called "UFO Files" on this Monday evening time slot, and this will likely be part of that.

Phillips feels that this particular incident that happened on Aug. 17, 1979, is one of the top mysteries of its kind to ufoologists in the world.

The MCHS has a short booklet written of the happenings to the late 70s model Ford Squad car and Deputy Val Johnson that night. It is available by calling 218-478-2743.

Tucker Hibbert will be racing snocross in Brainerd this weekend. This picture, taken by John Sandberg, were taken at the World PowerSports Association Snowmobile Tour AMSOIL Duluth National Nov. 24-26.

Tucker Hibbert to race in Brainerd this weekend

Tucker Hibbert is ready for a podium, finish at the Polaris Brainerd International Raceway Championship this weekend.

Hibbert retired from snocross in 2003 to focus on a full-time career racing motorcycles, but he's back.

Hibbert was 11 when he entered his first-ever snocross race and it happened to be at the Brainerd fairgrounds. He went on to win countless district and state races in Brainerd as a semi-pro and is now looking forward to his first pro race in the city where he began his snocross career.

This weekend's race is only Hibbert's second World PowerSports Association Snowmobile Tour national event since 2003. At the WPSA season opener in Duluth, Hibbert put in an impressive ride; qualifying second for both the pro stock and pro open finals. In the pro stock final, Hibbert grabbed the hole shot and was leading the race, but a tangle in the second corner with another rider left him a lap down and unable to break the top 10. After a nearly last place start in the pro open final, Hibbert rode like he never left the snow and finished a hard-earned fifth place. A little bad luck kept the champion off the podium in Duluth but proved he has speed and is still capable of winning races.

"I was a little disappointed in my results in the finals at Duluth but am really happy about my speed and how comfortable I was in my qualifying races. I'm excited about racing in Brainerd. I've had a lot of success there on both snowmobiles and motorcycles. A win at this race would mean a lot to me. I'm looking forward to getting my Monster Energy/Arctic Cat back to the podium."

Hibbert, who grew up in Goodridge, currently lives in Centreville, Miss., where he rides and trains with Kevin Windham for the AMA Supercross Lites East Coast series.

Just When I Thought I Had It Figured Out

A wise man once offered that "the more you learn, the less, you realize, that you actually know." My instincts tell me the line was thoughtfully counseled by some ancient sage like Socrates or Aristotle, but then my instincts are nowhere near what they used to be and it's equally possible the advice was spit out by a flannel-shirted local occupying the next barstool in a rundown Iron Range tavern. Whatever the source, the advice is good and continues to ring true on a near-daily basis during my encounters with fish on Lake of the Woods. Unfortunately, since people turn to my weekly efforts here hoping to learn something about fishing on Lake of the Woods, it only makes sense, then, that since the author is rapidly dumming down with each passing word, the more they read the less they, in turn, learn. In short, I'm learning, I'm knowing less, I'm writing, you're reading, we're all in trouble. Takes some of the mystery out of why I spend so little time here actually writing about fishing, doesn't it?

For example, let's consider some of my sweeping past proclamations and the way they've been debunked during the first month of the present winter fishing season. A lot of fish have been hauled out of ice holes since early December, so that the adjustments to my personal fishing philosophy are not knee jerk reactions based on a few stray walleyes. This winter, with its mild temperatures, clear ice, lack of snow, minimal runoff, and huge populations of aggressive, adolescent fish has offered up a handful of significant and obvious changes to presentations I would have labeled "givens" in years past. For instance ...

Fish don't bite after sundown on Lake of the Woods. Not true. Admittedly, in most years, sunset signals the start of whatever eelpout bite might be available. However, this season, with little current to muck-up the water clarity and no snow-cover to block out the minimal available light, the walleye bite has stretched well into the low-light hours. Throw in a full moon and sporadic action shows up well into the evening. Is it enough of a predictable run to stay out late for and miss the Gopher game at 7? Probably not, but if ever a "dark" bite existed on Lake of the Woods, this is the year to claim it.

If you're not jigging, you're not fishing. This is one of my personal favorites, because it takes the blame for a lack of fish off the house location and puts it on the wrist of the lazy fisherman. However, once again, this year anyway, not true. Jig all you want with your Swedish Pimple or Buckshot Rattler and watch the fish on the Vexilar come up and enjoy the dance of the minnow. But when it comes time to set the hook, it'll be on the bobbered "dead stick" to your left. Why? Perhaps the quantity of shiner minnows available in the basin makes a walleye less likely to chase a jigged bait and then choose the easier prey. Maybe it's simply because we're seeing more walleyes than is the winter norm and their metabolism is down like it should be this time of year. Either way, if you're not jigging, you're not jigging. But you're still fishing.

Lighter colors are a terminal-tackle must on Lake of the Woods. So where does blood red come off being the color of choice so far this season? And blue? Or even black? I get tired of telling guests to stick to the golds and chartreuses only to have them clue me in a couple of hours later that fishing got good when they switched to darker colors. Once again, light penetration through clear, uncovered ice? Cleaner water than we've seen in a decade? Whatever. I'm slowly taking the approach of asking more and offering less.

So, once again, understand that the advice I'm offering is based on the clear-cut claim that I'm losing knowledge more quickly than I'm gaining it. The more I learn about these fish, the less-equipped I feel I am to catch them. Accept the above suggestions with the caveat that what seems like enlightenment today will quickly fade into a confused fog tomorrow. It's the way it is with fishing on Lake of the Woods and, regrettably, with most of life in general. At least it seems to be if you're sitting in Effie next to some guy in a flannel shirt, or a couple of gray-beards wearing a toga.

Those rules are: the trailer must be locked during usage; the trailer must include windows for emergency exit; and there must be some type of trailer to cab communication for patrons in the trailer. Redden uses two walkie-talkies, one in the cab and one in the trailer, to communicate with patrons during a night out.

"They call me, to tell me where to go, or if they change their mind and want to go to somewhere else," Redden said. "I don't try to contact them once I shut the door."

Redden said he doesn't have any rules inside the trailer, so within reason, pretty much everything is allowed.

Redden said his workload varies. Typically he chauffeurs groups one or two weekends a month. New Year's weekend he was out with groups both Saturday and Sunday.

Using a trailer, Redden can transport a larger crowd than a typical limousine. He said his trailer comfortably seats 15 passengers and he has had as many as 17 passengers in the past.

Most patrons choose to stay relatively close to the Thief River Falls area and that's fine with Redden, who said that he doesn't like the roads or parking in Grand Forks. There are some exceptions though, as Redden drove one group to Baudette for a biker rally and he has taken several groups to Shelly for bachelor parties.

Redden likes to take a group photo of his patrons each night that he drives. He displays each photo on the inside wall of the trailer. "I figure, for the first year, it will create conversation," Redden said.

He is continuing to make improvements to the trailer and his business. He installed an enclosed fire place to help with heating during the winter. So far, the fire place has only been needed once, Redden noted, and on its lowest setting, the trailer was a comfortable 72 degrees.

Redden also added an exhaust fan to remove cigarette smoke from the trailer, so unlike traditional limousines, smoking is allowed. He also plans to install an air conditioner this summer.

Those who have used Redneck Limo during its first six months are reportedly pleased with their experience. "Everyone who's rented it has said they'll never use a regular limo again," Redden said.

The business continues to have success. Redden has booked some weekends through October 2007, but he stresses that his schedule is not full. He charges $50 per hour or $400 for a typical afternoon to 3 a.m. run; and $500 for the same type of run on a holiday like New Year's Eve/Day.

Clinic, or the fact that more area residents may now choose to have their children born at NWMC rather than a hospital more than an hour away. Instead, they're excited to be able to provide a service that patients are demanding, and expect.

In the past, medical staff used intrathecal drug delivery to help control pain, but the dose is a one-time delivery system, that once it wears off, that's it. On the other hand, once an epidural line is installed, pain medication can be given continuously and adjusted as needed. It also is unlikely to affect (depress) the central nervous system, so mother and newborn can be alert after delivery, as well. This seems to comfort expectant parents and their families.

NWMC is excited about being able to deliver on its promise to respond to the needs of patients. Providing epidural anesthesia is just one more service, staff hopes will convince local and area residents that they are truly interested in serving their needs.

Nikunen, Pioneers snap Brainerd jinx

Rick Nikunen has been coaching basketball at Northland Community and Technical College for 15 years. Wednesday, he was able to finally celebrate his first road win over Minnesota Community College Conference rival Central Lakes. Overcoming a slow start, the NCTC men beat the Raiders 60-49 in the MCCC Northern Division opener for both teams.

Starting with the 1992-93 season, Nikunen coached the Northland women's team for six years. He switched jobs in 1998-99 when he took over the men's program. Together, his teams went 0-14 on the Brainerd court before the streak came to an end earlier this week.

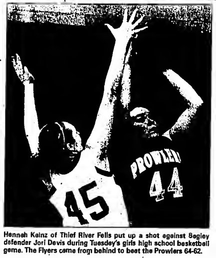
The 15th visit wasn't going so well, either, as the Pioneers struggled through an 18-point first half. Fortunately, the Raiders had problems of their own in mustering just two dozen points.

"Central Lakes is just a tough place to play," explained Nikunen. "We always seem to come out flat and fall behind. We were stumbling and tumbling and turning the ball over. The only thing that saved us was that, despite playing so poorly, we were still only down by six."

The Pioneers got their act together in the second half. The Raiders, on the other hand, had 20 more minutes of sub-par offensive production and were out-scored 42-25 to the horn.

"We got our legs in the second half," pointed out Nikunen. "We continued to play well on defense, and Luke Settergren hit a couple of three's early in the second half to get our offense going."

Kyrk Freeman scored 20 points, Brock Esaw 11 and Settergren 10 as the Pioneers improved to 11-4 overall.



Northland was 22-for-50 from the field (44 percent) and 13-for-19 at the free throw line. Central Lakes went just 19-for-70 from the floor (27 percent) and had a quiet 5-for-8 free throw game. The Pioneers finished with a 27-23 rebound edge. The Raiders had more turnovers, 18-15.

TRF 2-0 hockey winner against Kittson Central

Two first period goals stood up for a 2-0 Thief River Falls win over Kittson Central Tuesday in boys Section 8A high school hockey at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

The goals were scored by Corey Horien and Jesse Castle – the second one coming with just eight seconds left in the period.

It was the second shutout of the year for Thief River Falls goalie Cole Hunt, who watched the Prowlers out-shoot the Wolfpack 44-12.

Scott Lindegard was kept busy in the Kittson Central nets.

"They have a solid goaltender," noted Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "They're a tough team to play against. They pack five guys around their goalie and challenge you to beat them. It makes for kind of an ugly game, but if I was coaching them, I'd probably do the same thing."

The win put the Prowlers back above .500 for the year at 6-5.

Scoring

First period - TRF, Corey Horien (Jesse Castle), 11:45. TRF, Castle (Michael Benedict), 18:52.

Second period - no scoring.

Third period - no scoring.

Goalie saves - TRF, Cole Hunt 2-6-4-12; KC, Scott Lindegard 15-13-14-42.

Flyers' rally beats TRF girls 64-62...

Bagley finish nets win over Prowlers

Bagley out-scored Thief River Falls 7-0 over the final 2 minutes, 11 seconds Tuesday to emerge a 64-62 winner in girls high school basketball.

The Prowlers had 62-57 lead following a steal and fast break lay-up by Shawna Rogalla with 2:25 remaining. But they did not pick up another point. Misses on the front end of two bonus free throw opportunities in the final 78 seconds helped seal their fate.

Bagley, meanwhile, used two free throws by Devin Trefz and a base line drive by Chelsea Gray to pull within 62-61 with 1:03 left.

A Thief River Falls turnover was converted into a game-tying Kayla Skersick free throw with 15.1 seconds showing.

Skersick missed her second attempt, but Trefz scored off the rebound for the winning basket with 13.1 seconds to go.

Gray, a 5-9 senior guard who led all scorers with 24 points, missed two free throws with 2.2 seconds on the clock and Thief River Falls controlled the rebound. But the Prowlers couldn't launch a shot before the buzzer sounded.

The results put Bagley at 8-2 and Thief River Falls at 4-7.

It was a disappointing outing, according to Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "We've got to learn how to win," he said. "It just didn't seem like we were ready to play. We didn't have five girls out there who wanted to play."

Rogalla scored on an in-bounds play and Hannah Kainz followed a Bagley turnover with a half-ending basket as the Prowlers took a 27-23 lead into the break.

Thief River Falls then began the second half on back-to-back buckets by Kainz and a fast break lay-up by Mandy Thompson to quickly open up a 33-23 spread.

A Thompson rebound basket made it 37-26 with 15:40 remaining. But just when it appeared the Prowlers were going to break it open, the Flyers hit 3-pointers on three straight possessions to chop the difference to just 39-35.

"Those three's they hit were big," acknowledged Loe. "We were up by 11 and all of a sudden it's a four-point game."

The Prowlers managed to hold onto the lead until Trefz beat traffic on the inside to put the Flyers up 51-50 with 6:58 left. Two Cassie Gunderson free throws promptly put Thief River Falls back on top – a lead the Prowlers carried into the final seconds.

Trefz added 15 points to the Flyers' offense, while Skersick and Jessica Benson both netted 10. The Prowlers were led by Rogalla with 14 points, Chelsea Sorteberg 12 and Thompson 11.

Thief River Falls shot 47 percent from the field (27/57) and just 5-for-11 at the free throw line. Bagley had a 50 percent 25-for-50 shooting night from the field and an 11-for-19 performance at the free throw line.

The Flyers out-rebounded the Prowlers 34-21, but they also had more turnovers, 26-16.

TRF JV girls win 53-14

Thief River Falls built a 28-8 halftime lead and cruised to a 53-14 girls junior varsity high school basketball win over Bagley Tuesday.

Rachael Johnson and Toni Sorteberg led the Prowlers with nine points each.

Prowlers hold off Panthers for second straight 8AAA road win

A three-point halftime edge became a three-point Thief River Falls victory Tuesday in a boys high school basketball game against Park Rapids Area.

The 59-56 decision was the second straight win on the road over a Section 8AAA opponent for the 8-1 Prowlers, who were coming off a 77-61 Friday victory at Detroit Lakes.

Ahead 29-26 at intermission, Thief River Falls upped the difference to nine points early in the second half and kept the Panthers at bay the rest of the way.

"First half, we played a little unsettled," reported Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean, whose team turned the ball over 16 times in the first 18 minutes. "We didn't handle the ball real well at the start, but we defended well. And we were able to clean up the turnovers in the second half."

Alex Yaggie scored 23 points and Adam Rodahl had 10 to lead the Prowlers' offense. "Adam and Alex really worked well together in the second half," said McLean. "They had a nice two-man game going."

The Panthers were led by Bryce Fazekas, a 6-9 center who scored 17 points, grabbed 11 rebounds and blocked six shots. He did all that despite spending time on the bench after picking up three first half fouls. Grant Dierkhising added 16 points to the Park Rapids offense.

Thief River Falls was 27-for-48 from the field (56 percent); Park Rapids went 23-for-47 (49 percent). The Prowlers were 5-for-8 at the free throw line, where the Panthers went 10-for-17. Despite Fazekas' presence, Thief River Falls finished with a 30-27 rebound edge. The 6-3 Panthers had more turnovers, 30-24.

"It was a big win for our kids," said McLean.

NCTC women overtake Raiders

Northland closed the game with a 13-4 scoring run to overtake host Central Lakes 57-52 Wednesday in Minnesota Community College Conference women's basketball.

It was the Northern Division opener for both teams. Both sides came into the game with 3-10 non-conference records.

The Raiders had a 25-21 halftime edge and were up 48-44 before the Pioneers' put together their game-ending surge.

A 3-pointer by Lynsey Roppe put Northland in front 52-50 with 1:20 remaining. A Megan Meyer basket tied it for Central Lakes, but Jackie Fossum's trey gave the Pioneers a lead they would never surrender.

Fossum (19) and Meyer (15) were the game's only double figure scorers.

Northland shot 44 percent from the field (21/48); Central Lakes shot 33 percent (21/63). The Pioneers were 9-for-15 on free throws; the Raiders made just 8 of 20 foul shots. Central Lakes had a decided 46-25 rebound advantage. The turnovers were a standoff, with Northland leading the way, 25-24.

Grygla-Gatzke tips MCC in o.t.

Grygla-Gatzke erased a 15-point deficit with eight minutes remaining in regulation time and went on to beat Marshall County Central 75-73 in overtime Tuesday in a boys high school basketball match-up at Newfolden.

Brady Olson came up with both the tying points to end regulation time and the winning basket in the final seconds of overtime to complete the Eagles' comeback.

The Nordics had a 35-30 halftime edge. Their double-digit second half lead dwindled down the stretch and Olson forced overtime when he made two free throws with 4.9 seconds remaining to tie the game at 68-68.

It was still deadlocked at 73-73 when Olson pulled up in traffic to hit a short jump shot with three seconds left in the extra session for the win.

"That was about as wild as a game can be," said Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson. "It was a great team effort. We had kids come off the bench who maybe didn't score much, but gave us some valuable minutes."

Olson wound up the hero by being in the right place at the right time, explained Johnson. "We preach to all the kids to take advantage of the opportunity when it's there," he said. "Brady just happened to be there this time."

The results put the Eagles at 6-2 and the Nordics at 6-4.

It was a tough loss, acknowledged Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "Give Grygla a lot of credit," he said. "They battled back. But make no mistake, we let this one slip away. We turned it over and we missed free throws."

The free throw figures really stood out. The Nordics were 9-for-20 at the line, which included a 3-for-8 showing in overtime. The Eagles, meanwhile, took away the Marshall County Central home court edge with a productive 25-for-37 free throw night."

"We forced some turnovers, and they missed some free throws to leave the door open for us," pointed out Johnson. "It was a nice win for our kids. They're a resilient bunch. They don't quit."

Kyle Klasen of the Nordics led all scorers with 25 points. Teammate Evan Maki netted 20 and Jordan Anderson had 14 – all the the first half before running into early second half foul trouble. For the Eagles, Olson finished with 21 points, Anthony Gast had 17, Tyler Corneliusen 16 and Kris Klamar turned in a 12-point, 15-rebound double-double.

Marshall County Central shot 52 percent from the field (28/54); Grygla-Gatzke shot 43 percent (24/56). Rebound and turnover figures were nearly dead-even. The Eagles had a 32-31 edge on the boards and also topped the turnover count, 18-16.

EGF, Roseau hand Wolverines losses

There were similarities in the two setbacks as Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke lost back-to-back girls high school games at East Grand Forks Saturday and at Roseau Monday.

The Wolverines fell to the Green Wave 69-56 and were beaten by the Rams 66-58. In both cases, they were in the game until the final three minutes when foul trouble finally took its toll.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke trailed East Grand Forks just 28-24 at halftime and owned a lead with five minutes left. The Wolverines led the Rams 30-25 at intermission.

Justyne Larson scored 18 points and Brittney Forsberg had 13 in the loss at East Grand Forks. Larson came back with a 21-point game at Roseau, where Stephanie Klamar scored 15 points and Rebecca Polansky had 11.

The Wolverines had nearly identical 25 percent shooting performances in the two starts, with a 16-for-64 showing against East Grand Forks and a 16-for-63 copy-cat effort vs. Roseau. A busy 20-for-37 free throw night against the Green Wave was followed by a quiet 3-for-10 effort vs. the Rams, who were 16-for-30 at the line and finished with a 42-28 rebound advantage.

Rams beat Prowlers 3-1

Two first period goals stood up for a 2-0 Thief River Falls win over Kittson Central Tuesday in boys Section 8A high school hockey at the Ralph Engelstad Arena

The goals were scored by Corey Horien and Jesse Castle – the second one coming with just eight seconds left in the period.

It was the second shutout of the year for Thief River Falls goalie Cole Hunt, who watched the Prowlers out-shoot the Wolfpack 44-12.

Scott Lindegard was kept busy in the Kittson Central nets.

"They have a solid goaltender," noted Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "They're a tough team to play against. They pack five guys around their goalie and challenge you to beat them. It makes for kind of an ugly game, but if I was coaching them, I'd probably do the same thing."

The win put the Prowlers back above .500 for the year at 6-5..

Gators out-score Ponies

Offense overshadowed the defense Tuesday in an 82-77 Badger/Greenbush-Middle River boys high school basketball win over host Warren-Alvarado-Oslo.

Five Gators hit double figures as Nathan Thompson scored 19 points, Tyler Aune 18, Jordan Creviston 16, Jakob Heggedal 12 and Zach Creviston 11.

The winners turned in a 53 percent 31-for-58 shooting performance from the field and cashed in on 17 of 25 free throw opportunities as they improved to 7-3.

"We shot the ball real well and had spurts of outstanding basketball," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Kent Christian.

The Ponies trailed 43-28 at halftime, but came back to make it a game in the second half behind Evan Mattson, who scored 29 points, Steven Kuzel 14 and Matt McFarland 12.

"Our defense must improve if we want to reach the goals we have set for ourselves," admitted Christian. "Forty-nine points in a half is way too many, even against an outstanding team like Warren."

Mustangs knock off EGF

Faith Kruchowski scored a game-high 21 points, Brittany Gustafson had a 19-point game and Courtney Halvorson came up with a 12-point, 15-rebound double-double as Red Lake County Central beat host East Grand Forks 57-54 in a Tuesday girls high school basketball game.

"We played real good defense, especially in the first half," explained Red Lake County Central coach Rick Korvisto, whose 7-3 Mustangs handed the Green Wave just its second loss in 12 starts.

A 3-pointer at the buzzer gave East Grand Forks a 25-23 edge at halftime, but Red Lake County Central answered the bell in the second half.

Halvorson gave the Mustangs their final three-point advantage with 20 seconds left. The Green Wave closed it out by missing a 3-point attempt.

"It was a good win for us," confirmed Korvisto.

Red Lake County Central had a 35 percent 18-for-52 shooting night. East Grand Forks turned in a 39 percent 20-for-51 showing from the field. The Mustangs went to the free throw line 29 times, hitting 18 of them. The Green Wave had a quieter 5-for-8 free throw game. Gators handle Huskies 98-39

Five Badger/Greenbush-Middle River scorers hit double figures as the host Gators overwhelmed Goodridge 98-39 in Monday boys high school basketball.

Allan Dostal, Jordan Creviston, Tyler Aune and Zach Creviston scored 15 points each and Dale Stauffenecker netted 12 for the winners, who had a 54-24 halftime cushion.

"We played a team game," reported Gators coach Kent Christian. "Having that many guys in double figures was nice. We were able to create a lot of opportunities because of our pressure defense."

The Huskies were led by Brett Bakken with 14 points and Nick Mickelson with 11.

"They (Gators) impressed me," acknowledged Goodridge coach Eric Mickelson. "They're very quick. We didn't handle their pressure very well, we made a lot of mistakes."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shot 54 percent from the field (38/71) and had an 18-for-29 free throw game. Goodridge shot just 25 percent from the floor (16/63) and had a 9-for-16 free throw night. The Gators finished with a 39-20 rebound advantage and forced the Huskies into 35 turnovers while losing the ball only 13 times themselves.

Minimum wage increase justified

Last November, citizens went to the polls and voted for a change in domestic and foreign policy. One of the first changes now looming on the horizon is an increase in the minimum wage.

The legislation approved by Congress, calls for a 41 percent increase from $5.15 to $7.25 per hour over 26 months. The increase would occur in three 70-cent phases or increments ($5.85 - 60 days after enactment, $6.55 - one year later, $7.25 - an additional year later). The Senate will soon consider the minimum wage. To put it in perspective, a 70 cent-an-hour raise for a person who works a 40-hour week would add $28 a week to his or her paycheck, before taxes. It would mean $1,400 a year if a person worked 50 weeks.

In Minnesota, nearly 135,000 workers would benefit from a minimum-wage increase.

The National Restaurant Association continues to oppose any federally mandated increase in the starting wage. It argues that it would result in the loss of thousands of jobs. After the 1996 wage hike, a nationwide NRA survey of 1,000 restaurants revealed that 146,000 jobs were cut from restaurant payrolls and operators postponed plans to hire an additional 106,000 employees. They also argue that lesser skilled employees would suffer because it would attract higher wage workers; workers employed at the minimum wage typically are beginning their careers; and, nationally, 85 percent of those who would benefit from a minimum-wage hike are teens living with their parents, adults living alone, or second earners; just 15 percent of people who earn minimum wage are sole earners in households with children.

In a capitalist system, inequity is not a bad thing. In fact, it's necessary because it allows business to compete.

When voters went to the polls in November they sent a clear signal for change. It should be clear that they were upset with the status quo. One of the things they were upset with is the limited economic growth - only a small segment of the American population is profiting from economic growth. To them, it has become clear that the "trickle-down" theory has not helped a vast majority of individuals.

The American economy is not so fragile that it will fail if the minimum wage is increased. It is a vast, complex combination of resources and technology. And the truth is, an increase in the minimum wage may even spur economic growth and even reduce or lessen demands for the social services. If small business suffers an unequal blow, then perhaps the blow may be softened by tax aid, but it is wrong to continue to ask those who are less able to afford it, to continue to bear the heavy burdens caused by low wages.

Bible Bowl team wins

The Bible Bowl Team from Open Arms Christian Fellowship's youth club won first place at the Northern Area Bible Bowl held in Detroit Lakes on Saturday, Jan. 6. As a result, the team will travel to Minneapolis this weekend to participate in the State Bible Bowl on Saturday, Jan. 13. The team will remain in Minneapolis and participate in an Honors Fair the following day.

Each Bible Bowl team is allowed six participants and one alternate. The Open Arms team includes Elissa Northup, Evan Northup, and Katherine Sayler, Thief River Falls; Joshua Saunders, Crookston; and Lydia and Caleb Pongo, Gatzke. The team's Bible Bowl coach is Bonnie Dunston; club director is Marilyne Sayler.

This is the first time the Minnesota Conference of Seventh-day Adventists will be holding a State Bible Bowl for its church-based youth club, the Pathfinder Club. Pathfinders is a 54-year-old international ministry for kids 10 years of age and up which promotes spiritual, social, mental, and physical devlopment through individual, family, church, club, and community events.

Currently the club is intensively studying the last five chapters of Deuteronomy and all 24 chapters of Joshua as it prepares to face over 100 questions at the State Bible Bowl. The club isn't all study, however. Scheduling time to visit nursing homes, packing shoeboxes for Operation Christmas Child, and championing the cause of needy people around the world through ADRA (Adventist Development and Relief Association) are just a few of the service projects that Open Arms Pathfinders have been involved in. Campouts, crafts, recreation, and vocational activities are also included in the club schedule of weekly meetings. But for now, club members are focused on mastering Old Testament history as they prepare to represent northern Minnesota Pathfinders at the state level.

EARLY CHILDHOOD FAMILY EDUCATION

The mission of the Early Childhood Family Education program that serves children birth to kindergarten and their parents is to strengthen families through the education and support of all parents by providing the best possible environment for healthy growth and development of their children. ECFE's message is that what parents do is important. ECFE recognizes and supports parents' understanding of their children as well as their parental roles. What parents do to guide and nurture their own children and their skill in working with others who share responsibility for their child's development (teachers, schools, and others in the community) is critical to their children's future and the quality and capacity of our country's human capital.

The Thief River Falls program offerings include: Parent-child classes offered mornings, afternoons or evenings, a library story time at the public library, home visits, teen and young parent classes, a family literacy class, safety town for 4-year-olds, book and toy lending library, early childhood screenings and coordination, parent information at WIC clinics, coordination with other agencies, making and receiving referrals, weekly newspaper columns and family special events.

The ECFE's winter quarter begins the week of January 8 and continues through March 9. Registrations are taken on a first-come, first-served basis and will continue as long as there are openings. Minimum enrollment is required for all classes. All residents of school district 564 with children ages birth up to kindergarten enrollment should have received a newsletter from ECFE with details of classes and activities and registration information. If you are eligible and did not receive a newsletter, please call ECFE at 681-8670.

Warren council selects main projects

Warren - "The Warren City Council, meeting Jan. 9, heard from the Public Works Committee that a milling and overlay paving of South Fifth and Sixth streets will be the city's principal street improvement project this summer.

"The council had budgeted $125,000 for street repairs and had been advised by consulting engineer Floan Sanders that amount of money would pay for the Fifth/Sixth Street paving or crack seal and chip seal of most other city streets but not both.

"Operations Superintendent Todd Hanson, who earlier indicated he favors getting the Fifth/Sixth Street area paved, said he is gathering cost information on seal coat for the airport and city streets. He expects to have the project out to bid by late March, with a mid-June starting date." - Warren Sheaf, Jan. 17, 2007

Buyout participant may have his day in court

Red Lake Falls - "Tim Guillemette, one of the many homeowners who were involuntarily bought out as part of the city's landslide buyout program, appeared before the Red Lake Falls City Council on Jan. 8 to request a fourth extension of the time allowed to move out of the endangered home.

"Guillemette cited delays have occurred that prevent him from moving into his new dwelling and getting things out of the old house and shop building. He is waiting for the house mover to complete moving his new house onto the foundation."

"The council unanimously agreed three time extensions would be the limit and that Guillemette has the adequate funding and resources to find temporary lodging, hire help to clear out the premises and place his belongings in storage."

"A letter of eviction will be sent, and the courts will decide what timeline Guillemette will have to fulfill his move-out obligation." - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Jan. 17, 2007

Exercise for the mind, body and spirit

Hallock - "Resolutions abound as the new year begins and one of the most prominent resolutions people make is to exercise and lose weight. However, in today's fast-paced world, it's often hard to stay focused on achieving such long-term goals.

"To combat resolution burnout, people all across the country are turning to a low impact activity called Yoga that not only stimulates the body's metabolic capabilities, but also helps battle anxiety and emotional tension through stress reducing meditation.

"The definition of Yoga is 'to join or yoke together.' According to Fitour, a top fitness instructor training program, Yoga is a system of physical and mental exercises that brings the body and mind together into a harmonious experience."

Yoga predates written history.

"Christine Jensen has been a Yoga instructor for three years, and she recently started classes Mondays and Wednesdays, beginning at 5:15 p.m., in the Kittson County Enterprise office, Hallock. According to Jensen, Yoga has been a life-changing experience for her. - Kittson County Enterprise, Jan. 17, 2007

Another drought on the horizon?

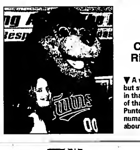
Will drought conditions persist?

by David Hill
Editor

The NOAA National Weather Service Weather Forecast Office in Grand Forks, N.D., has issued a water resources statement and outlook stating that dry conditions are expected to continue.

"Moderate to extreme drought conditions developed during the summer of 2006 with dry conditions continuing into the 2006-2007 winter season. This is a significant change from the 1992-2005 time period when predominantly wet summer and fall seasons prevailed.

Since November 2006 most of the Grand Forks hydrologic service area has experienced below normal precipitation. Portions of North Central and Central Minnesota have received less than 25 percent of normal and are currently classified in extreme drought conditions. Less severe conditions are found over west central Minnesota. The Red River Valley and eastern North Dakota. Small portions of the central and northern Red River Valley proper have experienced above normal rain or snow fall."



Those conditions are expected to continue. According to the outlook, "an el Niño is occurring in the equatorial Pacific. The climate prediction center indicates a fairly high likelihood (55 percent more) that the rest of the winter season will continue warmer than normal in the Grand Forks hydrological service area. During el Niño events, winter snowfall is typically 85 to 90 percent of the climactic normal. This would equate to 35 to 40 inches of snow during the cold season. For far this winter season, snow falls generally range from 30 to 50 percent of normal. Lack of significant snowfall and low moisture content of the snow pack would indicate that drought conditions will persist into the spring planting season."

Howard Person, University of Minnesota Extension agent, is worried about the spring. Person said the region went into winter with very limited sub soil moisture. If the region experiences a dry spring, like in 1980, there probably won't be enough moisture in the ground to germinate seeds.

The 2006 growing season started with plenty of sub-soil moisture. Precipitation was below normal during much of the growing season, however, causing some stress on short season crops and small grains.

Last fall, an agriculture disaster declaration was sought for the region. Hay and pasture suffered the most because of drought-like conditions. Person said wheat and sunflower producers were all over the place, in regard to yield. Bean yields ranged from 10 to 40 bushels per acre, and wheat between 20 and 60 bushels per acre. The precipitation that fell over the region during the 2006 growing season was so spotty that it really depended on where the farm was located. Sunflower and sugar beet growers, however, posted good yields.

Children at Franklin Middle School in Thief River Falls show their enthusiasm for Twins

▼ A warm welcome for the Twins Caravan. It wasn't quite the Metrodome, but students at Franklin Middle School in Thief River Falls packed the stands in their gymnasium on Wednesday, Jan. 17, just to listen to these members of the Twins organization. Joining T.C. were Tony Oliva, Joe Nathan, Nick Punto and Announcer Dick Bremer. The Twins Winter Caravan has made numerous stops. During the stop in Thief River Falls, Oliva talked to students about doing their homework and being on a winning team.

Warroad's Heppner family to be featured on show

If you have ever wished to be a mouse in the corner to observe a large family in action, here is your chance. A candid portrait of three large families will be presented on prime time national television. One of these families will be the Heppner family of Warroad.

The three families will be featured on TLC (The Learning Channel) at 8 p.m. and 11 p.m. CST as a mini series called Kids by the Dozen.

On Jan. 15, the Arndt family from Missouri, which has 13 boys and one girl, was featured.

On Jan. 22, the DuWayne and Miriam Heppner family from Warroad, with 17 children will be featured. When the filming was conducted they only had 16. Their seventeenth child was brought home just recently. (Miriam lived in Thief River Falls when she was in the fourth and fifth grades, and attended Knox Elementary School. Her parents were Ronald and Donna Amundson.)

On Jan. 29, the Jeubs, who recently lived in the Fargo area but now live in Colorado, will be featured. They had 11 children, and then one year ago, they had twins.

Approximately 100 hours of filming for each family has been edited for 45-50 minute documentaries (an hour show with commercials).

The initial television crew spent one week with our family in July, said Miriam Heppner, and the post production crew came back for three days the week of Thanksgiving.

"This was a life-changing experience for our family. We tend to think of our family as normal (whatever that means!). In truth, each of our families has a unique story to tell. Although God is still writing our family's story, we have been amazed as we have already watched Him at work through the process," said Heppner.

"This positive, albeit stretching, experience helped us to take a step back and see what we have through the world's eyes. We had to look at what we are doing, why we are doing what we are, and how we are doing it. As we took a fresh look at family relations and the journey of faith that brought us to where we are, we realized anew that what God has given us in our family is incredibly awesome. You can expect a candid and encouraging production."

Minnesota hospitals

Hospitals report few adverse events

The Minnesota Department of Health has released the third annual report on "preventable adverse events" in Minnesota hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers and regional treatment centers. North Country Health Services in Bemidji and RiverView Hospital in Crookston are among those that had preventable adverse events between Oct. 7, 2005, and Oct. 6, 2006. Preventable adverse events include such things as wrong-site surgeries, pressure ulcers, retained objects after surgery, death or serious disability from a medication error, and death from a fall.

It was reported that one person suffered a fall while being cared for at North Country between Oct. 7, 2005, and Oct. 6, 2006. There were 44,285 patient days at the facility during the time. North Country has 116 beds. As of press time, Penny Echternach, director of communications at North Country, hadn't returned a message from the Northern Watch on Thursday.

At RiverView, it was reported that one wrong surgical/other invasive procedure was performed on the wrong body part during that time period. It was also reported that there was one wrong surgical/other invasive procedure performed at the hospital. During that time period, 2,370 surgeries were performed at the hospital, which has 49 beds.

"They were both incidents that created no harm to the patients," said Deb Boardman, RiverView Health chief executive officer. She noted that the hospital has since improved how it prepares patients for surgery.

Regarding what specifically happened during the two incidents, Boardman said, "We don't talk about the specific events." She added that if an adverse event were reported, the specific information pertaining to the case is protected. Boardman went on to say that the hospital works hard for quality and patient safety.

The report summarizes the number and types of events that occurred in facilities that are required to report. According to the report, during that period, 154 adverse events were reported by 49 facilities, and 24 deaths and seven serious disabilities resulted from the events.

This year's report highlights steps being taken by facilities to prevent adverse health events, and is accompanied by a new consumer guide and interactive Web site. The consumer guide provides easy-to-understand information about the adverse events reporting system and practical tips for working with health care providers to ensure safe care. The interactive Web site allows consumers to select specific hospitals and surgical centers to see what, if any, adverse events have been reported by that facility, and also links consumers to broader sources of quality and safety information.

"Our adverse health events reporting system is providing the type of information that is helping

Is a battle brewing over control of the REA?

by April Schelnoha

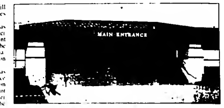
Filling a vacant parks/arena maintenance position and creating an advisory board for Ralph Engelstad Arena will be two items on the agenda of the next Committee of the Whole meeting in Thief River Falls. At its meeting Tuesday, the Thief River Falls City Council voted to place those items on the agenda of its Committee of the Whole meeting scheduled Tuesday, Jan. 23 at 4:30 p.m. at City Hall.

At its meeting Tuesday, by a vote of 7-1, the council voted to refer the potential hiring back to the committee. Council member Elvera Cullen was opposed.

It won't be the only REA related item on the Committee of Whole agenda. Council members unanimously voted to have a discussion at that meeting about a potential advisory board for REA.

(The City Council formed the Committee of the Whole this month. The committee members are the eight members of the City Council.)



Citing a lack of information, as well as the need for a needs assessment, council member Emery Lee made the motion to refer the hiring issue back to the Committee of the Whole. He added he would like to see a better description of what employees do in the Parks and Recreation Department. The motion was seconded by council member Odette Bendickson. At the previous Committee of the Whole meeting, Bendickson had asked about using scheduling changes as a way to fill the positions vacated by employees due to retirements or resignations.

Shaun Nelson resigned Jan. 12 as a park maintenance/arena worker for the city. As part of its consent agenda at its Jan. 16 meeting, the council approved Nelson's resignation. Nelson has accepted a position with Hanson Construction.

Cullen, who formerly served as the chairperson of what was once the Parks and Recreation Committee, noted another vacant park maintenance/arena worker position hadn't been filled in the past.

Parks and Recreation Director Madelyn Vorvick said, "We are short one person and we do and have managed with that." At the same

The Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls is a major sports facility in Thief River Falls. Currently, the facility is managed through the city's Park and Recreation Department, but a new city council is considering an advisory board to help market the facility.

Did you get a bread machine for Christmas? I did, and I'm using it like mad. Today I'm going to give you a bunch of recipes you can use in your breadmaker too, whether it's new one or not.

These recipes are from the St. Paul Church cookbook and they are all from one person, Judy Mostrom. I've been trying them as fast as I can and I love every one, so I'm going to give you a chance to try them too. I'm also going to try some of the other bread recipes in this cookbook because they are all looking good. Can hardly wait.

I usually bake my bread myself, so I use the "dough" cycle and then shape the loaves, let them rise again and bake them in my oven. I use a 350 degree oven and bake the loaves about 30 minutes. I have one particular glass pan I like to use and sometimes the recipe will make a larger amount of dough than fits well in my pan, so I shape the loaf to fit in a smaller loaf pan or else in a nice little casserole dish to make a little round bread. Sometimes I make a few dinner rolls with the extra dough too, or shape out a "French" shaped or round bread on a cookie sheet that has been sprinkled with cornmeal. That little extra bread loaf makes a nice gift for a neighbor too.

This bread is great with melted cheese or a tasty spread:

PUMPERNICKEL BREAD FOR MACHINE
Judy Mostrom

1 1/8 cups water
3 tablespoons molasses
3 tablespoons cocoa
1 1/2 tablespoons powdered milk
1 tablespoon butter
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon instant coffee
2 cups flour
3/4 cup whole wheat flour
1/4 cup cornmeal
2 teaspoons yeast
Put in machine in order given.

Brown sugar and cinnamon will make this bread special for breakfast. Remember to add raisins last or even after taking the dough out of the machine.

RAISIN BREAD FOR MACHINE
Judy Mostrom

1 1/4 cups milk
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3 1/2 cups flour
3/4 cup raisins
2 teaspoons yeast
Put in machine in order given.

This is a hearty bread that smells wonderful while it bakes and tastes wonderful when it comes out of the oven:

HONEY WHEAT BREAD FOR MACHINE
Judy Mostrom

1 1/3 cup milk
1/4 cup honey
3 tablespoons shortening
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon ginger
2 cups flour
1 cup whole wheat flour
3/4 cup cracked wheat flour
2 teaspoons yeast
Put in machine in order given.

I've given you this bread before and it is one of the best - so much nicer than plain white:

OATMEAL BREAD FOR MACHINE
Judy Mostrom

1/2 cup apple juice
3/4 cup water
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon shortening
1 teaspoon salt
2 2/3 cup flour
1/2 cup quick oats
2 teaspoons yeast
Put in machine in order given.

I've used both cranberry and apple juice in this recipe and wouldn't hesitate to use other juice either. I also interchange the quick oats with the old-fashioned kind too and either one is good.

What a treat to have this bread with soup or a hot dish:

DILL BREAD FOR BREAD MACHINE
Judy Mostrom

1 1/4 cup buttermilk
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons dill seed
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon white pepper
3 cups flour
2-3 teaspoons yeast
Put in machine in order given.

What toast this bread makes and what great French toast too:

BANANA WHEAT BREAD FOR MACHINE
Judy Mostrom

1/4 cup honey
1/4 cup warm water
1/4 cup oil
1/2 teaspoon poppy seeds
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cup wheat flour
1 1/2 cups flour
2 medium sliced bananas
2 teaspoons yeast
Put in machine in order given.

Try this one with a simple dish like mac and cheese or just for a sandwich - you'll love it:

CHEESE AND ONION BREAD FOR MACHINE
Judy Mostrom

1 1/4 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/8 teaspoon paprika
3 1/2 cups flour
1 cup Cheddar cheese
1/3 cup minced red onion
2 teaspoons yeast
Put in machine in order given.

And this is the recipe for plain white bread that came with my new breadmaker. It is one of the best I've made. The recipe is for a 2 pound loaf, with directions for a 1 1/2 pound loaf in parentheses. And no, I don't know why there is more yeast in the smaller loaf either):

TRADITIONAL WHITE BREAD

1 1/3 cups water (1 cup plus 2 tablespoons)
4 teaspoons butter or margarine, softened (1 tablespoon)
2 tablespoons sugar (same)
4 teaspoons dry milk powder (1 tablespoon)
2 teaspoons salt (1 1/2 teaspoons)
4 cups bread flour (3 cups)
2 teaspoons bread machine yeast (I use active dry yeast in a jar) (2 1/2)

125 more days added to stay in Iraq for Red Bulls

Minnesota National Guard soldiers in Iraq have received official word that they will be extended up to 125 days.

"This is the word we were waiting for" said Colonel David Elicerio, the 1st Brigade Combat Team of the 34th Infantry Division Commander. "The news last week came as a surprise to all of us. Ever since the early rumors about this deployment back in 2005, we have relied upon official orders to make our plans. I know such caution can be frustrating for those who want speed but I believe the trade-off in accuracy is worth it."

The extension order states the "Red Bulls" will be extended for up to 125 days past their original return date. The soldiers can now expect to return to their families around August. Comprised mainly of National Guard soldiers from Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Nebraska, and New Jersey, the 5,000-person brigade is responsible for providing convoy and base security across Iraq.

Let politics be taken out of the disaster application process

It will be interesting to see what happens in our nation's capitol when losses caused to the citrus crops in California are finally assessed. Given the heal dragging that took place around a proposal last December that would have provided $5 billion to farmers and ranchers nationwide who suffered losses due to drought, flooding, disease and other natural disasters, I suspect that an assistance package will ... be quickly approved.

During the debates last December, Sen. Norm Coleman remarked, "It is incomprehensible that Congress has approved disaster assistance to Gulf state farmers, while Midwest farmers continue to get the cold shoulder."

With Congressman Collin Peterson as chair of the House Agriculture Committee, farmers and ranchers in the Midwest may have some hope in getting a permanent ag disaster program attached to the new Farm Bill. It would be nice to take politics out of any agriculture disaster assistance application. The current farm bill was written in 2002, and many of the provisions in that bill will expire this September, so a major responsibility of the Agriculture Committee will be reauthorization of federal farm programs in the Farm Bill.

Last year, almost half of the counties in Minnesota were declared federal disaster areas. As former Sen. Mark Dayton said: "The crisis is real; the suffering is acute." Given the fact that disaster assistance has been denied or delayed twice before, odds are that it will be an uphill struggle to get aid to farmers and ranchers. The truly worrisome fact about the matter is that at least in this region, drought is a very real possibility this year, too.

Warroad Care Center to host informational meetings on new senior living center

The Warroad Care Center will host several meetings to introduce the public to the new Warroad Senior Living Center, a state-of-the-art residential community for persons requiring assisted living or skilled care.

The town meetings will be held on Monday, Jan. 22 at the Warroad High School Mini Theater. Presentations will take place at 2, 4:30, and 7 p.m. Each meeting will last approximately one hour; coffee and cake will be served afterward.

The new nursing center will be comprised of spacious rooms with private baths and will be arranged in neighborhoods specializing in Skilled and Alzheimer Care. This project was made possible through a gift from Marvin Windows and Doors in 2006.

This arrangement will encourage residents and members of the community to be part of a social unit. The rooms will average 400 square feet, which is significantly larger than most other facilities. A group of 12 skilled care rooms will comprise a single household. One household will be devoted exclusively to Alzheimer patients. The household will include a living room, dining room, and kitchen. Two households will form a neighborhood. Each neighborhood will contain a laundry, dining, living and private multi-purpose room.

The Center Lodge will welcome residents and guests with a large reception and lobby area. Nearby, residents will relax and enjoy activities in the large activity/craft area, beauty shop, wellness center, therapy room, club room, theater, chapel, media center gift shop and café.

In addition to the new center, the campus will contain an assisted living and memory care facility. Later, an independent living facility will complete the Warroad Senior Living Center that will focus on exceptional care for a meaningful life.

In fall 2006, work began in earnest at the site located on a 25-acre parcel of land at the intersections of Lake Street and Liberty Avenue, in the southwest corner of the city.

The town meetings will touch on a variety of topics, including the current Warroad Care Center, the vision for the new facility from the Warroad Care Center Board of Directors, a presentation of the new facility plans from the Architect and Engineer, and a presentation on how the new Senior Living Center will serve Warroad and the surrounding area. Those in attendance will have an opportunity to request more information and ask questions of those working on the project.

Anyone who is unable to attend one of the meetings but would like more information about the Warroad Senior Living Center, please call 1-218-386-1235, and ask for Administrator Rod Kutter.

THE LYON'S SHARE

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

Take me out to the puck game

Recently, I asked Bruce Gillie, a lifelong Williams resident, what he thought about the upcoming Baudette Bay Hockey Classic and the prospects of playing a high school hockey game on an outdoor, natural sheet of ice. Gillie, you see, has participated in hockey games at all levels and on almost all surfaces, from the modest confines of Williams creeks to the imposing expanses of Boston arenas. I was curious how he'd view the regressive move.

"With the cold and the snow and the wind," he responded in his predictable, understated, northern Minnesota fashion, "we spent so much effort dreaming and working to get the game moved indoors back then, I'm not quite sure why anybody would want to go back out there."

The comments are offered with just enough of a smile to make it clear that Gillie's playing devil's advocate, but the question remains legitimate. Is the move outdoors more apt to trigger a wave of generational nostalgia among the baby boomers and beyond who actually skated on lakes and rivers or a louder, collective sigh of relief for the younger crowd that never had to endure the harshness of environmentally exposed hockey? Whatever the motivation, it's intriguing to consider the transitions from what was to what is concerning natural ice use.

For example, 40 years ago, the few who actually ice fished must have done so in lieu of some prison sentence. There couldn't have been huge amounts of joy in poising oneself over a roughly chiseled, semi-thawed hole waiting for a frozen bobber to be yanked hard enough to free itself from the side of the ice sheet. A far cry from today's comforts of an easily wheeled, quickly heated, flop-down portable fish house complete with GPS, electric lighting, and television re-runs of Three's Company. OK, so maybe the television hasn't evolved past John Ritter, but the rest of it's pretty good. And yet, even with all those advancements available, I still see February and March fishermen take to the out of doors in their pursuits of an evening meal when the weather is the least bit permitting. Don't they understand that they don't have to be out there anymore?

Or how about the snowmobile crowd? Forty years ago, snowmobiling involved driving your sled two miles out onto a frozen lake where it would inevitably die of some mysterious ailment that even duct tape couldn't rectify. The afternoon of snowmobiling would then become a simple matter of standing by your machine, trying desperately to look cool rather than cold while you waited on the off chance that someone else's sled might actually make it as far as yours did and tow you back in. Nowadays, reliable, supercharged snowmobiles allow for weekend long, trouble-free riding. Electric start, fuel injection, state-of-the-art suspension, even built in hand-warmers add luxurious comfort to the dependant nature of the modern sled. And yet, the highlight of the season's trailriding continues to be local "Scrap-iron runs" where participants cajole and coerce snowmobiles that have no business moving, into moving.

Which brings us back to the present day hockey conundrum. We have indoor ice available to add a pristine, refined quality to the game. We have an enclosed arena with a heated lobby to protect spectators from the unpredictable assaults of Mother Nature. We have a Zamboni at the ready so that volunteers don't need to shovel and sweep the ice between the first and second periods. There is a fully loaded, electrically capable concession venue at the main rink which eliminates the need for a makeshift, generator powered refreshment stand. There are locker rooms for players and officials, not trailers and fish-houses. Hey, there's indoor plumbing instead of a potentially 20 below confrontation with a porta-potty. And yet, the outdoor game generates more statewide interest than any indoor Baudette game ever has.

My point? As usual, I'm not sure. But if the future is now, why then are those who are playing in, spectating at, and working for this game, so excited about going back outside? Is it misty-eyed nostalgia? Is it a desire to point out to the next generation just how good they have it? Or is it more simply a reminder that newer and more comfortable don't always translate to better?

Or maybe, instead of listening to me ramble, just ask Bruce Gillie about it the next time you see him. You can probably catch him at the game. He'll be shivering in some corner suggesting to those around him that they're crazy for being there. But he'll still be carrying that faintest of smiles with him.

Josh Towle of Itasca tried to take the ball to the basket against Kyrk Freemen of Northland during Tuesday's men's college basketball game in Thief River Falls. The Pioneers improved to 3-0 in the Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division with an 86-62 win.

Pioneers ease coach concerns by winning with ease over Itasca

Don't worry, be happy. That's the message Northland players sent to head coach Rick Nikunen Tuesday in a surprisingly-easy 86-62 Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball win over visiting Itasca.

The Pioneers never trailed as they pushed their MCCC Northern Division record to 3-0 – part of a 10-game winning streak that has turned an early-season 3-4 record into an impressive 13-4 figure.

"This was a nice win for us," said Nikunen. "Itasca had a real good team I was really worried about this one. They're so athletic they can take off on you at any given moment."

Itasca, however, never put that breakaway game into play. The Pioneers were up 15-10 at the 10-minute mark and matched their biggest first half lead when Trumaine Johnson, the trailer on a fast break, scored on a put-back at the buzzer for a 38-24 cushion.

Any Itasca comeback thoughts were quickly squashed when Northland opened the second half with three 3-pointers – two by Johnson and one by Luke Settergren.

Complementing an outside game that featured Johnson with 21 points, Kyrk Freeman 17 and Settergren 10 was a second half performance by Brock Esaw. The strong 6-4 center from Minneapolis muscled his way around the basket for 14 of his 16 points after the break.

"They gave Brock some space in the second half and and he did what he does best – he took the ball to the basket," explained Nikunen.

A 10-point game by Travis Lage gave the Pioneers their fifth double figure scorer, and Brandon Fontes almost made it a half-dozen with nine points.

Josh Towle and and Jazmen Davison led Itasca with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

Northland turned in a 50 percent 29-for-58 shooting performance. The Pioneers were 19-for-26 on free throws. Itasca had a 40 percent 25-for-63 night from the field and went 8-for-12 at the line. The Pioneers had a 35-29 rebound edge. The Vikings hade more turnovers, 15-11.

TRF, Moorhead wind up with a 2-2 overtime tie

Goals by Jesse Castle and Corey Horien, along with a 43-save performance by goalie Cole Hunt, enabled Thief River Falls to tie once-beaten Moorhead 2-2 Tuesday in boys high school hockey.

Castle's goal gave the Prowlers a 1-0 first period lead.

One of the top-ranked teams in Class AA, the Spuds went ahead 2-1 on second period goals by Tanner Lee and Jeff Foss.

It took just 13 seconds of the third period for the Prowlers to tie it on Horien's goal.

Overtime failed to break the deadlock.

Hunt started the game with a 19-save first period.

"I think we might have been a little intimidated in the first period," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "Moorhead came at us hard at the start, trying to send a message. Cole kept us in the game. He played extremely well all night, but he played very, very well in the first period."

The Prowlers gained confidence as the game wore on, according to Bergland. "We woke up and found out we could play with them," he said. "Actually, at the end of the game, I thought we were the better team."

Thief River Falls, the defending Section 8A champion, took a 7-5-1 record into a Thursday game at Warroad. Moorhead is 12-1-1. The Spuds' lone loss was a 4-3 Dec. 26 setback at the hands of Centennial.

Scoring

First period - TRF, Jesse Castle (Corey Horien, Spencer Johnson), 16:08.

Second period - Moorhead, Tanner Lee (Trent Johnson), 5:22; Moorhead, Jeff Foss (Nick Thielen), 7:36.

Detroit Lakes matches first win over TRF

There's still apparently a 30-point difference between the Detroit Lakes and Thief River Falls girls high school basketball teams. The Lakers handled the visiting Prowlers 68-37 Tuesday. That mirrored a 64-32 Detroit Lakes win on a Dec. 1 trip to Thief River Falls.

The Lakers, who are 11-1 and ranked No. 3 in the Class AAA state polls, led 32-21 at halftime.

"We had a good effort in the first half," reported Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "Second half, Detroit Lakes came out 'jacked-up.' They got a quick run on us and we had nothing left to give."

Post players Corey Lof and Betsy Hutchinson led the winners with 23 and 12 points, respectively. The 4-9 Prowlers got a 12-point game from Mandy Thompson.

The Prowlers shot 33 percent from the field (15/45); the Lakers shot 47 percent (30/64). Thief River Falls went 6-for-13 at the free throw line; Detroit Lakes was 6-for-12. The Lakers finished with a 34-27 rebound advantage.

Jacks win girls hockey game 3-2...

Bemidji avoids upset at hands of Prowlers

What appeared on paper to be a mismatch turned into a down-to-the-wire affair Tuesday when host Bemidji got by upset-minded Thief River Falls 3-2 in girls high school hockey.

The Lumberjacks brought a 13-3-1 record into the game at Nymore Arena. The Prowlers checked in at 4-12. In a single meeting a year ago, Bemidji overwhelmed Thief River Falls 13-0.

A 34-save performance by Thief River Falls goalie Jade Gothberg made the Prowlers competitive this time around. Bemidji netminder Kaia Sele stopped 14 shots.

Courtney Josefson put the Lumberjacks on the board first with a power play goal at 4:12 of the opening period.

Thief River Falls tied it at the 13-second mark of the second period on a power play goal by Brittni Johnson.

Shelby Sauer's goal at 11:26 put the Lumberjacks back on top before the second period came to an end and Sarah Erickson made it 3-1 with a goal at 6:37 of the third period.

The Prowlers made it close with another power play score, this time by Megan Malwitz a 9:24.

Scoring

First period - Bemidji, Courtney Josefson (Emily Larson), 4:12.

Second period - TRF, Brittni Johnson (Molly Peterson), :13; Bemidji, Shelby Sauer (Jessica Hunt), 11:26

Third period - Bemidji, Sarah Erickson, 6:37; TRF, Megan Malwitz (Johnson, Kaley Holen), 9:24

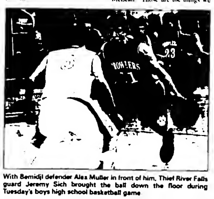
Goalie saves - TRF, Jade Gothberg 15-8-11-34, Bemidji, Kaia Sele 2-6-6-14

Turnovers, rebounds hurt TRF

Twenty-seven Thief River Falls turnovers and 24 Bemidji offensive rebounds spelled trouble for the Prowlers Tuesday in a boys high school basketball match-up with Bemidji. When those numbers were added together, the visiting Lumberjacks had themselves a 60-56 win.

It was just the third win in 13 starts for the Class AAAA Lumberjacks. The Class AAA Prowlers lost for only the second time in 10 tries.

"I didn't think we played with a lot of energy or discipline," said Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. "Those are the things we need to do against a team like Bemidji."



A bigger Bemidji line-up pounded the Prowlers on the boards 44-29.

"Their size hurt us," acknowledged McLean. "We got outworked. We didn't have an answer for them going to the glass. And when we did get a rebound, we didn't push it down the floor like we need to do."

The Prowlers were up 24-22 at intermission, but trailed by as many as 14 points in the second half before making a late face-saving run.

Bemidji was led by Doug Bender with 13 points, Andrew Hengel 12 and Drew Baker 11. The Thief River Falls offense featured Andrew BlackLance with 14 points, Jeremy Sich 11 and Kasey Trontvet 10.

The Prowlers were 20-for-43 from the field (47 percent), the Lumberjacks went 21-for-47 (45 percent). It was an 11-for-20 free throw night for Thief River Falls. Bemidji made 15 of 30 foul shots and turned the ball over 23 times.

With Bemidji defender Alex Muller in front of him, Thief River Falls guard Jeremy Sich brought the ball down the floor during Tuesday's boys high school basketball game.

Vikings hold on for win over Northland

Itasca watched a 23-point second half cushion shrink to a six-point lead before walking out of the Northland gym with a 57-49 Minnesota Community College Conference women's basketball win Tuesday.

It was the first Northern Division setback in three starts for the Pioneers, who were playing at less than full strength. Leading scorer Jackie Fossum was on crutches after suffering an ankle injury in practice the day before. Sara Rindahl and Amber Stirling both played, but Rindahl was slowed by a leg injury and Stirling was battling illness.

Both sides started slow. The first six minutes of the game produced 17 turnovers and just five points. The Pioneers didn't hit their first field goal until Lynsey Roppe scored off a drive with 6:12 elapsed.

Northland, however, still had a 17-8 lead following a Susan Satre 3-pointer with 7:23 remaining in the first half.

Itasca's offense finally kicked in gear at that point with a 14-0 run that made it 22-17 on a Cary Zimmer drive with 3:33 left.

A buzzer-beater by 6-1 center Amber Schaaf off an inbounds play under the basket provided the Vikings with a 26-20 halftime edge.

Northland's seven-player roster began to wear down in the second half, and a Zimmer lay-up off a turnover produced the 23-point, 47-24 difference with 15:20 on the clock.

"They're a good team," noted Northland coach Guy Finstrom, "but we had a stretch there in the second half where we just gave them the ball."

However, the complexion of the game changed over the next nine minutes when Itasca hit an 0-for-14 shooting spell from the field and Northland, coincidently, went on a 14-0 scoring run that shaved the margin to 47-38 on a Casey Engelstad free throw with 6:34 to play.

A fast break lay-up by Engelstad had the Pioneers within 53-47 with 2:50 remaining.

Tarah Geisler finished an Itasca fast break to make it 55-47 and Roppe took the ball to the basket to keep Northland within striking distance, 55-49, with 1:06 still showing.

But Itasca came back with a perfect game-ending, lead-protecting possession that not only took the clock down to 33 seconds, but also resulted in a short jumper by Zimmer that completed the scoring.

"I'm never satisfied – I like to win," said Finstrom, "but I'm proud of the way we came back. We're getting better."

Engelstad (19) and Roppe (18) combined for 37 Northland points. Geisler led a balanced Itasca offense that featured four players in the 9-to-13-point range.

The Pioneers shot 46 percent from the field (19/41), but they were a game-costing 9-for-25 at the free throw line. The Vikings shot 35 percent from the floor (23/66) and had an 8-for-10 free throw game. Itasca finished with a 36-31 rebound edge.

Early-game ball-handling troubles really never went away. The two teams combined for 66 turnovers – 35 by Northland and 31 charged against Itasca.

The Pioneers are 5-11 overall.

Gators' balance sure winning combination

Coaches striving for a balanced offensive attack would be green with envy looking at the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River scorebook from the Gators' 76-69 Tuesday boys high school basketball win over Marshall County Central.

Using a seven-player rotation, the winners put six players in double figures, and the seventh one scored nine points.

"You do that – have that much balance – and you're going to be unbeatable," Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen said in awe.

Nathan Thompson led the host Gators with 13 points. Jakob Heggedal and Jordan Creviston both had 12, while Dale Stauffenecker, Tyler Aune and Allan Dostal scored 10 each and Zach Creviston netted nine.

All that offset a 32-point game by the Nordics' Kyle Klasen, who knocked down eight 3-pointers. Evan Maki contributed 14 points.

Marshall County Central started the game with 9-0 and 14-3 leads and had a 30-27 halftime edge. The Nordics were still up six with five minutes to play before Jordan Creviston hit four consecutive shots, including a 3-pointer, to turn the game in the Gators' favor.

"Our kids played tough against a good team," said Rantanen. "It's no fun to lose, but it was a tremendous high school basketball game. It was a great atmosphere to play in."

Marshall County Central was 25-for-51 from the field (49 percent). Badger/Greenbush-Middle River had a 50 percent 30-for-60 shooting night. The Nordics were 8-for-16 at the free throw line, where the Gators were 14-for-19. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River had a 35-30 rebound edge. Marshall County Central topped the turnover charts 14-13.

"It was an extremely intense game that was fun to watch and fun to coach," said Gators coach Kent Christian. "Both teams battled and battled. We just happened to hit a few more shots down the stretch."

Results put the Gators 9-3 and the Nordics at 7-5.

"They (Nordics) are a tough match-up and a team that can do some damage come tournament time," noted Christian.

TRF holds off Bemidji 39-34 in JV basketball

Thief River Falls built a 32-15 halftime lead and held on for a 39-34 boys junior varsity high school basketball win over Bemidji Tuesday.

The Prowlers' offense was led by Dylan Johnson, Chase Haviland and Jacob Stuckey with eight points each.

Bemidji wins freshman basketball game, 46-43

Bemidji edged Thief River Falls 46-43 Tuesday in freshman boys basketball action.

Brady Harbott scored 14 points and Jacob Langevin has 12 for the Prowlers, who led 29-24 at halftime.

Jacks duplicate earlier win over TRF swim team

Bemidji won nine of 11 races Tuesday in a 114-56 boys high school swim meet win over Thief River Falls at the Franklin Middle School pool.

Paul Voss (100-yard backstroke, 500 freestyle) and Josh Faecke (200 individual medley, 100 butterfly) were double event winners for the Lumberjacks.

The Prowlers' 0-4 dual record includes a pair of losses to the Lumberjacks, who won a 136-43 decision in Bemidji Dec. 12.

Nevertheless, Thief River Falls coach Lacy Knott was more than happy with her team's showing. "The boys had another strong meet," she said. They are really starting to swim as a team – both in practice and in meets – and it is starting to pay off."

Thief River Falls wins came from Cody Reese in the 50 freestyle and a 200 freestyle relay team of Brian Kays, Tyler Olson, Kenton Johnson and Reese.

"We had some kids trying new events," pointed out Knott. "The number of DQ's per meet is finally diminishing as the kids learn the sport. With 17 new swimmers, it's taken a while, but we are definitely coming together at the right time."

Thief River Falls out-scored Bemidji 69-57 in the junior varsity portion of the meet.

Wolverines turn tables on RLCC squad, 56-54

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke, beaten by Red Lake County Central 69-53 earlier this season, turned the tables on the Mustangs in a Tuesday rematch at Plummer, where the Wolverines won a 56-54 girls high school basketball game that got them back to the .500 level at 7-7.

Justyne Larson and Stephanie Klamar had 14-point games and Rebecca Polansky came up with a 13-point, 12-rebound double-double for the winners. The 9-4 Mustangs were led by Courtney Halvorson with 17 points and Faith Kruchowski with 16.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke, up 30-28 at halftime, had secured the win with a 56-51 lead in the final seconds when Kruchowski hit a 3-pointer at the buzzer.

The Mustangs' offense was hampered when Halvorson wound up on the bench with foul trouble and the Wolverines turned their attention to Brittany Gustafson with a special box-and-one defense that limited her to four points. Halvorson and Gustafson are both members of the 1,000-Point Club.

"Other people need to step up in those situations," said Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koisivto. "And it certainly didn't help with Courtney on the bench."

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke was 25-for-62 from the field (40 percent) and 5-for-10 at the free throw line. Red Lake County Central went 21-for-70 from the floor (30 percent) and 4-for-9 at the line.

The Wolverines finished with a 44-38 rebound advantage, winning the second half board battle 26-17. "That's what won the game," pointed out Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Brent Philipp.

Red Lake County Central topped the turnover charts 17-12.

"I was pleased with the way we handled the ball," said Philipp.

Rams' finish wraps up 81-71 win vs. Huskies

An 18-0 late-game Roseau run beat visiting Goodridge 81-71 Tuesday in boys high school basketball.

The Huskies had turned a 42-37 halftime deficit into a six-point lead on an Otto Rubischko 3-pointer with six minutes remaining before the Rams' run kicked in.

"We hit a wall," reported Goodridge coach Eric Mickelson. "We did a lot of good things up to that point, then we went flat. It was frustrating."

Roseau had three 20-point scorers as Dan Vatnsdal netted 22, Joey Benke 21 and Matt Peterson 20. Ryan Olson gave the Rams a fourth double figure scorer by contributing 10 points. Those numbers offset a 31-point game by Goodridge sophomore guard Brett Bakken.

The Huskies also got a 16-pound, 10-rebound double-double from Nick Mickelson and 11 points out of Rubischko.

Goodridge went 28-for-64 from the field (44 percent) and 13-for-25 at the free throw line. Roseau was 26-for-55 from the floor (48 percent) and 16-for-24 at the line. The 3-8 Huskies finished with a 22-21 rebound edge.

Eagles win 69-51 game

Five Grygla-Gatzke scorers hit double figures Tuesday as the Eagles beat visiting Warroad 69-51 in boys high school basketball.

Chris Klamar led the Eagles' offense with 20 points, while Jordan Brateng scored 14, Tyler Corneliusen 11, Anthony Gast 10 and Brady Olson 10.

Grygla-Gatzke led 32-20 at intermission. A 3-pointer by Brateng that made it 41-38 helped the 8-3 Eagles gain some scoreboard separation down the stretch. "That was a big shot," said Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson. "The kids did a good job. I thought defensively, they played a nice game."

Warroad was led by Jack Phetsanghane with 20 points and Mitch Wilmer with 12.

It was a 48 percent 26-for-54 shooting night for the winners, who also cashed in on 14 of 21 free throw attempts. Warroad shot 40 percent from the field (21/53) and had a 5-for-9 free throw game. A 26-19 Warroad rebound advantage was offset by a 19-11 Warroad high figure in the turnover department.

Roseau County Historical Society to host afternoon of music

In celebration of its 80th year, the Roseau County Historical Society will present an afternoon of music with Peter Puma Hedlund, Sweden's leading traditional player of the modern chromatic nyckelharpa, who won the title World Champion twice in 1992 and 2000. The program will be held Sunday, Jan. 28 at 2 p.m. at the Roseau City Center community room, 121 Center St. E.

Hedlund earned the designation Riksspelman - Fiddler of the Realm - while still in his teens (1975). He and his nyckelharpa are a commanding presence while in the act of bringing forth music. His music is a powerful example of continuation – an unbroken thread linking past, present and future.

Hedlund is proud of the strong musical tradition and heritage that nurtured him as he grew up in the province of Uppland, a little north of Stockholm. He plays nyckelharpa for fun and states this repeatedly when asked questions about his style and interpretation. His technique is unsurpassed. His exceedingly precise playing is characterized by deep murmuring tones, liquid cascades of ornaments and flourishes, and it gives the uncanny perception that there is more than one of him playing at once.

When he has gone as far as technique can take him, Hedlund probes deeper to complement technique with powerful personal interpretation. His tones remind one of older sounds, and rightly so, as they are coming from a mind and soul that has studied and played with many of the bygone masters. His primary inspiration and teacher was the legendary Eric Sahlström.

Peter Puma Hedlund

Justly proud of his position in the realm of Swedish traditional music, Hedlund is gradually expanding the horizons of nyckelharpa expression. In his frequent role as an instructor, he takes the opportunity to influence and nurture the growth and development of the next generation of nyckelharpa players. He also "makes" tunes, which are quickly gaining favor among today's players. The modern chromatic nyckelharpa, neglected and almost forgotten in the 1940s and 1950s, is blossoming as never before both in Sweden and elsewhere, especially in the USA.

Hedlund's musical career spans roughly 30 years. He has been actively performing, recording and teaching nonstop just about his entire adult life. "Vägen," his recent critically acclaimed solo album in 2002, was followed in 2003 by "Another Way," where he invited eight friends to join him in a masterful elaboration of his music. Also close to his heart has been a collaborative effort with Rita Leydon to develop and produce a three volume "Nyckelharpa Workshop" in DVD format in two languages (Swedish and English). It also features two camera angles, as well as PDF text and sheet music files. All three volumes are now completed, an extraordinary effort certain to influence a whole new generation of nyckelharpa players around the world. Leydon and Hedlund are also partners in RPM Music, a record label they launched in 2003.

Hedlund, 48, lives in Iste, Hälsingland (about a four-hour drive north of Stockholm) with his wife, Karin, and their two sons, Jonas and Mathias.

Winter weight limits are in effect

Winter road increases became effective statewide at 12:01 a.m. Jan. 20 (today) when the limits went into effect in the south, southeast and metro frost zones, the Minnesota Department of Transportation announced.

Allowable weight increases are now effective on highways that do not have existing posted weight limits.

Winter load increases are already in effect in the north, north-central and central frost zones.

State law allows a 10 percent weight increase on state highways and nine-ton capacity country roads in the designated zones. However, a weight load increase permit is required for truckers operating on interstate highway routes.

Vehicles will be allowed to operate at 10 percent over the standard maximum load on both 10-ton and 9-ton routes during the winter load increase period.

However, trucks must comply with current registration weight laws and not exceed registered gross weight tolerances. Also, gross vehicle weight is capped at 80,000 pounds on 9-ton township and city routes.

Mn/DOT urges trucking operators to check with local agencies (cities, counties and townships) before increasing truck weights on their routes. Weight limit signs erected on the roadway govern the load limit in effect.

Mn/DOT also advises that winter weight load permits are required to carry the 10 percent weight increase on Minnesota's interstate highways.

More information about winter load limits and the frost zones can be found at www.mrr.dot.state.mn.us or by calling toll-free at 1-800-723-6543 in the U.S. and Canada or (651) 366-5400 in the Twin Cities metropolitan area.

Mn/DOT's Office of Freight and Commercial Vehicle Operations can provide more information about overweight and over-dimension trucking issues at (651) 296-6000.

The Minnesota State Patrol also provides information about legal truck weights, safety regulations and related issues. To contact the Vehicle Weight Enforcement Section, call (651) 405-6196 or visit its Web page at www.dps.state.mn.us/patrol.

More information about winter weight load limits and frost zone boundaries can be found at www.mrr.dot.state.mn.us or by calling toll-free to 1-800-723-6543 or (651) 747-2253 in the Twin Cities metropolitan area.

Travelers can obtain current information on road conditions, construction delays and weather reports from Mn/DOT's 511 Travel Information Service by dialing 511 or on the Internet at www.511mn.org.

Is a battle brewing over control of the REA?

time, she said. "We do have more and more events coming in there."

Mayor Steve "Beaver" Nordhagen said the city is operating the arena with more money than it does for the police department. He questioned where that places priorities in the city. A job is a small thing in the big picture, Nordhagen said.

Vigen said she reviewed the Parks and Recreation Department budget Tuesday and the department has taken in more revenue than what it had budgeted and anticipated. "We had less expenses than we anticipated in all aspects of Park and Rec," said Vigen, who noted the department realized more than $34,000 in revenue than it had anticipated receiving. She said she hadn't yet confirmed that amount with City Finance Director Lisa Johnson and that amount hadn't been audited.

Pertaining to REA and the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, the budgeted expenses were $832,134 for 2006, according to Johnson on Thursday morning. Johnson said the actual expenses for 2006 were $856,772 to date. She noted the dollar amount for actual expenses has not been finalized as bills are still being paid for 2006.

Regarding revenue for the two arenas, Johnson said the budgeted revenue for 2006 was $515,500 and the actual revenue for 2006 was $522,990 to date. She noted the dollar amount for actual revenue hasn't been finalized as revenue is still coming in for 2006.

A rotation of three full-time park maintenance/arena workers cover two shifts from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 3 to 11 p.m. seven days a week during the skating season at REA, according to information that Vigen provided to the council. That rotation includes the vacant position in question. At REA, the skating season is from the first of October to April.

HOMCC is operated from the end of October until the third or fourth week of March. That rink is typically operated from 3 to 11 p.m. Mondays through Fridays with two shifts needed on the weekends. Temporary/seasonal employees cover the job responsibilities at that rink with daily supervision from the full-time REA employee(s).

Regarding the particular full-time position in question, the employee moves from the arenas to the Multi-Events Center during the first week of April to maintain baseball fields and complete other duties. In the summer and fall, the employee maintains such things as parks, grounds, equipment, playgrounds and facilities.

In a decision memorandum to council/committee members, Vigen wrote that it typically takes about six weeks to fill a vacant full-time position. She suggested that the position be filled by a temporary/seasonal employee who currently works a rotation shift at HOMCC and helps at REA.

Nordhagen said he would like to look a little further than the Parks and Recreation Department in terms of operating REA. He said other city employees are sometimes not quite so busy and may be able to help at the arena. Using an example, Nordhagen said Street Department personnel could take down boards for basketball games at REA. At the same time, Nordhagen said he understood that training might be an issue.

Vigen responded that Nordhagen's example isn't a long-term fix and Sentence to Serve crews are currently used when the department needs that type of help. She also noted that arena staff are operating high-tech equipment and there is a lot of equipment that arena staff have to learn how to operate.

Cullen questioned Vigen about how a delay in filling the vacant position would affect the Parks and Recreation Department.

"It's definitely going to put us in a crunch," said Vigen, who noted she hopes the reelected council members see what the Parks and Recreation staff do. She added that she understands there is a learning curve for the newly-elected council members.

Potential advisory board for REA

In addition to that issue, the potential creation of an advisory board for REA will be discussed at the next Committee of the Whole meeting Jan. 23. The council voted unanimously to discuss that issue at that time. Nordhagen may also bring forth names of potential appointees to that board. If it were created, the advisory board would assist city personnel with the marketing of the arena.

In April 2005, donors, volunteers and concerned citizens proposed to the council that it create a board of directors for REA. That proposal came after the resignation of then-REA General Manager Tom Goddard. Those individuals proposed that the board include six or seven people with marketing, finance, accounting and/or law expertise. They also proposed that two of the six or seven board members be City Council members. Under their proposal, that board would then operate REA and report to the council. After several discussions about the potential board, members of the 2005 City Council never formed a board for REA. Half of the current council members were serving on the council in 2005 when that issue was originally discussed.

us improve the quality and safety of care in Minnesota," said Minnesota Health Commissioner Dianne Mandernach. "Since the reporting system began three years ago, hospitals and surgical centers have stepped up their efforts to find, report and fix medical errors, and those efforts are beginning to pay off."

Mandernach said that an increase in the number of adverse events should be viewed as a sign that the system is working. "Minnesota's facilities are looking harder for reportable events, and that's a positive step," said Mandernach. "Developing better strategies to prevent adverse events depends on obtaining more and better information."

The report notes that the most frequently reported event was a stage three or four pressure ulcer (serious bed sore) (48); the next most frequently reported event was a foreign object left in a patient after surgery (42).

In addition to reporting individual events, facilities are required to report on the underlying causes of each event and the corrective actions being taken to prevent similar events from happening in the future. This reporting system provides a forum for sharing key findings with hospitals and surgical centers across the state so they can learn from one another. Generalized information from the adverse health events reporting system is also shared with facilities through newsletters highlighting best practices, safety alerts and presentations throughout the year.

With collaborative leadership from MDH and the Minnesota Hospital Association, Minnesota's hospitals are implementing a variety of strategies for preventing many types of errors. Such strategies include establishing multidisciplinary skin care teams to identify and prevent pressure ulcers before they become serious, developing new ways to track sponges and other objects used in surgical procedures, ensuring that procedures for counting those objects are thorough and consistent throughout a facility, clarifying policies both inside and outside the operating room to ensure correct site surgery, and improving how patients are assessed for the risk of falling or developing a serious pressure ulcer.

The legislation creating the adverse health event reporting system was championed by Minnesota hospitals and was signed into law by Gov. Tim Pawlenty in 2003.

The law requires all Minnesota hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers and regional treatment centers to report to MDH whenever any of 27 events occur. The National Quality Forum, a Washington, D.C.-based health care standards-setting organization, created this list of adverse events in 2002 at the request of the federal government. This followed an Institute of Medicine report estimating that medical errors in hospitals cause 44,000 to 98,000 deaths every year in the United States.

Mandernach said that consumers should use information in the report and the new consumer guide to become more involved in their health care. "Consumers should use the information to identify situations of interest to them and then ask their health care providers what they're doing to provide the safest care possible," said Mandernach. "Consumers can also learn about best practices to prevent adverse health events."

Mandernach added that it is difficult to compare facilities using the numbers in the report. "The errors documented in this report are a very small fraction of all the procedures and admissions in Minnesota hospitals and surgery centers," she said. "Although we firmly believe that every error is one too many, we also know that, alone, these numbers are not useful or relevant for comparison purposes. The power of our reporting system lies in what we learn about why these events occurred; with that information, we can aggressively implement steps to prevent them from happening again."

In 2005, Minnesota hospitals reported more than 2.7 million patient days and nearly eight million outpatient registrations. Ambulatory surgical centers reported more than 150,000 registrations for same-day surgeries.

A full copy of the adverse health events report and additional information can be found on MDH's Adverse Health Events Web page (www.health.state.mn.us/patientsafety). More information about hospitals can be found at www.mnhospitals.org.

USCC I-500 Postponed

The I-500 cross country snowmobile race, which was scheduled for Jan. 19 through 21, has been postponed and rescheduled for Feb. 16-18.

One of the strengths of a successful cross-country snowmobile racer is his or her ability to adapt to many changes in terrain in a very short period of time. Well, with the weather situation the way it is this winter, cross-country racers will have to add the ability to adapt to race-schedule changes on relatively short notice to their list of talents.

Due to poor snow conditions in the Thief River Falls area, the date for the 2007 USCC-RED LAKE I-500 has been changed. The race and the 35th anniversary champions reunion planned in conjunction with the event, will now take place on Feb 16-18.

With the rescheduling of the "500," the USCC has added a new race that will take place on Jan. 20 to fill the void left on the schedule. Plans are for a one-day race to be held in Minto, N.D., on Saturday, Jan. 20. This race will replace the schedule spot lost when the Park X race was cancelled earlier.

USCC President Pat Mach had this to say: "Although the date change for the "500" will certainly be an inconvenience for some racers, we are fortunate to have an alternate location with adequate snow cover to hold a race. This will give our racers more time to get their sleds dialed in before the new "500" date, and it will also allow us to stay on track for our goal of holding nine races this season."

The USCC is working to find a new date for the Ada 100 that was previously scheduled for Feb. 17. "I'd like to sincerely thank the Moonshiners Snowmobile Club in the Twin Valley/Ada area for their understanding in our schedule changes. They have been partners of the USCC since day one and they are truly great to work with," Mach said.

The USCC will post an Ada update as soon as it becomes available.

Will drought conditions persist?

This will be an important year for farmers legislatively, and many growers are hoping that Congressman Collin Peterson, who was selected to chair the Agriculture Committee by the House Democratic Caucus in December 2006, will be in a position to help.

The House Agriculture Committee has jurisdiction over a wide range of agriculture and rural development issues. These areas include renewable energy, disaster assistance, nutrition, crop insurance, conservation, international trade, futures market regulation, animal and plant health, agricultural research, bioterrorism, forestry, and more.

A major responsibility of the Agriculture Committee in the 110th Congress is reauthorization of federal farm programs in the Farm Bill. The bill authorizes commodity support, agricultural trade, marketing, food assistance and rural development policies over several years. The current farm bill was written in 2002, and many of the provisions in that bill will expire this September.

Meanwhile, many areas in northwestern Minnesota are experiencing what the NOAA's National Weather Service Weather Forecast Office has defined as "extreme drought." Those counties include Lake of the Woods, Roseau, eastern Marshall, eastern Pennington, Beltrami, Clearwater, Hubbard and Wadena. "Conditions vary widely along the Red River Corridor and across eastern North Dakota with most of these areas classified as either exceptionally dry or in moderate drought.

Fosston School Board faces tough issues

Fosston - Forty parents and community members were on hand at the Jan. 18 meeting of the Fosston School Board. They stated "their feelings on recent action towards a member of the elementary teaching staff. Fifth grade instructor Susan Skunes was placed on paid administrative leave Dec. 21, 2006. It was over an incident involving elementary Principal Greg Bruce. There has been an ongoing issue that started last spring between both parties. Skunes has filed a restraining order against Bruce."

"Retired teacher Bruce Greendahl has substituted for Skunes since she was placed on leave. However, Greendahl stepped down earlier in the day. Student teacher Peter Larson will remain in the classroom until the situation is resolved.

"With the school district's attorney Tom Smith and Minnesota Education Association lawyer Dean Carlblum present, board members approved a two-part resolution in an effort to help provide closure on the issue. Under the first portion of the resolution, both Skunes and Bruce were to agree to a memorandum of understanding by Jan. 25. In the second part, the school board has agreed to meet every Thursday at 7:30 p.m. for updates until the situation is resolved. The resolution passed unanimously.

"There was frustration expressed by the board over rumors and speculations that were circulating around Fosston. Superintendent Dale Salberg spoke to the Thirteen Towns after the meeting. He stated that the district has a responsibility to protect the rights of both employees and thus cannot legally discuss the details to public." - Thirteen Towns of Fosston, Jan. 23, 2007, by Dan Kindall

Veteran's Memorial meeting held

Oklee - "The proposed Veteran's Memorial Park in Oklee got a boost as more than 20 veterans, citizens and guests met at the Oklee Community Hall on Jan. 19 to discuss the plans for a tribute to area veterans."

During the meeting, it was determined there was "a need for fundraising, a design for the memorial and support for funding this project.

"The memorial will be built on land given by the city of Oklee along Highway 222, east of the football field in Oklee. Contributions may be made to the Oklee Veteran's Memorial, Security State Bank, Box 69, Oklee, MN 56742.

"The goal for establishment of this memorial is Oklee's centennial in 2010." - Oklee Herald, Jan. 25, 2007

Craigmiles named 2007 Farm Family

Hallock - "Fifty-five years ago, Mark and Hilma Craigmile were named Kittson County Farmer and Homemaker. This year, it was their son Don's turn to take the honor.

"Don and Clarice Craigmile, Hallock, accepted the farm family award at the annual Kittson County Crop Day, Jan. 18, at the Hallock City Hall." - Kittson County Enterprise, Jan. 24, 2007

Bovine Tuberculosis

Bovine TB tests patience of cattlemen and hunters

by David Hill
Editor

Efforts toward compliance with an agreement between Minnesota and the United States Department of Agriculture on a bovine tuberculosis management plan, are about three-quarters of the way complete, according to Dr. Bill Hartmann, state veterinarian, and executive director of the Minnesota Board of Animal Health.

During a meeting with area cattlemen and deer hunters Thursday in Thief River Falls, Hartmann and representatives of several agencies, presented an update on their efforts to eradicate TB in Minnesota.

Minnesota lost its TB-Free status and was downgraded to a status of Modified Accredited Advanced in 2006 after TB was found in five herds of cattle and one deer in northwestern Minnesota.

According to the Minnesota Board of Animal Health, bovine TB, caused by the bacteria mycobacterium bovis, is a respiratory disease of cattle. It is a chronic, slowly progressive disease. Infected animals may show no symptoms, while still being capable of transmitting the infection to other animals.

Cattlemen are particularly concerned because the TB status under which they now operate imposes restrictions on their commerce between other cattlemen in Minnesota and other states. Because of the significant potential for economic loss, cattlemen have been cooperating with state officials.

Hartmann thanked area cattlemen for their cooperation. He also outlined the efforts being exerted by state officials.

In order to expedite the process of regaining TB-Free status, TB-positive herds are appraised by the USDA and depopulated as quickly as possible. State and federal officials began tracing animal movements in to and out of these operations. In the area of northwestern Minnesota where TB was discovered a bovine tuberculosis epidemiological disease investigation is being conducted. To date, there are 14 open investigation, 12 completed initial investigations, and 44 herds have completed the second testing. A statewide surveillance program was also initiated. To date, nearly 2,000 herds have been examined.

Since the investigation began, however, two more herds and several more deer have been discovered with TB or have had a presumptive positive test. Officials are concerned because if two more herds test positive within the fiscal year, it will place the state in jeopardy of losing ground on its status. If that happens, even more restrictive requirements will be placed on cattlemen in the state. If no more herds are discovered and the management plan continues without any setbacks, Minnesota may apply for its TB-free status in December of 2008.

Several cattlemen expressed outrage over indications that deer feeding is still a widespread practice in an area declared a no-feed zone two months ago. Cattlemen are concerned that deer and cattle

Thursday night in Thief River Falls, Dr. Bill Hartmann, executive director of the Minnesota Board of Animal Health, provided cattlemen and deer hunters with an update on efforts to eradicate bovine tuberculosis in the state. Over 50 people attended the event conducted at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls.

REA advisory board being considered

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

No formal decisions have been made yet about the creation of an advisory board for Ralph Engelstad Arena or the hiring of a full-time park/arenas maintenance employee.

At its Committee of the Whole meeting Tuesday, Thief River Falls City Council members continued their discussions about the potential board that may be formed to help city leaders with the marketing of REA. They also discussed potentially hiring an employee to fill a vacant full-time park/arenas maintenance position. An article about the discussion on the latter issue will be included in the next edition of The Times.

It is expected that the potential advisory board will be on the agenda of the next council meeting, which is scheduled Feb. 6 at 5 p.m. at City Hall. At that time, Mayor Steve "Beaver" Nordhagen may introduce the council to the potential appointees for that potential board.

At the meeting Tuesday, Nordhagen brought forward the names of five people whom he wishes to appoint to the potential board. Those people include Joel Hallstrom, snowmobile product manager at Arctic Cat; John Tranby, marketing communications manager at Arctic Cat; Tony Harris, director of Internet marketing at Digi-Key; former mayoral candidate Jay Larsen, operations analyst at Northwest Medical Center; and Jodi Mutnansky, who works in community relations/communications for NWMC. (The mayor usually presents his appointments for boards and commissions to the council, which then votes on the appointments.)

"All of these people were very interested in working with the city. It would be on a volunteer basis," Nordhagen said.

Former Mayor Dale Wennberg, who is currently employed as the marketing and events coordinator for REA and Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, said he wasn't in favor of an advisory board. However, he said that if the council approved an advisory board, he would be willing to work with the board members.

Wennberg added that he hoped the list of potential candidates was a little broader since two of the five potential appointees are employed at Arctic Cat and two of the other potential appointees are employed at NWMC.

As of Jan. 18, the budgeted expenses for REA and the HOMCC

Small dairy keeps old traditions alive

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Wayne Dahl's family left their Goodridge area farm when he was just 5 years old and moved to Tower, a small town in northeastern Minnesota.

Growing up, Dahl always had a urge to return to the farm life, which he did each summer. Up to the age of 12 he would split his work-time between his grandparents' farms, the Stenvik farm near Goodridge and the Dahl farm near Gry gla.

Today, he maintains a close connection to Minnesota farms and farmers in the Iron Range as owner of Dahl's Sunrise Dairy.

Dahl was born in Thief River Falls on Dec. 16, 1951, the son of Albert and Elsie (Stenvik) Dahl of Goodridge.

He has owned his own dairy for the past 12 years and in total, he has spent 25 years in the dairy business.

Dahl's Sunrise Dairy is based in the small town of Babbitt, which is located 90 miles north of Duluth and 15 miles south of Ely.

The dairy serves 2,000 customers in 12 northeastern Minnesota communities. Like many small dairies in northeast Minnesota, Dahl's Sunrise Dairy appears to outsiders that it is stuck in a different era with home delivery to unlocked doors and glass containers.

"Any child growing up here thinks there's a milk man everywhere," Dahl said. "We don't think we're unique, because we've always had it here."

Perhaps even more amazing is the fact that most of Dahl's customers aren't home when deliveries are made. Instead, customers leave their doors unlocked so that orders can be delivered directly to the refrigerator.

The product line for Dahl's

Consultant to assist hospital board

TRF hospital considers partnership with MeritCare

The governing board of Northwest Medical Center, Thief River Falls, announced at its regularly scheduled board meeting on Monday, Jan. 22, that it will engage the services of a consultant to help in the analysis before making the decision to enter into a partnership with MeritCare Health System.

"Conducting due diligence is the responsibility of this administration and ultimately the board of directors to make sure that we have addressed all options and possibilities for future partnering opportunities," said NWMC CEO Chris Harff on Monday.

The move to partner with a healthcare system will undoubtedly affect Thief River Falls and the regional community going forward. It is the intent of the NWMC board to make sure that all bases are covered.

"This is a monumental decision for our community and one that could easily impact us very positively," said NWMC Governing Board President Wally Sparby. "There is much to consider. All likely scenarios, viewpoints, issues and benefits, as well as possible outcomes should be brought before the board to ensure a well-informed choice before any course of action is taken. Therefore, we are enlisting the services of a consultant to add more clarity in making this decision."

While the board has agreed to hire a consultant to assist in the process, one has not yet been named. The selection will likely be made within the week.

TRF hospital highlighted in MHA report

Serving and Strengthening our Communities

Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls is highlighted in Minnesota Hospitals: Serving and Strengthening Our Communities, a report recently released by the Minnesota Hospital Association.

Currently, there are more than 130 not-for-profit hospitals in the state of Minnesota. The report lists the community benefits and economic impact of hospitals. It is the first attempt to uniformly track the community benefit efforts of hospitals in the state.

The report defines community benefits as "programs or activities that provide treatment and/or promote health and healing and tend to generate little profit or lose money; respond to needs of low income or under served people; provide services that would not be provided or would need to be provided by the government or other nonprofit organizations if the decision was based on financial terms; respond to public health needs, or involve education or research that furthers community health."

To allow for more uniform reporting of those community benefits, Minnesota hospitals have "adopted standards based on national community benefit reporting guidelines created by the Catholic Health Association of the United States and VHA Inc. These guidelines spell out the categories of programs and activities that provide community benefit and result in a financial loss for a hospital. Such categories include free care, community services, research, and work force education," the report said.

In particular, the report features "The Pediatrician is In," which is offered cooperatively by NWMC and Dakota Clinic in Thief River Falls. The free, five-part seminar series introduces school aged children to NWMC and its two pediatricians. The kids tour the facility and see things first hand. During one session the kids learned how an arm cast is applied and removed. Meanwhile, parents, grandparents, day care providers, teachers and other caregivers attend a one-and-a-half hour seminar by a pediatrician.

TRF employee injured on the job Tuesday

A city of Thief River Falls employee was injured Tuesday after he fell while he was on a ladder at Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Jerome Cota, who is employed with the city's Electric Department, was taken by ambulance to Northwest Medical Center, according to Parks and Recreation Director Madelyn Vigen. Vigen said Cota suffered a head injury and he had undergone a CAT scan.

Cota wasn't listed as being hospitalized Wednesday morning, noted the NWMC nursing director.

Cota was about nine steps up on the ladder and was working on a heat reclaim system at the time, noted Parks Buildings and Grounds Supervisor Curt Howe. Cota fell with the ladder.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

It's all about easy this week, except for the scrumptious dessert:

Here's a simple chicken dish that will fill you up, but not out. You'll love it and it has nutritional info too:

EASY CHICKEN CATTIATORI

- 4 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves
- 1 (14-1/2 ounces) can Italian stewed tomatoes
- 1 (4 ounce) can mushroom pieces
- 1/2 teaspoon basil
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1/3 cup cold water
- Hot cooked spaghetti

In a large skillet coated with nonstick cooking spray, cook chicken for 5-6 minutes on each side or until juices run clear. Meanwhile, in saucepan over medium heat, bring tomatoes, mushrooms, basil and garlic powder to a boil. Combine cornstarch and water and add to tomato mixture. Return to a boil and cook and stir for 2 minutes. Serve chicken over spaghetti and top with tomato sauce. Recipe serves 4.

Nutritional Info: One serving, prepared with no-salt-added tomatoes and calculated without spaghetti, equals 177 calories, 178 mg sodium, 73 mg chol, 7 gm carb, 28 gm protein, 3 gm fat. Diabetic exchange is 3 very lean meat and 2 vegetables.

Nothing like a tangy lettuce salad with the meal above:

GREEN SALAD WITH VINAIGRETTE

- 1/4 cup olive or vegetable oil
- 1/2 cup apple juice
- 1/4 cup cider or red wine vinegar
- 2 to 4 teaspoons lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
- 4 cups torn mixed greens
- Tomato wedges

In small bowl, combine oil, apple juice, vinegar, lemon juice and mustard. Mix well. Serve over greens and tomatoes.

Dessert, dessert, we must have something wonderful after this wonderful meal. Dinner was so easy you might want to make a homemade angel food cake, but you can buy a good mix and add chocolate too, or even frost a store-bought white angel food cake with the delicious icing:

CHOCOLATE ANGEL CAKE

- 1-1/2 cups confectioner's sugar
- 1 cup cake flour
- 1/4 cup cocoa
- 1-1/2 cups egg whites (about 10 eggs)
- 1-1/2 teaspoons cream of tartar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sugar

Frosting:

- 1-1/2 cups whipping cream
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup cocoa
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

To make cake, sift confectioner's sugar, flour and cocoa three times. Set aside.

In a mixing bowl, beat egg whites, cream of tartar, and salt until soft peaks form. Add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating until stiff peaks form. Gradually fold in cocoa mixture about one-fourth at a time. Spoon into ungreased angel food cake pan and carefully run a clean metal spatula or knife through batter to remove air pockets.

Bake on lowest rack of oven at 375 degrees for 35-40 minutes or until top springs back when lightly touched and cracks feel dry. Don't overbake. Invert pan on bowl and cool completely before removing from pan.

To make frosting, combine all ingredients, cover and chill for 1 hour. Then beat until stiff peaks form. Spread over top and sides of cake. Store in refrigerator.

What better accompaniment to an Italian dinner than garlic bread - or rolls:

EASY GARLIC ROLLS

- 1 (6 ounce) tube refrigerated flaky biscuits
- 1 to 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt

Separate each biscuit into 3 flake pieces. Place on greased baking sheet. Brush each piece with butter and sprinkle with garlic salt. Bake at 400 degrees for 8-10 minutes or until golden. Serve nice and warm. Makes 15 rolls.

HAVING MORE RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS IS NOT THE SAME
AS HAVING MORE MONEY.
Many investors won't put all their retirement savings at a single broker because they believe it's far too risky. Actually, there may be more risk in having multiple accounts. Without a single focus, it can be difficult to keep track of your investments and to see if you're properly diversified.* At the very least, multiple accounts usually mean multiple fees.
Bringing your accounts to Edward Jones could help solve all that. Plus, one statement makes it easier to see if you're moving toward your goals.
To learn why consolidating your retirement accounts to Edward Jones makes sense, call your local investment representative today.
*Diversification does not guarantee a profit, nor does it protect against loss.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Support cancer research efforts

Not a month goes by, it seems, that we don't hear encouraging news regarding the fight against cancer. Just two weeks ago, an American Cancer Society report showed there was a drop of 3,014 cancer deaths in the United States from 2003 to 2004. Such news is encouraging, but we cannot let down our guard or allow funding for important research efforts to lag behind.

According to the ACS report, while progress continues to be made in reducing mortality rates, cancer remains the top cause of death in Americans under the age of 85 and among Minnesotans as a whole. In 2004, 1,203 more Minnesotans died of cancer than heart disease.

In the past six months each of us in northwestern Minnesota could very easily list a friend, acquaintance or relative who lost their battle against cancer. In my minds eye, I clearly see the faces of two individuals I count as friends who have now passed away. Less than a year ago, their stories were featured on these very pages. The faces and struggles of those individuals, as well as all of those who have fought against cancer, are etched in our memories. Such memories communicate a very important message: We must continue to honor their memory and all victims of cancer by supporting important cancer research efforts.

Last month, one of the most famous cancer survivors, Lance Armstrong, pointed out that earlier in the year, funding for cancer research was cut for the first time in 30 years. Armstrong, an impatient and outspoken advocate for cancer victims, says we need to hold our leaders accountable. Silence, he says, is unacceptable. "Few issues facing our government are more personal or more critical than the health of our citizens."

The leaders of this nation know that cancer research is important. But there is something more you can do. Join in one of the many cancer support efforts taking place in your community. American Cancer Society Relay For Life teams are currently being formed, so join a team or support a team. Daffodil Days is quickly approaching, so make a donation for a bouquet of daffodils or just make a donation to sponsor the organization. Though I personally belong to a local chapter of the American Cancer Society, there are other important organizations out there also doing good work - the Lance Armstrong Foundation, and Cancer Research Institute, to name a couple.

Yes, progress continues to be made, and that is good news, but there is much to do, and you can be a part of that effort.

Rural Reflections

Grant Nelson

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

Allow me to introduce myself

Hello, I will be your columnist today, my name is Grant Nelson. It would be nice to develop a relationship as quickly as a waiter does with those he serves. As the new columnist here at the Northern Watch, it may take longer for us to warm up to one another. I want to tell you a little about my column and in doing so, I will introduce myself.

Some of you may have read my column in the Grand Forks Herald. My topics were unbridled by theme and I used this freedom to cover many topics. I like history, farming, my family, my pets and writing letters to my brother Dave. Sometimes I wrote about politics, which was equivalent to bringing a baby boa constrictor as a present to a baby shower. I've recently confined my political writings in letters to the editor. I do write about my faith but shy away from religion except in the case of Lutheran potluck. I love hot dish, good church coffee and Rice Krispie bars and am sure the greatest sadness at my own funeral will be my inability to partake. I see God in everyday places and that moves me to speak; however, I don't pass the plate or insist you join a committee at the end of these columns.

I quit writing a little less than a year ago. I needed a break after writing for several different publications plus a regular radio program. I realized during my vacation that I really need to express myself, just not so often. I think the Watch and I will be a good fit and writing for the hometown paper will sharpen my focus. I have much to do however. I have a cast of characters who were left beside the road when I quit writing the Spring of 2006. Although these people, places and things are still a part of my life, they have not been in print for some time. Our cats, my mother-in-law (I call her "Mother Walseth," which she hates), brother Dave, my wife Lisa, my hometown of Viking and many other elements may need enticement to again join me in print. I need to think about them and document both what they do and what I say they do as they're not always the same. As a writer, it killed me to miss Christmas and the Red River Valley sugar beet harvest and I want another chance. Each month, I will publish a letter to my brother Dave and these usually read like a laundry list of my farm projects and farming in general. Dave works for Case/IH in Carrington, N.D., so the letters I send him usually include stories of what farmers are up to in central North Dakota. One central theme is that I write quickly and I don't waste your time. I may write about complex topics (love, faith, good three-wire fences) but I write simply. I also love to use brackets when I write (really?) I see these little brackets as "asides," a technique used by Shakespeare to help explain his plays to the audience.

If you've read my column, then you should expect the same topics explained with fresh stories. I also like metaphors and don't always explain each detail of every story. I want you to do a little thinking and maybe interpret the column based on your own life. I could serve you baby food, but I'd rather offer some complex carbohydrates and simple protein in my writings. We'll both be better for this Spartan literary diet.

DK, you know a little about me, how I write and a few simple ground rules. Now, someone hit the start button.

NMF to provide free paint for community projects

The Northwest Minnesota Foundation has announced the availability of free paint for community restoration/beautification projects in this region. Through a collaborative venture with the Valspar Corporation and the Minnesota Beautiful Picture-It-Painted Program, assistance will be provided to communities and organizations seeking paint and other coating materials necessary for rehabilitation activities. This is the 10th year of this partnership with Valspar.

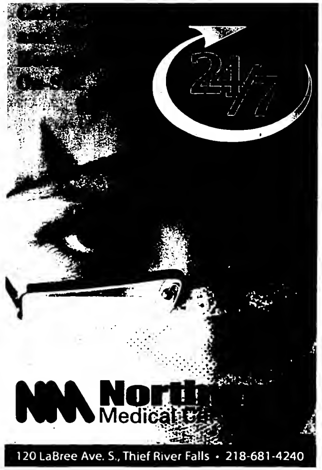
Approximately eight to 10 awards of free paint will be made by the foundation and Valspar in support of restoration/beautification efforts that best meet certain eligibility criteria. Selection will be based on the visual impact of the proposed projects, potential advantages to the public, volunteer participation and support, current and/or intended use of the structure to be refurbished, and benefits to those in need.

Projects which may qualify for the awards include, but are not limited to, those involving historic buildings, structures or landmarks, community centers or other public buildings, facilities for senior or disabled citizens, and murals or other visual-impact projects. Examples of projects that don't fall within the scope of the Picture-It-Painted program include those dealing with denominational churches, city maintenance, privately owned facilities, or school projects, with the exception of mural projects.

Grant proposals are due by March 1, and awards will be announced on March 22. To obtain application guidelines and an application form, call Holly Tri at (218) 759-2057 or 1-800-659-7859, or e-mail inquiries to hollyt@nwmf.org. Potential applicants should include their names, addresses and phone numbers. The application materials can also be downloaded from www.nwmf.org.

Aerospace Summer Camp to be held at NCTC's Airport Campus

Coming this summer will be the Aerospace Summer Camp. This event offers students who will enter 7th, 8th and 9th grades in the fall of 2007, an opportunity to increase their knowledge and application of skills in science, mathematics and technology through the use of aerospace subjects.



This camp offers a hands-on approach of exploration, experimentation, and discovery, combined with "real world" applications in aerospace. It inspires students to learn through experiences not usually found in schools or other programs, and helps them develop a broader view of themselves and what careers are possible in the future.

The one-week camp will be conducted at the Northland Community and Technical College Airport Campus. More details will be announced later.

Greenbush Community Nursing Home Relay For Life Team Valentine's Day Basket Silent Auction will be Feb. 1 through 12. Baskets will be on display in the nursing home lobby. A visible bidding form will be available for each basket. Participants may bid as often as they like.

Relay For Life raises funds for research and programs of the American Cancer Society. This year's Roseau County Relay For Life will be Aug. 10 in the Roseau City Park.

Johnston herd tops DHIA list for December

Todd and Kathy Johnston were the top dairy herd producers for the month of December, according to the supervisor for the Red Lake-Pennington County Herd Improvement Association.

Supervisor Randy Rasmussen put the following herds in the Top 10 in the association for the month of December 2006:

1. Todd and Kathy Johnston – 56 cows, 91 percent in milk, 79 pounds of milk, 2.9 pounds of fat, 2.4 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 103 percent of DHIA test-day milk sold.
2. Northstar Dairy 3X – 522 cows, 99 percent in milk, 70 pounds of milk, 2.6 pounds of fat, 2.1 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 102 percent of DHIA test-day milk sold.
3. Walter Brothers Farm – 287 cows, 85 percent in milk, 68 pounds of milk, 2.4 pounds of fat, 2.1 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 102 percent of DHIA test-day milk sold.
4. Beyer Brothers Farm – 70 cows, 96 percent in milk, 68 pounds of milk, 2.5 pounds of fat, 2.1 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 104 percent of DHIA test-day milk sold.
5. Northwest Research and Outreach Center – 117 cows, 86 percent in milk, 67 pounds of milk, 2.3 pounds of fat, 2.1 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 106 percent of DHIA test-day milk sold.
6. Wayra Dairy 3X – 203 cows, 89 percent in milk, 66 pounds of milk, 2.4 pounds of fat, 2 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 101 percent of DHIA test-day milk sold.
7. E. Duane and Faith Knott – 86 cows, 88 percent in milk, 65 pounds of milk, 2.5 pounds of fat, 1.9 pounds of protein, in unsupervised testing with 103 percent of DHIA test-day milk sold.
8. Novacek Dairy – 34 cows, 88 percent in milk, 63 pounds of milk, 2.3 pounds of fat, 1.9 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 114 percent of DHIA test-day milk sold.
9. Spring Prairie Colony – 353 cows, 84 percent in milk, 61 pounds of milk, 2.4 pounds of fat, 1.9 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 104 percent of DHIA test-day milk sold.
10. Robert and Terri Dahlen – 56 cows, 84 percent in milk, 60 pounds of milk, 2.1 pounds of fat, 1.8 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 110 percent of DHIA test-day milk sold.

The herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month. If too many cows are included in the herd, then the average for the month may be low even though the cow that is milking produces a lot of milk.

Teens invited to produce TV spots about traffic safety

The Look Out, Teens! TV Commercial Challenge 2007 calls for high school students to produce a 30-second TV spot to promote the importance of paying attention behind the wheel and the dangers of driving distracted.

This is the third year that the Minnesota Department of Public Safety and AAA Minnesota/Iowa have conducted the contest. This is the first call for spots focusing on distracted driving. Last year, more than 180 entries were submitted to promote seat belt use.

Minnesota ninth through 12th graders are eligible to enter. DVD or VHS videotape entries are due to DPS by 4 p.m., April 23. The three best entries will be posted online for a viewing and voting period May 7–20. The winning spot will be announced following the vote tally. First place garners $1,000 and a broadcast premiere of the spot. Second place garners $600, and third place garners $400.

Students can download rules and entry forms, and view last year's winning spots at www.dps.state.mn.us/ots. Click on the Look Out, Teens! link under "What's New."

Traffic crashes are the leading cause of death for teenagers, eclipsing the combined death total of the next four causes. In addition to distracted driving, speeding and not wearing seat belts are major causes in teen traffic deaths.

During 2001–05, teen drivers represented 7.5 percent of licensed drivers but 15 percent of crash-involved drivers. During this period, 15- to 19-year-olds accounted for 369 vehicle occupant traffic deaths. Of that number, less than a third of those individuals were wearing seat belts.

Beef cow/calf day set for Feb. 14 in Greenbush

The University of Minnesota will conduct its 2007 Beef Cow/Calf Days Feb. 6 through Feb. 16 in nine locations around the state. Locally, it will be held Feb. 14 from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Greenbush Community Center, 244 Main St. N.

The registration fee is $25 per family or farm. Registration is required at least one week in advance with the site coordinator. To register, contact Nathan Johnson at (218) 463-0294 or johns854@umn.edu.

Presented by the U of M Extension Beef Team, the program is designed to provide beef producers with current information about new technologies and issues facing the industry.

Each location will feature a customized program tailored to the needs of producers in that part of the state. Also included at every location are core topics of interest statewide. Core topics for this year's program include: current updates on industry issues; targeting a branded beef program; a new look at fall grazing; feeding distillers grain to the cow/calf herd; and planning and zoning for animal agriculture at the local level.

Grygla home destroyed in fire January 20

A Grygla woman escaped without injury after a fire destroyed her home in the early morning hours of Jan. 20.

Eunice Schulz was in bed asleep when her smoke detector woke her up, said Grygla Fire Chief Bob Thompson. The home's phone lines were already off by the time she woke up. Schulz then tried to drive her car about half-a-mile to her son's home. On the way there, Schulz's vehicle went into a ditch. Schulz then ran barefoot to her son's home to call for help.

The Grygla Fire Department was dispatched to the scene at 3:17 a.m. Jan. 20. Firefighters were on the scene for about five hours. They returned to the scene several times to check for and put out hot spots.

Thompson said it is believed that a pail of ash and embers, which had been cleaned out of a wood stove and then placed outside, led to the fire. He said it is believed strong south winds stirred up the ash and embers, starting the home's porch on fire. In addition to the home, an attached garage was destroyed.

Drug/gang summit at Red Lake deemed success

Whether it was an elected official, organizer, sponsor or participant, a methamphetamine, crack cocaine and gang summit at the Red Lake Humanities Center on Jan. 17 and 18 was deemed a success. The summit was titled "Breaking New Ground for a Better Tomorrow." It included 17 presenters and facilitators, and 250 registered participants.

In addition to the speeches and workshops at the Humanities Center, the three community presentations by motivational speaker David Parnell, who shared his personal experience with a talk titled "Facing the Dragon: One Man's Battle Against Methamphetamine." His first presentation, which was held in Ponemah, drew 75 residents. His second presentation, which was held at Red Lake High School, was attended by teachers and most students in seventh through 12th grades. His third presentation, which was held the evening of Jan. 17 in Red Lake, drew more than 100 listeners.

Presentations were held during the mornings of Jan. 17 and 18 on crack cocaine, gang awareness, meth and the Amber Alert and missing and abducted children. Afternoon breakout sessions were facilitated by law enforcement faculty from Fox Valley Technical College in Appleton, Wis.

The community was given the assignment to rank needs for improvements and strategies to address their problems related to gangs and illegal drugs. Five separate groups were created to reduce the number of those issues to the four most important issues. The groups included the four communities of the Red Lake Nation, Red Lake, Redby, Ponemah and Little Rock. A fifth group was organized for those who did not live on the reservation, e.g., employees and other tribes.

Nearly all five groups' top four issues included gangs, drug activity, alcohol activity, and the loss of cultural or traditional values. Other mentioned problems to be worked on included parenting skills, lack of youth programs, religion, education, role models and leadership integrity.

The summit's mission is to educate and mobilize tribal agencies, professionals, schools and community members in efforts against illegal drugs and crimes on the Red Lake Reservation. The goal is then to produce committees that will advise communities on how to effectively address issues of crime, drugs and violence while working closely with district representatives and the Red Lake Tribal Council.

Penalty shot part of TRF win

■ Prowler girls edge Bears 5-4 in overtime

Three power play goals and a penalty shot were part of the winning equation Tuesday as Thief River Falls won a 5-4 girls high school hockey game against Lake of the Woods/Rainy River/Indus at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

The Prowlers watched a 3-1 second period lead and a 4-2 third period edge turn into a 4-4 tie, but they emerged with the win when senior forward Kaley Holen scored on a rebound off a shot from the point by sophomore defenseman Britney Schwab 3:49 into an eight-minute sudden-death overtime.

It was the second win over the Bears this winter for the 6-13 Prowlers, who won a Nov. 30 game in Baudette 5-2. Combined with a 1-0 Saturday afternoon home ice decision over an Eveleth-Gilbert/Mesabi East/Mountain Iron-Buhl/Virginia cooperative, Tuesday's outcome gave Thief River Falls its first back-to-back wins of 2006-07.

The Bears scored first as Courtney Bitter skated in from the side of the net and stuffed the puck past Thief River Falls goalie Jade Gothberg during a 4-on-4 skate at 6:32 of the opening period.

Next three goals came on Thief River Falls power plays. Junior defenseman Molly Peterson scored the first two – on a long range slap shot at 9:56 of the first period and on a shot from the slot at 13:24 of the second period. Britni Johnson's open shot from the top of the slot at 15:59 made it 3-1 at the second intermission.

"If we're patient, our power play looks good," noted Thief River Falls coach Corey Poole.

The Prowlers coughed up the puck near their own net and Bitter turned the mistake into her second goal at 3:18 of the third period.

Just 28 seconds later, one of the Bears' skaters was whistled for covering the puck with her hand in the crease during a scramble around the net. The call awarded the Prowlers a penalty shot – the first for Poole in his ten years of coaching.

Poole sent Johnson out for the shot and watched as the senior forward put a neat move on Bears goalie Bryna Hanson before tucking a backhand into the net.

"It was a pretty goal," said Poole. "At first, Brittni said she was too nervous and didn't want to take the shot. But I thought it was a great opportunity for a senior on Parent's Night."

The visitors came back, however, turning an errant Thief River Falls clearing pass into a power play goal by Ali Hasbargen at 9:49, then tying it when Katelyn Thompson steered in Hasbargen's centering pass from behind the net at 15:15.

Final two starts of the regular season will find the Prowlers hosting International Falls Tuesday and entertaining Detroit Lakes Thursday.

Rams take rematch against Prowlers in girls contest, 66-59

Fourteen of the final 16 Roseau points came at the free throw line to secure a 66-59 girls high school basketball win over Thief River Falls. It was the second half of the Rams-Prowlers Tuesday doubleheader at Roseau. Thief River Falls boys won the first game 93-59.

Three weeks earlier, the Prowlers won a 75-53 home court decision over the Rams. They led the see-saw rematch 31-29 at halftime and had a 55-50 advantage with just under three minutes remaining before Roseau began its march to the free throw line.

Mandy Thompson and Amanda Hoard led the Prowlers with 14 and 12 points, respectively, while Green Wave beats Prowlers in 8A boys hockey...

EGF overtime winner, 4-3

A Thief River Falls goal with only five seconds remaining in regulation time tied it, but an East Grand Forks goal just 59 seconds into overtime won it as the Green Wave got by the Prowlers 4-3 Tuesday in Section 8A boys high school hockey at the Civic Center.

Trailing 3-2, Thief River Falls pulled goalie Cole Hunt for an extra attacker in the final minute, and the move worked as Patrick Barry beat East Grand Forks goalie Alex Christiansen and the clock to extend the game.

However, the rest period lasted longer than the overtime as Henry Gutierrez picked up his second goal of the night for the win.

"We played hard, but we made way too many mental mistakes," offered Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland, whose defending Section 8A champions fell to 7-8-1. "We're killing ourselves with mistakes. It's not that they're not trying, but we're doing dumb things at dumb times."

Gutierrez also opened the scoring, with a goal by Jordan Swanson sending the game into the first intermission tied at 1-1.

The only goal of the second period was scored by the Prowlers' Spencer Johnson.

Third period goals by Michael Palmiscno and Michael Lukkason put the Green Wave on top 3-2 before Barry came up with the late-game equalizer.

Mustangs lose Halvorson in a setback at RLF

Red Lake County Central lost more than a girls high school basketball game Monday. The Mustangs' 47-38 setback at the hands of rival Red Lake Falls was overshadowed by the fact that Courtney Halvorson left the Robert Matzke Gym court early in the first half with an injury – later diagnosed as two broken bones in her hand.

A 5-9 senior who is half of the Mustangs' current 1,000 career point tandem that also includes Brittany Gustafson, Halvorson will miss the rest of the 2006-07 season. She was averaging 16 points and 12 rebound per game.

The injury happened as she drove to the basket trying to build on an early 8-2 Red Lake County Central lead.

"That hurts, obviously," said long-time Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto. "This was going to be one of our better teams. She was a pretty big part of it."

The Mustangs got to the halftime break with a 25-22 lead, but they couldn't finish it.

"The girls hung together a little while, but you could see we were down," explained Koivisto.

Gustafson finished with 19 points, Cassie Columbus 18 to lead the Eagles.

Red Lake County Central went 13-for-43 from the field (30 percent) and struggled through a 9-for-27 free throw night.

"Injuries or not, we've got to make free throws," said Koivisto.

Red Lake Falls was 18-for-50 from the floor (36 percent) and 10-for-15 on free throws. The Eagles finished with a 32-20 rebound advantage. The Mustangs had more turnovers, 15-11.

The loss dropped Red Lake County Central to 10-5.

Shawna Rogalla put together a 9-point, 9-assist game. The Rams got 19-point inside performances from Tonya Timmerman and Sada Puckett.

"We had a great effort," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "We just couldn't stop their two post players. And we couldn't get some crucial points late in the game."

The Prowlers were 22-for-72 from the field (31 percent), the Rams went 24-for-57 (42 percent). Thief River Falls' 9-for-14 free throw game came up short against Roseau's 18-for-24 showing at the line. The winners also dominated the boards, 50-31.

The Prowlers, who turned in a 65 percent 40-for-62 shooting performance from the field, led 49-32 at halftime.

"We got off to a really fast start, which hasn't been our trademark," said Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. "The kids shared the ball. They did a good job going inside."

Joe Benke scored 26 points to lead the Rams, who were 20-for-48 from the floor (42 percent).

Free throw figures were nearly identical, with the Prowlers making 13 of 21 and the Rams hitting 14 of 21.

Storm snaps Gators' win streak

It took overtime, but a six-game Badger/Greenbush-Middle River boys high school basketball winning streak ended Tuesday with a 71-66 road loss at the hands of Stephen-Argyle.

Regulation time ended in a 61-61 tie. The Storm combined a 3-pointer with 7-for-8 free throw shooting to double the Gators 10-5 in overtime.

Kyle Gratzek (25) and Jesse Sundby (24) combined for 49 Stephen-Argyle points. The Gators were led by Zach Creviston's 17 points.

"We just didn't have an answer for Gratzek," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Kent Christian. "He and Sundby really tore us apart."

A 9-for-18 free throw night didn't help, either, according to Christian. "We had some chances to jump an 8-point lead to 10 or 12, but we got away from good team basketball," he explained. "Stephen-Argyle is a good team. I really believe this loss will make us a better team in the long run."

The 11-4 Gators, who handled the Storm 62-37 in an early-season meeting and won a 62-45 quick rematch at the Northland Community and Technical College Invitational, were 25-for-64 from the field (39 percent).

Wolverines out-score Freeze

Five Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke players hit double figures Tuesday as the Wolverines out-scored the Northern Freeze 78-65 in a girls high school basketball game played at Grygla.

Stephanie Klamar had a 17-point, 11-rebound double-double to lead the winners, with Rebecca Polansky putting together a 14-point, 8-rebound, 9-assist game. Brittney Forsberg (14), Justyne Larson (12) and Adelle Prestebak (10) were other Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke scorers in double figures.

It was the third win over the Northern Freeze this winter for the 9-7 Wolverines, who stretched their winning streak to four games. They led 46-25 at halftime.

"Our press was effective," reported Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Brent Philipp. "We got a lot of steals. We had some very unselfish play. Justyne ran into some early foul trouble and we had to sit her. She's our leading scorer. But the rest of the kids stepped it up a notch."

Alycia Dahl scored 25 points, Lacey Petersen 19 and Morgan Halvorson 10 for the Northern Freeze, but that still didn't match the Wolverines' balance, pointed out Tom Mjelde, coach of the 8-7 Marshall County Central/Tri-County cooperative. "That night, that was the best basketball team we've played this year," he said. "It seemed like everything they put up went in."

The Wolverines had a 52 percent 33-for-63 shooting night, compared to a 35 percent 25-for-71 showing by Northern Freeze. The winners were 13-for-26 at the line, where the visitors went 9-for-11.

Northern Freeze finished with a 44-34 rebound advantage, but also topped the turnover charts, 22-13.

Bearcats edge Eagles in overtime ball game

Kittson County Central watched a seven-point lead with 1:45 remaining turn into a 55-55 regulation time tie, but the host Bearcats regrouped in overtime to beat Grygla-Gatzke 69-62 Tuesday in boys high school basketball.

The Eagles hit the first basket of the extra session, but the Bearcats answered with a 3-pointer, and led the rest of the way, icing it at the free throw line down the stretch.

"We ran out of gas," offered Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson, "but I was very pleased with how we played. We executed our offense well. We got good shots that just didn't drop. They hit their shots and made free throws at the end. I don't think we lost it so much as they won it."

Chris Klamar scored a game-high 17 points for the 10-4 Eagles. Tyler Coroeliusen had an 11-point, 13-rebound double-double. The winners were led by Kyle Langen with 15 points.

It was a 39 percent 24-for-61 shooting performance for Grygla-Gatzke and a 42 percent 25-for-60 night for Kittson County Central. The Eagles were 13-for-15 at the free throw line; the Bearcats went 13-for-19. Grygla-Gatzke finished with a 36-32 rebound edge. Turnovers were even at 10-apiece.

Rematch with Warroad goes to Nordics, 62-51

First time around, Warroad won 57-51. However, Marshall County Central won the boys high school basketball rematch Tuesday, 62-51 in Newfolden.

The Nordics were up by 10 points early and had a 28-23 halftime lead.

Kyle Klasen's 26-point night for the Nordics included several key baskets down the stretch, pointed out Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. Before that, sophomore center Colby Owens had a stretch in which he scored eight straight points.

Rantanen also cited the defensive play by Andy Kragness, whose one-on-one match-up with Matt Adam limited the Warroad forward to 11 points. He had 28 in the first meeting. Jack Phetsanghane led Warroad with 15 points.

Marshall County Central was 21-for-51 from the field (41 percent) and 15-for-29 at the free throw line. Warroad went 15-for-45 from the floor (33 percent) and 17-for-22 at the line. Warroad finished with a 39-30 rebound edge, but also had more turnovers, 23-14.

TRF freshmen boys post 60-28 win over Roseau

Eleven Thief River Falls players put their names in the scoring column Tuesday as the Prowlers handled Roseau 60-28 in freshman boys basketball.

It was 29-15 at halftime.

David Stenson and Riley Simenson led the winners with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Brady Harbott contributed 9 points and Casey Swanson had 8.

It was erroneously reported earlier that Thief River Falls had lost a Jan. 16 freshman game to Bemidji, when, in fact, the Prowlers beat the Lumberjacks 46-43.

Cody Reese of the Prowlers was on the starting block ready to launch himself into the Franklin Middle School pool to begin the 50-yard freestyle during Thief River Falls' Tuesday boys high school swim meet against Park Rapids Area. Teammate Brian Kays looked on.

Gators' start sets up 82-34 win vs. Storm

A 45-18 first half lead carried Badger/Greenbush-Middle River past visiting Stephen-Argyle 82-34 Monday in girls high school basketball.

"That's a lot faster start than normal for us," said Gators coach Tom Neibauer. "It was a good team game."

Defensive pressure early in the game decided the issue in a hurry. "We really pressed the ball at the start," pointed out Neibauer.

Liz Schenkey of the Gators led all scorers with 25 points.

The winners were 35-for-75 from the field (47 percent) and 8-for-13 at the free throw line. The Storm had an 8-for-16 free throw game.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River improved to 13-3 with the win.

Boys high school basketball rivalry...

Grygla-Gatzke holds off Goodridge, 65-57

Underdog Goodridge challenged Grygla-Gatzke from start to finish Monday, but at the end, the visiting Eagles completed a home-and-home regular season series boys high school basketball rivalry sweep 65-57.

Grygla-Gatzke won the first meeting 73-51.

"I tip my hat to Goodridge," said Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson. "They worked hard. They hurt us in a lot of areas. The one area where we did beat them was on the scoreboard."

The Eagles were clinging to a late-game 55-53 lead before a basket off a steal and then a Goodridge miss on a 3-pointer finally created some scoreboard separation.

Brady Olson of Grygla-Gatzke led all scorers with 23 points. Eighteen of those came in the first half. Nick Mickelson had a 16-point, 13-rebound double-double for Goodridge.

"We played one of our better games of the year," said Goodridge coach Eric Mickelson. "The kids really put their heart into it. We kept our turnovers down and played pretty good defense.

Grygla-Gatzke was 29-for-61 from the field (48 percent); Goodridge went 22-for-59 (37 percent). It was a quiet night at the free throw line, where the Eagles were 5-for-8 and the Huskies were 6-for-8.

Goodridge had more rebounds (29-24) and more turnovers (16-8) than Grygla-Gatzke. The Eagles improved to 10-3, the Huskies fell to 4-9.

Snowmobile trail reports updated by DNR

Lack of snow throughout Minnesota continues to hinder riding opportunities on the state's more than 20,000 miles of snowmobile trails. Although trails typically open in early December, snow depth determines whether or not a trail is ready for riding.

A minimum of 12 inches of adequate snow cover is necessary for packing and grooming trails, according to Les Ollila, Northeast Region Trails and Waterways manager for the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

"The lack of snow is a safety concern," Ollila explained. "We understand that people are anxious to get out, but there just isn't enough snow on the ground for grooming and riding. We don't want people risking their safety, the safety of others, or cause damage to their machines or the trail."

Ollila suggested that trail users call the local trail club or chamber of commerce before leaving town. State trails conditions are also available on the DNR Web site at www.dnr.state.mn.us, or by calling (651) 296-6157 or 1-888-MINND-NR (646-6367).

Snowmobilers are reminded that a Minnesota snowmobile state trail sticker is required for all snowmobiles operated on any state or grant-in-aid snowmobile trail in Minnesota.

State trail sticker costs $16 for an annual permit and $31 for a three-year sticker, which may only be purchased during snowmobile registration.

Annual stickers can be purchased from a deputy registrar or any of the 1,800 electronic licensing agents throughout Minnesota

The three-year sticker is available at a deputy registrar office; through the mail to the DNR, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155; or with an online renewal on the DNR Web site.

contact will continue to spread the disease and threaten their livelihood. Several demanded to know what will be done about blatant violations of the ban on feeding deer.

DNR conservation officers said that within the next two weeks they will begin conducting surveillance over the area and begin enforcing the no feed ban.

Officials continue to ask for cooperation of deer hunters and cattlemen in their efforts to eradicate bovine TB because it is to the benefit of everyone.

Mark Johnson of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association said across the state members of the organization are very concerned about the problem. He added that the deer hunter's organization will support and cooperate with the DNR and all of the groups involved in the process. "The correct things have to happen in the proper order," he said, "so a long-lasting solution can be found."

Thursday night, Dr. Michelle Powell, DNR wildlife health program coordinator, announced a deer herd reduction plan in the bovine TB zone.

During the hunting season this past fall, five deer harvested by hunters tested presumptive positive for the disease. In examining the results, the DNR has developed a plan, which is designed to reduce the opportunity for "deer-to-deer or deer-to-livestock transmission of bovine TB by removing potentially TB-positive deer through a reduction of deer densities in critical areas."

The action plan calls for the use of a number of techniques, including liberalized fall hunting, and landowner permits, but the DNR will also contract with the U.S. Department of Agriculture sharpshooters and take additional action.

"The discovery of more bovine TB-infected cattle operations and deer in 2006 prompted this effort to protect the long-term health of the deer population," said Powell. "Temporarily reducing deer numbers in highly localized areas will minimize the chance that this disease will begin to spread."

According to a news release being issued to news media this week, following an aerial survey next week to assess deer numbers and distribution, sharpshooters will begin to reduce deer numbers in a six-mile radius surrounding the farms where bovine TB was detected.

USDA wildlife service employs teams of trained sharpshooters who are experienced and skilled in efficiently removing large numbers of deer for wildlife damage and health and safety reasons. These teams will take deer on public land and will also work with landowners to take deer on private land with the landowner's permission.

All deer taken will be tested for bovine TB. Meat from deer with no obvious bovine TB infection will be salvaged and released for human consumption. DNR will provide information and food safety guidelines for proper handling and cooking of venison.

"We recognize that this will likely have a temporary negative affect on deer hunting in the immediate area and we regret any short-term impacts to local hunters," Powell said. "However, taking aggressive action before the disease begins to spread through the deer population ensures the long-term health of the deer herd and good deer hunting in the future. We expect deer numbers will quickly rebound after the completion of this effort."

The DNR will continue to monitor deer for bovine TB in the area throughout the next several years by sampling hunter-harvested deer.

At least one landowner wasn't satisfied with the efforts by the DNR. He pointed out that by instituting a ban on deer feeding in the area, deer began concentrating in areas where cattle are fed, compounding the problem. He wondered why the DNR wasn't feeding deer on their property in an effort to draw them away from cattle operations.

Another cattleman demanded that the DNR mount an intensive educational effort that explains the importance of irradiating bovine TB to hunters who continue to resist demands to stop feeding deer.

Dr. Randy Lindemann, veterinarian with the Bureau of Animal Health, explained that intensive educational efforts had been undertaken, but from his experience, there's always a small group of people who don't get the message. He asked for the DNR to develop a simple one-page explanation and for cattlemen and hunters in the crowd to assist in the effort to continue to educate others.

Cattlemen in northwestern Minnesota said thy weren't satisfied with the efforts of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources to help eradicate bovine tuberculosis in the state. Coincidentally, the DNR announced plans to significantly cull the deer herd and step up surveillance and enforcement of a deer feeding ban in the region. Over 50 people attended a meeting that provided them with an update on the bovine tuberculosis investigation. The meeting was conducted Thursday evening at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls.

were $832,134 for 2006, according to Finance Director Lisa Johnson on that date. Johnson said the actual expenses for 2006 were $856,772 to date. She noted the dollar amount for actual expenses has not been finalized as bills are still being paid for 2006.

Regarding revenue for the two arenas, Johnson said the budgeted revenue for 2006 was $515,500 and the actual revenue for 2006 was $522,990 to that date. She noted the dollar amount for actual revenue hasn't been finalized as revenue is still coming in for 2006.

In April 2005, donors, volunteers and concerned citizens proposed to the council that it create a board of directors for REA. That proposal came after the resignation of then-REA General Manager Tom Goddard. Those individuals proposed that the board include six or seven people with marketing, finance, accounting and/or law expertise. They also proposed that two of the six or seven board members be City Council members. Under their proposal, that board would then operate REA and report to the council. After several discussions about the potential board, members of the 2005-06 City Council never formed a board for REA. Half of the current council members were serving on the council in 2005 when that issue was originally discussed.

At the meeting Tuesday, several council members and at least one city employee asked Nordhagen questions related to how the potential advisory board would operate. Nordhagen said he hoped the group would just get together with Wennberg, and talk about events and such things as a policy about the sale of beer at REA. "I would think they would meet with Dale on an as-needed basis," said Nordhagen, who added that he hoped the board meetings could be relaxed meetings that wouldn't be required to follow open meeting laws.

Council member Conrad Holten asked Nordhagen whether he was thinking the board would strategize or work as a consulting group for REA.

"I don't know anything about marketing," responded Nordhagen, who noted he thought the council would have the board tell the council what works and that the board would also offer suggestions.

"It's worth a shot," said council member Glen Kajewski with regard to the creation of an advisory board to provide marketing ideas for REA.

Sunrise Dairy is rather simple: fresh milk and 2002 Minnesota State Fair award winning fresh butter. Most of Dahl's customers receive their products through home delivery, which includes one percent, two percent, whole and skim milk packaged in returnable glass bottles.

The product line will be expanded later this year to include ice cream. When it begins production of ice cream, the dairy will be the only local brand of ice cream in northeastern Minnesota.

Dahl's personal interest in dairy actually has little to do with his childhood that was spent on the farm. Instead, it dates back 25 years ago, when he left his job as a store manager of an Ethan-Allen Gallary to take a job at Aysta Dairy in Virginia.

Dahl was recruited by an Aysta employee to help with milk delivery. Home delivery has remained a big part of the dairy industry in the Iron Range.

Dahl was a route supervisor and enjoyed delivering milk and getting to know the families on his routes. He left Aysta Dairy after 13 years to start his own business.

He first purchased customer lists of Sipola Dairy in Embarrass. Ely Dairy. He also purchased all of the equipment from a processing plant in Hoven, S.D.

To succeed, Dahl knew he needed to meet the needs of his customers, but any expansion needed to be slow. "In Thief River Falls, you have a huge dairy. Naturally, a small guy can't compete with that, so you have to find your niche," Dahl said.

Dahl's business continued its growth, acquiring Midwest Dairy and Johnson Dairy over the next 12 years. The acquisition of Johnson Dairy was meaningful, because Calvin Johnson, the business' second-generation owner, approached Dahl about carrying on the family's 60-year tradition.

All of the dairies acquired by Dahl included their own routes, but their milk was delivered in paper or plastic containers. When Dahl took over the routes, he immediately switched all containers to glass.

Dahl said there are many benefits to using glass bottles for local delivery, instead of plastic or paper containers. Among those benefits:

"We can deliver it a lot faster – we can deliver it the same day as processing, or at worst, a day or two later," Dahl said. "It doesn't pick up a paper taste or have anytime to sit on the shelf."

Dahl is also quick to compliment the farmers who produce the milk. "You can't make good apple pie with rotten apples and you can't have good milk without a good raw product from local farmers," Dahl said.

All milk processed by Sunrise Dairy is free of recombinant Bovine Growth Hormone (rBGH-free).

In the fall of 2000, Sunrise Dairy added European-style butter to its product list. Dahl said the butter is churned slower and longer using a variable speed butter churn to produce a more flavorful butter. The butter has less moisture content, higher butterfat content and less salt than other types of butter. Like other products produced by Dahl's Sunrise Dairy, the European-style butter is farmer-certified to be rBGH-free.

Dahl's Sunrise Dairy employs five full-time and three part-time employees. The dairy delivers to 12 communities that are located in a triangle between Ely, Grand Rapids and Duluth.

Dahl resides in Embarrass with his wife Karen, who works as a surgical nurse at Virginia Regional Medical Center. Their son, Lance, is a teacher and football coach with the Rochester school system, and daughter, Angela, is a graphic artist with Indigo Sign Works in Fargo, N.D.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Planning takes center stage at VIP

by David Hill
Editor

Sandi Bentley is back in Thief River Falls. The first time she came to Thief River Falls, she was leading residents of the Good Samaritan Nursing Home in East Grand Forks away from flood waters and to the safety of Northland Community and Technical College. This time, she is back working in Thief River Falls as the executive director of Violence Intervention Project.

Bentley was appointed executive director of VIP in September. Previous to accepting this new position, she served with the Living At Home Block Nurse program in Middle River. Prior to that, of course, she worked for the Good Samaritan Society in East Grand Forks. Bentley has been involved in nursing home administration for 20 years.

Bentley is enthusiastic about her role as the executive director of VIP and the opportunity to serve residents of the region who have been so kind to her in the past.

In terms of her goals and objectives as the executive director of VIP, Bentley said she is still learning the ropes, but she wants to make sure the organization effectively communicates what services it provides, and continues to be accessible to persons needing services.

Besides communicating what services they provide, Bentley said she's very curious about what other services citizens expect or want the organization to provide. She invites the public to call her and let her know what services they should be providing.

At one point in her career, Bentley explained that she served on the National Board of Directors for Good Samaritan Society, so she has an understanding of the importance of planning. VIP's board of directors and Bentley would like to hear from people in the region so that effective planning can be done.

The facility VIP occupies (at Greenwood Street East, Thief River Falls) offers a wonderful springboard for services and any future services VIP may be able to offer, Bentley said. "It's a strong asset for the community and the region."

VIP is a private nonprofit agency that serves victims of domestic abuse and sexual assault in Minnesota Region 1, including the counties of Polk, Roseau, Marshall, Kittson, Pennington, Red Lake, and Norman.

Services

Dedicated staff is available 24 hours a day to take emergency phone calls.

Sandi Bentley

VIP provides a variety of services to those in need. Those services include providing emergency shelter for persons coming out of domestic violence situations. This is for people who need a safe place for a short period of time - typically, a 30-day period, or shorter.

VIP also has transitional housing.

Search continues for superintendent

Warren - "If all goes according to the plan laid out Monday night at the Warren/Alvarado/Oslo School Board meeting, the board will be making an offer of employment to its new superintendent in early April.

"Present Superintendent Kenneth Henry is retiring this spring after five years in the position." - Warren Sheaf, Jan. 31, 2007

Fosston teacher returns to classroom

Fosston - "A fifth grade teacher at Magelssen Elementary has returned to the classroom after being placed on administrative leave.

"Fosston District Superintendent Dale Salberg placed Susan Skunes on leave Thursday, Dec. 21 in order to investigate an incident that occurred the previous day involving Principal Greg Bruce. According to Salberg, the action was not disciplinary but meant to provide time for the investigation.

"Details are not being released by school officials due to privacy reasons. However, the Thirteen Towns was able to receive an incident report from the Polk County Sheriff's Office and a copy of a court memorandum. According to information on those documents, Bruce notified Skunes on Dec. 20 via written correspondence that he would be in the classroom later that day to evaluate a reading program. Skunes left the room shortly after Bruce arrived and called 911 from the school office. A deputy arrived at the school and questioned both Skunes and Bruce. Finding no legal violation, the deputy explained to Skunes the process of applying for a restraining order. Bruce was served papers for a temporary restraining order Dec. 23. According to Salberg, the district had no prior knowledge of this action before placing Skunes on leave.

"Court documents indicate a 'troubled history' between Skunes and Bruce. Skunes had filed two discrimination claims with the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in 2001 and 2005. It was not indicated whether these claims were acted upon. There had not been a restraining order previous to the one applied for by Skunes in December. However, a no contact order measure was instituted by the school board for the 2005-06 school year but was not continued for 2006-07." - The Thirteen Towns of Fosston, Jan. 30, 2007, by Dan Kindall

LEGO Robotics team competes in tournament

Eighteen teams competed in the tournament. "They came from South Dakota, North Dakota and Minnesota. The Brilliant Bricks ranked seventh in the performance of their robot with a score of 211 points out of 400 possible. Final results in the other three areas will be mailed to the school soon. Because of its hard work, the team also received a Judges Award, which recognizes something special that the team showed to the judges, either in teamwork or in its presentations." - North Star News of Karlstad, Feb. 1, 2007

New medical clinic opens

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

In the past, when a child developed an illness that peaked late in the day, parents had two choices. They could wait to care for their children until an appointment could be made with the family doctor sometime the next day, or they could pay emergency room prices for urgent care.

A new type of medical clinic will soon give parents a third choice that is more affordable than emergency room care. On Feb. 12, First Care Medical Services will open a Quick Clinic in Erskine. A grand opening will be held in March.

"We are very excited about opening the first Quick Clinic in the area," said Patricia Wangler, chief executive officer at First Care Medical Services. "The Clinic in Erskine will offer a convenient, affordable alternative for people."

The new Quick Clinic is located south of Ness Cafe, on the corner of Erskine's Mainstreet, where the business Russian Fashion was previously located. The Quick Clinic will offer handicap accessibility and parking right outside the door.

Hours of the clinic are 3 to 7 p.m. on weekdays and 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. No appointments are necessary.

Certified mid-level providers will evaluate, diagnose and prescribe for common illnesses, such as sore throats, sinusitis, allergies, ear infections, rashes, contusions, and similar ailments. Vaccinations, pregnancy screenings, sports physicals

Health and Hospitality go hand in hand

TRF group starts hospitality program to alleviate patient anxiety

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

It was 8:30 a.m. on a weekday. He traveled in cold, treacherous conditions from Karlstad to Thief River Falls to take his wife to a doctor's appointment. A new program may have saved him from having to make the nail-biting trip.

The Thief River Falls Convention and Visitors Bureau recently started the Healthcare and Hospitality Program of Thief River Falls. Five healthcare providers, six lodging facilities, the Northwest Medical Center Auxiliary, and Northland Taxi are participating in the program. The Healthcare and Hospitality Program provides lodging and taxi-fare discounts to those who need to stay overnight in Thief River Falls for next-day medical checkups or treatment. The program is offered year-round.

The program will fulfill a need for many people who travel many miles to receive medical care in Thief River Falls. "We are quite a regional medical center, and we are drawing a lot of people in," said CVB Board member Linnae Enge.

Participating healthcare providers include NWMC, Altru Northwest Clinic, Mickelson Eye Clinic, Dakota Clinic and The Center for Women's Health, and Northwest Eye Center. Participating lodging facilities include AmericInn, the Best Western, C'Mon Inn, Hartwood Motel, Super 8 Motel and T-59 Motel. Program brochures are distributed at the participating healthcare facilities.

To use the program:

1. Call one of the lodging facilities listed above to reserve a room.
2. Ask for the "Manager's Special Daily Rate"
3. Tell the hotel clerk you are a Healthcare and Hospitality Program guest from whichever healthcare facility you are using, and that you will bring in a voucher.
4. Fill out the voucher form available in the Healthcare and Hospitality Program brochure.
5. Have the voucher signed by a nurse or another employee of the

Some relief for cattle producers is in sight

by Rep. Brita Sailer

The news this fall that a seventh herd of cattle in the Roseau and Beltrami county area had been infected with bovine tuberculosis hit many in our farming community hard. For the first time in 34 years, a confirmed TB outbreak has been confirmed in Minnesota, resulting in the loss of our state's TB free label. That means additional regulation for producers, increased costs for testing, learning the complex and sometimes contradictory rules that vary from state to state before shipping their herds, and a potentially reduced market value for those cattle.

Adding insult to injury, the price per head paid to producers by the state is absurdly low. Currently producers can expect to be reimbursed at a rate of $37.50 per animal - an unreasonable price considering the current market value of each animal turns out to be in the range of $1000 to $1500.

In response to conversations and concerns from farmers in our district, I've authored a bill this session that would remove the limit the state Board of Animal Health will pay to reimburse producers. If passed, the initiative would allow the state to reimburse producers at a price closer to market value, reducing some of the financial hardship they incur.

To further assist cattle producers facing economic hard times, there is also a tax credit available this year to Minnesota cattle owners paying for bovine tuberculosis (TB) testing.

"Church Basement Ladies" performance in TRF Feb. 11

The new hit musical comedy "Church Basement Ladies" rolls into Thief River Falls on Sunday, Feb. 11. The Thief River Falls Concert Association event begins at 3 p.m. in the Lincoln High School Auditorium. Tickets can be purchased at the door for $30. Purchase of a ticket entitles the ticket holder to two other Concert Association season performances.

In the midst of a 40-plus city tour of the heartland of the United States, "Church Basement Ladies" has enjoyed a long and successful run at the Plymouth Playhouse in Minneapolis. So bring your hot dish, pan of bars or jello salad along and join in the fun.

With a good of celebration all of those women who work so hard and with such dedication in the church kitchens, producers [illegible] Wellan of the Troupe America [illegible] of the best selling book "Growing Up Lutheran" to create "Church Basement Ladies." The show is aimed at all of the ladies, whether they are Lutheran, Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian or Catholic, whose toil and time form one of the pillars of their churches. You all know at least one of those "steel magnolias" of the church - your mom, an aunt, or just a good friend. Maybe it's even you.

Set in the mid 1960s in a small rural Lutheran church, "Church Basement Ladies" features five distinct characters: the church's pastor, the matriarch of the kitchen, her two younger assistants and a college-age girl. The women measure the food while discussing [illegible] about the problems [illegible] how many pounds [illegible] needed for the Christmas dinner, how to fix the [illegible] preparing [illegible] church custodian, or preparing the wedding feast for the youngest of the women on the hottest day of the summer. Along the way, subjects like "I'm washing and you are all drying" might arise, or will the young lady marry the favored Lutheran fellow, or will she fall for the Catholic boy? Of course, they keep the pastor on track, share and debate recipes and stave off potential disasters all the while thoroughly enjoying (and tolerating) each other.

Funny and full of great wit, wisdom and music, "Church Basement Ladies" will delight every audience member in Thief River Falls as they identify with these women of the [illegible] This is most [illegible]

The new hit musical "Church Basement Ladies" will be performed in Thief River Falls on Sunday Feb. 11. The Thief River Falls Concert Association event begins at 3 p.m. in the Lincoln High School auditorium. Tickets can be purchased at the door for $30. This not only admits the ticket holder to this show, but two other performances sponsored by the Thief River Falls Concert Association. (Submitted photo)

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacourse@mncable.net

If you're having friends in this weekend, here are some dishes that are great for entertaining:

Having a bunch of company? Start here:

CHILI FOR A BUNCH
3 pounds ground beef
2 (28 ounces each) cans diced tomatoes, undrained
4 regular cans kidney, pinto and/or black beans, rinsed and drained
1 pound smoked kielbasa, sliced and halved
2 large onions, halved and thinly sliced
2 (8 ounces each) cans tomato sauce
2/3 cup hickory flavored barbecue sauce
1 1/2 cups water
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
5 fresh banana peppers, seeded and sliced
2 tablespoons chili powder
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons instant coffee granules
1 teaspoon each dried oregano, thyme and sage
1/2 to 1 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1/2 to 1 teaspoon crushed red pepper flakes
2 garlic cloves, minced

In 8 quart kettle or Dutch oven, brown beef. Drain. Add remaining ingredients and bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Serves 20-24 people (6 quarts).

You can make a bunch of these sandwiches in a hurry and everybody will love them:

STEAK SANDWICHES
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
2 medium onions, thinly sliced
1 medium green pepper, sliced
2 tablespoons butter
1 pound thinly sliced cooked roast beef
6 hoagie rolls, split
6 slices (8 ounces) mozzarella cheese
4 beef bouillon cubes
2 cups water

In skillet, sauté mushrooms, onions and green pepper in butter until tender. Divide beef among rolls. Top with vegetables and cheese. Replace roll tops and place on ungreased baking sheet. Cover with foil.

Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until heated through (or may be heated in micro on high for 1 minute.)

In small pan, heat bouillon and water until cubes are dissolved. Serve as dipping sauce with sandwiches.

Crackers and cheese or veggies and cheese, this cheese ball will be a hit - and it has Nutritional Info too:

ONION CHEESE BALL
1 (8 ounce) package fat free cream cheese, softened
8 slices (3/4 ounce each) fat-free sharp cheddar cheese, cut into thin strips
1 small onion, diced
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon garlic powder
Dash hot pepper sauce
1/2 cup minced fully cooked low fat ham
Fresh veggies or low fat crackers

Beat cheeses. Add onions, Worcestershire, garlic powder and hot pepper sauce. Mix well. Shape into a ball and roll in ham. Cover and refrigerate at least 1 hour before serving.

Nutritional Info: One 2-tablespoon serving (without crackers or veggies) equals 24 calories, 198 mg sodium, 2 mg chol, 2 gm carb, 4 gm protein, trace of fat. Diabetic exchange is 1/2 lean meat.

This fruit salad is bursting with flavor and just right with any of the above foods. It's also a good one to serve for those who are watching their diets:

GELATIN FRUIT SALAD
1 cup unsweetened applesauce
1 small package sugar free cherry gelatin
1 (12 ounce) can or 1 1/2 cups diet ginger ale
1 (8 ounce) can unsweetened crushed pineapple, undrained
Apple slices
Fresh mint, if desired

In saucepan, bring applesauce to a boil. Remove from heat and stir in gelatin until dissolved. Slowly add ginger ale and pineapple. Pour into 2 quart bowl and chill until set. If you are not watching your diet, add other canned or fresh fruit as desired. If you are counting calories, etc. the dish can now be garnished with apples and mint if desired and will serve 8 with each serving containing 30 calories, 53 mg sodium, 0 chol, 7 gm carb, 1 gm protein, trace of fat. Diabetic exchange is 1/2 fruit.

And here's a lovely punch to serve to a bunch - it's almost like a yummy dessert. Marge Ulrich sent it in and said she got it in the Watch. Well, I don't remember it, but that's nothing new. Anyway, she says it is really good and it sounds really good and that's good enough for me:

EGGLESS EGG NOG
1 cup milk plus 7 cups milk
1 (2 ounce) package instant French vanilla pudding mix
2 teaspoons vanilla
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

In large bowl, mix pudding mix with 1 cup milk. Refrigerate. When pudding is formed, add remaining milk and other ingredients. Mix well and chill.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Pride goeth before a fall when it's cold

No doubt about it. It's cold out there. And the low temperatures are the talk around every frozen watercooler, around every stalled car and every bowl of hot soup. But instead of fleeing for warmer climes, true Minnesotans stick out their chest and proudly proclaim their Scandinavian heritage, and head outdoors. Not because they know what lutefisk is and burn easily in the hot sun, but because we know few people can endure the below zero-degree Fahrenheit temperatures of northwestern Minnesota.

We, northwestern Minnesotans, are a hearty collection of souls, who are generally reserved and stoic. But when it comes to surviving our extreme weather, sometimes our pride shows. We must be careful to remember that people who are overconfident or too arrogant are likely to fail. As we head out on errands or short trips this weekend, with our heads bent low against strong winds and bitter cold temperatures, proud that our SUVs and pick-up trucks start on the first turn of the key, and we are able to go about our business, remember to take some simple precautions. Don't let pride lead you down dangerous paths. Be prepared for the winter weather. That means making sure your vehicle is in good working order, and you have a winter survival kit inside. Remember, it doesn't take long for frostbite to settle in when temperatures are this low. If you head out on the roads, be prepared for poor road conditions, like ice and blowing snow, and drive appropriately. Sing that mantra the public safety department wants us to remember - "give road plows plenty of room." Make sure people know where you're going and your cell phone is fully charged. And remember, that when stranded in a vehicle, stay in your vehicle, because walking away in a storm is very dangerous; keep calm, and conserve your energy and heat; keep fresh air in your vehicle; keep warm without fuel.

For current road conditions, call the 24-hour statewide recorded road condition information numbers: 1-800-542-0220; 511; or log onto http://www.511mn.org.

As residents of northwestern Minnesota, we can take pride in our ability to survive in extremely dangerous weather. But, remember, pride goeth before a fall. Take precautions.

Annual Food and Wellness Fair on Feb. 6

The Second Annual Food and Wellness Fair will be from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 6, in the Lincoln High School cafeteria. The event will include food booths providing samples of food to consider for next year's school menus and displays from community wellness agencies with information promoting good health.

"We feed the future" is the motto of the Thief River Falls Child Nutrition Program. "Our goal," said Myrna Erickson, director of the Thief River Falls Child Nutrition Program and event chair, "is to provide high quality, nutritious meals to the nearly 2,200 students in the Thief River Falls school district so that they can learn and develop for their future. The Food and Wellness Fair will feature new food items as well as healthier versions of current menu items that students and the public can sample and then give us their opinions. We will make menu decisions based on these evaluations."

"We particularly wanted to make the public aware of the available health and wellness resources that Thief River Falls has," said Erickson. She noted that a variety of community businesses and services will be represented at the fair including the Thief River Falls library, Minnesota Extension Service, Altro and Dakota Clinics, Fitness Expert Rick Karboviak with Speed Dial Coach and several others.

Hands-on activities should add some fun to the fair. Land'D'Lakes has donated ingredients for a milk mustache photo booth. Pepsi will demonstrate new, healthier ala carte and vending choices. The physical education department for the Thief River Falls public schools is sponsoring a Dance-Dance Revolution game.

There will be registration at the door. For more information, please contact Myrna Erickson at the Thief River Falls Child Nutrition Program office, 218-681-8675, or by e-mail at merickson@trf.k12.mn.us.

Water management workshop in Moorhead on February 14-15

Subsurface drainage (tile) systems for agriculture is the topic of upcoming Agricultural Drainage Design and Water Management workshops at Moorhead. The workshops will focus on planning, design, economics, water management, and environmental implications.

The workshops will be Feb. 14 and 15, in the Moorhead Area Conference Center at the Courtyard by Marriott.

The University of Minnesota Extension Service is sponsoring the workshops, in partnership with Iowa State University Extension, North Dakota State University Extension and industry partners.

The annual workshops will feature informative presentations, problem solving examples and lots of discussion time. The workshops are intended for farmers, tiling contractors, landowners, industry and agency staff, crop consultants, and land and water resource managers.

On the first day, participants will learn about the importance of good soil water management from Extension specialists and experienced practitioners. Introductory and planning topics to soil water management will be discussed, including economics, alternative land use options, water quality impacts and fundamental tile drainage design concepts. The second day, participants will experience several hands-on drainage layout and design problems and hear the latest on conservation drainage systems.

An exhibit hall featuring drainage business and industry displays will be available at each location for visiting during workshop breaks.

Pre-registration is required by early February. Beverly "Linda" Baker to share story during Warren Aglow meeting

Warren Aglow will meet Saturday, Feb. 17 at the Warren Community Center in Warren. Refreshments will be served at 9 a.m. The meeting will follow at 9:30 a.m., where Beverly "Linda" Baker will share her incredible story.

Baker was born in North Dakota on a small American Indian reservation to a single parent with 16 siblings. She was raised in an abusive household surrounded by the chaos of alcohol abuse.

Baker left home at the age of 12, after years of physical and mental abuse, to live on her own and in foster homes. She dropped out of school and became pregnant at the age of 15, giving birth to her first child later that year.

By the age of 21, and the mother of two children, Baker had also became an alcoholic. She was unable to see any hope and only a never-ending circle of destruction when she moved to Grand Forks, N.D.

A family member urged Baker to try a local church where she found her true Salvation and the path to happiness. Now a college graduate, business owner and foster parent herself, Baker shares her tragedies and triumphs with anyone who will listen.

National Black HIV/AIDS Awareness Day to be observed February 7

Today, African Americans and African-born people in Minnesota become infected with HIV more often than any other racial or ethnic group, reflecting a national trend. As part of an effort to combat that trend and raise awareness, the seventh annual observance of National Black HIV/AIDS Awareness and Information Day (NBHAAD) will be held Wednesday, Feb. 7.

In a proclamation marking this year's observance, Minnesota Gov. Tim Pawlenty called for all Minnesotans to strongly support NBHAAD and to get involved with initiatives to prevent the spread of HIV/AIDS in the African-American and African-born communities.

Year after year, surveillance reports across the country continue to show that HIV infection rates continue to escalate at an alarming pace among African-American men and women.

Although African-Americans make up around 13 percent of the population of the United States, they represent 49 percent of the total AIDS cases reported in this country, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Every day, 72 African-Americans are infected with HIV in the U.S.

"HIV infection is certainly not an equal opportunity disease when it comes to our African-American and African-born communities," said Peter Carr, director of the STD and HIV Section, Minnesota Department of Health. "Our figures for Minnesota are similar to the nation's, particularly when we look at African-American and African-born women."

Overall, in Minnesota, African-American and African-born populations continued to have higher rates of infection compared to whites in 2005. Statewide rates for African-Americans were nearly 11 times greater than whites and rates for African-born communities were 26 to 37 times greater than whites.

"With these particular communities, the issue is much deeper than simply looking at individual risk behaviors, health care access and knowledge," said Carr. "In order to make any impact on disease rates, we also have to address a host of economic, social and cultural factors."

In a report published last month by the National Minority AIDS Council – a national organization dedicated to addressing HIV/AIDS within communities of color – many of the underlying causes were identified that contribute to higher rates of infection among African-Americans.

Contributing factors cited in the report included limited incomes, lack of insurance, housing conditions, homelessness, cultural stigma, risk of incarceration, and marginalized social status. These factors all impair program effectiveness and play a part in higher infection rates.

"It's important that we make HIV prevention programming and HIV testing opportunities as economically and culturally accessible as possible to these communities," said Carr. "The STD and HIV Section at MDH currently funds 22 programs through 19 agencies aimed at preventing the spread of HIV in adults and young people of all races who inject drugs and/or engage in sexual behaviors that transmit HIV."

Mitchell Davis Jr., director of the Office of Minority and Multicultural Health at MDH, said, "HIV/AIDS affects us all, regardless of gender, racial or ethnic identity, income, or even where we live."

"Unfortunately, the impact of the epidemic is disproportionately high among certain communities – particularly African Americans and other minority populations," Davis said. "Two decades after the first reported case, the face of HIV/AIDS has changed. In this country, it was once thought of as a white, gay, male disease, but the current face of the illness is that of a person of color, generally black. If men were the initial victims, it has now befallen women, especially black women, who represent the fastest-growing group affected."

Last October's Essence magazine provided startling statistics of women living with HIV or AIDS: African-American women (64 percent) Caucasian women (19 percent), Hispanic women (15 percent), Asian women (1 percent), and American Indian women (less than 1 percent).

The Office of Minority and Multicultural Health at MDH provides capacity-building funding to eight community-based organizations to impart knowledge and skills that affect individual abilities and organizational systems (including the community) in the fight to eradicate HIV/AIDS.

Health officials emphasize that there is no cure or vaccine against HIV infection. Latex condoms are highly effective in preventing the spread of HIV. Testing for HIV and early treatment of infected persons will help them to live longer and healthier lives.

The MDH HIV/AIDS Surveillance Report – 2005, which includes data specific for the African-American and African-born communities, can be found on the MDH Web site (www.health.state.mn.us). The MDH Web site also provides information and a calendar of local activities for NBHAAD.

The report by the National Minority AIDS Council, "African Americans, Health Disparities and HIV/AIDS: Recommendations for Confronting the Epidemic in Black America," is available at www.nmac.org/public_policy/4616.cfm.

Information about HIV is also available from the Minnesota AIDS Project (MAP) AIDSLine, 1-800-248-2437. MAP AIDSLine offers statewide information and referral services, including prevention education, HIV risk assessments, HIV testing and referrals to HIV testing sites, as well as community resources and prevention programs that serve the African-American and African-born communities.

For more information on NBHAAD 2007, visit www.blackaidsday.org/ or call 1-888-259-9534. To get more local information about NBHAAD, visit the MDH Web site (www.health.state.mn.us/divs/idepc/diseases/hiv/worldaidsday/nbhaadindex.html).

Dahlstrom to participate in military exchange

Sgt. Jonathan Dahlstrom, 147th Personnel Services Battalion, has been selected as a participant in the 34th Annual Norwegian Exchange. Dahlstrom is a Roseau resident. His parents live in Thief River Falls.

The Norwegian Exchange is a partnership between the Norwegian military and the Minnesota National Guard. Each year, the Minnesota National Guard sends a contingent of approximately 100 troops. They are from both the Army National Guard and Air National Guard, from the lowest enlisted ranks to colonels. The contingent will leave in mid February and train for two weeks.

While in Norway, the Minnesota troops will train with the Norwegians on winter operations. A great deal of the training will consist of cross-country skiing. While the Minnesota contingent is in Norway, there will be a contingent of Norwegian soldiers training in Minnesota.

There are two main parts of the mission. The first part involves the training with the Norwegians and the second part involves the cultural benefits that the soldiers and airmen will take with them for the rest of their lives.

Thief River Falls girls beat International Falls 5-1...

Special teams play part of win

Special teams play helped Thief River Falls beat International Falls 5-1 Tuesday in a Section 8A girls high school hockey game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

The Prowlers scored once on the power play and once shorthanded to complete a home-and-home sweep of the Broncos and improve their record to 8-15.

"We're not moving the puck as well as I would like yet, but we're doing a better job moving our feet, and that created the scoring opportunities," said Thief River Falls coach Corey Poole.

Brooke Rundell scored twice for the Prowlers, while Haleigh Stegeman, McKenzie Kayser and Brittni Johnson added single goals.

Thief River Falls was coming off a road trip that included a 2-1 Friday win over Superior, Wis., and 3-2 Saturday overtime loss at the hands of Duluth East/Central. "We played well against some tough teams on the weekend," noted Poole. "I think those games made us more prepared tonight."

Pressure on the International Falls net resulted in a game-opening goal by Stegeman at 8:23 of the opening period. The sophomore forward was standing uncovered near the side of the crease and had an open corner to shoot at when the puck wound up on her stick.

A 5-on-3 International Falls power play goal tied it as Amanda Bolstad scored from the point at 10:58.

Exactly one minute later Rundell pushed the puck under Broncos goalie Jessica L'Heureux after leading a rush down the ice on the left wing.

The Prowlers did the rest of their scoring in the second period. Kayser converted a centering pass into a 3-1 lead at 8:14; Johnson got a step on the International Falls defense to score during a shorthanded situation at 11:11; and Rundell also slipped behind the Broncos to score her second goal – on the power play – at 14:18.

International Falls was hit with nine of the game's 13 penalties.

Thief River Falls goalie Jade Gothberg made 20 saves. Eighth grader Rachel Wohlford replaced L'Heureux in the International Falls nets following the Prowlers' fifth goal. Together, they stopped 21 shots.

Scoring

First period - TRF, Haleigh Stegeman (Keley Holen), 8:23; IF, Amanda Bolstad (Ashley Bahr), 10:58; TRF, Brooke Rundell, 11:56

Dahl, Petersen lead Freeze by Prowlers

Alycia Dahl (21) and Lacey Petersen (18) combined for 39 points to lead the Northern Freeze past Thief River Falls 61-50 in a Tuesday girls high school basketball game at Newfolden.

Dahl missed the final 3 1/2 minutes after picking up her fifth foul. But Petersen helped turn a then six-point lead into a nine-point victory with her performance at the free throw line – where she was 10-for-10 before finally missing in the final moments when the outcome was no longer in doubt.

"This was a huge win for our kids," said Tom Mjelde, coach of the Section 8A Northern Freeze, who improved to 10-8. "I know they (Prowlers) are down a little this year, but they're still a AAA school, and we just don't get that many opportunities to beat them."

Northern Freeze had a 23-22 halftime edge.

Chelsea Sorteberg and Shawna Rogalla led the 5-12 Prowlers with 16 and 13 points, respectively.

The field goal figures were nearly identical with the Northern Freeze hitting 19 of 47 (40 percent) and the Prowler making 19 of 45 (42 percent). Rebounds were a standoff, too, with Thief River Falls holding a slim 26-25 edge. The difference came at the free throw line and in the turnover department. The Northern Freeze had a 20-for-31 free throw night; the Prowlers were 6-for-13. And Thief River Falls had 20 of the game's 28 turnovers.

"We played well defensively, made our free throws and cut down on our turnovers," offered Mjelde. "We took care of the basketball."

Prowlers shut out third team of the season

Patrick Barry, Matt Olson and Jordan Swanson scored two goals each Tuesday as Thief River Falls shut out host Red Lake Falls 7-0 in boys high school hockey.

Olson picked up both of his goals in the first period, with Barry and Swanson both adding one for a 4-0 cushion.

Second goals by Barry and Swanson made it 6-0 at the second intermission.

Spencer Johnson's goal at the outset of the third period completed the scoring.

A 15-save night gave Thief River Falls goalie Cole Hunt his third shutout of the 2006-07 season.

"We played well," reported Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland.

The win brought the Prowlers back to .500 at 9-9-1.

Eagles fall prey to 3-point shots put up by 'Cats

Kittson County Central's 60 percent 12-for-20 shooting from 3-point range spelled the difference Tuesday as the visiting Bearcats beat Grygla-Gatzke 67-61 in boys high school basketball.

The winners were 9-for-12 on 3-pointers in the first half, resulting in a 39-24 intermission cushion.

Grygla-Gatzke fell behind by 20 points with about 13 minutes remaining before putting together a rally that caught the Bearcats down the stretch. However, a trey by Jeremy Hauert with three minutes left helped switch the momentum back to the visitors. They secured the win by making late-game free throws.

"Our kids battled back," pointed out Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson, "but they (Bearcats) made their free throws at the end, and we missed."

Grygla-Gatzke was 24-for-55 from the field (44 percent), but hit only two 3-pointers. Kittson County Central went 21-for-48 (44 percent). It was an 11-for-17 free throw night for the Eagles and a 13-for-19 showing at the line by the Bearcats. The winners had a slim 20-18 rebound edge. Turnover figures were low: nine for Grygla-Gatzke and eight for Kittson County Central.

The Eagles are 11-5.

MCC 64-42 winner vs. Tri-County

Marshall County Central built a 26-12 first half lead and cruised to a 64-42 Tuesday boys high school basketball win over host Tri-County.

A strong perimeter game supplied by Evan Maki, combined with solid play on the inside from Jordan Anderson, Colby Owens and Andy Kragness, produced the fifth straight win for the 12-5 Nordics. Maki scored a game-high 21 points, while Anderson (16), Kragness (8) and Owens (5) combined for 29 points. Kyle Klasen was in the mix, too, with a 10-point, 9-assist game.

"Our post play was the difference," reported Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen, pointing to their offensive production and the fact they shut down the Wildcats' inside game.

Chase Boen led Tri-County with 14 points.

Marshall County Central enjoyed a 51 percent 21-for-41 shooting night from the field and made 16 of 24 free throw attempts. Tri-County shot just 28 percent from the floor (13/46) and went 15-for-24 at the line.

Owens grabbed 10 rebounds and Anderson had 9 as the Nordics beat the Wildcats on the boards 39-24. Marshall County Central topped the turnover figures 26-17.

Pioneers list names of four who are signed to play volleyball at NCTC

Four Minnesota and North Dakota recruits have signed letters of intend to play volleyball at Northland Community and Technical College in 2007.

Pioneers head coach Lisa Handley announced the signing of Lauren Daniels, a 5-9 outside/right side hitter from Thief River Falls, Justyne Larson, a 5-10 middle blocker out of the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke cooperative, Jenny Fransten, a 5-7 defensive specialist from Hazen, N.D., and Janelle Kyllo, a 5-6 setter from Larimore, N.D.

Fransten is currently attending the University of North Dakota, but said she missed the sport and decided to transfer to a school where she can continue her studies and still be involved in volleyball again.

Kyllo is also returning to the court after a one-year absence. She first attended the University of Mary (N.D.), where she played one season of volleyball before transferring to UND this year.

"I feel each of these players can contribute to our team," said Handley in a short news release. "They will make us stronger and give us some depth. I am looking forward to having them on the floor with our returning players."

The recruiting process is continuing, according to Handley.

Three Thief River Falls youth basketball players were first place finishers in the Minnesota North District Elks Hoop Shoot contest Jan. 28 at Eveleth. The trio includes, from left, Evan Beeson, who made 21 of 25 free throws in the boys 10-11-year-old age group; Lindsay Guzek, who was 20-for-25, along with two tie-breakers, in the girls 12-13 division; and Brooka Yaggle, 20-for-25 in the girls 10-11 group. All three will be Final Four age group entries at the state level Feb. 10 in Hutchinson. Benjamin Wiiebski of Goodridge was second in the boys 8-9-year-old division. (Submitted photo).

Wolverine win total hits double figures

Stephanie Klamar and Justyne Larson both put together double-doubles Tuesday to lead Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke past Fertile-Beltrami 78-46 Tuesday in girls high school basketball.

Klamar scored a career-high 29 points and grabbed 12 rebounds, while Larson came up with 15 points and 13 rebounds. Alisha Verbout surrendered her starting spot due to illness, but still contributed nine points off the bench.

Host Fertile-Beltrami got 11-point game from Alyssa Gullekson and Kali Scherschligt.

The vicory put the Wolverines at 10-8, giving them double figure wins for the first time since a 10-13 finish in 1998-99.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke converted 20 first half Fertile-Beltrami turnovers into a 41-17 lead at the break.

"We pressed them and forced some turnovers," explained Wolverines coach Brent Philipp.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke put up 82 shots, hitting 29 of them (35 percent). The Wolverines were 8-for-16 at the free throw line, where the Falcons went 7-for-14. Final turnover stats showed Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke with 22 and Fertile-Beltrami 37.

Clearbrook-Gonvick beat Red Lake County Central a third time this winter in girls high school basketball Tuesday, 53-43.

The Bears won 66-63 when the two teams met Dec. 4 in the Northland Community and Technical College Invitational and a week later took a regularly-scheduled match-up at Oklee 67-54. This time the game was played in Clearbrook.

The Mustangs were within 22-19 at halftime and trailed just 31-30 in the second half before losing ground.

Jarica Hamnes scored 13 points. Heidi Kjolhaug 11 and Claire Rydeen 10 to lead the Bears, who were 20-for-55 from the field (36 percent) and 8-for-10 at the free throw line. Red Lake County Central outrebounded Clearbrook-Gonvick 37-28, but the Mustangs also had 29 turnovers, compared to 15 for the Bears.

Huskies lose to Eagles

A finishing kick to the first half by East Grand Forks Sacred Heart finished off Goodridge Tuesday as the Eagles beat the Huskies 78-60 in boys high school basketball.

The Huskies started the game with a 9-2 lead. They were within 29-21 with 1:30 remaining in the first half before an 8-0 Sacred Heart run pushed the difference to 37-21 at the break.

"We came out on fire," said Goodridge coach Eric Mickelson. "We let them get away from us at the end of the half. We played a competitive second half, but we were just too far behind."

Alex Kuznia hit four 3-pointers on a 28-point night to lead the Eagles' offense. The Huskies got a strong double-post combination from Nick Mickelson with 17 points and Jordan Anderson with 13. Justin Wiseth added 11 points to the mix.

From the field, Goodridge was 22-for-60 (37 percent) and Sacred Heart was 32-for-67 (48 percent). The Huskies had a 10-for-20 free throw game, the Eagles were 9-for-13. A 24-22 Goodridge rebound edge was erased by the Huskies' 21-12 high figure in the turnover department.

A Three-day Community Fast & Prayer Meeting
Speaker: David W.

Thus saith the spirit of the Lord, for I am sending the sifter to my church as I gather in the harvest. To sift out the religious shows and the religious hype, the religious acts. For I look upon the heart, saith the spirit of the Lord. I see who is fasting, and who is giving and who is praying to me, and who is praying to be seen by man. For I can see the counterfeit and what is real. For I will sift out religion and fill you with holy fire, for my name sake, saith the spirit of the Lord.

Please note: This is a no denominator church event. No offerings will be taken. Bring your own chair. All prophecy 100% guaranteed o words come to pass.

Thank You...

We would like to thank everyone for their support, prayers, cards, memorials and to those who gave flowers. The food that many brought to our house was wonderful. A special thank you to the Tri-County ambulance squad (Middle River), Dr. Sanjay Patel, Northwest Medical Center nurses and staff for the excellent care they gave Lyle. Thank you to Pastor Matz and Darlene, to those who provided music and served lunch at the funeral. We have been overwhelmed with everyone's concern and help through this difficult time.

TRF grad making an impression on Wisconsin coach

Thief River Falls graduate Aaron Bendickson is a first-year member of the University of Wisconsin men's hockey team. With the Badgers preparing for a weekend WCHA series against Colorado College, the following article, written by Todd D. Milewski, appeared in a Tuesday Madison, Wis., publication:

One of the forward line combinations in practice this week features freshman Aaron Bendickson between senior Ross Carlson and freshman Mike Davies.

Wisconsin coach Mike Eaves has been quick to praise Bendickson for his work this season, and he has been one of the true positive surprises for the Badgers.

Putting that line together is a way to put some speed together.

"The thing about 'Bendy,' when you watch tape, you watch the game, you notice him because he can skate," Eaves said. "It gives him an opportunity to skate with a couple of kids that can go, too. We thought we'd try it and see how it looked this week in practice. So far, it's pretty good."

The Badgers are 11-13-2 overall and 8-9-2 in the WCHA where they are trying to move up from their currently sixth place spot.

Bearcats take over in second half of a win vs. No. Freeze

Chelsi Nelson's 5-for-5 second half 3-point shooting led Kittson County Central to a 62-47 Monday girls high school basketball win over the visiting Northern Freeze.

"They shot the lights out of the ball in the second half," said Northern Freeze coach Tom Mjelde, whose team had a 24-19 edge at intermission but were out-scored 43-23 in the second half.

Dana Blomquist scored 19 points, Nelson had 18 and Rachel Noel 12 for the Bearcats, who were 6-for-10 from 3-point range as part of a 42 percent 22-for-53 shooting night.

"We tried to take away the inside away, and I thought we did a pretty good job," explained Mjelde, "but then they started hitting from the outside."

Alycia Dahl scored a game-high 22 points for the Northern Freeze.

It was a 35 percent 19-for-55 shooting night for the Northern Freeze. The visitors were 3-for-9 at the free throw line, where the Bearcats went 12-for-17. The winners had a 37-29 rebound advantage.

Northland's longest winning streak in 21 years reached 14 games Wednesday when the Pioneers got by upset-minded Itasca 77-70 in Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball at Grand Rapids.

The Pioneers stayed atop the MCCC Northern Division with a 7-0 record by completing a home-and-home sweep of the Vikings. Northland won 86-62 when the two teams met in Thief River Falls two weeks earlier.

A 27-point game by freshman guard Kyrk Freeman led the Pioneers' latest effort. Damius Alexander and Brandon Fontes joined him in double figures with 12 and 10 points, respectively.

The Pioneers, who had a 41-32 lead at halftime, couldn't shake the Vikings over the final 20 minutes. Josh Towle led Itasca with 21 points, while Isaiah Farrar and Chris Torh had 14-point games.

Itasca had the edge in the field goal department with a 47 percent 27-for-57 night, compared to Northland's 43 percent 24-for-56 showing. However, the Pioneers cashed in on 23 of 34 free throw opportunities, while the Vikings struggled through an 11-for-21 night at the line.

Northland also had a sizeable 42-18 rebound advantage. Itasca topped the turnover charts 17-16.

The Pioneers host Mesabi Range today (Saturday) at 5 p.m.

Sport suspended for eight days for health reasons...

Wrestling schedules face changes

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

The Guillotine's high school wrestling forum had nearly 600 users online over the noon hour Tuesday and it wasn't to discuss a proposal that would increase the lowest weight class from 103 to 108 pounds. Instead, wrestlers, coaches, fans and parents were dispelling myth from fact as rumors about a state-wide shutdown of wrestling that began showing up on the message board that morning.

At 11:30 a.m., the Minnesota State High School League announced that it was suspending wrestling state-wide for an eight-day period beginning Jan. 30. The state-wide shutdown is due to an outbreak of Herpes Gladiatorum, a skin infection that is caused by the Herpes Simplex type-one virus.

MSHSL officials traced the source of the outbreak to The Clash, an annual wrestling tournament that was held in Rochester Dec. 29-30. The MSHSL stated Tuesday that it is aware of 24 clinically-confirmed cases of Herpes Gladiatorum, all of which involve wrestlers who compete in the 285-, 215- and 189-pound weight classes.

All wrestling practices and competitions were cancelled due to the suspension. Non-contact practices that focus on conditioning will be allowed, with competitions and full-contact practices resuming Wednesday, Feb. 7.

"I think what the state high school league is doing is warranted, but the way its been reported in the media has been blown out of proportion," Head Wrestling Coach Kenny Geiser said of the unprecedented event. "There are people walking around in the public with herpes every day and it's not a life-threatening illness. In my 25 years of involvement with wrestling I've never seen a skin disease. I think we as a team do a good job keeping our mats clean and we've never had to sit a wrestler because of a skin related infection."

For local teams like Thief River Falls, the eight days will give wrestlers a chance to rest existing injuries. It will also mean that coaches will need to design practices that address the demanding conditioning that wrestling requires, while avoiding monotony.

"The biggest thing is making sure kids stay focused," Geiser said. "We have matches on Friday and Saturday next week and sections the following week."

As Geiser alluded to, Thief River Falls has rescheduled some of its matches. Area teams must also choose whether or not to reschedule cancelled competitions as section tournaments approach.

As of Thursday, Feb. 1, Thief River Falls had cancelled all of its remaining, originally scheduled competitions. Those included a Jan. 30 quadrangular meet where the Prowlers would have faced Red Lake County Central and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo; a Feb. 1 triangular meet at Detroit Lakes, vs. the Lakers and Fosston/Bagley Brawlers; Saturday's Northwest Tournament at Fertile-Beltrami; and a Feb. 9 triangular at Moorhead.

To date, the Northwest Tournament has been tentatively rescheduled for Feb. 10. Thief River Falls' dual meets against Red Lake County Central and Fosston/Bagley have been tentatively scheduled for a Feb. 9 triangular meet in Oklee. Another competition may be scheduled for Feb. 7.

The Section 8AA team and individual tournaments will be contested as scheduled on Feb. 13 and 16, and Feb. 23-24, respectively.

Spencer Brandt attains high rank

In the world of martial arts, Spencer Brandt is one of the best, having reached the highest attainable title in the Tae Kwon Do world - Grand Master. He is also an instructor and businessman with connections to Thief River Falls.

Brandt and his wife Cindy, who is a 6th degree master instructor, currently live in Bemidji. Together, they oversee 22 Tae Kwon Do branch schools located in Minnesota, North Dakota and Germany, including Thief River Falls. They make four appearances each year at every school to conduct promotion testing.

A 1986 Perham High School graduate who received his formal introduction to martial arts at the age of 11, Brandt started his own Tae Kwon Do school in his home town at the age of 16.

Being a Grand Master requires having at least a 4th degree black belt (master level) in three martial arts. Brandt recently made his 7th degree Grand Master rank, an extremely impressive accomplishment for any martial artist. In order to attain that level, he first had to reach the master level, a 4th degree black belt, in HapKiDo (art of sweeping, throwing and joint manipulation) and KumDo (art of bamboo, wooden and steel sharp sword).

Spencer Brandt

With the title of Grand Master now bestowed upon him, there are no other titles for Brandt to reach. But he can continue on his education from his current status as a 7th degree black belt to either 8th or 9th degree black belt.

There are very few individuals in the United States who are triple masters like Brandt, who is currently the youngest Grand Master in the world. He is the only American to be inducted into the Chang Moo Kwan Hall of Fame - a honor earned through his high test scores as well as his contributions to and development of Tae Kwon Do as a world sport.

Brandt is an adjunct professor at Bemidji State University, teaching self defense to students through the physical education department. He also works as a civilian contractor, teaching defensive and offensive military combat techniques to a Minnesota Air Assault Unit.

A Greener Shade of Satisfaction

A counterculture of sorts has been growing from behind the frost covered windows of garages and shops across the country. People, craving a youth that included many brands of snowmobiles, have stepped from their poorly lit work benches and into the glare of sunlight rebounding from frozen snow through the windshield of a vintage snowmobile. This is a group of folks who've been around for quite awhile but whose influence only recently caught my eye.

I loved to ride our snowmobile when I was young. I was 14 and needed a little evening respite from the increased expectations of junior high school. My parents had purchased a John Deere 300 for their kids a few years back and so my brother Darrel had beaten most of the speed out of it. I didn't care because I was only allowed to go around the section a few times so I took my time. That snowmobile was good exercise because it lacked electronic ignition so you needed determination more than a key to start it. Most times my face mask caught my panting breath in the form of frost so it was initially opaque and worthless. A few miles of the Braille system and I'd finally see through my face mask. Back in the 1970s, there were more yard lights so the skyline around Viking was a little more exciting. I loved those rides. Busting drifts requires focus and that, mixed with engine noise, quiets the shout of everyday life. The self-determination granted to a young man who chooses where to steer was my first taste of freedom.

I hadn't ridden a snowmobile again until recently. I kind of got the bug to restore our old John Deere last February. I found it in my Dad's shop. The 300 had seen way more grain dust than snow drifts during the past three decades. Several generations of Nelsons had tried to get it going but really succeeded only in losing engine access panels along the way. I was grateful that my dad gave me the snowmobile, but I would soon find out it was equivalent to receiving a free oil spill. The cost would not be in the acquisition but in the resurrection. I tallied it up when I was finally done and the restoration cost about $900. My brother David had sold the snowmobile to my parents back in the mid-1970s for about $750. We both had a good laugh at the cost, only I expressed my laughter in the form of tears.

I've driven the John Deere a little this year. It's equal to the task of transporting me back to the era of "Angel Flight" three-piece suits and smoked glasses, but the weather has failed to meet us even halfway. I've grown frustrated that I can't ride so I did the only thing a man can do and dug myself in even deeper. I recently purchased a black 1974 John Deere JDX-8, which is a hotter version of the 300. My restorations are more like meatball surgery, but I still want things done right. Much like rebuilding last year's John Deere, this year's purchase has been close enough to the funeral pyre to smell smoke, but I've managed to keep working through my frustration. It will soon be ready for the snow or whatever it is you call that rock-hard, gray stuff in the ditches.

Like old cars or aged iron tractors, vintage snowmobiles are as much about restoring your memories as restoring old John Deere's, Arctic Cats, Polaris, Moto-skis or whatever. I think for me it's not so much about a better time but rather remembering a simpler time of busting snow drifts and seeing the beautiful, frosty Viking skyline through my frosted face shield.

Marshall Co. Fair Board seeks input for fair

In an effort to gain as much knowledge as possible to plan the future of its fairgrounds, the Marshall County Fair Board has been traveling to other fairgrounds to conduct site visits.

On Friday, Jan. 19, the board visited the Itasca County Fairgrounds and met with Ron Olcheiser, secretary-treasurer, and Brian Carlson, funding director for the Itasca County Agricultural Society, which operates the Itasca County Fair in Grand Rapids.

Buildings were reviewed for costs, and what worked and didn't work for the board and how funding was attained.

Marshall County is developing a long-range plan for the growth of their fairgrounds in Warren. Dwight Anderson of the Marshall County Fair said, "Any suggestions we can pick up can only serve our board and residents better and make our task run more smoothly. We really appreciate these fair boards taking time to show us around and give us direction on funding."

The Marshall County board was impressed with the beauty of the Grand Rapids grounds from the very start and remarked often about the wonderful trees that set this grounds apart from many in the area.

Winners of the True Grit Award were announced at Ag Arama at the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC) on Saturday, Jan. 29, 2007. The award is the most coveted of all awards at the annual competition, and this year, three students were selected for recognition. From left, Kalli Pulford of Richville, Thor Vettleson of Trail and Gretchen Smaby of Grygla, were this year's recipients. The True Grit Award is dedicated to the memory of Todd Opsahl, a UMC student in 1973-74. Opsahl was extremely active in campus activities, especially in the Ag Division where he studied animal science. Todd's life was cut short by leukemia. In his remembrance, the True Grit award is presented to the student who best demonstrates Todd Opsahl's active participation and encouragement of others. (Submitted photo)

Motorists cautioned to be alert to changing conditions

The Minnesota Department of Transportation is asking motorists to slow down and be alert for changing weather and road conditions as snow and temperatures continue to fall.

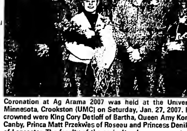
Mn/DOT is asking drivers to be especially alert when approaching intersections and bridges; areas where moisture is in the air and on the road surface can quickly create icy conditions even after a roadway or bridge has been treated with salt and sand, or chemicals.

Drivers are also urged to turn off their cruise control in winter driving conditions, especially when "black ice" might be present. Since cruise control keeps your tires moving, hitting an icy patch can lead to sudden acceleration and loss of control.

Mn/DOT offers these additional safe driving tips for travelers negotiating roadways during winter conditions:

- Turn on your headlights for visibility. Brush snow from your vehicle to keep taillights clear.
- Allow yourself more time to get to your destination.
- Keep a safe distance from plows; don't assume the snowplow operator can see you.
- SLOW DOWN – most collisions are caused by drivers traveling too fast for the conditions.
- Always buckle up!

Mn/DOT reminds motorists to pay attention to weather forecasts, road reports and storm warnings, and to follow travel advisories.



For current weather and road condition information, call 511 or log onto www.511mn.org.

Area students named to president's honor list at NDSCS

The North Dakota State College of Science in Wahpeton has named 422 students to its fall semester 2006 president's honor list. Local honorees include:

- Hallock - Justin Osowski, Diesel Technology
- McIntosh - Benjamin Then, Electrical Technology
- Thief River Falls - Luke Kenner, Caterpillar Dealer Service Technician

The honor list recognizes students who have achieved grade point averages of 3.5 or higher while taking at least 12 credit hours.

Coronation at Ag Arama 2007 was held at the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC) on Saturday, Jan. 27, 2007. Royalty crowned were King Cory Detloff of Bartha, Queen Amy Konradi of Canby, Prince Matt Przekwas of Roseau and Princess Denika Kant of Lancaster. The faculty of the agricultural management division at UMC nominate the candidates and a panel of judges selects the male and female students they feel best reflect the goals and spirit of the UMC Agricultural Management Division. Selection is based on congeniality and involvement in the division along with campus activities. (Submitted photo) healthcare facility you are using.

6. Present the completed voucher to the lodging facility upon your arrival.

Enge encouraged people to use the program, especially if they have to come to Thief River Falls for 6 a.m. medical checkups or treatments. She also encouraged doctors and other healthcare professionals to use common sense and tell patients about the program if they feel patients could use it. If healthcare staff don't tell a patient about the program, Enge encouraged the patient to ask staff about it.

In addition to that portion of the program, free taxi-cab rides are available. Since some individuals may not have transportation to and/or from their healthcare facility, one free round-trip taxi fare per day is available. If the patient were traveling from a lodging facility to a healthcare facility, the lodging facility will call Northland Taxi for the patient. If the patient were traveling from the healthcare facility to the lodging facility, the healthcare facility will call Northland Taxi for the patient.

The NWMC Auxiliary has made the taxi-fare discount available. It agreed to pay up to $500 of its 2007 budget for one round-trip cab ride per day, said CVB Director Diana "Granny" Josephson.

"We realize it's a healthcare issue, and we're here for the community," said Bev Rupprecht, director of volunteer services at NWMC.

Phil McKenzie, chief executive officer of Dakota Clinic in Thief River Falls, noted the clinic feels the same way. "If we can minimize [patients'] costs, we're happy to do that," he said.

Thief River Falls lodging facilities were willing to help out. "I think we got a good response from the motels in Thief River, and they were willing to work with the program," Enge said.

Eddie Duncan, manager of C'Mon Inn in Thief River Falls, said, "If the small businesses and the people can't take care of the community, then we're in trouble."

Other businesses have also helped with the program. Dakota Clinic Pharmacy, Hugo's Family Pharmacy, Thrifty White Pharmacy, Medication Management Services, and S & S Rehab Products Plus contributed money towards the printing cost for program brochures.

The program began after suggestions from Enge and fellow CVB Board member Caryl Bugge. Bugge recalled being at Dakota Clinic at 6 a.m. one day and observing a full parking lot. "You think, 'Where did these people come from?'" she said. While in the waiting room at the clinic, Bugge encountered some people who had woken up at 2 a.m. to make the journey to Thief River Falls.

Enge, who works at the Department of Motor Vehicles in Thief River Falls, waited on the Karlstad resident at her office and asked him what he was doing out and about that day. That conversation, along with Bugge's experience, helped create the Healthcare and Hospitality Program.

For more information about the program, contact the CVB at (218) 681-3720.

New medical clinic opens

and physical exams will also be available.

The Quick Clinic is intended to offer better access to health care and will provide an alternative to costly emergency room care. The basic cost for a Quick Clinic visit is $49, plus lab tests, compared to the $200 basic emergency room visit.

Devra Carlson, director of hospital patient care, said urgent care clinics like the Quick Clinic are new to this part of the state, but they have become popular in metro areas.

"This is a new concept that's taking on a whole life of its own in the (Twin) cities," Carlson said. "Its affordable, its convenient, there's no appointment necessary, you're treated and you go home. And the timing is nice for working people."

Carlson said the clinic is not intended to replace the relationship between a patient and his or her primary care provider. Patients should still see their primary care provider as a first resort. Likewise, emergency care may still be recommended in extreme cases.

"This is something you can come in without an appointment, get treated and go home," Carlson said. "We treat common illnesses and non-complex medical issues. You wouldn't come here necessarily if had multiple, very complex symptoms."

for their cattle. This credit allows cattle owners to claim a credit against their taxes for an amount equal to one half of the expenses incurred to conduct TB testing, offsetting some of the costs they've incurred while shipping their herd. To learn more about the tax credit, visit www.bah.state.mn.us

Northern Minnesota's cattle producers have stepped up to the plate to tackle this problem head-on, knowing that the long-term benefits are worth the sacrifices they must make now. Since bovine TB was detected in Minnesota, more than 132,000 bovine TB tests have been completed. Testing is not cheap, however producers know that it is a necessary step to preserve the state's strong cattle industry and return Minnesota to TB-free status. Hopefully, easing the reimbursement limits and taking advantage of the tax credits can ease just a bit of the burden that they are facing now.

In contrast to emergency housing, transitional housing is for periods up to two years. VIP has two apartments available.

VIP also has a parent-time center, known as the Umbrella Tree. VIP provides supervision at the Umbrella Tree for court-ordered supervised visits. The Umbrella Tree also serves as a site for exchanges between parents and non-custodial parents.

Bentley said there's a good amount of activity at the Umbrella Tree. She also noted that people, who utilize these services come from a wide region.

Outreach and education are also key components of what VIP provides.

VIP advocates for women, children and men. VIP firmly believes in the equality of women and men. To promote equality, they provide advocacy, and education for victims of emotional, mental, physical, and sexual abuse, regardless of age, handicap, race, religion, sex, or sexual orientation. Anyone who seeks assistance from VIP receives advocacy assistance, be it assistance with court orders such as Orders for Protection, or assistance with Social Services, or the WorkForce Center, to name a few options.

These are all the sorts of things, for example, that individuals who are coming out of situations of abuse need for a better life, said Bentley.

In the very near future, VIP will offer support groups for women and teens on domestic violence-related topics. These groups are not therapy groups, she said, but support groups. For more information about either group, contact Bentley or one of her staff at 681-5557.

VIP will also make referrals. Bentley said she's thankful for her experienced staff, and the good working relationship that exists in the region between many groups, such as the Crime Victims Service Advocates, and legal assistance for northwest Minnesota and law enforcement centers throughout the region. They are all dedicated to serving the needs of victims of domestic violence.

For additional information about Violence Intervention Project, please call 681-5557.

The board of directors for Violence Intervention Project met recently in Thief River Falls. Members of the board include: (front row, from left) Danica Robson, Royella McBain, and Betty Knoll, (back row) Jenni Eriksen-Lane, Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hurby, and Executive Director Sendi Bentley. Members of the board of directors who were not present included Jodi Mutnansky and DeeAnn Leines. The board of directors would like to hear from people in the region about the services it offers so that effective planning can be done.

What do you do on a cold day? Read, of course!

"Ice Cream Bear" was quickly selected as the book to read for Michael Benedict, a team captain for the Prowler Hockey Team. Benedict and members of the Prowler Hockey team visited Challenger Elementary School on Wednesday, Feb. 7, to read to children. Benedict and members of the Prowler Hockey team participated in an "I Love To Read" event at the school. Volunteer Coordinator Maryfran Twistol said the hockey players are role models for many children at the school, so if the children see that the Prowler Hockey Team players enjoy reading, then reading will be important to them, too. "That's what's so exciting about this," said Twistol. The event was held in conjunction with Wild About Reading. In an effort to promote the importance of reading to students in grades 1-6, and to give them an incentive to read outside the classroom, the Minnesota Wild has developed the "Wild About Reading" Program.

Making money out of garbage in Hallock

Hallock - "The Mar-Kit Landfill east of Hallock is projecting $1.8 million in revenue in 2007. While not all of that is garbage, the bulk of revenue does come from trash.

"Even though the revenue numbers may seem high, Mar-Kit Manager Dale Nelson was quick to state the expenses for 2007 are high as well, coming in at $2.3 million."

"So what's with all the garbage at the Mar-Kit Landfill, and where does it all come from?

"Beginning this January, the landfill increased its average tons per day from 100 tons to 160 tons. Nelson attributes this to the extra trash brought by some new haulers, namely Pennington County. ... In addition, the Red Lake Reservation also changed landfills and established its own contract with Mar-Kit." - Kittson County Enterprise, Feb. 7, 2007

Marshall County buys motor grader

Warren - "Purchase of a new motor grader and proceeding with a road-widening project were among actions taken by the Marshall County Board of Commissioners at its meeting Tuesday.

"Bids received under the state cooperative purchasing agreement for a motor grader with snow removal equipment were from Ziegler Inc., $181,775.27, for a Caterpillar 140H low-hour motor grader, and RDO Equipment company, $176,575.40, for a low-hour 870D motor grader. Evaluation of the bids and consideration of repurchase prices in the bids and trade-in allowance determined that the bid from Ziegler was the best bid. The board authorized contracting to purchase the motor grader and equipment from Ziegler Inc." - Warren Sheaf, Feb. 7, 2007

A soldier surprises his brother with a visit

Grygla - "Tyler Olson, a member of the National Guard's Bravo Company out of Crookston, made a surprise visit to his brother Zach Dunrud last Friday.

"What made the surprise all the sweeter is that Tyler has been stationed in Iraq since March 2006."

Tyler was home on a one-week leave." ... Along with his wife, Cassie, he traveled to Grygla to unexpectedly drop in on his brother during Zach's intramural basketball game on Friday."

"Zach was so surprised to see Tyler he left one of his shoes behind in his excitement. The brothers had a good visit, albeit much too short." - The Grygla Eagle, Feb. 8, 2007

Puppet show looks at disabilities

Greenbush - "The Greenbush-Middle River elementary school students were visited by three visitors this last week."

"Their names are Mitch, Carmen and Corey ... and they are puppets.

"These puppets played an important part in the Count Me In puppet show, which was performed by a team of five trained volunteer eighth grade students.

"Obtained through a grant-funded program, each of the puppets has a disability – learning, epilepsy and Down Syndrome." - The Tribune of Greenbush, Feb. 7, 2007, by Marys Gonthorowski

Arctic Cat eliminates 65 positions

Arctic Cat announced a workforce reduction Thursday. Approximately 65 positions are being eliminated, effective immediately, primarily in Thief River Falls. A press release from the company doesn't indicate which types of positions are being eliminated.

As of press time Friday, Tim Delmore, Arctic Cat's chief financial officer, hadn't returned phone calls from the Northern Watch seeking information pertaining to the eliminated positions and whether the reduction is related to its new plant in St. Cloud.

The reduction is being made in order to lower the company's cost structure and align resources with current business conditions, according to the press release.

"This was not an easy decision, but it reflects the realities of the current industrywide market conditions, particularly for sales of snow-related products," said Chris Twomey, chairman and chief executive officer. "We are right-sizing the business to lower our cost structure, strengthen our profitability and increase our long-term competitiveness. We continue to be excited about the snowmobile market and plan to keep investing in this profitable business at levels that allow us to develop innovative new products and improve distribution but also more realistically reflect the current size of the market."

The eliminated positions represent less than 4 percent of Arctic Cat's 1,800 employees. The company doesn't expect any material financial impact related to this announcement in its fiscal fourth quarter ending March 31.

Housing tops list of issues in region

Cities approve plan on developing housing

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

The stage has been set for more housing and more workers in northwest Minnesota.

Twenty-one local city and business representatives gathered Jan. 31 at Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls to look at a draft work plan detailing how additional housing will be developed in northwest Minnesota. The plan also details how the group wishes to recruit workers for jobs in this region.

To implement this plan, eight northwest Minnesota cities have agreed to participate in the Community Growth Partnership. The city councils of Middle River, Newfolden, Oklee, Plummer, Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire, Thief River Falls and Warren have passed resolutions or plan to pass resolutions in favor of joining the partnership and contributing money towards it. They have agreed to pay a per-capita amount for the first two-year period of the partnership. Over the initial two-year period, the cities will contribute a total of $26,810.

In addition to the cities, the partnership will include financial and non-financial partners. Northwest Private Industry Council has already agreed to contribute $3,000 for one year. The partnership will also seek funding from foundation and governmental grant programs.

REA has new marketing panel

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

The Thief River Falls City Council has approved a marketing panel for Ralph Engelstad Arena. As part of its creation of the marketing panel, the council also approved the appointment of five individuals to serve on that panel. Also with regard to REA, the council approved hiring someone to fill a vacant full-time parks/arenas maintenance position.

Marketing panel

The council approved the panel by a vote of 7-0. Council member Emery Lee was absent from the meeting.

The marketing panel, which the council had referred to in the past as a marketing advisory board, will have five members. They include Joel Hallstrom, snowmobile product manager at Arctic Cat; John Tranby, marketing communications manager at Arctic Cat; Tony Harris, director of Internet marketing at Digi-Key; former mayoral candidate Jay Larsen, operations analyst at Northwest Medical Center; and Jodi Mutnansky, who works in community relations/communications for NWMC. Mayor Steve "Beaver" Nordhagen had recommended those candidates to the council at its Committee of the Whole meeting on Jan. 23.

"I think this would be a tremendous group to get us started in the right direction," said Nordhagen, who noted the group has met with Dale Wennberg, marketing and events coordinator for REA and the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

"It's a diverse group, and I think we can do some great things for the community," Harris said.

Even though the council has approved the appointments, it may decide at a later date to add at least one other person to the panel. Council member Elvera Cullen noted that most city advisory boards have a council member who also sits on the advisory board. "People can think about it," she said. The council didn't make a decision about Cullen's suggestion.

Shortly after Cullen's suggestion,

24-unit complex may be in TRF's future

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Another apartment building may be constructed this year in Thief River Falls.

Harold Jesh of Sauk Rapids is looking at properties in Thief River Falls to build a 24-unit market-rate apartment building. "I'm just really impressed with your community," said Jesh, who owns the housing development firm Harold A. Jesh LLC. That firm is based in Sauk Rapids.

Jesh said the project would start as soon as he finds available land that would suit the apartment complex he wishes to build. He hopes to have the complex available to tenants by the end of this year.

Jesh decided to build an apartment building here after doing research in late summer 2006 and early fall 2006. During that time, he came upon the city of Thief River Falls' housing study. The housing study indicates "market potential exists for the creation of between 55 and 75 general occupancy market-rate [rental] units over our five-year project period." The study was completed in 2005.

Jesh also came upon information about Arctic Cat and Digi-Key. He then called Thief River Falls Community Development Director Mike Moore, with whom he has been in frequent contact. Jesh toured the city Oct. 18.

At the Jan. 23 meeting of the Thief River Falls Planning Commission, Moore told commission members that Jesh has talked about having a 24-plex every year for four years. Moore told commission members that Jesh has 30 or 40 developments around the state.

Essentia and Dakota in discussions

Dakota Clinic - TRF may not choose to participate in merger

The governance boards of Essentia Health and Dakota Clinic/Innovis Health have approved a letter of intent to explore options for enhancing the delivery of health care for residents of northern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota. The main focus of this document details elements for a possible integration with Dakota Clinic/Innovis Health with Essentia Health.

Responding to the letter of intent, Richard Heinrichs M.D., president of Dakota Clinic - Thief River Falls, indicated that the Thief River Falls division of Dakota Clinic will explore all options to guarantee the continuation of the highest quality medical care for the region. He indicated that the Thief River Falls group may choose not to participate in the potential merger of the two large health care organizations.

"We believe the health care interests of Thief River Falls and northwest Minnesota may be best served through more local physician-directed health care decisions," said Heinrichs. "In the coming months, we will be carefully analyzing the potential merger with Essentia as

Medication management offered by new business

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Some patients may be confused as to why they're taking particular medications. Those patients now have an additional ally in their corner.

Pharmacist Jan Pederson started Medication Management Services three months ago. The Thief River Falls resident provides medication therapy management.

Pederson receives referrals from physicians, but anyone can call her if they have questions pertaining to their prescriptions. She mainly works with patients who have multiple disease states and those who take multiple medications.

While meeting with a patient, Pederson reviews the patient's charts and laboratory results. Pederson determines whether the patient is taking the correct doses of his or her particular medications. She also makes sure that none of the patient's prescriptions clash with one another. She also helps the patient understand his or her medications better.

Jan Pederson

Pederson then reports to the patient's physician a summary of what she did and what she talked about with the patient. She also makes a recommendation. Pederson doesn't make any changes to the patient's prescriptions or the dosages of those prescriptions.

Recipes for cold weather are on the agenda today - you'll love them all:

Want a hot dish for supper tonight? You don't need a box. Make this one in just a short while:

CHEESY BEEF & NOODLES

1 pound ground beef
4 cups uncooked wide egg noodles
1 (28 ounce) can diced tomatoes, undrained
1/2 cup water
1/4 cup diced celery
1/4 cup whole kernel corn
1 envelope onion soup mix
1 garlic clove, minced
1 cup shredded processed cheese (like Velveeta)

In large skillet, cook beef over medium heat until no longer pink. Drain and add noodles, tomatoes, water, celery, corn, dry soup mix and garlic. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat, cover and simmer 20 minutes until noodles are tender.

Remove from heat and sprinkle with cheese. Cover and let stand 5 minutes or until cheese is melted.

How about a nice hot soup on these cold days - this one is delicious, made special with pecans, can you believe:

CREAMY WILD RICE SOUP

4 cups water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup uncooked wild rice
3 tablespoons chopped green onions
1/4 cup shredded carrot
3 tablespoons chopped pecans
6 tablespoons butter
1/3 cup flour
2 (14-1/2 ounces each) cans chicken broth
1/2 cup diced cooked ham
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup half and half

In large saucepan, bring water and salt to a boil. Add rice, reduce heat and simmer 50-55 minutes until rice is tender. Remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes. Drain and set aside.

In Dutch oven or soup kettle, sauté onion, carrot and pecans in butter for 1-2 minutes. Stir in flour well and then gradually add chicken broth. Bring to a boil, cook and stir for 2 minutes or until thickened.

Add ham, pepper and wild rice. Cover and simmer 5 minutes, until carrots are tender. Reduce heat and add cream. Heat through but do not boil. Recipe serves 8.

Use your bread machine to make the dough for these delicious accompaniments to the above dishes:

BRAN ROLLS

1 cup water (70-80 degrees)
1/2 cup shortening
1 egg
1/3 cup sugar
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup bran flakes
1-1/2 cups bread flour
1-1/2 cups wheat flour
2-1/4 teaspoons active dry yeast
1 egg white, lightly beaten

In bread machine, place all ingredients in order suggested by machine. Select dough setting and begin to process. Check dough after a couple of minutes, adding flour or 1-2 teaspoons water as needed.

When dough cycle is completed, turn dough on lightly floured surface and punch down. Cover and let rest 10 minutes, then divide into 14 pieces and roll each into a rope.

Tie in knot, pinching ends and tucking them underneath place on greased sheets, cover and let rise in warm place until doubled, about 45 minutes. Brush with egg white and bake at 375 degrees for 15-20 minutes or until golden. Makes 14 rolls. Nutritional Info: Each roll contains 181 calories, 8 g fat, 15 mg chol, 134 mg sodium, 25 g carb, 2 g fiber, 4 g protein. Diabetic Exchange is 1 1/2 starch and 1 fat.

Dessert is something irresistible that you will love - better than those peanut bars you buy:

PEANUTTY-MARSMALLOW BARS

1 cup chopped salted peanuts
3/4 cup flour
3/4 cup quick cooking oats
2/3 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 egg, lightly beaten
1/3 cup cold butter
Topping:
1 (7 ounce) jar marshmallow crème
2/3 cup caramel ice cream topping
1 3/4 cups salted peanuts

In bowl, combine first 6 ingredients. Stir in egg. Cut in butter until crumbly. Press into greased 9x13 inch baking pan and bake at 350 degrees for 8-10 minutes or until lightly browned.

Spoon marshmallow creme over hot crust, carefully spreading evenly. Drizzle with caramel topping and sprinkle with peanuts. Bake 15-30 minutes more or until lightly browned. Cool on wire rack before cutting. Makes 3 dozen bars.

Hibbert ready for competition in New York

Submitted

Tucker Hibbert is ready to put his Monster Energy/Arctic Cat on top of the podium at the Eastern National in New York and has a winning record to back him up. Hibbert, still on a high from taking home the gold medal at ESPN's Winter X Games 11, has competed in six pro finals at New York, banking four wins and two second place finishes.

"I'm bringing a lot of momentum into this race and am confident that I can put my Monster Energy/Arctic Cat on top of the podium again!" said Hibbert. "The entire team has been working so hard this year and we proved that at the Winter X Games. I'm looking to ending my snocross season on a high note. New York has been good to me. I've had a lot of success here and hope to add another win to my record this weekend."

Hibbert has been on a winning streak since round two of the World PowerSports Association Snowmobile Tour. At the Polaris BIR Championship, Hibbert swept the pro stock class adding two more wins to his already impressive resume. At his next event, ESPN's Winter X Games, Hibbert put in another stellar performance to capture his second gold medal.

This race will mark Hibbert's fifth and final snocross event of the season. On Feb. 24 he will begin his supercross season at round one of the American Motorcyclist Association Supercross East Coast Series in Atlanta, Ga.

Hibbert ready for competition in New York

Submitted

Tucker Hibbert is ready to put his Monster Energy/Arctic Cat on top of the podium at the Eastern National in New York and has a winning record to back him up. Hibbert, still on a high from taking home the gold medal at ESPN's Winter X Games 11, has competed in six pro finals at New York; banking four wins and two second place finishes.

"I'm bringing a lot of momentum into this race and am confident that I can put my Monster Energy/Arctic Cat on top of the podium again," said Hibbert. "The entire team has been working so hard this year and we proved that at the Winter X Games. I'm looking to ending my snocross season on a high note. New York has been good to me. I've had a lot of success here and hope to add another win to my record this weekend."

Hibbert has been on a winning streak since round two of the World PowerSports Association Snowmobile Tour. At the Polaris BIR Championship, Hibbert swept the pro stock class, adding two more wins to his already impressive resume. At his next event, ESPN's Winter X Games, Hibbert put in another stellar performance to capture his second gold medal.

This race will mark Hibbert's fifth and final snocross event of the season. On Feb. 24, he will begin his supercross season at round one of the American Motorcyclist Association Supercross Lites East Coast Series in Atlanta, Ga.

Rural Reflections

Grant Nelson

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

Failed Perfection

Guys and their activities are pretty much the same. We like to build, use tools, talk like were channeling Bob Vila and then rage when our projects fall short of our expectations. We're a bit dull as a group, unless observed from a vantage that shows us in the best light. You certainly won't learn anything from us but you may learn something from the results of our efforts.

My wife, Lisa, recently returned from the hospital to rest and heal. I am less than helpful in these situations, so I planned a project in our basement during this time. I moved our water filter upstairs and plumbed it into our system. I did pretty well and was proud of the neat watertight job I'd performed. I was proud of my perfect work but should have realized that pride was a sure sign I would soon fall. All that work was derailed when I put the final two fittings on backwards. I realized this only after the glue had set and I almost got sick to my stomach. I was so frustrated I felt physically ill. In the end, it took me only a few minutes to fix the problem after I'd calmed down and Lisa had smoothed my fettered brow. It wasn't perfect but it did hold water.

Kurt Nelson and I were talking at work this week. Kurt feels my same anxious comfort when he attempts a job with one too many skill levels. Kurt decided he would build a fish house but would seek perfection more than shelter. He made a strong, square frame that worked very well for him. He started to cover the structure only to experience the sick desperation of a man with cotton skills working on a silk project. His structure was superior, but the outside of the fish house didn't meet Kurt's own expectations. He said he was so frustrated that he lay on his basement floor while his wife sat in uncomfortable silence on a five-gallon bucket. Kurt and I both decided that he probably didn't have the skills to make this fish house perfect and that the only resolution to this problem was to swallow the fact and mush on. The fish house will not be perfect, but it will be solid.

Life is a lot like these two scenarios. Our parents teach us honesty, morals, kindness and loyalty, which create a good framework for our lives. As adults, we seek to cover that framework with perfection in our jobs, our relationships and even our bodies. Many times, we fall short of our own expectations and it really hurts (me with the sick stomach, Kurt lying on the floor.) In the end, it's the unseen framework of honesty, morality and loyalty that support our lives and not the façade in which we cover it. The solid framework of life patiently waits as we seek to cover it in failed perfection. People, their dreams and their lives don't always connect perfectly. Our bodies sag and fatten, our jobs become a little tedious but none of it matters. In the end, we mush on, rely on the good stuff and live with our failings.

So I'm a failed but successful plumber and Kurt is the same as a builder. I wonder if Kurt needs a water filter installed in that fish house? I bet I know the perfect guy to do it.

Happy 50th Anniversary

Nelson is the director, having served in this capacity for 16 years. The repertoire of the choir is eclectic in style, including sacred classics, hymn arrangements, and energetic spirituals both accompanied and acappela. The school's Men's Quartet will be traveling with the choir. The Dean of AFLBS, Rev. Joel Rolf, will travel with the choir.

Michael Benedict, a Prowler Hockey captain, reads to Mrs. Nancy Skeim's first grade class at Challenger Elementary School in Thief River Falls. Benedict and other members of the hockey team read to students at the school on Feb. 7. The event emphasized the importance of reading.

Housing tops list of issues

regarding the enthusiasm and commitment of the area communities and what they hopefully see as the end result of this," said Thief River Falls Community Development Director Mike Moore.

The Community Partnership grew out of a series of community summits held last year in Thief River Falls. It is now formalizing its plans through a memorandum of agreement and a draft work plan.

The draft work plan details what the partnership will accomplish. The plan indicates three surveys will be completed about housing.

One survey will identify such things as rental rates, apartment amenities, types of apartments in the apartment complexes, and contact information for apartment managers in each community. Digital photos of the apartment complexes will also be included.

A similar survey will be conducted to determine single-family housing in this area. That survey will list such things as current housing developments, lot sizes, and infrastructure availability. It will also include contacts for the rental of single-family homes.

Another survey will require a consultant to survey each community and describe the condition of housing in the community. A digital photo will be taken of each housing development as well.

The draft work plan also indicates that each community will be required to create or select a housing task force. Each task force will be comprised of local residents from each particular community. Each task force will determine "the most basic wants" of its specific community. "Where are you going to develop? What are you going to develop?" Moore asked local city representatives in reference to what the task forces would determine. Those "wants" would then give the partnership a set of criteria from which to work.

An area-wide Web site will also be developed. It will contain the housing survey about apartments as well as information about single-family housing in each community. The Web site will also list the incentive packages available from each community. It will feature links to various area manufacturers, local schools, Northland Community and Technical College, the Workforce Center, local realtors and others.

A consultant, either in the form of a person, firm or organization, will walk each community through this process, Moore said. The consultant will also work with the manufacturing, education and development sectors in each community to share and provide information to develop more housing and a larger labor force in this region.

In terms of labor training, the draft work plan indicates the partnership will:

• "Work with area public schools to develop innovative programs, such as Project Lead the Way or Math Works, that emphasize skills, ultimately matching those skill sets for the 'in-demand' occupations of local employers;

• Work with NCTC to further its current efforts via the Center for Outreach and Innovation;

• Work with the Minnesota WorkForce Center to further the mechanisms and processes to upgrade and provide training for under-employed workers;

• Collaborate with the NPIC and the Minnesota WorkForce Center to develop career ladder programs for all workers."

As part of labor force recruitment/marketing, the draft work plan indicates the partnership "will focus on youth and schools, creating an awareness of what manufacturing jobs are today." That awareness will include such things as the technical nature of manufacturing jobs, the type of equipment used, and the skills needed.

In terms of labor force recruitment/marketing, alumni will be notified of the variety of jobs here, the pay scale and fringe benefits. They will also be reminded about the quality of life in this region. About this type of recruitment, Moore said, "It needs to be on an ongoing basis." He added that a letter every 10 years for an all-school reunion isn't going to cut it.

Besides that effort to recruit alumni, the draft work plan talks about creating an awareness campaign to inform others about jobs that are available in this region. Those individuals include both residents living here and elsewhere.

Pennington Co. investigates death of men

Pennington County Sheriff's Department is investigating the deaths of two area men.

At 10:03 a.m. on Jan. 31, 2007, Pennington County Sheriff's Department received a request for assistance from Lonnie Longtin, 19469 180th Street Southeast, Plummer, who called to express concern about the health of his son Wade, 22. Upon investigation, it was discovered that Wade had fallen in the bathroom and was deceased. Pennington County Sheriff's department stated that there was no obvious cause of death.

On Jan. 5 at 4:03 p.m. the Sheriff's Department received a call from a resident of Goodridge who reported that his neighbor was laying in the snow outside of his residence. David Marwitz, 51, Goodridge, was found dead of unknown causes outside of his residence. An autopsy has been ordered.

Both incidents remain under investigation.

Three people injured after head-on collision Thursday

Three people were injured after a head-on collision Thursday afternoon one mile east of Salol.

Wallace J. Geisenhof, 67, Williams, was taken to Roseau Area Hospital and then life-flighted to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D., according to the Minnesota State Patrol report. His wife, Wendy G. Geisenhof, 68, was also life-flighted to Altru Hospital. They were listed in serious condition Friday morning, an Altru nursing staff member said.

Berdinya J. Novak, 33, unknown city, was also injured in the crash. She was treated and released from Roseau Area Hospital, the State Patrol report indicated.

At the time of the accident, Novak was driving a 1996 Jeep Grand Cherokee westbound on Highway 11, and Wallace Geisenhof was driving an Oldsmobile Cutlass eastbound on Highway 11. According to the report, Novak attempted to turn left onto County State Aid 13. Her vehicle then collided with the Geisenhof vehicle. Novak's vehicle came to a rest on its side in the eastbound ditch, and Geisenhof's vehicle came to a rest on its wheels in the eastbound shoulder. Wendy Geisenhof was a passenger in Wallace Geisenhof's vehicle. Novak and the Geisenhofs were wearing their seat belts.

Both vehicles were totalled. The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 4:49 p.m. Thursday.

A student at Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls tests a snack at the Second Annual Food and Wellness Fair. The event, which was conducted in the cafeteria of Lincoln High School, allowed students to test a variety of food samples provided by vendors. The students then filled out evaluation forms and the information will be used to prepare next year's school menus.

When feeding deer hurts all of us

During the bovine tuberculosis meeting in Thief River Falls recently, Minnesota Department of Natural Resource officials reminded area residents of the deer feeding ban. It's one element of the plan to help Minnesota regain its TB-free status, and it's worth a try.

According to the news release issued when the ban was announced, "grains, fruits, hay, vegetables, nuts and other food that is capable of attracting deer or elk may not be placed or distributed within the area. The ban does not apply to liquid scent, salts, minerals or food present resulting from normal agricultural practices, forest management or wildlife food-planting practices (food plots). Food for small animals or birds must be placed at least six feet above the ground or in a manner that excludes deer and elk. The DNR strongly recommends landowners and others to remove any supplemental deer feed already in place."

The economic consequences of bovine tuberculosis on the livelihood of ranchers is significant. Testing isn't cheap, nor is the loss of time and effort put in to testing inexpensive. Additionally, if tuberculosis is found in your herd, the herd is destroyed. And for those whose herds are found in close proximity to the infected herds, or you live in a state that has lost its TB-free status, there are restrictions on trade.

The Board of Animal Health reminds us that thanks to preventative measures, bovine TB poses little risk to human health. The United States has actively pursued a bovine TB eradication program since 1917, which along with food safety initiatives such as milk pasteurization and slaughter surveillance, have all but eliminated TB infections in people caused by bovine TB.

Nevertheless, it's clear that measures need to be taken to protect the future of the cattle industry, and the health of the deer herd in Minnesota.

The discovery of more bovine TB-infected cattle operations and deer in 2006 prompted the DNR to start reducing deer numbers in highly localized areas. They believe that doing so will minimize the chance that the disease will begin to spread through deer-to-deer or deer-to-livestock contact. A reduction in the size of the deer herd will result, but the outcome - a TB-free state - is much more attractive and profitable than the current situation.

The Minnesota State Cattlemen's Association and Minnesota Deer Hunter's Association are also concerned and have pledged their cooperation. These organizations are right to be concerned, and should expect and receive cooperation of their members in eliminating a serious problem. It does and will affect their future.

During the meeting, one astute resident pointed out that the deer feeding ban resulted in deer foraging for feed with cattle. Use of state land and deer feeding plots on their land would eliminate the problem.

The DNR discourages deer feeding, but the practice continues to take place. It's understandable when one understands that people who like to hunt deer want to protect a healthy deer herd. Of course, there are individuals out there who don't hunt, but like to see deer in the wild and will feed them so that they survive our harsh winters. And in fact, the DNR has supported deer feeding during severe winters. Perhaps more needs to be done to encourage the development of sustainable food plots.

At the conclusion of this meeting, DNR officials said they would begin fly-overs of this area to determine where deer feeding is taking place. Armed with that information, they would then begin enforcing the deer feeding ban. It may be too late for those of you who ignored the ban. More than likely, the penalty will cost much less than the economic impact on area ranchers and the future economic health of small communities during deer hunting season. Hopefully, it will be enough to discourage the practice of feeding deer. The action taken is in the best interest of all Minnesotans.

Meth offender information now available online

The Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension has unveiled a new Web site with information about offenders convicted of manufacturing methamphetamine – a dangerous and highly addictive illegal drug. In July 2006, Gov. Tim Pawlenty ordered creation of the Web site to help provide information to the public about the threat of meth in communities throughout Minnesota. The Web site is available at https://mor.state.mn.us.

Users of the Web site can search for people convicted of manufacturing meth or possessing substances with the intent to manufacture meth. Users can search by county or last name. The information provided, which includes name, date of birth, meth manufacturing convictions and sentencing information, comes from the state's computerized criminal history system.

"Over the past several years, we've been implementing a comprehensive, long-term solution for combating methamphetamine in Minnesota. The meth offender Web site is another piece of that plan," said Tim O'Malley, BCA superintendent.

A big part of the overall strategy was a 2005 law that requires stores to keep products containing pseudoephedrine behind pharmacy counters, O'Malley said. Pseudoephedrine is the main ingredient in meth and restricting access to these products has significantly reduced the number of meth labs in Minnesota. There was a 70 percent decline in reported meth labs between 2004 and 2006. A total of 212 were reported in 2004 and 64 in 2006.

"We know that all methamphetamine labs are dangerous. They put children, neighbors, innocent citizens, firefighters, police officers and other first responders at great risk. They pollute our environment with toxic waste," said O'Malley. "It's important that the public be aware of people in their communities who are a threat to public safety."

In the future, additional information about meth dealers and other offenders may become available on the Minnesota Methamphetamine Offender Registry Web site, depending on enhancements to the criminal history database. The site currently includes a link to search the public criminal history files for additional information.

NCTC students to rally at State Capitol for lower tuition

The Student Senate at the Northland Community and College – Thief River Falls campus will be joining over 5,000 students from Minnesota's two-year colleges at "Rally Day" on Wednesday, Feb. 14, at the State Capitol in St. Paul. The purpose of the rally is to stress to legislators the challenges posed by high tuition rates and increasing student debt loads.

The Student Senate is surveying the students at the Thief River Falls campus to see what their total debt will be upon their graduation from NCTC. The survey information will be tallied on Friday, Feb. 9. This information will be compiled and submitted to legislators during the Student Sentate's visit at the State Capitol on Wednesday.

Rally Day was organized by the Minnesota State College Student Association (MSCSA), an organization representing over 100,000 students attending public two-year community, technical, and comprehensive colleges in Minnesota.

Minnesota Quality Deer Management Inc. plans rally Feb. 24

It has been a few years now that Minnesota Quality Deer Management Inc. organized. MQDM is a nonprofit organization doing its best to educate people on several biologically sound aspects of the whitetail deer. The organization believes that several changes have been made because of the efforts of its members. The organization's number one goal is to have a well balanced, healthy whitetailed deer herd here in Minnesota.

To celebrate some of its success, the organization will host a rally at 1 p.m. on Feb. 24, at the Cactus Bar in Perham. There will be educational booths set up. Organizers of the event encourage everyone to come for a good time. Bring deer jawbones and have them aged, owners may be surprised at the age of the deer in the area.

Two more children with influenza die

The Minnesota Department of Health announced Thursday that two additional Minnesota children with influenza have died. The deaths, together with that of an 8-year-old Ramsey County boy last week, bring Minnesota's total to three.

The additional deaths occurred in another 8-year-old and a 17-month-old. One of the additional cases resided in the Twin Cities metropolitan area, and one in Greater Minnesota. All three children became ill between Jan. 18 and Feb. 1, and subsequently died. None of the children who died had been vaccinated for influenza; all three had the influenza A (H1) strain of the virus.

"We are deeply saddened by these deaths and our sympathies go out to the families of these children," said Minnesota Health Commissioner Dianne Mandernach. "While these deaths do not necessarily suggest that there is anything unusual about this season's flu, they serve to underscore that influenza always has the potential to be a very serious illness, even a killer. The best way to protect against influenza is through vaccination. It's not too late."

Although influenza is a serious illness, flu-related deaths are uncommon in children, according to Kristen Ehresmann, section chief for immunizations for MDH. Most flu deaths occur in older people, or people with underlying medical conditions. But unfortunately, children do sometimes die of the flu.

The number of pediatric flu deaths in Minnesota can vary from one season to the next. Some years, there may be several flu deaths in children. In other years, there may be none at all. Nationwide, there has not been an uncommonly high number of flu deaths in children. So far this year, 13 children have died of the flu, including Minnesota's three. "That's still 13 too many – but unfortunately, that's not an unusual number," Ehresmann said.

Minnesota has had an increasing number of flu outbreaks in schools recently, and the number of reported outbreaks is higher than in recent years. MDH has received reports of 224 influenza outbreaks in schools this season; 190 (85 percent) were reported within the past three weeks. By comparison, 199 school influenza outbreaks were reported during the entire 2005-2006 season.

"However, the number of outbreaks is still not more than we might expect to see in a year with increased flu activity," Ehresmann said. Recent years have been relatively mild for flu overall.

"If there can be any good news in something like this, it would be that the predominant strain that is out there is the H1 strain that is well matched to the vaccine this season," Ehresmann said. "Getting children – or anyone – vaccinated now would still provide protection for the rest of the season. Influenza disease is currently widespread in Minnesota; however, we may not yet have reached our peak."

Vaccine in the state is reported to be in good supply, health officials said. Those seeking flu shots should be able to get them. People interested in being vaccinated should contact their healthcare provider, their local public health agency, or check the Minnesota Department of Health website at www.mdhflu.com and click on Find a Flu Shot Clinic.

Besides getting vaccinated, thorough, frequent hand washing, using soap and water or an alcohol-based hand sanitizer, is also a very effective defense against influenza.

Influenza is spread when people who have the illness cough or sneeze, expelling tiny droplets of fluid that contain the virus into the air. The virus can be spread directly through the air, or by people touching contaminated surfaces or objects and then touching their eyes or nose.

The symptoms of flu come on very quickly and may include high fever, cough, body aches, headache, runny nose, sore throat and chills. Influenza can lead to pneumonia, bronchitis and other complications, particularly in older people and people with underlying medical conditions.

If you do get the flu:

- Stay at home until you feel better – that usually means at least several days.
- Get some rest, and make sure you take in enough fluids.
- DO NOT GIVE ASPIRIN to children with influenza.
- Use acetaminophen or ibuprofen to relieve fever and other flu symptoms.
- If you have a cough, take steps to avoid exposing others to the flu. Cover your nose and mouth with a tissue when you cough or sneeze – and if you don't have a tissue, raise your arm and cough into your sleeve, right behind your elbow.
- Contact your health care provider if you have any questions or concerns.

A glove save was made by Thief River Falls goalie Cole Hunt during the Prowlers' 8-1 Tuesday boys high school hockey win over Bemidji at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

Prowlers sharp in 8-1 win

Three of the first four Thief River Falls shots on goal found the back of the net Tuesday and the Prowlers went on to an impressive 8-1 boys high school hockey win over visiting Bemidji.

It was a six-point night for senior defenseman Michael Benedict, who complemented a hat trick performance with three assists. John Carlson scored two goals in the first three minutes of the game and Corey Horien also had a pair of goals for the winners, who pushed their record back above .500 at 11-10-1.

The Prowlers had a 3-0 lead after one period, a 5-0 cushion at the second intermission and made it a six-goal running time spread in the first two minutes of the third period.

"I thought we played a pretty good game from start to finish," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "We moved the puck and played hard. When we do those things we're a pretty good hockey team. When we don't, we're very average."

The Prowlers were above-average this time out as Cody Bottem joined the list of goal scorers and Matt Olson collected three assists.

Carlson and teammate Patrick Barry were both poking away at a point blank rebound that wound up being a Carlson goal just 71 seconds into the game.

It was 2-0 when Carlson directed the puck past Bemidji goalie Derek Oudgeon on a tip-in at 2:51.

Benedict finished a rush by scoring off a nice pass from Tyler Aandal at 6:54, prompting the Lumberjacks to make a quick change in goal as Peter Goldberg took over for Oudgeon.

Horien tipped in a Benedict shot from the point 1:12 into the second period and Bottem scored off a rebound during a 4-on-4 situation at 7:26 for a 5-0 difference.

Three third period power play goals increased the lead to 8-0. Benedict connected from the point at 1:45; Horien scored off a long rebound at 6:02; and Benedict put a wrist shot into the net from the top of the slot to complete his hat trick at 8:05.

Bemidji, shut out 3-0 when the two teams met back on Dec. 19, finally got on the scoreboard when Riley Colley picked off an ill-advised cross-ice pass and went in on a partial breakaway against Thief River Falls goalie Cole Hunt at 13:44.

The Prowlers finished with a 35-12 shots on goal advantage over the Lumberjacks, who took 12 of the game's 19 penalties.

"I'm not disappointed in our effort at all tonight," offered Bergland.

Swimmers end regular season

Regular season competition ended Tuesday for the Thief River Falls boys high school swim team as the Prowlers fell to Moorhead 90-77 at the Franklin Middle School pool.

It was an 0-6 dual meet campaign for coach Lacy Knott's young Thief River Falls squad.

Sophomore Cody Reese turned in a memorable home finale by winning the 100-and 200-yard freestyle races and then anchoring a first place 200 freestyle relay team that also included freshman Travis Carlson, sophomore Tyler Olson and junior Brian Kays.

The Prowlers' only other win came in the meet-ended 400 freestyle relay when the Spuds, with a victory in hand, swam the event as an exhibition. First place went to Carlson, eighth grader Kenton Johnson, freshman Ryan Olson and sophomore Brandon Widing.

Thief River Falls will swim in the Section 4A meet Feb. 22 and 24 at Grand Rapids.

Freestyle leg closed out the 200-yard individual medley for Thief River Falls junior Brian Kays during boys high school swimming meet action Tuesday at the Franklin Middle School pool.

TRF girls win 67-47 contest at Warroad

Chelsea Sorteberg scored 18 points, Mandy Thompson 15 and Shawna Rogalla 12 to lead Thief River Falls past host Warroad 67-47 Tuesday in girls high school basketball.

The Prowlers didn't light up the gym in the first half, but they finished strong, according to Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "We had a sluggish start," he admitted. "We couldn't get our transition working, which caused us to tense up. Second half, we settled down and pulled away from them."

Thief River Falls led 33-25 at halftime. It wound up being a very similar result to the Prowlers' 63-46 home court win over Warroad on Jan. 19.

Nicole Hoefs led Warroad with 17 points.

Thief River Falls was 24-for-66 from the field (36 percent) and 15-for-23 at the free throw line. Warroad went 17-for-61 from the floor (28 percent) and had a 13-for-28 free throw game.

Warroad finished with a 39-38 rebound edge, but also had more turnovers, 24-20.

The visitors ran into early foul trouble. Two Prowlers fouled out and another had four personals when the horn sounded.

Thief River Falls is 7-13.

The event begins Friday, Feb. 16, when tournament participants are invited to a 6:30 p.m. pizza party at Lincoln, where they will have an opportunity to meet members of the 2006-07 Prowlers.

Game-day registration will be at 8:30 a.m.

A social will be held following the tournament at the Black Cat Sports Bar and Grill.

Cost is $30 per person, which covers the pizza party, tournament entry fee and social. Revenue exceeding costs will be put back into the Thief River Falls basketball program.

Andrew BlackLance, Alex Yaggie...

UNI, NDSU sign pair of recruits from TRF

Lincoln High School seniors Andrew BlackLance and Alex Yaggie signed letters of intent Wednesday to play football at the NCAA Football Championship Subdivision level (formerly Division I-AA).

An offensive lineman, the 6-6, 312-pound BlackLance was one of 25 scholarship recruits signing with the University of Northern Iowa in Cedar Falls.

Yaggie, a 6-0, 195-pound linebacker, is headed to North Dakota State University in Fargo. The Bison signed 17 scholarship players, and also announced that three players will enroll at NDSU this fall as preferred walk-ons: Yaggie, Stephen-Argyle linebacker Blake Sczepanski and Fargo South offensive lineman Jordan Vadnais.

BlackLance and Yaggie helped the Prowlers win back-to-back Section 8AAA football titles in 2005 and 2006, and both are currently members of the Thief River Falls boys basketball team.

Northern Iowa is a member of the Gateway Conference, along with Youngstown State, Illinois State, Southern Illinois, Western Kentucky, Western Illinois, Missouri State and Indiana State. The Panthers finished 7-4 overall last year and 5-2 in league play.

North Dakota State is coming off a 10-1 campaign, with the lone loss coming at the hands of the University of Minnesota, 10-9. NDSU plays in the football-only Great West Conference, along with Cal Poly, South Dakota State, Southern Utah and University of California-Davis.

The Bison are looking at joining the Gateway Conference, whose members will discuss possible expansion at a Feb. 19 meeting.

Both the Panthers and Bison are housed in indoor stadiums located on campus: the UNI-Dome and the Fargodome.

Kryk Freeman Player of the Week

Minnesota Community College Conference has recognized Kryk Freeman as the Northern Division Player of the Week in men's basketball.

The 5-11 Northland Community and Technical College freshman guard was honored after averaging 22.5 points, 7.5 rebounds and 4.5 assists in the Pioneers' wins over Itasca (Jan. 31) and Mesabi Range (Feb. 3).

"Kryk has done an outstanding job for us," said Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "He is a great competitor who understands the team concept very well."

A graduate of McKinley High School in Canton, Ohio, Freeman is averaging 17.4 points and five assists per game for the season.

"Like most of our guys, he contributes to our success in many ways beyond what his statistics show," noted Nikunen.

The Pioneers took an 8-0 Northern Division record and 18-4 overall mark into a Friday night game at Hibbing. They are at Rainy River today (Saturday), then finish the regular season at home with games Wednesday (Feb. 14) vs. Central Lakes and Friday (Feb. 16) against Vermilion.

Rams shut out Thief River Falls 3-0

Sometimes hard work just isn't enough. Thief River Falls put together a solid performance against a 19-2 Roseau team that is ranked No. 3 in the Class AA state polls, but still came up short in a 3-0 boys high school hockey loss Thursday at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

The Rams, who blitzed the Prowlers 8-3 in the 2006-07 season opener back on Nov. 28, have lost to just one opponent this winter — Moorhead, a team Thief River Falls tied 2-2 at mid-season. The Prowlers, meanwhile, slipped back to the break-even mark for the year at 11-11-1.

"We played hard," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "We played a good game against a quality opponent."

Roseau scored in the first minute of the game, came up with a power play goal in the final minute of the second period an padded the final with an open net goal at the end. The shutout went to sophomore netminder Mike Lee. The Rams' early advantage in shots-on-goal was just a 27-20 edge when the horn sounded.

"I think we had as many quality scoring chances as they did, but we just didn't put the puck in the net," said Bergland. "Those things happen in hockey."

The Prowlers gave up the puck behind their net and the Rams turned the opportunity into a quick 1-0 lead. Defenseman Sam Carr wound up with a clear shot from the top of the slot and he scored at the 57-second mark of the first period.

Thief River Falls' best sustained pressure of the night late in the second period ended when the Prowlers were hit by a penalty with 1:15 remaining. Twenty-five seconds later, it was a 2-0 game. The Rams prevented the Prowlers from clearing the zone along the boards and Kurt Weston was presented with an open look at the net from the slot for the goal.

In another turnaround situation, the Prowlers had just missed converting a 2-on-1 when the Rams came right back for the game-clincher by Ben Nelson after Thief River Falls goalie Cole Hunt had been pulled in favor of an extra attacker.

The Prowlers, after a game tonight (Saturday) at Detroit Lakes, will close out the regular season at home Tuesday against East Grand Forks.

Scoring

First period - Roseau, Sam Carr (Nathan Voll, Ryan Larsen), :57.

Second period - Roseau, Kurt Weston (Carr, Tyler Landman), 16:10.

Third period - Roseau, Ben Nelson (Aaron Ness), 15:41.

Roseau JV tops TRF 3-2

Roseau was a 3-2 winner over Thief River Falls Thursday in boys junior varsity high school hockey.

The two teams split four goals in the opening period and the score didn't change until the Rams got the tie-breaker with 1:29 remaining in the game.

Kevin Lunke and Keaton Joppru scored the Thief River Falls goals. Brett Hanson was in the nets for the Prowlers, who were out-shot 32-16.

Forsberg, Larson share Wolverines' spotlight

A 21-point night by Brittney Forsberg was well-above the 8 points per game the 5-5 junior has been averaging and a 19-point effort by Justyne Larson gained the 5-10 senior membership into the 1,000-Point Club. Together, they helped lead Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke to a 72-66 girls high school basketball win over Roseau Monday in Grygla.

Despite facing a game-long double-team, Larson reached the celebrated career scoring plateau early in the second half. A four-year starter, she is the first 1,000-point scorer for the Wolverines – the name adopted when Goodridge and Grygla-Gatzke joined forces athletically.

"Justyne is a post player with good individual moves," said Wolverines coach Brent Philipp, "but she also passes the ball really well, too."

Larson confirmed Philipp's description of her talents by handing out seven assists as Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke improved its record to 12-8.

The Wolverines led 38-36 at halftime.

It was a 12-point difference when Larson hit her milestone, but the Rams shaved the deficit to just three points heading down the stretch.

"I think maybe we relaxed a little too much once Justyne got her 1,000," said Philipp.

But Forsberg's big night offensively included a 4-for-4 performance at the free throw line with the game on the line at the end to help wrap up the win.

"It was a good team effort," noted Philipp.

Sada Puckett scored 19 points and Tonya Timmersman had 16 for the Rams.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke shot 49 percent from the field (26/53) and made 20 of 29 free throw attempts.

Jacks beat TRF a second time

Bemidji held Thief River Falls to 16 second half points Tuesday en route to a 56-45 boys high school basketball win.

The Prowlers have lost just four times in 16 starts this winter, and two of those setbacks have come at the hands of the Lumberjacks, who carry just a 5-14 record.

Bemidji watched a 21-11 lead shrink to 31-29 by halftime, but the Prowlers went the first five minutes of the second half without a point and, this time there was no comeback by the visitors.

Drew Baker scored 15 points and Doug Bender had 12 for the Lumberjacks, who won 60-56 on a Jan. 16 trip to Thief River Falls.

Alex Yaggie was the Prowlers' only double figure scorer, finishing with 13 points.

Thief River Falls shot just 27 percent from the field (13/49), while Bemidji put together a 50 percent shooting performance (23/46). The Prowlers were 16-for-26 at the free throw line, where the Lumberjacks went 5-for-10.

The Prowlers finished with a 29-28 rebound edge.

There were few style points awarded on a night when the two teams combined for 56 turnovers. The Prowlers had 29; the Lumberjacks 27.

"It was not a fluid game," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. "We didn't handle their 2-3 zone very well; you can't be turning it over 29 times against a zone. We just didn't value the ball. And when we forced them to turn it over, we didn't get anything out of it."

Brett Gerardy scored 12 points to lead the winless Mustangs.

"We played a solid game," reported Goodridge coach Eric Mickelson. "The kids did a pretty good job against their zone; they were patient and didn't try to force things."

Goodridge was 22-for-56 from the field (39 percent) and 5-for-11 at the free throw line. Red Lake County Central went 13-for-45 from the floor (29 percent) and 5-for-18 at the line. The 5-13 Huskies finished with a 33-26 rebound edge. The Mustangs had more turnovers, 31-18.

The Prowlers were led by Holley Peterson with 10 points, Sara Philipp 8, Beth Philipp 6 and Lacey Stennes 6.

Grygla-Gatzke 68-59 winner against RLF

Jordan Brateng made the most of his opportunity Tuesday with a 26-point game in his first start of the 2006-07 season to lead Grygla-Gatzke past host Red Lake Falls 68-59 in boys high school basketball.

Brateng, a 6-0 junior, had 20 points by halftime – a big reason why the visitors had a 37-32 lead at the break.

Beaten by Grygla-Gatzke 93-37 earlier this year, Red Lake Falls trailed by just a single point with 3 1/2 minutes left in the rematch before losing ground at the end.

"We had some good possessions down the stretch," said Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson, whose team improved to 12-6 with the win. "Red Lake Falls played well. It just came down to the fact that we made some shots at the end, and they missed."

Tyler Corneliusen added 16 points to the Grygla-Gatzke offense. Jeff Weiss of Red Lake Falls led all scorers with 30 points.

Grygla-Gatzke was 23-for-45 from the field (51 percent) and a productive 20-for-27 at the free throw line. Red Lake Falls went 21-for-46 from the floor (47 percent) and 12-for-16 at the line. Grygla-Gatzke finished with a 26-19 rebound edge. Red Lake Falls topped the turnover charts, 12-11.

Crevistons spark B/G-MR win

Zac and Jordan Creviston both had 23-point games as Badger/Greenbush-Middle River posted a 79-61 Tuesday boys high school basketball win over visiting Roseau.

It was a double-double for Zac Creviston, who pulled down 14 rebounds for the 14-4 Gators.

"Zac had a monster game and really led us down the stretch," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Kent Christian.

Tyler Aune and Jakob Heggedal also had double figure scoring nights for the winners with 15 and 13 points, respectively. Joe Benke led Roseau with 16 points.

The Gators led 37-33 at halftime.

"We started well and finished real well, but everything in between was so-so," said Christian. "We turned the ball over way too much for this time of the year."

The Gators shot 53 percent from the field (28/53) and cashed in on 21 of 30 free throw opportunities.

Klasen, Nordics handle Ponies

Kyle Klasen scored 31 points and Marshall County Central stretched its winning streak to seven games with a 67-56 Tuesday boys high school basketball victory over visiting Warren-Alvarado-Oslo.

A 6-1 senior guard, Klasen complemented his offense – which included four 3-pointers – with a strong game on defense that created some fast break opportunities at the other end of the court.

"Kyle probably played one of his better games of the year," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen, whose team is now 14-5.

Following a pattern that has helped extend the winning streak, the Nordics gained the upper hand with a solid first half on defense as they took a 39-23 lead at the break.

"Our man defense is getting better," noted Rantanen.

Evan Maki and Colby Owens joined Klasen in double figures for the winners with 12 and 11 points, respectively.

Casey Larson had a 24-point night for the Ponies, getting 17 of those in the second half.

Marshall County Central shot 52 percent from the field (29/56); Warren-Alvarado-Oslo shot 43 percent (23/54). It was a quiet night at the free throw line, where both sides were 3-for-5.

Owens grabbed nine rebounds as the Nordics beat the Ponies on the boards 29-18. Turnovers were even at 13-apiece.

REA has new marketing panel

the council agreed to change the title of the board from marketing advisory board to marketing panel.

Given that the marketing panel was recently created, its members have yet to determine how they will help market REA. "What's your vision for what this group should accomplish?" Larsen asked council members.

Nordhagen replied that the council wanted panel members to talk with Wennberg about matters related to the marketing of the arena. He said that Wennberg would then make a recommendation about those matters to the council. Specifically, Nordhagen said he could see the panel giving its input almost immediately on rental fees for REA.

Trandy said the first thing the panel needs to do is investigate the viability of REA, including the strengths and weaknesses of the facility. "The first thing is to decide what we are, what we can be," he said.

The panel may present its basic strategy for the marketing of the arena at the next Committee of the Whole meeting, which is scheduled Tuesday, Feb. 13 at City Hall.

Parks/arenas maintenance employee

At the council meeting, council members also approved hiring a full-time parks/arenas maintenance employee. The next day, they met as the Committee of the Whole to make changes to the job description for that position. In the past, the council has discussed several times whether it wanted to hire someone to fill the vacant position.

The council approved hiring someone by a vote of 6-1. Council member Odette Bendickson was opposed. Lee was absent from the council meeting.

"We know [Parks and Recreation Director Madelyn Vigen] needs help. I just don't know that a full-time person is the best," Bendickson said.

With the other three full-time parks/arenas maintenance workers, the employee will work on a rotating schedule during the skating season at REA. The employee will also supervise temporary/seasonal staff at HOMCC during the skating season at that rink. Once the skating season ends, the employee will move to the Multi-Events Center, where he or she will maintain baseball fields and complete other duties. The employee will also be responsible for other Parks and Recreation Department duties.

The council held a Committee of the Whole meeting Wednesday to look at and make changes to the job description for the parks/arenas maintenance worker position. Council members approved changes to the job description by a vote of 7-0 at their Committee of the Whole meeting. Lee was absent from that one-hour meeting, which the council scheduled to specifically look at the job description.

Despite the council's approval to hire someone for the position, Nordhagen asked Vigen if she still wanted to hire someone as it was "very likely" that the position could be eliminated during the 2008 city budget process.

Vigen responded that it was "very important to have a full-time person."

"Hiring a person to me is a huge deal," said Nordhagen, who noted the city is then responsible for the employee. He said his hesitation at hiring someone for the position wasn't a personal attack on Vigen.

About the position, Vigen said, "This isn't just to be at the arena or the [Multi-Events Center] or wherever. There's just so many job responsibilities."

In addition to the department's other activities, Parks and Recreation staff members stage Flag Day and Memorial Day observances. "Our staff sets up for, for example, National Night Out, Safety Camp, MinnAqua, all the special events we have," Vigen said.

Staff also haul benches for the numerous Thursday night events at Floyd B. Olson Park in the summer.

"There's a lot of extras behind the scenes that the guys do," Vigen said.

Council member Floyd Erickson asked Vigen whether she saw any problems in terms of the number of staff members if more events were held at REA.

Vigen replied that she did. Referring to the disparity between revenue and expenses at REA, and the potential need for more staff, she said, "Beaver told me we have to get more money to do that." Nordhagen laughed in response.

The job description for the vacant position had been changed in January by Vigen and City Administrator Jodie Torkelson. "This job description had been reviewed and revised. As far as percentages, I met with Jodie, and we tweaked a little bit, added some things, deleted some things," Vigen told the Committee of the Whole.

The committee discussed such things as to whether the employee needed a Second Class C boiler's license or such things as refrigeration experience and/or advanced electrical experience.

The more requirements that are thrown into the job description, the more likely it will be that the city will have to pay the employee more, council member Ken Schmalz said.

As of Jan. 23, it had been determined the employee would start at Grade Level 4. "The hourly rate, depending upon experience, has been set at $12.62 per hour as of Jan. 1, 2007," Vigen wrote to council members. Shöan Nelson, who resigned from that position in January, was paid $19.41 per hour.

LHS to present Mid-Winter concert Feb. 12

The Lincoln High School Bands will present its Mid-Winter Concert Monday, Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Lincoln High School Auditorium. This concert will feature the Jazz Band, Concert Band, Wind Ensemble and a special performance by the Prowler Pep Band.

The Mid-Winter Concert showcases a mix of popular, well-known pieces as well as some classic band literature, something for everyone to enjoy. The Jazz Band will start the concert off with "Barbara Ann," "You Make Me Feel So Young," and "You'll Be in My Heart," featuring solos by Richard Holand on trombone, Adam Sisler and Kathryn Walrath on trumpet, Chesnay Dohias on alto sax, Lorissa Craigmile on bari sax and Joel Lunsetter on Drums.

Next, the Concert Band will take the stage with "Bayou Breakdown" and "Disney at the Movies," a medley of all the classic Disney favorites. The Wind Ensemble will take the stage third and be playing three pieces. It will start with "Vesuvius by Frank Ticheli," which tells the story of the volcano that buried the city of Pompeii almost 2,000 years ago. The Wind Ensemble will then follow that piece with "Fiddler on the Roof" and Pirates of the Caribbean, music that was inspired by the musical and movie.

To close the concert, the bands will combine to have over 120 students on stage for a special performance by the Prowler Pep Band playing "Holiday," "The Impression That I Get," "Carry On Wayward Son," and "2001/Championship."

Embassy to host Singles Christian Fellowship meeting

The February meeting of the Singles Christian Fellowship will be held at 2 p.m. on Feb. 11 at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston. The theme for the day will be "Afternoon in Hawaii," so participants should wear Hawaiian clothing. There will be a short business meeting and an attendance gift will be awarded. There will be a potluck supper at the end of the day. This would be a good day to bring a friend.

Medication management offered by new business

Those decisions are left to the patient's physician(s).

Pederson noted that some older people may feel that they're taking up their doctor's time or they may be afraid to ask questions about their medications. "Hopefully with me, it's 'Why am I on that?'" she said.

Sometime this month, Pederson will begin working as the pharmacy manager at Hugo's Family Pharmacy in Thief River Falls. She will also begin seeing clients there for medication therapy management as part of her business.

"More and more insurance companies are covering it," said Pederson, who noted that Medicaid, Medica and Humana cover her services. Pederson said Medicare Part D is working on offering this type of coverage to its policyholders.

Pederson is among a select group of pharmacists who offer medication therapy management. "There's very few pharmacists doing this in Minnesota," said Pederson, who noted that pharmacists are required to have doctor of pharmacy degrees or other additional clinical training to offer that type of service.

For Pederson, who received her doctor of pharmacy degree in 2000, medication therapy management seemed like a perfect fit. "For me, this is the meat of being a pharmacist – helping people and being the bridge between the physician and patient," she said.

This isn't her first time working in medication therapy management. Outside of her former job as a pharmacist at Dakota Clinic, she worked in senior medication management through the Minnesota Pharmacists Association and the Land of the Dancing Sky Area Agency on Aging in Warren. From 2001 to 2006, as part of that work, she met with seniors to review their medications and offer recommendations.

For more information about Medication Management Services, call 681-2330 or 686-5562, and leave a message.

Red Lake Falls - "The Red Lake Falls American Legion Auxiliary will have a 'support the troops' evening. Those who have family members or friends in the military or those who want to show their patriotism can come to the Legion Club on Monday, Feb. 19 at 7 p.m.

"The auxiliary and all volunteers will put together packages for the troops stationed overseas. Private donations are appreciated."

Donations can include such things as shampoo, toothbrush and toothpaste, dental floss, aspirin and Ibuprofen, allergy and cold tablets, foot and baby powder, deodorant, tampons, Wet Wipes, toilet paper, Band Aids, socks, current magazines (18 to 30 age group), outdoor games, DVD movies, candy, powder Gatorade, presweetened Kool-Aid. Monetary donations are also being sought to pay for postage.

"Donations can be dropped off at the Red Lake Falls American Legion Club before Monday evening." - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Feb. 14, 2007

Funding concerns highlight 5-year road construction meeting

Hallock - "2011 may not seem that far away, but a lot can change in five years. At the 2007 annual public meeting presenting the Kittson County Highway Department's Road and Bridge Plan on Feb. 6, County Engineer Kelly Bengtson reminded residents to keep that in mind."

"Although funding is expected to be awarded to Kittson County each year, and the budget holds funds for road and bridge improvement projects, there are always other factors, he said, that will determine a project's need. While Kittson County receives about $2.15 million per year for construction and $1 million for maintenance, there is always competitiveness for federal funding for any project. Population, needs (to include ride quality, accident rates, etc.) and type or amount of traffic are the biggest. It also matters whether a bid project is completed within the original amount of the bid, not always hinging on the contractor. Weather, material price and other incidentals can change how the end of the year fund balance can look, too." - Kittson County Enterprise, Feb. 14, 2007, by Louise Money

Proposed ordinance will target drinking establishments

Roseau - "At the Roseau City Council meeting Feb. 5, council members drew up a proposal that will legislate monetary fines and penalties for municipally located liquor establishments.

"It will target bar owners who sell or serve alcoholic beverages to underage consumers," said council member Gerry Schultz."

"Presently, there is only a state statute that deals with serving or selling alcohol beverages to minors."

"Schultz believes the time has come for this proposed ordinance, which the City Council will again consider at the March 5 council meeting." - Roseau Times Region, Feb. 10, 2007

Oliver "Skip" Swanson signs a purchase and lease agreement for Oakland Park Nursing Home, as Pennington County Attorney Alan Rogalla looks on. Commissioners unanimously approved the sale of Oakland Park Nursing Home to Jim and Kathy Birchem of Little Falls for $2 million. The sale will be effective Dec. 28, 2007. A lease agreement was also approved. It will allow the Birchems to lease the facility from March 1 to Dec. 28 at a rate of $12,000 per month.

Snowmobile trails on Red Lake off limits

The Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians has closed approximately 10 miles of snowmobile trails in Beltrami Island State Forest and Lake of the Woods County until reroutes are made.

This action severs some, but not all, snowmobile routes in the Lake of the Woods/Beltrami area, according to Tim Browning, DNR northwest regional Trails and Waterways manager. The closures do not isolate the Warroad/Baudette/Lake of the Woods areas, because alternate routes on other local trails provide connections. The DNR is working with local clubs to re-route the trails before the 2007-08 snowmobile season.

Due to the sovereign status of the Red Lake Band, tribal lands are private lands and should be respected as such. They are not posted in any unique way. As is the case with all private lands, snowmobile riders who cross tribal lands without permission from the Red Lake Band could be cited with trespass. For more information, contact the Red Lake Band Department of Natural Resources at (218) 679-3959.

"While we work through the reroutes over the next year, we are asking riders to stay off Red Lake tribal lands," said Carroll. "Make sure you know where you are when riding in the vicinity of the reservation and tribal lands and treat those lands just like you would private property."

For more information about the trails impacted, see the DNR Web site at www.dnr.state.mn.us or contact the Thief River Falls DNR office at (218) 681-0889.

I-500 records record entries

Organizers of the I-500 are reporting record entries. The 500-mile cross-country event began on Friday morning and will continue Saturday and Sunday. Racing begins and ends each day at the Seven Clans Casino near Thief River Falls.

The United States Cross-Country Snowmobile Racing Association Red Lake I-500 was originally scheduled for Jan. 19, 20 and 21. Due to poor snow conditions, however, the race was postponed until this weekend. Poor snow conditions are still a concern. Pat Mach of the USCC said due to poor snow conditions, considerable changes were made to the first and third loop of the race. Basically, he said, the course runs east to the reservation line and then back on the Red Lake river. The back loop will be the same as it has been in the past.

Snow conditions have had an impact on vintage and junior racing. According to a notice on the Web site for the USCC, "due to the course changes at the Red Lake I-500, there will not be any vintage or junior class races. A course that would meet the distance requirements of these classes could not be put together due to poor snow conditions in the area around the casino."

Friday morning, Mach said they had registered 81 riders and 120 entries for the I-500, a substantial increase from past years. Mach said they've (the USCC) had record entries at every event they've had this year. He said there appears to be renewed interest in cross-country snowmobile racing. And, manufacturers are paying substantial contingencies.

Mach said he anticipates that the total amount paid out to racers this year will exceed $65,000, which doesn't include contingencies riders pick up from manufacturers.

Racing is expected to begin at 10 a.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The awards presentation is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. on Sunday. Racer memorabilia will be on display in the casino throughout the day on Saturday and Sunday.

Oakland Park Nursing Home sold to Jim and Kathy Birchem

by Scott DComp
Reporter

Oakland Park Nursing Home has been sold, following one and one-half months of negotiations between Pennington County and Jim and Kathy Birchem of Little Falls.

The sale was finalized during the Feb. 13 meeting of the Pennington County Board of Commissioners, where commissioners approved a $120,000 lease agreement and $2 million asset purchase agreement of the property.

The Birchems will lease the property for 10 months, at a rate of $12,000 per month (March through December), totalling $120,000 beyond the $2 million that will be paid Dec. 28. They will effectively take ownership Dec. 28, 2007 – the agreed date of closing.

Summarizing the lease and purchase agreements, Pennington County Attorney Alan Rogalla said a negotiation committee that consisted of himself, commissioners Don Jensen and Charles Naplin, and Oakland Park Nursing Home employees Angela Malone, administrator, and Kathy Wentz, business office manager, began negotiations with Jim and Kathy Birchem on the sale of the nursing home in late December.

The $2 million purchase includes all land, equipment, patient records, operating agreements with third-party providers, transferrable licenses, permits and certificates of occupancy, inventory and rights to the name "Oakland Park Nursing Home." Four accounts related to county business were not purchased. All other accounts were included in the purchase agreement. Liabilities prior to March 1, 2007, will not be assumed by the Birchems. The Birchems will assume accrued paid time off and extended disability.

Rogalla commented that negotiations went well. Jim Birchem

How to market the REA in TRF

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Members of the Ralph Engelstad Arena marketing panel have drafted an outline to help them market the arena.

At the Committee of the Whole meeting Tuesday, panel members presented Thief River Falls City Council members with a draft outline for success. The outline details the panel's mission, scope and goals. The outline also refers to how it plans to formalize its strategy and indicates that the panel has yet to determine how to pick events that show promise.

"We don't know what the marketing plan or the budget is," said panel member Tony Harris. He asked the council about its expectations for the arenas.

Council member Emery Lee told the marketing panel that the council wants the arena to be utilized to the greatest benefit of the community and without it costing a lot.

Mayor Steve "Beaver" Nordhagen encouraged panel members to pretend they own REA and to determine what they see as reasonable events to have there. He suggested that the panel may need to look at events that sell more in terms of concessions.

Concessions revenue was around $2,000 at a recent hockey game attended by 600 to 700 people, said Parks and Recreation Director Madelyn Vigen. She noted the last

Indian connection explored in essay

Writer explores where TRF got its name

When did Thief River Falls get its name?

That's a question residents of the northwestern Minnesota community hear all too frequently. Residents have heard many different stories, but David Thorstad has completed an essay that closely examines the legends and presents definitive answer. "Thief River Falls: The Indian Connection" can be found on the Web site of the Pennington County Historical Society at www.pcillage.org. Simply click on the "other features" icon on the left side of the page. That will take you to the "other features" page where you can click on Thorstad's story and read about how Thief River Falls got its name.

"This is a definitive discussion of the various legends about the naming of Thief River Falls, as well as a discussion of the theft of millions of acres of land from the Pembina and Red Lake bands of Ojibwe at the 1863 Old Crossing Treaty, and its subsequent connection to the history of Thief River Falls," said Thorstad in a recent e-mail to The Times. "It also presents a detailed genealogy of Monsimoh (Moose Dung) and questions about his possible

Scrapbooking: A popular hobby

A hobby that's almost therapy for some enthusiasts

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

It's not the same art form that your grandma or grandpa did many years ago. There are now multi-colored papers, patterned papers, textured papers, stickers, die cuts, page protectors and various cropping tools. It can also be done on a computer. Scrapbooking has seen many changes over the years, and its resurgence in popularity is evident in Thief River Falls.

Misty Mehrkens, a Creative Memories consultant in Thief River Falls, has scrapbooked for 10 years. By her estimation, she has completed 20 or 25 scrapbooks.

"I want my children and grandchildren to see the things that were important to me. I want to pass down those stories to my children and grandchildren," said Mehrkens, who referred to the forgotten stories of people pictured in old black and white photographs at antique stores.

"It's a good way to remember things you wouldn't normally think of again," said Jen Story, a Thief River Falls resident who has scrapbooked for six years. Story, who enjoys photography, said it's a nice way to put together her photos.

[illegible]

When asked why she thought scrapbooking is popular now, Worker said, "I think it's something that has meaning and something that can be passed down."

Scrapbooks can range from family scrapbooks to vacation scrapbooks to team scrapbooks to landscape scrapbooks. The list goes on and on. Worker noted she has had customers who have done scrapbooks about the home countries of their adopted children. She has also had customers who did their parents and did scrapbooks about their parents' lives.

[illegible]

Scrapbooking has seen a resurgence in popularity. Several Thief River Falls residents who scrapbook noted that they scrapbook to record memories for future generations.

Today's recipes were all Pillsbury Bake-Off winners at one time or another. They're all very tried and tested and proven absolutely delicious.

I remember giving you this recipe last year, but I made it recently and brought some to work the other day and now everybody wants the recipe. It takes a little work, but it is well worth it - you'll love these bars:

ROCKY ROAD BARS
1972 Bake-Off Prize Winner

Base
1/2 cup butter
1 ounce unsweetened baking chocolate, chopped
1 cup flour
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
3/4 cup chopped nuts

Filling
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, softened (reserve 2 ounces for frosting)
1/4 cup butter, softened
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
1/4 cup chopped nuts
6 ounce package semi sweet chocolate chips

Frosting
2 cups miniature marshmallows
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup milk
1 ounce unsweetened baking chocolate, chopped
2 ounces reserved cream cheese
3 cups powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour 9x13 inch pan.

To make base, in large saucepan, melt butter and unsweetened chocolate over low heat, stirring smooth. Stir in flour and remaining base ingredients, mixing well. Spread in greased and floured pan.

To make filling, in small bowl combine all ingredients except nuts and chips. Beat 1 minute at medium speed until smooth and fluffy. Stir in nuts. Spread over chocolate mixture in pan and sprinkle evenly with chips.

Bake for 25 to 35 minutes or until toothpick in center comes out clean. Immediately sprinkle with marshmallows and then bake for an additional 2 minutes to soften marshmallows.

Meanwhile, to make frosting, in large saucepan over low heat, combine butter, milk, chocolate and the reserved cream cheese, stirring with whisk until well blended. Remove from heat and pour in powdered sugar and vanilla. Immediately pour over marshmallows and lightly swirl with knife to marble. Refrigerate until firm, then cut. Store in refrigerator.

The recipe for these cookies was submitted by a Minnesota native, Kitty Cahill. It was the Bake-Off Prize winner in 1986. These are yummy:

MAPLE OAT CHEWIES
1 cup sugar
1 cup packed brown sugar
1 cup butter, softened
1 tablespoon molasses
2 teaspoons maple extract
2 eggs
1 3/4 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups rolled oats (not quick-cooking)
2 cups crispy rice cereal

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease cookie sheets.

In large bowl, beat sugar, brown sugar and butter until light and fluffy. Add molasses, maple extract and eggs, blending well.

Add flour, baking powder, cinnamon and salt. Beat at medium speed until well blended. Stir in rolled oats and cereal.

Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart on cookie sheets.

Bake at 350 degrees for 8-12 minutes or until light golden. Cool 2 minutes before removing from cookie sheets to rack.

A Louisiana widow created this caramel cake with fluffy frosting. I made it for my mother's birthday once and it was wonderful - make it for your Mardi Gras celebration this coming Tuesday:

MARDI GRAS PARTY CAKE
1959 Bake-Off
Grand Prize Winner

Cake
2/3 cup butterscotch chips
1/4 cup water
2 1/4 cups flour
1 1/4 cups sugar
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup buttermilk
1/2 cup shortening
3 eggs

Filling
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 cup half and half or evaporated milk
1/3 cup water
1/3 cup butterscotch chips
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup coconut
1 cup chopped nuts

Seafoam Cream Frosting
1 cup whipping cream
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Generously grease and flour 2 (9-inch) round cake pans. (Cake can be baked in 9x13 inch pan - bake at 350 degrees for 30-35 minutes or until toothpick in center comes out clean. Cool completely before spreading with filling mixture. Serve topped with seafoam frosting.)

In small saucepan over low heat, melt butterscotch chips in water, stirring until smooth. Cool slightly. In large bowl, combine flour, remaining cake ingredients and cooled butterscotch mixture at low speed until moistened. Beat 3 minutes at medium speed. Pour into prepared pans. For 2 round pans, bake for 20-30 minutes until toothpick in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes and then remove from pans. Cool completely.

In medium saucepan, make filling by combining sugar and cornstarch. Stir in half and half, water, butterscotch chips and egg. Cook over medium heat until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Stir in butter, coconut and nuts and cool slightly.

To make frosting, in small bowl beat whipping cream until soft peaks form. Gradually add brown sugar and vanilla and beat until stiff peaks form.

To assemble cake, place 1 cake layer top side down on serving plate. Spread with half of filling mixture. Top with second layer, top side up, and spread remaining filling on top to within 1/2 inch edge of cake. Frost sides and top edge with seafoam cream frosting. Refrigerate at least 1 hour before serving. Store in refrigerator.

Rural Reflections

Grant Nelson

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch

Are you being served?

I don't always write about rural themes such as farming, cattle or fields of grain. Sometimes I like to write about events in the city only from my own, rural perspective. This is one of those weeks.

There has been talk lately about large stores moving into Thief River Falls and hurting local business. These arguments remind me of my own relationship with big government. Government can't help me or hurt me as much as I can do things to help myself or hurt myself. I think this can be said for the relationship between small businesses and the infamous big box store. Small business can do much more for its own success than a larger competitor can do to prevent that success.

In most cases, small business owners are their own best friend. They form a dream of independence then create a business to reach that dream. The best of these folks follow a steep learning curve to become successful. They work hard to provide better service in a market where the only shortcut to success is creating a better product or serving it with a bigger smile than the next guy. They're easy to identify because they never grumble and things are always going great. This crew can come back next week for more about my cattle, snowmobiles or maybe a letter to my brother Dave. It's the ones who aren't pursuing success that I want to talk to. I've been to your store and you should be concerned about the big box.

Last week, I took my wife and mother-in-law out to eat. We were the only customers in the dining room and after we entered the second half hour of waiting, I asked the hostess to locate our meals. She came back with a series of excuses for the slowest cooked breast of chicken ever created in northwestern Minnesota. A good hostess could have made things better; instead we received nothing except a Trojan horse of an apology with a surprise excuse lurking inside. Last summer, in a separate incident, I was surprised to find out that one of my favorite stores was open on a national holiday. I really needed the store that day and shared my appreciation with the owner. He then replied sarcastically that I should try and remember them the rest of the year. I offered to bring in hundreds of dollars worth of cancelled checks as proof to my year-round loyalty. Both of these cases were not about an employee failing to provide service, rather it was someone in management who could really make things better, choosing instead to make things worse.

These are two examples of bad service and bad business that leave the door open for the "big box." I've always said "thank goodness for lazy people" as they create opportunity for the hard worker. Apparently this is true on an even larger scale in business. People will pay more for a product that comes with extra service. If area business fails to serve, then it creates a business climate where price is all that matters. Large franchises will always win a price war due to efficiency of scale. Service (where a clerk helps you find something) is then replaced by a conveniently located item that you find yourself. No more friendly service equals no more competitive edge. Service is a cheap product to produce with a large resale margin and keeps small business vital. Add what it costs for a waiter to deliver five cents worth of coffee for which I will pay a dollar and you see the profit in good service. Failure to deliver service creates increased cost to small business because of lost customers.

In the end, friendly service is the norm around town and is probably why rare occurrences of poor service are so noticeable. Tonight, before I wrote my column, I stopped at my favorite auto parts store for a little advice then onto the farm store where the owner waited a few minutes after closing so I could make my purchase. I don't believe either of these businesses need fear the box, large or otherwise.

Oakland Park Nursing Home sold to Jim and Kathy Birchem

echoed Rogalla's statement, saying, "Negotiations went well. We are looking forward to staring here March first."

Jim Birchem said that plans for expansion are already being explored.

Bob Carlson, who was not present for negotiations or interviews, said he was in full agreement with what the county is doing and he feels it is an arrangement that everyone can live with. "I can only extend my best wishes to you folks in regards to the continued operation of Oakland Park Nursing Home."

Commissioner Darryl Tveitbakk asked the Birchems what could be expected next, assuming the sale was approved. Jim Birchem responded that the first priority will be employees. Meetings were already scheduled to meet with union representatives and non-union employees. Another priority is to balance the nursing home's budget. Prior to March 1, the nursing home will go through a transition as licenses will need to be transferred.

The Birchem's long-range plans call for the nursing home to address the need for congregate senior housing. The Birchems have already met with an architect for the potential construction of a 30- to 32-unit senior apartment on the Oakland Park Nursing Home site.

Separate motions agreeing to lease Oakland Park Nursing Home to the Birchems; and sell Oakland Park Nursing Home to the Birchems were approved.

Jim and Kathy Birchem reside in Little Falls. They are the owners of Parker Oaks Communities (nursing home and assisted living) in Winnebago; Hawley Senior Living (assisted living) in Hawley; and they are two-thirds owners of ElderCare of Bemidji, Pierz Villa of Pierz and Minnesota Heritage House Inc. of Blackduck, Kimball, Pequot Lakes, Sebeka and Windom.

ElderCare of Bemidji includes Havenwood Care Center, BirchHaven Village Apartments, Heritage Home and Tamarack Village.

The Birchems responded to a request for proposal, which was one of two proposals, for purchase of Oakland Park Nursing Home received by the Oakland Park Nursing Home Board Oct. 19. The other proposal was received from St. Francis Health Systems Inc.

Various long-term care facilities of each RFP respondent were toured by a seven-person committee that consisted of county commissioners and OPNH staff during the month of November. The Oakland Park board also conducted interviews with the Birchems and St. Francis Health during a special meeting Dec. 13.

The OPNH Executive Board recommended at its Dec. 21 meeting that Pennington County begin negotiations for the sale of Oakland Park Nursing Home. The county board approved the OPNH board's recommendation at its Dec. 27 meeting.

hockey game garnered $4,800 in concessions revenue and was attended by 1,300 people.

The community is very excited about having more events at REA, said Nordhagen. Noting that some people have never attended an event at REA, he said the council wants the panel to bring as many events and as many diverse events to the arena as possible.

City Administrator Jodie Torkelson said that maximizing residents' use of REA will lead to a higher tolerance for the city to subsidize the arena.

As of Feb. 8, the city had a $373,782 deficit with regard to operating REA and the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in 2006, according to Finance Director Lisa Johnson on Wednesday. Johnson noted that amount hasn't been finalized.

$15,000 has been designated to market REA in 2007, Johnson noted.

At the meeting, Dale Wennberg, marketing and events coordinator for REA and HOMCC, reminded panel members that the city has two arenas to market. "We got to utilize them both," he said.

"There is a public value in [the arenas], and it's always hard to figure out," said council member Glen Kajewski.

There's also other considerations that need to be made. The council doesn't want to put any people out of business, said council member Conrad Hollen.

To better understand how to market the arenas, panel members expect to tour REA and HOMCC in the near future. They also expect to revise their draft outline of success. Panel member Jay Larsen said, "It's the draftiest draft in the history of drafts."

misidentification. Photos and a map accompany the article."

The discussion beings with the following account - an account that many area residents have heard before:

"Thief River Falls? That's an unusual name. What does it mean?" I've often been asked this while traveling, and have answered as follows:

"A long time ago, a Sioux warrior was camped out at Squaw Point, where the Red Lake River and the Thief River meet, not far from a falls. He was stealing horses from the Ojibwe, who eventually discovered him and attacked and killed him. Hence, the name: a thief on the river near a falls.

"This explanation was based on my recollections of a pageant I had seen as a boy put on by the Red Lake Indians on the Fourth of July sometime during the 1950s. The pageant was staged for an audience seated on the recently landscaped outdoor amphitheater slope of what had been a woodsy, secluded "lovers' lane" just behind the town's armory. The Red Lakers reenacted this legend for the entertainment of the whites on the day the white man celebrates his country's independence—ironically, a day that ultimately led to cultural annihilation for many Native Americans.

"This legend is incorrect on several counts."

Scrapbooking is a popular hobby in TRF

She noted that most of her customers are mothers in their 30s and 40s.

Worker noted that moms have to redo mostly everything that they do. "There's always laundry. There's always dishes," said Worker, who noted scrapbooks "stay done."

Scrapbooks also offer relief from some of the stresses of motherhood. "It's time for myself, and I want something for my kids to look at," said Leslie Rogalla, a Thief River Falls resident.

Mehrkens, a mother of three small children, said, "For me, it's almost like therapy."

Annual dead animal collection starts March 15

The region's spring pickup of dead livestock is scheduled to get under way March 15 and will continue through April 15. (Exact dates may vary depending on weather.)

The service area for the pickup includes the counties of Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau. A number of these partnering counties are providing cost share to cover a portion of the pickup expense. Several counties have a cap on the amount they can expend so it is important to call and schedule your pickup early. Producers who only have one or two animals for pickup are advised to work together with neighbors in order to reduce the number of stops and thereby save on costs.

The base fee for pickup is $100 on the first 4,000 pounds plus $2.50 for each additional 100 pounds over the base weight. Kittson County will cost share 75 percent of the $100 base fee and limits producers to a maximum of two pickups each. Marshall County will cost share 50 percent of the $100 base fee up to a total county expenditure cap of $400. Pennington County will pay $50 per stop up to a total county expenditure cap of $500. Red Lake County will pay $75 per stop up to a total county expenditure cap of $1,500. Roseau County will cost share 50 percent of the $100 base fee up to a total county expenditure cap of $2,300. Norman and Polk counties encourage producers to utilize this important service, but they are currently unable to allocate cost share towards the project. Participating producers from Norman or Polk counties will be responsible for paying 100 percent of their pickup charges.

Interested livestock producers should call 1-888-399-2436 or (218) 253-2436 to arrange for pickup. Please place your calls between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The dead animal collection is a voluntary program offered to reduce the spread of disease and minimize environmental concerns over winter livestock mortality and disposal. This project is possible with assistance from the Pembina Trail Resource Conservation and Development Association, a non-profit organization operating under IRS 501(C)3 regulations.

SMSC supports social services in Warroad

Kay-Bay-Kah-Nong of Warroad recently received $3,000 from the Shakopee Mdewakanton Sioux Community to support its activities, which include youth hockey, a crisis center and food shelf, recreation/sports programming, human rights, mentoring and advocacy, and a history program. The grant was one of several donated to social service agencies in the region.

"The mission of Kah-Bay-Kah-Nong is to promote and maintain the Anishinaabe (original people) culture and traditions, as it was intended by the Great Sprit," wrote President and Founder Henry Boucha, who is also an Olympic silver medalist and former National Hockey League player.

State Patrol responds to two accidents

The Minnesota State Patrol was dispatched to two separate accidents Thursday evening. No injuries were reported in either accident.

The first accident was reported at 4:24 p.m. Thursday at the intersection of Highway 59 and County State Aid 3 in Pennington County. At the time of the accident, Solveig E. According to the report, her eastbound 1997 Ford Escort was then rear-ended by a 1992 Pontiac Grand Prix driven by Matthew J. Johnson, 17, St. Hilaire. Both drivers were wearing their seat belts. Both vehicles sustained minor damage. The Pennington County Sheriff's Department assisted at the scene.

The second accident was reported at 6 p.m. Thursday at Highway 11 and Main Street in Roseau. At the time of the accident, Howard J. Anderson, 71, Buxton, N.D., was stopped at a stoplight along Main Street. EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Area representatives are on the right track

We continue to be encouraged by the effort of area communities to work together toward common goals. During a recent meeting, 21 local city and business representatives gathered in Thief River Falls to discuss how additional housing will be developed in northwest Minnesota.

As mentioned in previous editorials, this sort of effort is the kind of effort legislators like to see because it gives them something to work with. The efforts of a larger group working toward a common goal, and the expenditure of resources toward that goal, tells legislators and bureaucrats that they are serious. For that reason, it becomes easier for them to provide additional financial aid and technical support.

This group has identified several common needs and goals. The top priorities include improving housing in our communities, and the labor pool. Several other priorities were identified. The important result of this meeting, however, was the fact that they discussed a draft plan that details what the partnership will accomplish.

The first order of business will be to conduct surveys. The plan indicates three surveys will be completed about housing.

One survey will identify such things as rental rates, apartment amenities, types of apartments in the apartment complexes, and contact information for apartment managers in each community. Digital photos of the apartment complexes will also be included.

A similar survey will be conducted to determine single-family housing in this area. That survey will list such things as current housing developments, lot sizes, and infrastructure availability. It will also include contacts for the rental of single-family homes.

Another survey will require a consultant to survey each community and describe the condition of housing in the community. A digital photo will be taken of each housing development as well.

The draft work plan also indicates that each community will be required to create or select a housing task force. Each task force will be comprised of local residents from each particular community. Each task force will determine "the most basic wants" of its specific community. "Where are you going to develop? What are you going to develop?"

The consultant also will work with the manufacturing, education and development sectors in each community to share and provide information to develop more housing and a larger labor force in this region.

This group has developed a draft plan that indicates how serious it is about getting the job done. If the group continues to work together and follows through on its recommendations, the result could bode well for all of northwestern Minnesota.

Efforts are already paying off. It was interesting to note that just below last week's story about the community planning meeting, was a story about a Sauk Rapids developer who came upon the city of Thief River Falls' housing study. After additional research, he decided to build a 24-unit, market-rate apartment complex in Thief River Falls.

Dead child found in Pennington County

The Grand Forks, N.D., Police Department is investigating the death of a 2-year-old girl who was found dead in Pennington County.

Destiny Avis Weaver, 2, Grand Forks, was found dead in Pennington County on Monday and she possibly died in the city limits of Grand Forks, according to a press release from the Grand Forks Police Department. Her mother is Jody Lynn Weaver, 38, Grand Forks. The department hasn't yet received a preliminary autopsy report on the child, Grand Forks Police Sgt. Bill Macki said on Thursday. He said no one has been charged with Destiny Weaver's death.

The press release said that an initial investigation found that Destiny Weaver had "flu-like symptoms in the days prior to her death."

Macki said he wasn't going to release where the sheriff's department found the body. To the best of his knowledge, Macki said, the sheriff's department received information about the deceased child being in Pennington County.

Noting that Grand Forks police were investigating the death, the Pennington County Sheriff's Department declined to indicate where the child was found or how it learned about her death.

Fire damages home in Grygla

Fire damaged a home in Grygla on Feb. 7. No injuries were reported.

The home, which is owned by the Grygla-Gatzke School District, sustained about $75,000 in damage, according to Grygla Fire Chief Bob Thompson. The home is located at 214 Evelyn Ave. S., and it is rented by school teachers Kate LaVoi and Travis Smith. They were home at the time of the fire and were able to get out of the home.

It appears the fire started as a chimney fire, said Thompson, who noted a rusted pipe burnt through a ceiling joist and followed it up to the roof line of the home.

Firefighters were dispatched to the scene at 10:26 p.m. Feb. 7 and were there for about four hours.

Rick Koivisto reached a milestone Tuesday when the Red Lake County Central girls high school basketball team presented their coach with his 400th career win by beating Fertile-Beltrami 73-44 in Oklee.

The Iron Range native landed in Plummer as a 22-year-old Bemidji State University graduate. He worked with the boys basketball team that first winter before beginning what is now a 30-year stint as girls head coach. For 10 years, he coached the Plummer Cardinals. The past 20 seasons he has directed the Oklee/Plummer Red Lake County Central cooperative.

There are 293 losses that accompany those 400 wins, but it's not the year-to-year records that has kept Koivisto in coaching: it's the players. "The kids work hard. It's fun to be around them," he said. "There's always some young ones coming up that you want to see develop."

And you don't do something that long without a passion for the job. "It's enjoyable," acknowledged Koivisto. "I enjoyed playing, and I wanted to try to give something back to the game if I could."

There was little suspense in win No. 400 that bumped the Mustangs record to 15-7. They were up 41-16 at halftime and had a 70-26 scoreboard cushion before the Falcons made a belated run.

Brittany Gustafson hit a half-dozen 3-point baskets en route to a game-high 26 point night, and Faith Kruchowski was right behind her with 24 in a two-pronged Red Lake County Central attack.

The Mustangs also celebrated the return of 1,000-Point Club member Courtney Halvorson, who missed six games after breaking a bone in her hand on a fall in a Jan. 22 game against Red Lake Falls. She netted only six points, but helped Red Lake County Central build a 44-25 advantage on the boards by grabbing 14 rebounds.

"She (Halvorson) was pretty rusty on offense, but there was nothing wrong with her defense," mentioned Koivisto.

Alyssa Gullekson scored 11 points to lead the Falcons.

Red Lake County Central was 27-for-65 from the field (42 percent) and 8-for-11 at the free throw line. Fertile-Beltrami hit 20 of 43 field goal attempts (47 percent) and was 3-for-8 at the line. The visitors topped the turnover charts 20-14.

Title goes to Northland

■ Pioneers beat Raiders in Northern Division showdown

Central Lakes brought a nine-game winning streak to Thief River Falls for Wednesday's Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball game against Northland. But that still paled in comparison to the 17 straight wins the Pioneers had accumulated. Make that 18. Northland completed a home-and-home series sweep and clinched the 2006-07 Northern Division title by holding off a come from behind Central Lakes effort 86-82.

The result cemented a 1-2 Northland-Central Lakes finish in the Northern Division division. A win by the Raiders would have created a first place tie.

Central Lakes had not lost since dropping a 60-49 Jan. 10 home court decision to Northland. The Pioneers, though, haven't tasted defeat since 64-60 Dec. 1 defeat at Rochester.

Northland is 11-0 in the Northern Division and 21-4 overall. Central Lakes is 9-2 in league play and 16-8 overall. Both had Friday regular season wrap-ups – the Pioneers at home vs. Vermilion; the Raiders at Rainy River – before heading to the Feb. 23-25 MCCC state tournament in Minneapolis.

Northland led 37-34 at halftime and had a 16-point advantage with six minutes remaining before a Central Lakes charge made it close at the end.

Kyrk Freeman scored 26 points, grabbed seven rebounds, handed out five assists and came up with five steals for the Pioneers, but still shared the spotlight with Trumaine Johnson, who finished with 21 points, nine rebounds, four assists and four steals. Tomas Loberg contributed 16 points and eight rebounds.

That kind of balance offset a game-high 33-point performance by Central Lakes guard Kody Braddix.

Northland put together a 60 percent 35-for-58 shooting performance from the field and went 13-for-21 at the free throw line. Central Lakes had a 48 percent 31-for-64 night from the floor and a 9-for-13 free throw game. The Pioneers finished with a 35-30 rebound edge. Turnovers were even at 19-apiece.

In the latest MCCC state polls, the top spot went to Rochester, followed by Northland, Minneapolis, Central Lakes and MSCTC-Fergus Falls.

NCTC women sweep series from Raiders...

Pioneers zero in on second place finish

Northland and Mesabi Range continued their battle for second place in the Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division women's basketball standings with Wednesday night home court wins.

The Norse beat Hibbing 81-40 to finish their MCCC schedule at 9-3. The Pioneers defeated Central Lakes 52-41 to bump their Northern Division record to 8-3. Mesabi Range took a 21-5 overall record into a regular season-ending non-conference weekend match-up with Gogebic (Mich.). Northland was 11-14 overall heading into a Friday Northern Division finale at home against Vermilion, where a win would draw the Pioneers even in the standings with the Norse. The two teams split their home-and-home series this winter.

Regardless of the order of finish, Northland and Mesabi Range will finish behind Itasca, who has an 11-0 Northern Division record and 18-4 overall mark heading into a final start against Hibbing.

All three, along with the fourth place finisher in the Northern Division, will be at the Feb. 23-25 MCCC state tournament in Willmar.

Northland, a 57-52 winner over Central Lakes in Brainerd a month ago, had the second meeting all but wrapped up by halftime with a 31-16 intermission cushion.

Lynsey Roppe of Northland and Megan Meyer of Central Lakes shared game-high scoring honors with 16 points each. Roppe had 13 by halftime. Meyers had a 14-point second half. The only other player in double figures was Erin Karlsgodt of the Raiders with 11 points.

Central Lakes, competing for that fourth and final Northern Division state tournament berth fell to 4-7 in the MCCC and 7-17 overall.

Prowlers gain split with Bemidji 60-47

Trading places. That's what Thief River Falls and Bemidji did Tuesday in girls high school basketball. The Prowlers, who lost to the Lumberjacks 63-47 back on Nov. 30, won the rematch by a nearly-identical 60-47 score. The home team won on both occasions.

Chelsea Sorteberg and Hannah Kainz had 14-point games for the Prowlers, while Amanda Hoard and Shawna Rogalla contributed 11 and 10 points, respectively. Also hitting that 14-point mark were the Lumberjacks' Megan Larson and Ashley Erickson.

Thief River Falls led 27-23 at halftime.

"We had a great effort tonight," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "We played well on both ends of the floor."

A busy 19-for-29 night at the free throw line for the Prowlers, compared to a 4-for-8 showing by the Lumberjacks, helped cement the win. Thief River Falls was 20-for-61 from the field (33 percent); Bemidji went 19-for-55 (35 percent).

Bemidji finished with a 43-27 rebound advantage, but also topped the turnover charts 28-13.

The Prowlers improved to 8-13. The Lumberjacks lost for the ninth time in their last ten games and have fallen to 7-15.

Another EGF rally nets second win over TRF

East Grand Forks put together its second come-from-behind win of the year over Thief River Falls Tuesday when the Green Wave erased an early 2-0 deficit to beat the Prowlers 4-2 in boys high school hockey at Ralph Engelstad Arena.

The Prowlers, who lost a 4-3 overtime decision at East Grand Forks Jan. 23, were winless in their final three starts to finish at 11-12-2.

Out-shooting the Green Wave 19-5, the Prowlers grabbed a 2-0 first period lead on goals by Corey Horien and Michael Benedict.

East Grand Forks, however, pulled even on second period goals by John Grabanski and Max Wagner, went ahead when Michael Lukkason scored at 7:20 of the third period and added an insurance goal by Joey Wikoff with 2:07 remaining.

It was a 22-save night for Thief River Falls goalie Cole Hunt and a busy 37-save game for Alex Christiansen of East Grand Forks.

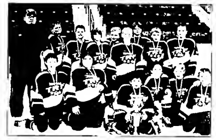
Prowlers win 71-51 contest at Warroad

A 28-26 Warroad halftime lead turned into a 71-51 Thief River Falls win Tuesday in boys high school basketball.

Too many fouls and too few rebounds led to the Prowlers' first half problems, according to Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. Those items were addressed during intermission and the visitors out-scored Warroad 45-23 over the final 17 minutes.

"We played a very good second half," pointed out McLean. "When we limited their second-shot opportunities in the second half, it allowed us to run our fast break offense. We got some easy baskets."

Kasey Trontvet scored 13 points and Lee Peterson had an 11-point night off the bench to lead the 13-5 Prowlers, who beat Warroad for the second time this winter. Brett Culleton led Warroad with 19 points.



Thief River Falls was 27-for-55 from the field (49 percent) and 14-for-30 at the free throw line. Warroad went 20-for-46 from the floor (43 percent) and 9-for-17 at the line. Warroad finished with a 30-29 rebound edge, but also had twice as many turnovers as the Prowlers, 30-15.

Scoring

Nordics have 10-game winning streak

It was a 24-point, 11-assist double-double for Evan Maki Tuesday as Marshall County Central won its tenth straight boys high school basketball game, 67-60 over Climax/Fisher in Newfolden.

The 17-5 Nordics also got double figure scoring from Kyle Klasen with 15 points, Jordan Anderson 10 and Colby Owens 10. Brandon Altepeter led the Knights with 14 points.

A 3-point shot at the buzzer pulled Climax/Fisher within 31-24 at intermission, but it was still a seven-point difference at the final horn.

"It was a good win, but an ugly win," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "Maybe that's a sign of a good basketball team: that you don't play your best, but still get a 'W' out of it."

Marshall County Central was 26-for-54 from the field (48 percent) and 9-for-15 at the free throw line. Climax/Fisher went 23-for-54 from the floor (43 percent) and 8-for-12 at the line.

The Nordics finished with a 34-22 rebound advantage over the Knights, who topped the turnover charts 16-13.

First half shooting costs Huskies

It was the start that hurt Goodridge at the end Tuesday in a 65-60 boys high school basketball loss at the hands of Red Lake Falls.

A 31 percent 8-for-26 first half shooting performance came back to haunt the Huskies, who trailed 32-24 at intermission.

Goodridge did pull even with three minutes to play, but couldn't complete the comeback and fell to 5-16 for the year.

"We had a rough start offensively," explained Goodridge coach Eric Mickelson. "We had trouble hitting our shots; we were even missing lay-ups. Second half, our press finally got our transition game going."

The Huskies got a 30-point, 13-rebound double-double from senior forward Nick Mickelson, who had his second straight 30-point game. Jeff Weiss and Neil Klein led the visiting Eagles with 20 and 19 points, respectively.

Goodridge finished 21-for-54 from the field for the night (39 percent). Red Lake Falls was 24-for-60 (40 percent). The Huskies had a 15-for-22 free throw night; the Eagles were 6-for-14 at the line. It was a 33-33 draw on the boards. Goodridge had more turnovers, 20-14.

Prowlers, Lakers skate to a 4-4 tie

Detroit Lakes goals scored just 17 seconds apart late in the third period enabled the host Lakers tie Thief River Falls 4-4 Saturday in boys high school hockey.

Goals by Cody Bottem, Jesse Castle, Matt Olson and Corey Hurien provided the Prowlers with a 4-2 lead before the Lakers' Jack Kippen scored at 11:32 of the final period and teammate Cody Einerson tied it at 11:49.

An eight-minute sudden-death overtime failed to break the deadlock.

Joe Schiller scored the first two goals for the Lakers, who were up 1-0 after one period and trailed 2-1 at the second intermission.

"We made a couple mistakes in the third period to let them back in it," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland, "but we didn't play that bad. They (Lakers) have one real good line, and Schiller's as good a player as you'll see in the section."

Detroit Lakes goalie Jake Vavricka finished with 30 saves; Thief River Falls netminder Cole Hunt stopped 25 shots.

Three of the four Thief River Falls goals were scored on the power play.

Scoring

First period - DL, Joe Schiller (Ben Bergquist, Cody Einerson), 2:06.

Second period - TRF, Cody Bottem (Michael Benedict, Corey Horien), 8:08; TRF Jesse Castle (Horien, Benedict), 7:32.

TRF wrestlers get by first-match upset bid

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Head wrestling coach Kenny Geiser knew that fourth-seeded Mahnomen/Waubun matched up well with his top-seeded Prowler wrestling squad, but no one wanted to predict that the 15-5 Prowlers would trail the 12-6 Cougars 32-29 heading into the night's final match.

Thief River Falls relied on its most valuable asset to win the dual, as second ranked (AA) Andrew Peralta pinned Jordan McArthur in 35 seconds, to send his team to the Section 8AA final four for the second consecutive year.

"Having Andrew at heavyweight the past three seasons has been a coaches dream," Geiser said. "You can always count on him to get the job done."

The dual began in typical Prowler fashion, as Thief River Falls raced to a 17-3 lead. Kyle LeDuc began the scoring at 103 pounds with a pin at 4:44 in the third period over August Short. Mike Dyrdal kept one of Mahnomen/Waubun's best pinners at bay in the 112-pound bout, losing a 4-0 decision to Cody Bellefeuille. Steve Keogh couldn't pin Mahnomen/Waubun's Adam LeDue, but he kept the pressure on his opponent and secured a 22-4 technical fall victory with just 10 seconds remaining in the 119-pound match. At 125 pounds, Jordan Engen made short work of Mahnomen/Waubun's Paul Leird, with a fall in 1:30 seconds.

The 14-point lead was the biggest Thief River Falls would build during the dual. Mahnomen/Waubun answered Thief River Falls' early scoring with a 10-6 decision victory by Aaron Short over Brian Anderson at 130 pounds; and a pinfall victory by Caleb Lanoue over Tom Kalinoski at 1:59.

Mahnomen/Waubun had cut the score to 17-12 heading into the 145-pound match. With the balance of the dual meet on the line, Kevin Fynboh came through with a 3-2 victory to increase the Prowler lead to 20-12.

James Jurina of Mahnomen/Waubun brought his team back within five at 145 pounds, defeating Mike Kalinoski 11-9 in a controversial match. Jurina was awarded two points for a reversal and the victory as time expired.

The balance of the dual again appeared to be on the line at 152 pounds, as Kyle Iverson showed why he is regarded as one of Section 8AA and the state's best riders, as he held on for a 2-1 decision victory over Thomas Guenther.

Mahnomen/Waubun cut Thief River Falls' lead to three points following a 20-5 technical fall victory at 160 pounds by William Hunt over Jake Toren. Thief River Falls answered with a pin at 171 pounds, as Travis Peralta pinned Anthony Mertens in 46 seconds. Travis Peralta's win guaranteed that Thief River Falls would have a chance to win the bout at heavyweight if necessary.

Early in the 189-pound match, it appeared there would be no need for heroics, as Jordan Anderson threw Issac Lanoue to his back. Unfortunately, the takedown was on the edge of the mat and Anderson was unable to pin Lanoue or record nearfall points. Lanoue took the lead 3-2 later in the period, with an escape and a failed throw attempt by Anderson. Lanoue won the match by fall in the second period.

The 215-pound match was also competitive, as Josh Iverson and Mahnomen/Waubun's Brian Jasken battled to a 0-0 tie. Jasken scored the first points of the match in the second period, as he took Iverson to his back and eventually scored the go-ahead fall.

Trailing 32-29, Thief River Falls sent two-time state qualifier and defending state placewinner Andrew Peralta to the mat to secure the dual.

Northern Freeze offense features a trio of scorers

A season-long search for a consistent trio of double figure scorers may have finally come to an end for Northern Freeze girls high school basketball coach Tom Mjelde. Monday, Alycia Dahl netted 22 points, Kayla Halvorson 15 and Lacey Petersen 11 in a 63-39 road win over East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

Dahl and Petersen have led the Northern Freeze offense from the get-go, and Mjelde is hoping Halvorson is going to make it a threesome. "That's Kayla's second double figure game in a row," he noted. "She's got a good shot, and we've been trying to get her to shoot more. We need that – three scorers in double figures."

The winners led 33-16 at halftime en route to their 13th victory in 21 starts.

Morgan Kaiser led the Eagles with 14 points. Strong inside defense limited high-scoring Kayli Schumacher to four points – one field goal.

"I was very pleased with our overall team play," said Mjelde, whose squad was 27-for-58 from the field (47 percent) and 7-for-9 at the free throw line. Sacred Heart went 15-for-40 from the floor (38 percent) and 5-for-12 at the line.

Northern Freeze had a 32-19 rebound advantage. Sacred Heart had more turnovers, 20-14.

Gators carry 9-game winning streak after beating Storm 68-40

A ninth straight win – a 68-40 Tuesday victory over host Stephen-Argyle – pushed the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River girls high school basketball record to 18-3.

Kaley Mekash scored 22 points and Anna Wiklund had 12 for the Gators, who led 32-21 at halftime.

Still, it wasn't a smile-producing win for Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer, who lamented the fact that Liz Schenkey and Reggie Wollin both picked up their fourth foul on the first two possessions of the second half. "We don't play as well with two of our best players on the bench," he said.

The Gators' penchant for fouls put Stephen-Argyle at the free throw line 27 times. The Storm, though, made just nine of those attempts.

"We can't be giving people that many free throws," said Neibauer.

Michelle Jensen had a 21-point night for the Storm.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 25-for-62 from the field (40 percent) and 16-for-24 at the free throw line.

Complete game effort nets Grygla-Gatzke a 67-54 win over Rams

Double-doubles turned in by Tyler Corneliusen and Chris Klamar led Grygla-Gatzke to a 67-54 Tuesday boys high school basketball win over visiting Roseau.

Corneliusen scored 22 points and pulled down 14 rebounds while Klamar netted 11 points and had 10 rebounds as the Eagles improved to 14-7 with their second win of the year over the Rams.

"Tyler had a whale of a game," pointed out Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson, whose team led 36-24 at halftime.

Joining Corneliusen and Klamar as Grygla-Gatzke double figure scorers were Brady Olson with 18 points and Anthony Gast with 11.

"I thought we played a pretty solid game," offered Johnson. "We did a nice job executing our offense. We were patient and that gave us some good scoring opportunities. And I was really pleased with our defense. We were pretty solid on that end."

Dan Vatnsdal led Roseau with 20 points.

Grygla-Gatzke was 25-for-52 from the field (48 percent) and 16-for-26 at the free throw line. Roseau went 22-for-52 from the floor (42 percent) and 6-for-10 at the line. The Eagles finished with a 35-17 rebound edge.

Tourism is important to Minnesotans

New research sponsored by the University of Minnesota Tourism Center reveals that the majority, 54 percent, of residents feel tourism is very important to Minnesota's economy.

In fact, 94 percent of Minnesotans indicate that tourism is very important or important to the economy. In Minnesota, tourism generates $11.786 billion dollars in gross receipts/sales and employs 286,000 people. "This indicates broad support for tourism," said Ingrid Schneider, director of the U's Tourism Center.

Nearly all Minnesota residents perceived tourism as important to the state's economy, but those in greater Minnesota indicated it was more important to metro residents. Perceptions of tourism's importance to the economy, however, did not significantly differ by age or income level.

"These results help demonstrate an awareness that travel and tourism is an important part of our state," said Explore Minnesota Tourism Director John Edman. "Not only do traveler dollars circulate into our local and state economies and create an impact, but they also support businesses and amenities that add to Minnesotans' quality of life."

This is the second assessment of statewide attitudes toward tourism conducted by the U of M, and it will continue annually. Telephone interviews were conducted among 803 Minnesotans September through December 2006. For more information on the survey, visit the Tourism Center Web site at www.tourism.umn.edu.

The U's Tourism Center serves as a source for tourism research and education in the state and beyond. Expected outcomes from this work include sustainable growth, development and return on investment for tourism.

An advisory committee helps keep the Tourism Center in touch with industry needs and issues, Schneider said. These external partners include Carlson Companies, state government offices of tourism and transportation, as well as Minnesota communities.

The Tourism Center is a collaboration between the University of Minnesota Extension Service and College of Food, Agricultural and Natural Resource Sciences. The center prepares and supports the tourism industry for success and sustainability through education, research and engagement.

U of M Extension, Roseau

Dingy white. Gray. Beige. Is this the dull color palette that greets you when you gaze out into your yard during the winter? Does the lack of color and texture in your landscape make you think that winter hibernation is not such a bad idea? Well, the good news is that with some thoughtful plant selection you can have a winter landscape worth staying awake for.

Start your redecorating job with some colorful fruit. Red fruit makes a particularly striking accent in a winter landscape dominated by white snow and neutral shades of gray and brown. Fortunately, there are several excellent shrubs and small trees that provide bright red fruit through the winter. One of the best is American cranberrybush viburnum also known as highbush cranberry. This hardy large shrub bears clusters of fruit that start turning red in early fall and persist all winter. The fruits are edible but have a slightly acid aftertaste; perhaps this is why birds ignore the fruit until spring when it softens and ferments a bit.

Flowering crabapples can be a great source of colorful fruit, but only if you select the right cultivars. While all crabapple cultivars are lovely during their bloom period (often a mere three to four days, perhaps a week if the weather is just right), not all of them have colorful, persistent fruit. Some older cultivars are notorious for having overly large fruit that ripens and falls in late summer, but there are plenty of wonderful cultivars that are festooned with small, brightly colored fruit through most of the snowy season. 'Donald Wyman' wins the award for most persistent fruit - dozens of its bright red, 3/8 inch fruits are still present when the tree blooms in May.

Bark is highly noticeable in the winter, so it's worth seeking out some shrubs and trees with notable stems and trunks. Brightly colored bark really stands out in the winter landscape, and one of the most colorfully clad shrubs available is also one of the easiest to grow. This shrub is red-stemmed dogwood, a six to eight-foot tall shrub that is hardy to -40 or lower. The cultivar 'Cardinal', a University of Minnesota introduction, is noted for having especially bright cherry red stems. There are also several shrub dogwoods that have bright yellow stems rather than red, such as 'Bud's Yellow'. You'll get a more colorful plant from any of these if you remember to prune out some of the oldest stems each year - this encourages more new stems which have the brightest winter color.

Though I've left them until last, there's no question that evergreens are vital to the well designed winter landscape. They provide some green color and combine well with any of the other winter interest plants I've mentioned. A nice dark green spruce or arborvitae makes a great backdrop for brightly colored fruit or stems. The woody cones borne by many evergreens and the blue, berry-like cones of certain junipers add a decorative note as well.

Spend some time looking out at your yard this winter. Could you use a splash of color at the edge of the deck or patio? How about some tall evergreens to frame a view? Wouldn't it be nice to admire the burnished copper trunk of an Amur chokecherry every time you look out the front picture window? Do some planning now. Then, when spring comes, do some planting to help make your landscape beautiful in all seasons.

MDA warns consumers not to eat certain jars of Peter Pan and Great Value peanut butter

The Minnesota Department of Agriculture is warning consumers to avoid eating certain jars of Peter Pan and Great Value peanut butter due to concerns that the products may be contaminated with Salmonella bacteria.

The affected jars of Peter Pan and Great Value peanut butter have a product code that begins with "2111" on the lid of the jar. Both varieties of peanut butter were manufactured at a ConAgra facility in Georgia, and MDA believes some of the product was distributed to Minnesota stores. ConAgra has recalled all Peter Pan and Great Value peanut butter beginning with the product code "2111," and MDA advises consumers who purchased these jars to discard them. Great Value peanut butter made by other manufacturers and not featuring the "2111" code is not affected.

On Feb. 14, the Food and Drug Administration issued a warning about the peanut butter based on an epidemiological study that linked 288 cases of foodborne illness in 39 states to consumption of varying types of Peter Pan peanut butter. The first illnesses apparently occurred in August 2006, and FDA reports that the outbreak appears to be ongoing.

According to the Minnesota Department of Health, five salmonellosis cases in Minnesota are potentially linked to the contaminated peanut butter. All five of the individuals have either recovered or are recovering. MDA has also collected samples of the peanut butter for laboratory testing.

The bacterium involved in this outbreak is Salmonella Tennessee, which is known to cause foodborne illness. Symptoms may include fever, diarrhea and abdominal cramps. Symptoms usually begin within 12 to 72 hours after exposure but can begin up to a week after exposure. Salmonella infections usually resolve in five to seven days, but approximately 20 percent of cases require hospitalization. In rare cases, Salmonella infection can lead to death, particularly in the elderly or those with weakened immune systems.

Anyone who may have eaten this product and become ill should contact his or her health care provider immediately.

Former home of meyor not what buyer expected

Red Lake Falls - "Recently the city of Red Lake Falls put several homes, previously acquired through the buyout program, up for sale on bids. On Feb. 15, the bids were opened for these homes." Julie Cudaback took part and bid on several homes, including the former home of Mayor Robert Phillion at 109 Seventh St. N.E.

"Cudaback, who bid $20,210 on what she believed to be a 'livable house,' alleges that things were removed from the home after the bids took place and that these things were not allowed to be removed. The house was under a contract, which stated the original homeowner could take personal items and appliances, nothing structural."

"The City Council went into closed session later on Feb. 15 to discuss these matters with the mayor."

Philion sent a letter via e-mail Feb. 20. "According to the letter, Philion had intended to repurchase the home and move it across the street to a piece of land he owns."

"Philion was told it was fine for him to leave personal belongings in the home until the date of the sale. The removal of the front door was said to be in order to facilitate the moving of things out of the house.

"Philion believes he had poor judgment in this matter. He said he should have removed his personal belongings from the home and out-bid the highest bidder." - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Feb. 21, 2007

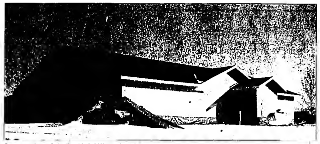
Wittmen named to council

Warren - "Eric Wittman was appointed to fill John Carlson's unexpired term on the Warren City Council at the Feb 13 council meeting."

Wittman's term will expire in November 2008. "Carlson, a retired Warren postmaster, was first elected to the City Council in 1996. After serving two-and-a-half terms, Carlson said he had achieved his main goal of seeing flood protection for Warren, so it was a good time for him to step down." - Warren Sheaf, Feb. 21, 2007

Blue Line Club holds dedication, retires uniforms Feb. 13

Red Lake Falls - "The high school hockey game played at the Cardin-Hunt Arena in Red Lake Falls on Feb. 13, between the Red Lake Falls Eagles and the Crookston Pirates, was anything but ordinary. Before the start of the game, a speech was given in memory of two former hockey players.



"The Red Lake Falls Blue Line Club dedicated the Cardin-Hunt Arena referee room in honor and memory of fallen soldier Corey Rystad.

"Rystad played hockey and was also head referee for the Blue Line Club. He also scheduled referees for all the Youth hockey games played at the arena."

Rystad also served as an American soldier. He was killed in combat Dec. 2.

"The Blue Line Club also retired Rystad's jersey along with that of his classmate Kyle Myhre. Myhre was also a hockey enthusiast. He was active in the Eagle program and served as a team captain. Myhre also received the Hobey Baker Award for leadership and sportsmanship. Myhre died May 7, 2004, in an automobile accident." - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Feb. 21, 2007 by Delton Harmoning

New Home of Red Lake Watershed District

Construction of the Red Lake Watershed District building, located on Pennington Avenue in Thief River Falls, is well underway. Officials believe it will be completed sometime in March or April. Instead of taking on numerous obstacles to remodel its facility on Main Street in Thief River Falls, the board decided, for many reasons, to construct a new headquarters building.

State of the Band

Restoring a proud nation

Red Lake Chairman Floyd "Buck" Jourdain's 2007 State of the Band address on Feb. 17, announced steps the council plans to take in a journey that they hope will restore a once proud Indian Nation to prominence.

"Over the last several years, we have endured many hard times as a tribe, and we have stood strong," said Jourdain. Jourdain then encouraged members of the Red Lake Band of Ojibwe, to put that behind them and move forward as one people - "Not divided by districts, political affiliations or so called degrees of Indian blood. Not separated by gender, age or religious differences."

Jourdain reviewed the progress being made on several fronts. In January, Jourdain said they learned the debt service on their gaming expansion projects at Seven Clans, Thief River Falls, and Warroad have dwindled to just over $6 million. "By the end of 2007, these debts will be retired, and the tribe will begin to realize for the first time in many years, revenue that will help us to enhance services to our communities and to improve upon our existing gaming enterprises." Plans, said Jourdain, are underway to decide the best course of action.

Starting with its gaming enterprises, Jourdain said that while it does not generate massive amounts of revenue, it is in good shape. A goal for the gaming enterprises will be to make their properties as professional, clean, and courteous as possible.

Jourdain also provided highlights of the many grants and awards that are improving life for the Red Lake Band. It was, for example, able to secure $3 million from the federal government to repair the Red Lake Agency water/sewer system and the water tower. The Band also received awards or grants to renovate the wastewater treatment facility, improve Indian Health Services, improve law enforcement services, and establish a Boys and Girls Club. The Band has also begun work on a number of tribal roads.

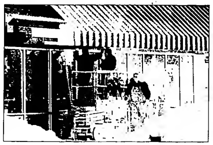
The shortage of housing on the reservation is an ongoing problem, which Jourdain said they have begun addressing. In the spring of this year, he said, work will begin on 44 housing units. An assisted living apartment complex opened last fall, making 26 apartments available to seniors 62 years and up.

He also reminded the community of the Family Advocacy Center, located at the North Country Regional Hospital, that was made possible in large part by the Red Lake Band, and its partnerships with the Department of Justice, and North Country Regional Hospital.

Priorities for 2007

Jourdain said they will continue to address these issues. But, he said, after consulting with tribal members and after deliberation among tribal leadership, and Chiefs, the priorities in 2007 will include: Reviving the Red Lake fishing industry, curbing the flow of illegal drugs to the reservation, providing safe and positive atmospheres for youth, and reaffirming tribal sovereignty and control over our Indian territories.

Public Safety



Concern over drugs on the reservation has grown. The Summit on methamphetamine/crack cocaine,

Construction at new mall continues

Construction on the strip mall located near Wal-Mart in Thief River Falls is progressing. The developer, The Klein Group LLC, has not disclosed the identity of all of its tenants. Representatives for Maurices, however, have indicated that they will be one of the new tenants.

The new 14,000-square-foot mall will probably have three tenants, in all. Construction is scheduled to be completed in early March.

Hallock to get canola-based biodiesel plant

Northstar Bioenergy has officially announced plans to build a fully-integrated oil seed crush and refining facility in Hallock.

Processing is scheduled to begin in the fall of 2008, with a projected annual yield of 40 million gallons of canola-based vegetable oil for the food market, two million gallons of biodiesel fuel and over 190,000 tons of canola meal for the livestock industry. Construction is currently scheduled to begin in August 2007. The announcement was made Wednesday during the International Crop Expo in Grand Forks, N.D.

"Our long-term vision is for this project to be a source of pride for Hallock, and locally owned and governed," said Todd Johnson vice president of Northstar Bioenergy and a Hallock businessman.

About production, Johnson said, "We built flexibility into the project's production and marketing options. With the national emphasis on both reduced trans fats and biofuels, we wanted to be able to capture the best opportunities in both the food and energy markets in the future while creating economic impact for Hallock and our region."

The plant is projected to process 680 million pounds of canola annually yielding an estimated $70 million to $80 million in annual gross sales for the region's canola growers. Canola is a crop that thrives in the shorter growing season of northern North Dakota and Minnesota.

"The economic benefit goes beyond the impact on our area's canola growers," said Johnson. "We're anticipating 44 new jobs with a projected annual payroll of $2.3 million, plus annual revenue of $115 million once the plant is in operation. Plus, the construction activities are expected to add another $135 million to our regional economy."

Three Minnesota companies are contracted for design supply and construction. Karges-Faulconbridge as lead engineer, McGough Construction as construction manager, and Crown Ironworks to supply oil seed extraction technology. Local subcontractors are also expected to bid on portions of the project.

The project's feasibility study and pre-planning was funded by a grant from Northwest Minnesota Foundation, the United States Department of Agriculture, and the Agricultural Utilization and Research Institute of Minnesota. The construction is expected to be

Governor signs strong renewable energy plan

Minnesota moves to the head of the pack of states with renewable energy standards with Governor Tim Pawlenty's signature on bipartisan legislation that sets a renewable energy requirement of 25 percent by 2025.

Pawlenty first proposed a "25 by 25" goal in his 2006 State of the State address. He renewed the call to advance Minnesota's leadership on renewable energy as part of his "Next Generation Energy Initiative" unveiled in December 2006 and again in his 2007 State of the State address.

The legislation signed last week builds on significant laws proposed by the governor and signed into law in the past few years including a doubling of the state's ethanol standard to E20 by 2013, promotion of locally owned renewable energy projects through the use of a new financing tool known as the Community-Based Energy Development tariff, and the Mercury Reduction Act of 2006.

"In many ways, Minnesota has been the birthplace of the renewable energy movement," Pawlenty said. "Today, we are leading the nation on the path to a better, cleaner, more independent energy future. I want to thank all of the legislators and stakeholders who worked together to achieve this milestone in a positive, productive way."

The bill signed by the governor requires energy companies to provide 25 percent of power from renewable sources by 2025. Xcel Energy, which supplies approximately half of the electricity in the state, is required to provide 30 percent from renewable sources by 2020.

An additional 5,000 megawatts of energy from renewable sources would be added to Minnesota's electricity resources, roughly eight times more than currently comes from renewables. Future renewable energy would include electricity produced by wind turbines, biomass, hydrogen and solar power.

Senator Ellen Anderson (DFL-St. Paul) and Representative Aaron Peterson (DFL-Appleton) were chief authors of the legislation.

Pawlenty took the opportunity to encourage the Legislature to pass the other initiatives contained in his

Dutch Elm Disease infestations decrease

Dutch Elm Disease (DED) infestations decreased in 2006, according to Thief River Falls Forester Myles Olson's annual report. Fifteen trees were found to have DED this year, compared to 30 in 2005. Olson noted the department feels the timely removal of these trees and good sanitation practices are paying off.

The locations of the DED-infested trees in Thief River Falls were as follows: four trees on city-owned property and 11 trees on private property. In 2006, an additional 18 trees were removed from city-owned property for reasons such as decay, storm damage and construction, Olson said. He noted city personnel will be looking at some of the older box elder trees that may need to be removed. Olson noted that project will be coordinated with the Street Department, using Forestry Department and Street Department equipment.

The summer of 2006 was dry. The trees went into a "freeze-up" with very dry soil conditions, Olson wrote. He said the city will need to recharge its soils this year or the city will likely have "die-back and leafing out problems in 2007." Olson said the city is already seeing some problems in its mature ash trees. These trees suffered through two wet springs in 2004 and 2005. Those conditions caused leaf diseases such as anthracnose. Ash trees are now stressed by the dry conditions. A considerable amount of time was spent last summer watering the newly planted trees, particularly the ones planted in the last two years.

Tree planting

In 2006, the Forestry Department planted 45 new trees. These trees were planted to replace trees that were removed for various reasons. Trees were planted on the Northrop Park property, which will be developed to include a playground. Trees were also planted at Bill LaFave Park to replace trees that the department anticipates will be removed in the future.

Tree trimming is done on an as-needed basis. The department tries to avoid trimming birch or maple trees in the winter months as they tend to bleed when the sap rises in those trees in the spring.

Controlling weeds and pests

One of the most recent threats to the city's urban forest is the emerald ash bore. This pest has killed more than 20 million ash trees in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, according to Olson. It attacks all species of ash trees. The trees die when the larvae tunnel under the bark and destroy the trees' abilities to transport water. To Olson's knowledge, emerald ash bore has not been detected in Minnesota. With 40 to 50 percent of the city's urban forest consisting of ash trees, this could be devastating to the city. The department will continue to look for symptoms of the pest.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Lent is upon us and it is time to pull out the fish dish recipes. You'll love these.

Any firm fish will do to make this one (or two) person dish. Try it with your walleye too, Lars & Danny:

DILLY RED SNAPPER
1 medium onion, thinly sliced
2 green onions, sliced
2 dill sprigs
2 red snapper fillets (6 ounces each)
1/8 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Dill Sauce:
1/3 cup mayonnaise
1 garlic clove, minced
1.2 teaspoon snipped fresh dill or 1/8 teaspoon dill weed
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon minced green onion

Place lemon slices, onions and dill sprigs in a foil-lined baking pan. Top with fish fillets; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Fold foil around fish and seal tightly. Bake at 400 degrees for 20-25 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork.

In a small bowl, combine sauce ingredients. Serve with fish. Recipe serves 2 (or 1 hungry man).

Nutritional Information: One fillet with 2 1/2 tablespoons sauce (prepared with fat free mayonnaise) equals 216 calories, 3 g fat (1 g saturated), 67 mg chol, 580 mg sodium, 10 g carb, 2 g fiber, 35 g protein. Diabetic exchange is 5 very lean meat and 1/2 starch.

These would taste good as a snack food or even a luncheon with a salad:

BITE-SIZE CRAB QUICHES
1 (10.2 ounce) large refrigerated buttermilk biscuits
1 (6 ounce) can crab meat, drained, flaked and cartilage removed or 1 cup chopped imitation crab-meat
1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon dill weed
1/4 teaspoon salt

Separate each biscuit into five equal pieces. Press onto the bottom and up the sides of 24 ungreased miniature muffin cups (discard remaining piece of dough). Fill each cup with 2 teaspoons crab and 1 teaspoon Swiss cheese.

In small bowl, combine egg, milk, dill and salt. Spoon about 1 1/2 teaspoons into each cup.

Bake at 375 degrees for 15-20 minutes or until edges are golden brown. Let stand for 5 minutes before removing from pans. Serve warm. Makes 2 dozen quiches.

You'll like this low fat accompaniment to your fish dishes. Add a potato or two if you want a little more substance:

CHEESY ZUCCHINI FRY
4 medium zucchini, cut into 1/4 inch slices
1 large sweet onion, thinly sliced and separated into rings
1 medium sweet yellow pepper, julienned
1 medium green pepper, julienned
2 garlic cloves, minced
2 tablespoons canola or vegetable oil
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 (4 ounce) cup shredded cheddar cheese
1/2 cup shredded mozzarella cheese

In large skillet, sauté the zucchini, onion, peppers and garlic in oil until crisp-tender. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and mix well. Sprinkle with cheeses. Remove from heat and let stand for 2-3 minutes until cheese melts. Serves 8.

Nutritional Info: One serving of 3/4 cup equals 135 calories, 10 g fat (4 g saturated), 19 mg chol, 198 mg sodium, 7 g carb, 2 g fiber, 7 g protein. Diabetic Exchange is 1 vegetable, 1 lean meat, 1 fat.

What dessert with your fish dishes? A lovely lemon one, of course:

LEMON CHEESE SQUARES
1/3 cup margarine, softened
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
1 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
Filling:
1 cup (8 ounces) small curd cottage cheese
1 egg
1 egg white
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1/4 teaspoon baking powder

In bowl, cream margarine and brown sugar. Combine flour, salt and nutmeg. Gradually add to creamed mixture. Press in greased 8 inch square baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 18-20 minutes or until golden.

For filling, place the cottage cheese, egg, egg white and lemon juice in blender or food processor. Cover and process smooth. Add sugar, flour, lemon peel and baking powder, cover and process until blended. Pour over crust.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30-34 minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Cool on wire rack for 1 hour. Refrigerate until chilled: Cut into squares. Recipe serves 9.

Time to recognize school board representatives

February 26 through March 2 will be recognized in Minnesota as School Board Recognition Week.

School board representatives face a wide range of complex and demanding challenges. In just one meeting, for example, the issues covered may include planning and development of curriculum, keeping the district within budgets, ensuring that staff development opportunities exist, addressing personnel issues, ordering capital improvements, and addressing issues brought forward by concerned or upset parents.

The individuals asked to address all these issues come from many walks of life. They are businessmen and women, homemakers, engineers, teachers, lawyers, healthcare professionals, farmers, bankers - average citizens. Obviously, nothing can prepare them to address all of the issues that come before them. Yet, in spite of differences in education and background, and obstacles, they share one thing in common: They all care deeply about children and the future of public education. Because they care so deeply, they spend countless hours leading our school districts, and working together to find solutions.

Every citizen has an opportunity to become a school district representative, but it seems few want to rise to the challenge because it is so difficult and time-consuming. Nevertheless, many have something to say about their school district and how it's led. School board representatives will tell every parent and citizen that there are many ways to contribute, but a few that will surely make a difference: If you're really interested in the future of public education, share your ideas and concerns, and become actively involved in the education of your children - encourage reading, attend student and parent conferences, help them with their homework, and listen to their concerns.

We join the Minnesota School Boards Association in encouraging you to join with others from throughout your districts and the state to salute the men and women who provide grassroots governance of school boards.

Rural Reflections

Grant Nelson

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch

Dear Dave,

You sounded good on the phone tonight. I don't know what that means but it's a nice Midwestern way to open a letter. This is the first time a "Letter to Dave" will be published in the Northern Watch so if I over-explain certain things it's for the benefit of readers other than yourself. OK, all parties have been introduced so let's communicate.

I owe you a big thank-you for helping me on my recent trip through North Dakota. Last Thursday I started an early morning trip to Mandan, N.D., to pick-up some old John Deere snowmobiles. I arrived at Jason Helgeson's home at eight o'clock, in 34 below zero temperatures, to load John Deeres but found my trip had only begun. He jumped into the truck with me and we blazed a trail over hill and through snow-covered valley to a little spot where the two snowmobiles sat frozen in time. Jason explained that his father was the first emergency medical technician in Burleigh County in the early 1970s and had used this same snowmobile to deliver medicine to snowbound farmers and to deliver broken farmers to the hospital in the early 70s. I like regional history so expect a column on Jason's first responder father in the future.

I left Mandan and followed your directions to your home in Carrington, N.D. The highlight-rich detour added a few miles, but it was gas money well spent. My version of tourism is to research a location on the Internet then go drive by it without leaving the main road. I got to see the wind farm near Regan and one of the mammoth draglines at the Falkirk coal mine all engaged in the production of electricity. Ironic how the future of energy production seemed to exist fairly well with the older technology of electricity produced from coal. I think I was even more impressed with the little towns along Highway 83, tiny outposts with not a tree to hide behind. Small towns that refuse to quit impressing me are like little dogs with big hearts. I know many people enjoy North Dakota for pheasant hunting and apparently for good reason; I believe I could have "filled out" by simply driving straight down the tar road. I was amazed at the amount of pheasants lined up like traffic cones that I swerved around on that brutally cold day.

I enjoyed our trip around Carrington even if we were short on time and skipped our visit to the North Dakota State University Agricultural Experiment Station. I guess the cows will have to get along without us for now. It was nice to see you and apparently our cat, Magoo, even misses you. While I was getting coffee, he jumped up on the keyboard and started typing before I could grab him. He typed the letters "t" and "y" so I hope that means something to you as I don't read cat very well.

The trip home went well and those snowmobiles safely await restoration in the shop. Thanks for being my brother first and a tour guide second. Say hello to the wife and kinder.

Your little bro'
Grant

One way to stay with the man you are assigned to guard is to grab his jersey – a method that Zach Olson of Marshall County Central was able to employ without drawing a whistle as he kept an eye on Ryan Winkelman of Thief River Falls during Tuesday's boys high school basketball game. The Prowlers edged the Nordics 67-64 in front of a large Lincoln High School gym crowd.

Prowlers hold off Nordics

Those who wonder why Thief River Falls and Marshall County Central schedule each other in boys high school basketball got their answer Tuesday. The reason the Class AAA Prowlers and Class A Nordics meet each year: a short trip, and in cases like this, great basketball. The big school prevailed, but by just a 67-64 margin in a wildly exciting match-up in front of the year's biggest Lincoln High School gym crowd.

It literally went down to the horn as a closely-contested 3-pointer at the buzzer by Evan Maki missed the mark. Those on the Nordics' side looked for a foul on the play, but the officials sprinted off the floor without hesitation.

"I thought it was a great effort by both teams," said Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. "It was a tournament atmosphere. They (Nordics) always bring it. They like to beat us."

Beaten by Thief River Falls 66-47 in December's Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic hosted by the Prowlers, the Nordics had a 20-9 lead seven minutes into the rematch.

Four-and-a-half minutes later it was tied at 20-20 and the fun really kicked in.

A rebound basket by Colby Owens had the Nordics within 31-29 with 1:10 remaining in the first half, but the Prowlers worked the clock for the final shot, and got it when Dylan Johnson scored from underneath at the horn for a four-point intermission edge.

Marshall County Central never had a second half lead, but after falling behind 50-43 when Johnson scored on a rebound with 10:39 to play, the Nordics came back to tie it 54-54 on a 3-pointer out of the corner by Zach Olson with 7:07 still on the clock.

"I'm very proud of the kids," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "It was back-and-forth. They (Prowlers) made a couple of runs, and we responded. Coming into the game, we were looking for composure and effort. We got both."

Thief River Falls followed Olson's equalizer with a free throw and fast break lay-up by Johnson and two more foul shots by Ryan Winkelman for a 59-54 lead with 4:42 left.

The Prowlers never gave up the lead down the stretch, but it was a precarious edge. On three occasions the Nordics pulled within a single point – the final time when Owens scored from underneath to make it 65-64 with 38 seconds showing.

Thief River Falls then concentrated on the clock. The Nordics initially stayed back on defense, and when they did reach the must-foul point, had trouble getting to the ball as the Prowlers ate up a few more precious seconds with their quick passes.

There were only 7.4 seconds remaining when Marshall County Central finally got the clock-stopping whistle. Two free throws by Johnson touched nothing but net, forcing the Nordics to launch a final shot for the tie from 3-point range.

"It was a great atmosphere," said Rantanen. "That's why we play Thief River Falls – to help prepare us for the tournaments."

Johnson scored 19 points and Andrew BlackLance had 13 for the Prowlers. They both pulled down nine rebounds to help give the Prowlers a 37-25 advantage on the boards after going into halftime with just an 18-15 edge.

"They (Nordics) controlled the rebounds in the first half," pointed out McLean. "We did a much better job on the boards in the second half. That was probably the difference. Andrew and Dylan both did a nice job inside."

Marshall County Central was led by Kyle Klasen with 15 points, Maki 14, Owens 13 and Jordan Anderson 11.

Thief River Falls shot 49 percent from the field (28/57) and went 9-for-14 at the free throw line. Marshall County Central shot 41 percent from the floor (24/58) and paid the price for a 12-for-22 showing at the line. The Prowlers had more turnovers than the Nordics, 18-12.

With the results, Thief River Falls is 14-5 and Marshall County Central is 17-7.

Pioneers' Lynsey Roppe women's Player of the Week

Northland men ranked No. 1

Two news items from the Minnesota Community College Conference popped up this week as the Northland men and women tuned up for the 2007 MCCC state basketball tournaments.

For the first time this winter, the Pioneers were ranked No. 1 in the men's state polls. A state-best 22-4 record and current 19-game winning streak put them atop the polls, ahead of Rochester, Minneapolis, Central Lakes and MSCTC-Fergus Falls.

On the women's side, the Pioneers' Lynsey Roppe, a 5-4 freshman from Greenbush, was named Northern Division Player of the Week after averaging 14 points, 4 rebounds, 5 assists and 4 steals in regular season-ending wins over Central Lakes and Vermilion.

Carrying a five-game winning streak into post-season play, Northland climbed into the No. 5 spot in the women's state poll that is headed by Anoka-Ramsey, Itasca, Rochester and Mesabi Range.

Both state tournaments were scheduled to be played Feb. 23-25 – the men at Minneapolis Community and Technical College; the women at Ridgewater Community College in Willmar. Qualifiers move on regional play.

Prowlers are wrestling in 8AA individual meet

A team title already in hand, Thief River Falls is looking for additional post-season rewards during the individual portion of the 2007 Section 8AA wrestling tournament that wraps up today (Saturday) at Cass Lake-Bena High School.

Top two finishers in each weight class advance to the state tournament.

The Kenny Geiser-coached Prowlers supplanted Hibbing as the Section 8AA team champion last weekend and will make tackle Adrian/Ellsworth in the state tournament quarterfinals Wednesday, Feb. 28, at the Xcel Energy Center in St. Paul.

Class AA state team semifinals and finals will be Friday and Saturday, March 2 and 3.

Qualifiers will wrestle first round Class AA state tournament individual matches Thursday, March 1.

School District 564 officials said classes will not be dismissed for the state wrestling tournament, but students will be excused to attend the matches with a signed note from their parents.

A fan bus for students in grades 9-12 will be offered for the Thief River Falls' Wednesday quarterfinal match. Sign-up is taking place at the Lincoln High School Student Affairs Office. Cost is $20 – payable at the time of registration. You will also be required to pay for your tournament ticket ($7) at that time.

At least 50 students must be signed up for the bus by noon Tuesday, Feb. 27, or the bus trip will be canceled. Two School District 564 employees are also needed to serve as chaperones. The bus would leave Lincoln at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

If the Prowlers win the quarterfinal match, a buses will also be offered for the Friday semifinals and Saturday finals – again with a 50 student minimum. Deadline for Friday/Saturday bus sign up will be noon Thursday, March 1.

Trailing 29-26 at intermission, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River out-scored Warroad 38-14 in the second half to win going away, 64-43 in Monday girls high school basketball.

"Defensively, the second half was our best half of basketball all year," said Gators coach Tom Neibauer.

Liz Schenkey scored 17 of her game-high 24 points in the second half to lead the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River offense. Anna Wicklund scored 19 points and grabbed 9 rebounds, while Kaley Mekash netted 17 points.

Changes made during the intermission break helped generate some second half points, according to Neibauer. "We moved Liz and Kaley to the outside," he said. "They were collapsing on them inside. It helps to have versatile athletes."

Bailey Wells and Nicole Laufman led Warroad with 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Tyler Aune contributed 9 points and 9 rebounds as the Gators improved to 17-5.

Chase Boen was the lone Tri-County double figure scorer, finishing with 16 points.

Christian said the Gators are still trying to iron out a few bugs before tournament time rolls around. More details released about events after toddler's death

More details were released Wednesday regarding events after the death of a 2-year-old Grand Forks, N.D., girl whose body was found Feb. 12 in Pennington County.

A preliminary investigation has determined that Destiny Avis Weaver died in Grand Forks, according to a press release from the Grand Forks Police Department. "At this point, no one has been charged," said Grand Forks Police Sgt. Bill Macki on Thursday. The Pennington County Court Administrator's Office indicated Thursday that no charges have been filed against Weaver's mother, Jody Weaver, or her mother's boyfriend, Clarence Smith.

Macki said the department is still waiting on a toxicology report and other preliminary autopsy results from the Hennepin County Medical Examiner's Office with regard to the child.

An initial investigation found that Destiny Weaver had "flu-like symptoms in the days prior to her death." The latest press release indicated that her death occurred several days before law enforcement were notified and possibly as early as the beginning of February. The Pennington County Sheriff's Department was alerted about the death on Feb. 12 after Smith called the department, Macki said. The Grand Forks Police Department noted it is unclear why there was a delay in reporting the child's death or why the deceased child was transported to Minnesota.

Smith and Jody Weaver allegedly loaded Destiny Weaver's body into a plastic tote Feb. 12. The tote was then placed in the trunk of a vehicle that Smith, a Grygla resident, drove from North Dakota to Minnesota. Jody Weaver, 38, Grand Forks, followed Smith in another vehicle. En route, Smith called law enforcement and surrendered the child's body to Pennington County deputies. Macki said he didn't have any information about where Smith had surrendered the dead child's body. Other media have reported that Pennington County deputies met Smith and Jody Weaver at Kruse In in St. Hilaire.

Jody Weaver has three other children, said Macki, who noted two of the children are no longer in her custody and the third child has not been living with her.

The case remains under investigation

Minnesota State Patrol responds to three accidents Wednesday

The Minnesota State Patrol responded to three accidents Wednesday. Three people were injured in two separate accidents that the State Patrol responded to that day.

The first accident was reported at 3:10 a.m. Wednesday. At the time of the accident, Kyle L. Shablow, 21, Euclid, was driving a 1996 Dodge Ram on Highway 75, three to four miles south of Warren. The vehicle then drifted off of the roadway and slid sideways. It's unknown whether Shablow was wearing a seat belt. He was injured in the crash. Shablow was treated and released from RiverView Hospital in Crookston, according to the State Patrol report. The report indicates alcohol was detected in Shablow's system. His vehicle sustained moderate damage. The Polk County Sheriff's Department assisted the State Patrol.

The second accident was reported at 9:39 a.m. Wednesday. At the time of the accident, Aage S. Carlsen, 69, Fosston, was driving a 1994 Ford pickup truck on Highway 2 in McIntosh. According to the State Patrol report, he was making a right turn onto Polk County Road 8 and then lost control of his vehicle on the icy roadway. The pickup truck went off of the road on the right side and then struck a pole. Carlsen wasn't injured in the crash. He was wearing his seat belt. His pickup truck was totalled. The report doesn't indicate the amount of damage that the pole sustained or the identity of the owner of the pole.

The third accident was reported at 10:55 a.m. Wednesday. At the time of the accident, Isaac R. Leon, 54, Bejou, was driving a 2000 Nissan Frontier northbound on Highway 59 north of Winger. According to the State Patrol report, the vehicle then went off of the icy roadway on the right side and overturned. Leon and his wife, Rosa Cancino-Leon, 51, suffered non-life-threatening injuries in the accident. The State Patrol report indicated Leon and Cancino-Leon were wearing their seat belts. Their vehicle sustained minor damage. The Polk County Sheriff's Department assisted the State Patrol.

Woman now has charges pending for stealing pickup

A Bagley woman now has charges pending for allegedly stealing a pickup truck Feb. 17 in Thief River Falls. The pickup truck crashed two blocks away from where Natasha Marie Thompson stole it.

Thompson, 25, has charges pending for motor vehicle theft. She was injured in the crash and was taken to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls. Thompson was later transferred to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D. On Monday, an Altru nursing staff member noted that Thompson didn't want any information released about her condition.

According to the police report, Mark D. Nolden of Thief River Falls reported the theft of his pickup truck at 12:50 a.m. Feb. 17. Ten minutes later, the Minnesota State Patrol was dispatched to a one-vehicle accident at the intersection of Main Avenue and Fifth Street. Thompson, who was apparently driving southbound, had struck a tree with the 1990 Chevy pickup truck. The pickup truck was totalled in the accident.

and gangs that was conducted at Red Lake in January, demonstrated that the community is very concerned about this issue.

"This year, the Red Lake Tribal Council will follow through on the Summit, by pursuing partnerships and agreements with surrounding communities, other tribes, and law enforcement agencies that strive to curb drugs, gangs, and violence in their communities. We will also seek additional federal funding to enhance our continued need for law enforcement services on the Red Lake reservation."

These partnerships may include working with other tribes that will enable them to network, and track the flow of illegal drugs, and gang members from reservation to reservation, and from urban areas to Indian communities.

Trespass

Jourdain noted that other Indian Nations are beginning to monitor the flow of non members, and those who enter into their territories illegally. "Some have implemented custom checkpoints to restrict access to Indian lands; others require visitors to declare their business upon arriving to the reservation."

At one time, Red Lake had a passport system. Jourdain said they still maintain their right as a sovereign tribal power to monitor and deal with non members.

"On our reservation we are experiencing an influx of criminal activity by people who have no business entering our tribal lands. This year we will assess what options we have at our disposal to monitor who comes, and goes from our reservation in hopes of curbing the flow of illegal drugs, and crime.

"Tribes all across the United and the First Nations of Canada can no longer ignore that drugs and violence are destroying Indian country. To those responsible for inflicting these devastating plagues of pain and suffering in Indian country, notice has been served."

Fishing Industry

Jourdain announced that in 2007, they will once again resume operation of its fishing industry. He said they will begin slowly by fishing hook and line. "We do not see gill-netting as an option in the near foreseeable future."

Positive Place for Kids

"The youth of Red Lake Reservation continue to face numerous challenges," said Jourdain.

Jourdain encouraged the community to listen to their voices, and to address the issues that are important to them. "We need to help them to realize their potential, and encourage them not to abandon their dreams."

Tribal/School Collaborative

"Over the last several months, the Tribe has created a network between the Red Lake School District, the Minnesota Department of Education, and tribal agencies such as law enforcement, courts, public health, tribal programs and community members. This tribal/school collaborative insures more direct involvement by the Tribe in creating safe environments for students, and staff as well as improving education overall."

Boys and Girls Club

Jourdain said the Boys and Girls club that will be located just outside the Humanities Center is one of the crowning achievements of the Red Lake Tribal Council and board of directors of the Red Lake Nation Boys and Girls Club. It is a state-of-the-art facility that will contain a full-size gymnasium, a teen center, computer lab, weight room, game room, and arts and crafts center.

The grand opening is scheduled for late summer. "We will not stop there. We are planning to continue our efforts by pursuing another club in the Ponemah community."

Conclusion

Jourdain thanked the many people who have assisted the community. "With everything that we have been through, I can't help but remain optimistic about our future as Red Lake people. Even though we have some serious issues to address, such as dealing with our drug and gang issues, and creating employment, and housing for our members, there are better days ahead as well."

Governor signs renewable energy plan

"Next Generation Energy Initiative," including his plan to increase the number of E85 gas pumps in the state from 300 to 1800, encourage local ownership of energy production to benefit rural Minnesota, promote the development of cellulosic ethanol and advanced biomass technologies, increase conservation and reduce carbon emissions.

"This is a significant step, but there is still much more work that needs to be accomplished this session," Pawlenty said. "Rather than stopping here, I hope this bill will provide encouragement for us to tackle the remaining important energy issues in front of us. We can do this in a way that allows for the right response to changing markets, consumer demand and regulatory conditions and maintains reliability and affordable energy rates and costs."

Additional proposals in the Governor's "Next Generation Energy Initiative" are:

More Renewables

- E85 Everywhere. To continue Minnesota's leadership in E85, Pawlenty is proposing the E85 Everywhere program which would quintuple the number of E85 pumps in the state by 2010, an increase from 300 now to 1800 in four years. In addition, the governor's proposal will help retail station owners with grants to partially offset the cost of E85 pump installations.
- Promote the development of cellulosic ethanol and advanced biomass technologies in Minnesota. Financial resources should be available to assist and encourage the growth of Next Generation biofuels, such as cellulosic ethanol, and advanced bio-gas (gasification of biomass) technologies to offset natural gas use, with a focus on farmer ownership.

More Energy Conservation

- Reduce Minnesota's fossil fuel energy use. Governor Pawlenty set an aggressive energy saving goal for Minnesotans to reduce use of fossil-fuel energy by 15 percent by 2015. Pawlenty said that the goal is achievable through increases in energy efficiency and renewable resources.
- Transition the Conservation Improvement Program (CIP) from a spending requirement program to "energy saved" program. The amount of electricity and natural gas we save each year can be significantly increased through additional energy efficiency and conservation measures. Pawlenty is proposing to change Minnesota's utility energy conservation program from a spending program to an energy savings program and by requiring utilities to reduce their retail sales by 1.5 percent annually.
- Set as a goal of 1,000 Energy Star commercial buildings in the state by 2010. Currently, Minnesota has 87 schools, office buildings, and churches that have received the Energy Star award. Pawlenty is proposing that 1,000 building become Energy Star certified throughout the state.

Less Carbon Emissions

- Establish stakeholder process. Governor Pawlenty is inviting the nationally recognized Center for Climate Strategies to Minnesota to conduct a wide-ranging and inclusive stakeholder process and to develop a plan to aggressively reduce greenhouse gas emissions in Minnesota over the coming years.
- Utility offset. "Minnesota's electric utilities should prepare for the future by offsetting carbon emissions from new fossil-fuel generation sources," Pawlenty said. "As we look to reduce our greenhouse gas emissions, we should not make the situation worse while we try to make it better."
- Climate Exchange. Pawlenty is proposing that the State of Minnesota join the Chicago Climate Exchange (CCX) or some other national registry that will help reduce greenhouse gas emissions from state operations. The CCX is a greenhouse gas (GHG) emission registry, reduction and trading system. Members make a voluntary but legally binding commitment to reduce GHG emissions.

financed though a combination of private equity and debt financing.

Howard Person, University of Minnesota extension agent in Pennington County said he thought the plant would have an impact in the region. This plant will rely on crushed canola. Some producers have been growing canola in the area and this may encourage additional canola to be grown in the area. He anticipates that it may even boost the price of canola 40 to 50 cents per hundredweight.

According to studies and information he has, Person said biodiesel fuel is certainly coming into its own. It's a high-quality fuel and one that he believes is here to stay.

Northstar Bioenergy was formed in 2006 by two groups of local investors who share agricultural industry experience, one from Hallock and the other from Fargo, N.D. The company's goal is to create economic wealth for the region through the processing of agricultural products for the food and energy industries.

Local students graduate from UMC

This past fall, Olson sprayed approximately 400 acres of city-owned land for broad leaf weed. He wrote that the department has found that fall spraying is very effective. As a result, the department has not had to spray in the spring and summer.

Cooperation

Cooperation from the Street Department this past year has been exceptional, Olson wrote. He noted the department wouldn't have been able to remove diseased or damaged trees in such a timely manner without the Street Department's assistance. The removal and tree trimming were joint efforts using personnel and equipment from both the Forestry and Street departments.

Upgrading equipment

Through the budgeting process, equipment will be upgraded in 2007. A 10-year-old wood chipper will be replaced with a new chipper that has a little larger capacity, according to Olson. The new chipper will be a drum-style chipper rather than a disc-type chipper. It is felt this style will work better on smaller material. Olson thanked City Council for its support in allowing the equipment upgrade.

Answering questions

Olson is available to answer residents' concerns regarding the urban forest. Some interest has been expressed in doing some boulevard planting in the newly developed areas, such as the area south of Greenwood Street East. It will be looked at once landscaping is complete. The city may now need to consider some tree plantings during the development of neighborhoods since the city's Comprehensive Plan is completed.

Resolution sought for mayor's residence

Red Lake Falls - After turning over the Feb. 26 council meeting to Vice Mayor Kevin Harmoning, Mayor Robert Philion was silent during the discussion about his previously owned house at 109 Seventh St. in Red Lake Falls.

"The home was part of the buyout program and was put up for sale on bids.

"The highest bidder was Julie Cudaback, who was upset about the many structural items she believed had been removed from the home even though they were not allowed to be removed."

"According to Cudaback, the damages to the house are in the range of $10,000 to $12,000 to repair or replace."

Discussion ensued about settling the matter, and City Attorney William Muldoon indicated that the city didn't think it was appropriate to negotiate with Cudaback as she is being represented by an attorney.

"Later, Red Lake County Sheriff's Deputy Brad Johnson closed the discussion by saying, "there are both civil and criminal investigations taking place and that no one is in a position to make a determination at this time." - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Feb. 28, 2007, by Destiny Harmoning

Mayor is under investigation

Red Lake Falls - "At 4:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 22, the Red Lake County Sheriff's Department served a search warrant in regards to Mayor Robert Philion's alleged misconduct in connection with the city's home buyout program.

"Philion's former home was put up for bids after being acquired by the city through the buyout program. Under the contract, Philion wasn't allowed to remove structural items from the home, but he did."

Julie Cudaback of Warroad was the highest bidder on the home. She discovered many items from the home that, she said, shouldn't have been taken.

"The search warrant was issued for City Hall, Philion's residence and another property he owns that is located across the street from the house in question."

The sheriff's department has confiscated several items that may be evidence. "At City Hall, deputies took files and copies of files that were related to the case, including those for the buyout program.

"This case is currently an open and active criminal investigation." - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Feb. 28, 2007, by Destiny Harmoning

County seeks a resolution of tiff

Warren - "Marshall County Auditor-Treasurer Scott Peters is on a mission. He wants to see settled a ditch tax dispute with the state that has dragged on for about 23 years with no apparent end in sight.

"Peters said the fact that Marshall County, and a few other counties in a similar situation, have not been able to resolve the ditch tax quarrel is disgraceful, but he thinks something positive can now be worked out if the county will take a proactive approach to the matter. He briefed the Marshall County Board on the issue and his proposed approach at their Feb. 20 meeting and was encouraged to proceed with his efforts." - Warren Sheaf, Feb. 21, 2007

Gatzke teen suffers from mild stroke, discovers he has hole in his heart

by April Schelnuba
Reporter

One night, Chris Klamar was playing basketball as a member of the Grygla-Gatzke boys basketball team. The next day, he suffered a mild stroke. It would be 15 days before he and his family would find out what had happened.

It started Jan. 31. The Grygla High School junior was in weight-training class and had laid down on a weight bench. Then it looked like his right hand and the right side of his body were rapidly moving back and forth. They weren't. His classmates asked if he was OK. "I was just looking through everybody, and I fell off the weight bench," Chris recalled.

Four minutes later, the episode was over. He was sweating profusely. His teacher Darwin Hagen asked if he was OK. Chris thought he was OK, and he went to lunch. Then he went to his special projects class. Don Rindahl, who teaches that class, thought it looked like something was wrong with Chris, and he told Chris to call his father, Merlin. Merlin picked Chris up from school and took him to a clinic in Thief River Falls.

> You don't expect your son to have a stroke when he's 17 and in excellent condition.
> – Merlin Klamar

He didn't know what was wrong with his son, but he thought Chris might have been dehydrated since he had a physical basketball game Jan. 30 and he had played two or three games in the past week.

"He just wasn't normal," Merlin remembered. "He had a hard time finishing sentences, and he was having a hard time finding the right words."

In Thief River Falls, blood work and a CAT scan were completed. Nothing was found to be wrong, and Chris was cleared to play basketball that night. He got home too late that night to play.

Chris continued participating in his regular activities – going to school and playing basketball. On Feb. 7, he underwent a sleep apnea test. That test didn't show anything wrong.

Chris' mom, Carol, was certain something was wrong with her son. Carol and Merlin took their oldest son to a neurologist in Grand Forks, N.D., on Feb. 14. Carol told the neurologist that Chris' memory wasn't what it used to be. "His short-term memory was just shot," said Merlin, who noted that Chris would talk to his basketball coach, Vern Johnson, on the sidelines and then forget what Vern had said by the time he got back onto the basketball court. Chris was also still struggling to finish sentences.

Chris was then hospitalized. More tests and an MRI were conducted. He was hospitalized overnight and underwent an electrocardiogram at about 11 a.m. Feb. 15. "They found a hole in his heart right away," Merlin said.

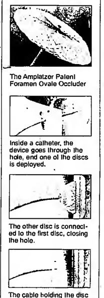
They were told that a blood clot had moved to Chris' brain while he was lifting weights. It is believed the clot moved through the hole in his heart and went directly to his brain instead of going to his lungs to be absorbed. Chris then suffered a mild stroke.

"It was flooring," Chris said.

"It was really scary," said Merlin. "You don't expect your son to have a stroke when he's 17 and in excellent condition."

Chris' doctor called the Mayo Clinic in Rochester. Hooked up to IVs, Chris was then loaded into an ambulance bound for Rochester. Chris' parents had practically no time to prepare for the journey. Thinking that they were going to be in Grand Forks for a short time, they didn't have anything with them. They also had to make arrangements for Kyle, their 13-year-old son. Kyle was at school in Grygla. Merlin and Carol were told they didn't have time to drive back to Grygla and then to Rochester, so Kyle stayed with Carol's mom.

Merlin and Carol also went to Wal-Mart to buy a few necessities, including contact lens cases for both Merlin and Chris. They filled their vehicle with gasoline, and they, too, were on their way to Rochester. About 12 hours after finding out that their son had a hole in his heart, they were in Rochester.



While at the Mayo Clinic, Chris underwent more blood work. The next morning, an Amplatzer Patent Foramen Ovale Occluder was placed in a catheter that was inserted in his groin area. The catheter was then threaded through a vein. One of the discs of the 14-millimeter occluder was deployed through the hole and placed on one side of it.

• Six days after his surgery, he scored 13 points in a game against Warroad. Vern, his coach, said he's amazed by modern medicine and the fact that Chris could play basketball so soon after his surgery.

The procedure

The Amplatzer Patent Foramen Ovale Occluder

Inside a catheter, the device goes through the hole, and one of the discs is deployed.

The other disc is connected to the first disc, closing the hole.

The cable holding the disc is removed along with the catheter.

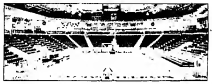
TRF hospital buys out Altru Clinic partner

Last week, Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls signed an agreement with Altru Health System, Grand Forks, N.D., to assume Altru's 25 percent interest in Altru Northwest Clinic, located on NWMC's campus. NWMC will become the sole owner of the clinic as of May 1, 2007. The clinic has four providers and cares for approximately 4,000 patients per year.

Altru Health System and Northwest Medical Center partnered in 1996 to provide Altru Northwest Clinic, with equal ownership. NWMC assumed majority ownership in 2000, with Altru operating and managing the clinic until October 2006, at which time NWMC assumed daily operations and management duties. "The relationship between Altru and NWMC has been mutually beneficial and although these two organizations will no longer be partners, their relationship will continue to support optimal patient care."



With full ownership of the clinic to take place, NWMC will receive assistance from MeritCare Health System, Fargo, N.D., to help with the transition. This partnership is separate from the possible partnership of NWMC hospital operations and MeritCare, even though it makes perfect sense to work with a potential future partner, said Chris Harff, CEO of NWMC. "Regardless of the final decision that is made on the NWMC/MeritCare hospital partnership, the clinic operation will move forward with MeritCare's assistance."

What will the new clinic operations look like? Current medical staffing of the clinic will not be seriously altered, according to NWMC Chief Operation Officer Rob Lovejoy. "It's important to us that our patients know that this change in partnership for operation purposes does not mean that a whole new group of providers will be staffing the clinic. We simply wish to avoid the very messy step of handling all operations of the clinic independently while the NWMC board and MeritCare determine whether they are going to move ahead with a full partnership."

"In May, NWMC will own 100 percent of the clinic housed in this facility," said Harff. "That means that we had the choice of either taking on that operation ourselves with astronomical expense, time and effort, or working with another partner who specializes in clinic operations to assist in the interim."

Lovejoy said, "Instead of complicating the process by having to make a move to independent status and then work with MeritCare, we're cutting out the middle, very costly step."

Funds sought for new basketball floor at REA - TRF

by April Schelnuba
Reporter

Over the past three seasons of Section 8A boys and girls basketball, local residents have gotten used to seeing a basketball court during tournaments at Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls. They're seeing a used, deteriorating basketball court, and the city hopes to raise funds for a new basketball court.

Dale Wennberg, marketing and events coordinator for REA and the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, believes it will cost close to $100,000 for a new basketball court as well as basketball hoops. Of that amount, he estimated it would cost $85,000 for a new basketball court.

"I would hope that we would have a new basketball floor next year," said Wennberg. "That might be an ambitious wish but I hope in nine months that we'd have a new floor ordered."

The city has received a pledge of $30,000 over a three-year period from Lincoln High School graduate Allan Williamson and his wife, Marvel Williamson, a 1952 graduate, currently lives in Wisconsin and is a former LHS basketball player. The Williamsons have already paid $10,000 toward the pledge.

Wennberg hopes to hold a fundraiser by selling parts of the basketball court to those who would like pieces of it as a souvenir. However, the Thief River Falls City Council has yet to determine if it wishes to host such a fundraiser. Before the city could sell pieces of the court, the council would have to designate the court as surplus property.

Currently, Parks and Recreation Department staff spend about four hours placing the basketball court onto the "dry floor" that sits atop the ice for events other than hockey games. Staff then put what Wennberg calls "putty" into sections of the court that are deteriorating. After that, the putty cures for eight [illegible]

Is spring coming? Maybe we can think spring anyway with today's recipes.

I have rhubarb in my freezer and my taste buds are hollering for me to make something with it, even if I haven't seen a single sign of spring. How about a pie:

DOUBLE CRUST RHUBARB PIE

1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
2 eggs
4 cups chopped fresh or *frozen rhubarb
Pastry for double crust pie (next recipe)
1 tablespoon butter

In large bowl, combine sugar, flour and cinnamon. Add eggs and whisk smooth. Gently stir in rhubarb. Line a 9 inch pie pan with pastry and add filling. Dot with butter.

Roll out remaining pastry and place over filling. Trim, seal and flute edges. Cut slits in top. (I like to cover the edges of the pie with foil strips now so they don't get too dark -SL.) Bake at 400 degrees for 45-50 minutes or until crust is golden and filling is bubbly. Cool on wire rack. Store in refrigerator.

*If using frozen rhubarb, measure while still frozen, then thaw completely. Drain in a colander but do not press liquid out.

Here's a simple recipe for pie crust - I got it from a gentleman, if you can believe it. It's very quick and easy and you always have the ingredients on hand. Double it and freeze in "patties" (not round balls) for future pie fixes:

CALVIN'S CRUSTS

2 cups flour
1/3 cup plus 1 tablespoon water (icy cold)
3/4 cup shortening or lard
1/2 teaspoon salt

Mix flour, shortening and salt with fork or pie blender. Add ice water and mix with spatula. Divide into 2 or 3 balls, depending on size of pie plate. Scraps can be re-rolled and then made into another pie shell or cut into squares and dusted with cinnamon sugar and baked for "cookies."

Since it is Lent again, here's another nice fish recipe for you to try. This recipe is a small one, so double it if you plan to serve a bunch. I like to top salmon loaf with creamed peas instead of the sauce, but each to his own:

MINI SALMON LOAF

3/4 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onion (or less)
2 tablespoons oil
1 small can salmon (7-1/2 ounces), drained and with bones and skin removed
1 egg, lightly beaten
2 tablespoons milk
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Dill Sauce:
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon milk
2 teaspoon snipped fresh dill
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/8 teaspoon pepper

In skillet, saute celery and onion in oil until tender.

In bowl, combine salmon, egg, milk, bread crumbs, salt, pepper and celery mixture. Transfer to greased 5-3/4 x 3x2 inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 40-45 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean.

In small bowl, combine sauce ingredients. Serve with salmon loaf. Recipe serves 2 or 3.

You have the crust recipe - how about one more pie? Make this one for company though, so you can only have one small piece - it's rich as can be - but oh, so good:

TEXAS PECAN PIE

1-1/4 cups chopped pecans
1 cup plus 1 tablespoon light corn syrup
3 eggs
1/2 cup plus 1 tablespoon sugar
1-1/2 teaspoons vanilla
Pinch of salt

Place pie crust in 9 inch pan, fluting edges. Sprinkle with pecans.

In small bowl, beat corn syrup, eggs, sugar, vanilla and salt until blended. Pour over pecans. Bake at 350 degrees for 45-50 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Cool on rack. Top with whipped cream if you dare. Serves 8 (or 6).

Make these pretzels for a special snack treat or to have with that tasty casserole - they're easy and fun:

GIANT PRETZELS

1-1/2 teaspoons active dry yeast
3/4 cup warm water
1-1/2 teaspoons sugar
3/4 teaspoon salt
1-1/2 cups flour
2 tablespoons butter
Coarse salt

In large bowl, dissolve yeast in warm water. Add sugar and salt and stir in flour, 1/2 cup at a time, to form a soft dough.

Turn out on floured surface and knead smooth and elastic, about 5 minutes. Dough will be sticky. Place in greased bowl and turn once to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down and divide into 6 portions. On lightly floured surface, roll each portion into a 14 inch long rope and twist into pretzel shape. Place on greased sheets and brush with butter and sprinkle with coarse salt. Bake at 425 degrees for 15-20 minutes or until golden. Remove to wire racks. Serve warm. Makes 6 pretzels.

Who shall cull the deer herd?

Few seem to disagree that the state needs to get a handle on the bovine TB problem in this part of the state. It has or will have a significant impact on ranchers, deer hunters and our economy. Judging from the reaction of residents who attended a meeting in Wannaska recently, not everyone is happy that a USDA shooting team will be culling the deer herd in the area.

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources is charged with the responsibility of managing the deer population, and addressing this problem, so the fault, if any, rests in their court.

How should the herd be culled?

Some are claiming that since the deer eat crops on their property, and in a sense, they manage the deer herd, they should be allowed to thin the herd. From the perspective of the land owners, that's completely understandable. It might even be argued that they could do it for less money than professionals. But, it raises the question of who should be culling the deer herd.

Does "property owner" mean owners who live in the Twin Cities or elsewhere, too? Geographic proximity certainly should dictate that local residents should be allowed to participate in the hunt, too. After all, they pay taxes, and if they hunt in the area, they contribute to the management of the herd. What about former or past residents who have left the state? Should non-residents be allowed to hunt the deer?

Because who should be allowed to hunt raises so many questions, I wonder at the sheer number of questions that an open hunt proposal would raise for the DNR. Past practice would answer many of the questions, but if they were to issue permits, how much would they charge and how many applications would they offer? Who would sell the licenses? Where would the filled deer tags be processed, and deer checked for signs of TB? How long would the season be? If someone strayed outside of the zone, would there be a fine? Staffing might pose the biggest problem - how many staff people would be required to manage the deer hunt, and work at the check-in stations? And what about the weather? What if a big storm came up and hunters became stranded? How would they prepare for that? And, from the perspective of a taxpayer - how much is all this going to cost?

The sheer number of questions raised by a proposal that would allow the public to cull the herd probably explains why the DNR chose to hire a three-person USDA team. It's completely reasonable to assume, and in fact I know I'm not risking anything with that assumption, that DNR officials did discuss this option. While it has been explained that a hunt team is more efficient, it's also true that there's less control with an open season, time is a factor, and registration is completely voluntary, which doesn't give the DNR the answer to an important question - how prevalent is the disease.

According to DNR officials, of the 120 deer or so that have been taken by the hunt team, two have been described as "suspect." That still leaves the incidence rate at just less than 1 percent. From my sources, I also know that the DNR is also planning to issue permits to landowners in the near future, and more than likely, they will conduct a special hunt in the area next fall, too.

A certain percentage of the population will never trust the DNR, and some will never listen to them because of that, but it's also true that the DNR may have missed an opportunity to improve the situation by more fully discussing their reasoning for not conducting a special hunting option first. The decision to go with a special team may very well be the right decision, but area residents needed to be included in the decision-making process.

LETTERS

Should the DNR be accountable? Or should the Legislature just wake up?

Each year since 1994, the Environment and Natural Resources Trust Fund has received 40 percent of Minnesota Lottery net proceeds plus 72.4 percent of the sales tax that is paid on lottery sales. In 2005, lottery and sales tax money amounted to $47.2 million, with $28 million from lottery proceeds going to their Trust Fund. The 2006 lottery and sales tax money amounted to $53.4 million, with $32.4 million lottery proceeds also being preserved in their Trust Fund.

The 72.4 percent of sales tax collected each year from lottery sales is divided up equally between Fish and Wildlife and the DNR. I might add, this money is used to fund many different projects throughout the state, which is more than one can say about their Trust Fund.

The Minnesota Constitution provides that up to 5.5 percent of the market value of the Trust Fund "can be utilized for projects each year."

A constitutional amendment passed in November of 1998 ensures that the Trust Fund will continue to receive lottery proceeds through December 2024.

As of June 30, 2005, the Trust Fund had $366 million. June 30, 2006, it was $399 million, that's about a 9 percent increase in one year. OK, let's go with a 9 percent increase for the 17 years that are left with this amendment. After 17 years, the Trust Fund would have $1.7 billion. My bet is that it will be over $2 Billion dollars in 2024.

On Feb. 07, 2007, the Senate Environment and Natural Resources Committee passed a proposed constitutional amendment to fund outdoor resources, clean water, and arts amenities. The proposal puts a constitutional amendment question on the 2008 general election ballot asking voters if they would "increase the state tax by 3/8 of 1 percent." If approved, the estimated $300 million a year in new revenue would be divided among outdoor programs, water clean-up, and art amenities.

2005 State Fair Polling Results on these same issues

Representatives Poll: 73.8 percent said yes; 16.4 percent said no. (8,822 voted)

Senate Poll: 61.8 percent said yes, and 27.7 percent said no. (4,820 voted)

This amendment will be for the next 25 years. When one adds lottery net proceeds, sales tax and 3/8 of 1 percent together it will be over a million dollars a day in income for our DNR.

Remember, our legislators, starting with our Senate committee, are permitting this to happen. It was a DFL senator from International Falls who introduced this 3/8 of 1 percent three or four years ago.

This will increase our sales tax to 7 percent. Why don't they just ask the question, on the general election ballot?

Would you like to pay a 7 percent sales tax, rather than 6.5 percent? Yes or No (Circle one)

I ask you, legislators, how much of this "new money" will go towards their Trust Fund? Will it too be exempt from the Minnesota Constitution, which "provides that up to 5.5 percent of the market value of the Trust Fund can be utilized for projects each year?"

Well voters, you know what it looks like, smells like and sounds like. In November 2008, we can vote on this bill that provides MEGA income for the DNR for the next 25 years - 50 percent for clean water initiatives, 50 percent for improvement of fish and wildlife - to the tune of $150 million. We already have too many deer, wolves have been taken off the endangered list; there are more bald eagles today than 50 years ago; and, most parks and golf courses have problems with duck and goose dung already.

Who will manage this $150 million for clean water initiatives? The DNR?

What we need is a full blown audit of this department from a private audit company.

Have any of our legislators thought about what kind of a monster they are creating?

At the time of the accident, Tracie A. Peterson, 28, Middle River, was driving a 1996 Pontiac Grand Prix northbound on Highway 32. Both drivers were wearing their seat belts. Peterson's car sustained minor damage, and Skadsem's van sustained moderate damage. The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

Walleye Spinner Meditation

People work so hard to find peace in a tumultuous world. Some make such a process of finding peace they create trouble for themselves while others spend money on cars or boats which they hope will transport them to inner peace. I found a person who discovered sanctuary from the day's noise and upset in a simple act; he ties walleye spinners.

I don't know anyone more content than Travis Black. Travis is happy because he pursues the simple things that many overlook in favor of larger houses with an ever-increasing number of garage doors. His focus is on family, friends and the outdoors - a philosophy that extends to his choice of hobbies. If you know Travis, then it makes perfect sense that he seeks relaxation and solace in the simple, repetitive act of tying walleye spinners. Travis decided to build walleye spinners about a year ago then taught himself with help from the Internet. He told me he likes to surprise people with these useful yet surprisingly decorative handmade pieces. It's also an inexpensive hobby unless, like Travis, you have 400 extra spinners and counting. (By the way, he was making more spinners while I wrote this column.)

I asked Travis to take me through the construction of a walleye spinner. With each step, Travis makes fishing line, two hooks, colored beads and a spinner into a useable tool to catch fish. Make a knot, cut the excess line, count the beads, make nine wraps with the fishing line, make another knot and Travis had a spinner. The process held my focus and I forgot what was going on in the room. Each detail used up a little more of my attention and shut out the demands of that particular moment. It was like the assembly process became a mantra in this fresh-water meditative state. I could feel my shoulders relax and my breath deepen while I viewed the process.

Travis sometimes gives the spinners away for presents with pride as they're "just like store-bought." My experience with handmade and store bought is that handmade most often wins. Travis pays attention to each detail, which makes me think that a recipient of these little gifts receive better than retail can provide. Travis made a spinner for me and though I don't fish, it was very nice and I enjoyed knowing the process that created it. It's like watching someone prepare your food, it's more pleasant to eat it than when it's created anonymously behind a bank of stainless steel.

Travis told me he felt building spinners was similar to sewing or quilting, "a nice quiet thing to pass time and keep your hands busy." He said it made him feel good to build a tool he needs to catch a simple meal for his family. It all spoke to the core of human beings; the need to quiet our minds, the need to feel useful even as we relax, the need to feed our loved ones. I bet it will even catch fish.

TRF property owners reminded to shovel sidewalks

Thief River Falls Public Works Director Ron Lindberg reminds property owners to shovel their sidewalks within 24 hours of a snow event. Under city ordinance, the city will notify property owners if their sidewalks aren't shoveled. The city then has the right to hire someone to shovel the property owner's sidewalks and then bill the property owner for the snow removal.

Andrew Peralta of the Prowlers worked a power-half against Aaron Grozdanich of Hibbing in the championship match of the 2007 Section 8AA high school wrestling individual tournament. Peralta won the match 6-2 to advance to the state tournament for the third time in his career. He reached the finals with pins over Matt Bowstring of Deer River/Northland and Aaron Jacobson of Roseau.

Weather erases a busy Thursday sports schedule

Thursday's busy high school sports schedule was wiped out by the snowy weather that hit Minnesota.

Thief River Falls post-season contests pushed back a day to Friday included the Section 8A boys hockey championship game against Warroad at the East Grand Forks Civic Center Arena and a Section 8AAA girls high school basketball tournament quarterfinal game at Perham.

The Moorhead vs. Roseau Section 8AA boys high school hockey tournament championship game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena that night was also moved back a day.

A Thief River Falls boys high school regular season home basketball game against Roseau was canceled and will not be rescheduled.

All eight Section 8A East and West girls high school basketball tournament quarterfinal games scheduled Thursday were rescheduled for Friday, and the Saturday semifinals were moved to Monday.

Class AA wrestling tournament...

TRF drops 31-24 state meet debut

An early Thief River Falls lead was erased by six straight Adrian Area upper-weight wins Wednesday as the Dragons beat the Prowlers 31-24 in the opening round of the 2007 Class AA Minnesota state high school wrestling tournament at the Xcel Energy Center in St. Paul.

Making their first-ever appearance in the team portion of the state meet, the Section 8AA champion Prowlers won five of the first seven matches for an 18-7 lead.

However, Adrian Area wrestlers were winners from 145 pounds through 215 to clinch a spot in the championship round semifinals.

It was the fourth straight and ninth overall state appearance for the Dragons, the Class AA runner-up in 2004.

Thief River Falls winners were Kyle LeDuc (103), Steve Keogh (119), Jordan Engen (125), Kevin Fynboh (135), Kyle Anderson (140) and Andrew Peralta (285).

Adrian Area, the No. 6 ranked team in the final regular season Class AA poll, improved its dual record to 28-9 with the win. Thief River Falls, No. 9 in that same poll, took a 19-6 record into the Friday consolation round.

Seven Prowlers were scheduled to wrestle in the individual portion of the tournament starting Thursday.

Eagles' first half defense sets up a final-game win

Grygla-Gatzke limited Tri-County to 11 first half points Monday en route to a 55-41 boys high school basketball win at Karlstad.

Anthony Gast and Chris Klamar had 18-point games for the Eagles, while Brady Olson scored 12. Jacob Grandstrand led the Wildcats with 14 points.

Grygla-Gatzke enjoyed a 23-11 cushion at intermission.

"Defensively, especially in the first half, we were solid," said Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson. "We picked up some early fouls, but I thought we did a pretty good job staying out of foul trouble the rest of the game."

The Eagles shot 50 percent from the field (17/34) and made 15 of 16 free throw attempts. The Wildcats shot 39 percent from the floor (16/41) and went 7-for-15 at the line. Grygla-Gatzke had an 18-13 rebound edge. Tri-County topped the turnover charts 15-14.

Spuds pull out 60-59 win

■ Moorhead beats TRF on last-second 3-pointer

If you're only going to make one basket in a game, make it a big one. That's what Andrew Burns did Tuesday night. Scoreless for 35 minutes, 59 seconds, Burns hit a 3-point buzzer beater to give visiting Moorhead a dramatic 60-59 boys high school basketball win over Thief River Falls.

The 15-6 Class AAA Prowlers nearly pulled off an upset against the No. 4-ranked team in Class AAAA that brought a 20-3 record into the Lincoln High School gym. With his team trailing 57-56 and time running out, senior guard Lee Peterson drew a foul while putting up a 3-pointer. He made all three foul shots to put Thief River Falls ahead 59-57 with just 4.2 seconds remaining.

Moorhead stopped the clock with a time-out after the final free throw. The Spuds needed to go the length of the court and get off a shot before the horn sounded. And that's just what they did with a long in-bounds throw to Eric Lien, who caught the ball at his free throw line, then quickly dished it off to Burns, whose 22-foot runner went off the backboard and into the basket for the win.

There was satisfaction in playing well, but little consolation in losing a close game to a recognized power, according to Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. "We don't believe in moral victories," he said. "It hurt to lose like that. The kids played well enough to win."

The Prowlers had a 17-10 lead early and were within 36-32 at the half when Jeremy Sich beat the horn with a 3-pointer. A strong start following the intermission break opened up an 11-point Moorhead lead, but Thief River Falls battled back.

"The kids didn't give up," said McLean. "It was a well-played game by both teams. We didn't give them a lot of open 3-pointers, and that kept us in it. I thought we rebounded well late, and that was probably the difference in making it close at the end."

Lien led all scorers with 22 points. Tyler Bunnington and Jordan Driscoll added 14 and 13 points, respectively, to the Spuds' offense. Alex Yaggie had a 21-point game for the Prowlers, with Kaysey Trontvet adding 11.

Thief River Falls was 18-for-45 from the field (40 percent) and 19-for-27 at the free throw line. Moorhead put together a 50 percent 25-for-50 shooting performance and went 5-for-9 at the line. The Spuds finished with a 32-27 rebound edge. The Prowlers had more turnovers, 19-15.

It was the second straight down-to-the-wire finish against a strong opponent for the Prowlers, who lost a 76-74 decision to Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton at Concordia College Saturday.

"I was proud of our effort," offered McLean. "I think we've proved we can play against anybody. We just need to learn how to win in those situations."

Grand Rapids 4A swim champ

Team honors went to host Grand Rapids at the 2007 Section 4A boys high school swim meet held Feb. 22 and 24.

The Thunderhawks finished with 404 points, followed by Hibbing with 375, Park Rapids Area 228, Mesabi East 193, Duluth East 183, Chisholm 181, Eveleth-Gilbert 181, Virginia 168, International Falls 136, Thief River Falls 65 and Duluth Denfeld 58.

Top eight finishers in the Thursday prelims swam the Saturday championship finals. Those placing 9 through 16 in the prelims returned to swim the consolation finals.

Thief River Falls 200 yard freestyle and 400 freestyle relay teams were championship qualifiers.

Sophomore Cody Reese, eighth grader Kenton Johnson, sophomore Tyler Olson and junior Brian Kays went off the blocks in that order en route to a seventh place 3:37.22 finish in the 400 freestyle relay. They were eighth in the prelims.

That same group went Kays-Johnson-Olson-Reese for an eighth place 1:37.70 finish in the 200 freestyle relay following a seventh place prelim swim.

Kays, Reese and Olson were individual place finishers in the consolation finals.

It was a tenth place finish second in the consolation finals for Kays in the 200 individual medley, a tenth in the 50 freestyle and a 16th in the 100 freestyle for Reese, a 14th in the 100 freestyle and a 16th in the 50 freestyle for Olson.

Thief River Falls coach Lisa Knott was pleased with the post season showing by the young Prowlers. "The boys swam very well overall," she said following the prelims. "Nearly every swimmer had personal-best times in at least one event. Several swimmers are returning from injury and illness, and swam well despite having missed some key pool time. Both the 200 and 400 free relays swam extremely well. The 200 dropped three seconds and the 400 dropped nine."

Those returning to the pool Saturday continued to impress Knott, who said, "The boys swam well in the finals. They all either maintained or dropped time for the most part. The relays swam well, but were a bit disappointed about not making state."

The competition at Grand Rapids was tough, according to Knott. "This is the fastest section meet 4A has had in a long time, as evident by the eight automatic qualifiers in the

Ada-Borup wins 68-44 game against B/G-MR

Ada-Borup lived up to its No. 1 ranking in Class A girls high school basketball Monday with a 68-44 win over No. 9 Badger/Greenbush-Middle River. The late-season schedule addition was played at Northland Community and Technical College.

"They're very good," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer. "They really get up and down the court."

The 24-1 Cougars, who have won 17 straight games since losing a 55-46 game to Crookston, the No. 2-rated team in Class AA, had it pretty much locked up at halftime with a 31-15 lead.

"They came out and made everything, and we missed everything," said Neibauer. "I haven't seen a team shoot like that all year."

Guards Katie Ness (a sophomore) and Kelli Smart (a senior) led a balanced Ada-Borup attack with 16 points each – a figure matched by Badger/Greenbush-Middle River senior center Kaley Mekash.

The Gators shot 33 percent from the field (17/51) and went 8-for-16 at the three throw line, where the Cougars were 11-for-17.

It was the end of a 13-game winning streak for the Gators, who finished the regular season 22-4.

Peterson's Foods from Local Farms conference rescheduled

After winter weather forced postponement, Congressman Collin Peterson announced that The Home Grown Economy: Foods from Local Farms as an Economic Development Tool conference has been rescheduled for Monday, April 2, 2007.

The conference will be held on April 2, at the University of Minnesota, Morris, and is being held in conjunction with the University of Minnesota, the Minnesota Institute of Sustainable Agriculture, Northwest and West Central Regional Sustainable Development Partnership, U of M Morris, U of M Extension Service, and the West Central Research and Outreach Center.

There is a limited amount of space left, and registrations will be taken online at www.regionalparterships.umn.edu.

"We're seeing a demand for more locally grown foods available in grocery stores, and also for consumption in restaurants, schools and hospitals," Peterson said. "There are opportunities to keep our local economy strong by using farmers to supply their neighbors with food directly.

"Localized supply chains, or new value chains, can provide opportunities for profit for rural entrepreneurs and main street businesses that want to participate in processing and distribution of food. My goal in sponsoring this conference is to provide an opportunity to learn about and explore how these new value chains can become an economic development engine for our communities."

22 people killed on state roads in February

Minnesota Department of Public Safety preliminary traffic crash reports indicate 22 people were killed and 87 were seriously injured on state roads in February.

The February deaths include 19 vehicle occupants, two semi-trailer occupants and one pedestrian. Of the vehicle occupants killed, 12 weren't wearing seat belts. Alcohol-related crashes resulted in at least 11 of the serious injuries; alcohol use in fatal crashes is unknown at this time.

Traffic deaths occurred in 13 counties. There were four deaths in Dakota County; two deaths each in Goodhue, Hennepin, Polk, Washington and Wright counties; and one death each in Beltrami, Chisago, Dodge, Faribault, Redwood, Sherburne and Waseca counties. The location of one crash is unknown at this time.

Of those killed, five were ages 15 to 29, five were ages 30 to 44, six were ages 45 to 59, and six were age 60 or older. Of those killed, 13 were male and nine were female.

Preliminary statewide traffic crash statistics are compiled from the Minnesota State Patrol and reporting county and city law enforcement agencies. The crash totals will increase as additional reports are submitted.

Mammograms and Dexa scans confirm the need for screening

First Care Medical Services of Fosston conducted mammogram and Dexa scan screenings during October and November. Mammogram screenings detect cancer problems early and improve the success of treatment. Breast cancer is the most frequently diagnosed cancer in women, and it is suspected that 275,000 additional cases will occur in 2007.

The results of the First Care mammogram screening at First Care follows the national statistics or are a little bit higher. Out of the 250 screenings done in October, November and December, First Care called five patients back for additional imaging due to suspicious findings, and two were found to be positive for breast cancer.

The Bone Density scanner was added at First Care because of the alarming statistic that one of every two women will suffer from a fracture due to osteoporosis. Dexa scans detect osteoporosis at much earlier stages when it can still be controlled.

During this same screening period, First Care performed 65 Dexa scans, and 45 patients were found to be positive for Osteopenia or Osteoporosis (69%) and 20 were normal.

As the old adage says, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Mammograms and Dexa scans are very much worth the time it takes to schedule an appointment. If you were not able to schedule an appointment for a mammogram or Dexa scan, contact your medical provider and schedule an appointment.

His heart is in the game

Another disc was then deployed and connected to the first disc, closing the hole. The catheter was then taken out. The surgery lasted one-and-a-half hours.

After the surgery, Chris' parents called Grygla Principal Pam Johnson to tell her that the surgery went well. She announced it on the public address system at the school. "I guess the whole school went pretty nuts," Merlin said.

That night, the boys basketball team had a game. Chris wanted to be there with his team. Right after his surgery, he pulled out one of the devices that was monitoring him. It beeped. If it were up to Chris, he would've been in a hospital gown and hitching a ride home to be back for the game, Merlin said.

After the home game, Chris' girlfriend, Jenna Wellman, had Chris' teammates talk to him on her cell phone. "They said they won for him," Merlin said.

The next morning, Feb. 17, Merlin, Carol and Chris were on their way back to their home in Gatzke. Every one-and-a-half hours, they would have to stop to give Chris the opportunity to get out of the vehicle. He needed to move around in order to prevent blood clots.

Chris was cleared to play basketball 48 hours after his surgery. To be safe, his doctor told him to take it easy for three days. Five days after the surgery, he was back at practice. "I was little leery," said Chris about his first day of basketball practice after his surgery. Now, he doesn't let it bother him.

Six days after his surgery, he scored 13 points in a game against Warroad. Vern, his coach, said he's amazed by modern medicine and the fact that Chris could play basketball so soon after his surgery.

Chris does have some restrictions. He has to take an aspirin a day for six months, and he can't lift weights for 18 weeks. Chris was told his heart might race for a while as it is getting used to a foreign object. Eventually, that will subside. He has a checkup in six months.

Merlin and Carol are thankful for Chris' doctors. They're also thankful for Don, who told Chris that he needed to call his dad after what was later determined to be the stroke.

But most of all, they're thankful that there weren't any serious complications from the stroke and/or the the hole in Chris' heart. Merlin noted Chris could have had a blood clot while he was on the basketball court, and the outcome could've been different. Merlin reminds all parents and kids that if someone passes out, it's a good thing to have that person checked out by a doctor. He noted that people have holes in their hearts before birth and those holes typically close on their own. However, about 25 percent of people still have the holes in their hearts after birth and many don't even know about it. It's moments like what happened to Chris in which the holes can be found.

Merlin said, "We're just grateful that the doctors found [the hole in Chris' heart]."

to 12 hours. Sometimes, the putty shrinks and staff members have to place more putty into the deteriorating portions of the basketball court. Staff members then put clear plastic tape over the areas on which putty was placed. The tape helps prevent the putty from coming off of the court due to the players running on it or basketballs being bounced on it. Wennberg said the city had planned more permanent repairs for the basketball court; however, the city was told it was not worth it.

"It would be great to have a newer court in there," said Jerry Dalzell, Minnesota State High School League Region 8A executive secretary. Dalzell added that he hasn't had any complaints from teams playing on the basketball court. He noted that once the putty cures, the court does work well for the basketball teams. Yet, Dalzell said time would be saved if putty didn't have to be placed in deteriorating parts of the court.

The city bought the used basketball court from the University of North Dakota two years ago for $25,000. This year will mark the third time that the city has used the basketball court. During the first year that it used the basketball court for Section 8A basketball tournaments, it borrowed the court from UND. For the tournaments, it currently uses basketball hoops that belong to UND and REA - Grand Forks, N.D.

To donate to the project, send a check to Ralph Engelstad Arena, c/o the city of Thief River Falls, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, or drop off a check at REA, 525 Brooks Ave. N. Checks should be written to the Ralph Engelstad Arena and should designate that the check is for the basketball court.

DNR QUESTIONS

Q: When is a good time to start planning your lakeshore restoration project and what should a property owner know when planning?

A: Winter is a great time to start envisioning and planning a new lakeshore. The first step in any restoration project is to design a master site plan for the entire property. This includes figuring out the types of plants that can be used and are best suited to the conditions of the your site. The easiest way to figure out which plants will work is to look at the native plants that are growing in the water and along the shoreline of undisturbed property on your lake or river. Remember to only use plants native to Minnesota, and if your plan calls for planting in the water or at the waters edge, a permit may be necessary from the Minnesota DNR Aquatic Plant Management Program. There are two great resources that can help with any lakeshore restoration project - "Restore Your Shore" CD-ROM and the "Lakescaping for Wildlife and Water Quality" book. Once the master plan is complete, it is a good idea to do the project in phases to make the process less expensive and less daunting.

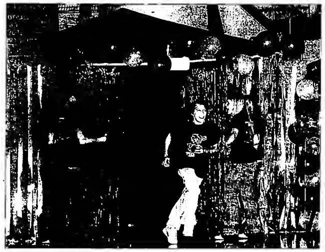
the "Iowa Phantom," that was never seen by man. However, he did leave behind four sets of his shed antlers proving his existence. His antlers that are on display score over 270 inches.

As unique as the display itself is, the custom-designed trailer that houses it all was built specifically for the purpose that everyone and anyone, no matter what their physical requirements are, will be able to enjoy the display. The entire display is shown inside a 38 foot enclosed trailer that is accessible and safe for all ages.

Cole points out that the display is not just for hunters, but for anyone who enjoys the outdoors and likes seeing wildlife. "We put a lot of thought into this display and feel it has been done in very good taste. If you like seeing deer, no matter what your wildlife interests are, we are certain that you'll enjoy the unique beauty that these deer have to offer."



Dale Livingood, sales manager for Artistic Antlers of New Richland, Wis., had this to say after seeing the Wild Whitetails display for the first time, "I've seen all the big whitetail displays, the Legendary collection, Bass Pro Shops, the Kings collection, just to name a few. If you had a choice between a Ford Escort or a new BMW it's pretty obvious what you would choose. I can tell you right now, Wild Whitetails is the BMW of deer displays."

Wherever white-tail deer roam, there are always a few that are bigger than all the others, those that hold a unique and genuine character that none other share, these are the deer that become local legends, and those that are seen as ghosts of the wilderness. It's these deer, the Ghosts and the Legends, that are the epitome of Wild Whitetails.

Wild Whitetails is based out of Dilworth, and is family owned and operated by Dan and Holly Cole, along with their two daughters Emily and Hanna. The display is a visual testament to the uniqueness of the white-tail deer and the admiration and fixation that mankind has for the antlers of North Americas most popular big game animal.

In addition to Wild Whitetails the 2007 Hunting Classic will feature Minnesota Measurers, who will be on hand to score the public's mounts and racks for Pope and Young, and Boone and Crockett. The public is invited to visit with the exhibitors and take advantage of a number of seminars that include a presentation by Joe Canalla at noon on Saturday called "Tips and Tricks" for successfull turkey hunting. Brad Troftbugen will provide insight into varmint hunting and Jim Benson shares his Africa hunting adventures.

Streiff Sporting Goods Hunting Classic all takes place March 16 thru 18 and offers something for everyone. For more information on this year's classic, or to display a mount, contact Streiff Sporting Goods at 218-386-2590 or visit them on the Web at www.streiffs.com

Kyle LaDuc, a member of the Thief River Falls Prowler wrestling team going to the state tournament, enters the gymnasium at Lincoln High School during an assembly for the wrestling team. An assembly was conducted at the school on Tuesday. This is the team's first trip to state.

Ordinance not well accepted by landowners

Greenbush - Approximately 100 people attended a Feb. 28 meeting called by the Greenbush City Council regarding a zoning ordinance passed by the council on Feb. 20.

"The passage of the ordinance was not well accepted by the landowners involved within the two-mile radius of the Greenbush city limits, all land being located in Hereim Township. A considerable number of questions were raised." - The Tribune of Greenbush, March 7, 2007, by Movis Gonshorowski

County holds to "no net loss" policy

Baudette - "Lake of the Woods County Board members tabled action on a land acquisition request from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources last week.

"The land in question is a 634.18-acre parcel in McDougald Township, along County Road 4, owned by Dean Bernard.

"The DNR wants the land because it is bordered on three sides by Graceton Wildlife Management Area land and would connect two large WMA land pieces together to form one larger area. A half-mile of a snowmobile trail goes through this parcel."

"The board members discussed the possibility of trading this land for state land. It wouldn't have to be an acre-for-acre trade but maybe a value-for-value trade.

"Mike Carroll, regional director for the DNR, was at the meeting and said he couldn't make any promises, but that he and the county could work on trades as a goal." - The Baudette Region, March 6, 2007, by Penny Mio

Wannaska Lions' 10th Annual Fishing Derby is a big success

Who let the dogs out?

Warroad - "When you think of northern Minnesota, you think of hockey, snowmobiles and ice fishing. It is all of those things and so much more. You can add dogsledding to that list. Sixteen-year-old Jacob Boyd of Warroad spends most of his winter dogsledding.

"Jacob and his family have raised and trained 28 sled dogs, most of which originate back to village dogs used in Alaska." - Warroad Pioneer, March 7, 2007, by Julie Kvarn

Don't be small ... be big!

Lisa Arnold, artist in residence at Challenger Elementary School in Thief River Falls, asks students to create a poem from the picture she holds. Eventually, students working with Arnold, will help create large mosaic murals for the school.

Artist in residence

Piecing together solutions to challenges at Challenger

by David Hill
Editor

Often ascribed to Nelson Mandela, the following quote actually came from Marianne Williamson, an author: "Your playing small does not serve the world. There is nothing enlightened about shrinking so that other people won't feel insecure around you. We were born to make manifest the glory of God within us."

"Don't be small ... be big."

Gradually, hands, small hands attached to small bodies - children who are eager to share their thoughts - begin to wave in the air.

Lisa Arnold still remembers the challenges she faced as a new student in Thief River Falls. Today, she helps students overcome obstacles in their lives by showing them how to express their feelings through art and poetry ... and by telling them: Don't be small ... be big."

Dealing with challenges is the theme of a five-week artist-in-residency program at Challenger Elementary School that is being led by the former Thief River Falls resident.

Ultimately, the project which explores challenges students face and overcome, will result in the construction of two to six three-foot wide by seven-foot high mosaic panels. Students will not only develop the theme for the panels by expressing their thoughts and experiences through poetry, performance and then visual art, they will also participate in the construction of the panels. A dedication ceremony is scheduled for sometime at the end of April.

"I think this project is important not only because it develops young people's writing, verbal and visual skills, but it also helps children connect with themselves and their community," said Arnold. "By working with a living artist, children also learn to see art as a vital and viable practice."

This is a great opportunity for our students" said Principal Patrick Marolt. "Lisa has so much energy, passion, and knowledge which radiates to the children. Right now, the children are learning about poetry and they are having fun doing it."

Arnold has always had an interest in art, but she admits the path to realization, meandered a bit. Arnold said her mother and grandmother were artists, but probably thought of themselves as crafters instead of artists. When Arnold graduated from Lincoln High School in 1985, she entered the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks, N.D., and graduated with degrees in public speaking, interpersonal communication and romantic literature. She's currently working on her doctorate.

In between her studies, she took what she described as a short break, during which she traveled to Europe, worked at a ski resort and a museum in Portland, Ore., and at several other places.

But Arnold explained that she has always been drawn to art, collage in particular, and then one day she received a letter from a friend, who also makes mosaics. Intrigued, Arnold said she went to the Internet, obtained information on how to make a mosaic and "got addicted."

Arnold described it as feeling like she "just couldn't stop."

That was two and one-half years ago. As she reflects on the path that brought her to this day, Arnold said the whole path she had taken, pushed, even propelled her into it.

Students at Challenger Elementary School are excited about the prospect of working with Lisa Arnold (back row, center), artist in residence at the school, to create large mosaics for the school.

St. Hilaire Fire Dept. awarded grant for truck

$148,050 Assistance to Firefighters Grant will be used to purchase a new fire truck

St. Hilaire Fire and Rescue Department has been awarded a $148,050 grant to purchase a fire truck. When the truck arrives, which is expected sometime within a year, it will be the first new truck the department of 22 volunteer firefighters has had since 1975.

Fire Chief Steve Miller said it's a really big deal for the small fire and rescue department, which serves nine townships in and around the town of St. Hilaire, population 300.

The grant was awarded through the Assistance to Firefighters Grant program. Nationally, the AFG awards, which will be distributed in phases, will ultimately provide approximately $485 million to roughly 4,500 fire-related organizations.

Miller said the Department will have to spend $7,000 or five percent of the grant award total on the truck, too. The entire grant, however, will cover most of the associated equipment costs that go with outfitting a fire truck.

Some of the equipment in use now will be able to be used on the new truck. Miller said that while this is their first "new" truck, the last fire truck the Department purchased was a used truck they purchased in 1993 or 1994.

Last year, the St. Hilaire Fire and Rescue Department responded to 38 calls, down from 45 the previous year. Miller said the 22 volunteers are well trained and commited. Of the 22 volunteers, seven are first responders, and two are EMTs. They also participate in regular training and refresher courses, according to the Department's annual report. According to that report, training consisted of firefighter and CPR training, six personal first responder refresher courses, and two building training burns.

Grant awards from the AFT are highly competitive. There were more than 18,000 applications, which totaled close to $2.5 billion in grant requests in fiscal year 2006.

Through the AFG program, the U.S. Department of Homeland Security awards grants to firefighters, emergency response personnel and first responders throughout the country to enhance response capabilities and to more effectively protect the health and safety of the public, with respect to fire and other hazards. The grants provide resources for local fire departments and emergency medical services programs to purchase or receive training, conduct first responder health and safety programs, and buy equipment and response vehicles.

St. Hilaire Fire and Rescue issues report

In 2006, the St. Hilaire Fire and Rescue Department responded to 38 calls within its primary service area. The calls included 17 fire calls, 16 emergency medical service calls, three motor vehicle accidents with personal injuries and two calls related to other matters. The monetary loss due to fire was approximately $171,000. That amount included $150,000 for equipment fires and $21,000 for structure fires.

In 2006, the average response time for emergency incidents were 2.8 minutes for fire calls, 3.2 minutes for EMS calls, 3.5 minutes for motor vehicle accidents with personal injuries, and 1 minute for other calls. The number of personnel responding to emergency incidents included an average of five

Watershed to repair damage to Snake River

The Middle River-Snake River Watershed District, located in far northwestern Minnesota, has agreed to spend $85,480 to repair sediment damage to the Snake River by alleged violations of its construction stormwater permit. The repair project is part of an enforcement agreement in lieu of the district paying a $40,000 civil penalty to the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA). The district will complete all repairs by the end of 2008.

Nick Drees, Middle River-Snake River Watershed District administrator, confirmed that the District has entered into the stipulated agreement with the MPCA for unauthorized works performed by a private contractor. "We do feel that the works that will be done will more than offset the unauthorized works that were done by the contractor," said Drees. He said [illegible]

Between June 26, 2003 and Aug. 15, 2004, water was diverted through this temporary channel during construction of a flood-protection structure in the Snake River. In April 2004, a Department of Natural Resources inspector told the district to make the slopes of this channel more gradual to prevent further sediment erosion and to notify the MPCA and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers about sediment flowing to the Snake River. Portions of the river are on Minnesota's list of impaired waters because of too much turbidity, which is generally caused by high levels of sediment.

Don't blame the weather

Viral infections due more to change in behavior

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Cold weather has long been associated with illness, specifically cold and flu-like illness, that seem to develop as the temperature drops. But those who deal with viral infections say that cold weather is only partly to blame.

Laura Williams, clinical coordinator of respiratory care at Northwest Medical Center (NWMC), said it's not necessarily the cold weather that makes people catch cold and flu viruses. But cold weather can force people indoors into more crowded areas, where viruses thrive and can be easily transferred from one individual to another.

So the cold air may not be directly to blame for that nasty cold. But dry air, which is closely associated with cold weather, does add to the susceptibility of developing pneumonia from colds, influenza and bronchitis.

"We have seen a lot of pneumonia cases this year in patients of all ages," said Cynthia Ratter, CRT (respiratory therapist).

As respiratory therapists, Williams and Ratter test patients who have been hospitalized for chronic lung ailments such as asthma, bronchitis, emphysema and pulmonary fibrosis. Ratter said the hospital was at its busiest during the late January-early February cold spell.

Paul Kline, family nurse practitioner at [illegible] in Thief River Falls, said he [illegible] cold and flu-like [illegible] this year. He said 90 percent of cold and flu-like symptoms [illegible] viruses [illegible]

Like his colleagues in respiratory therapy, Kline feels that cold weather is not as much to blame for viral illnesses as people typically become infected due to contact with other humans. "We're the host for viruses," Kline said. "We're just a little petri dish."

Kline said there have been some studies that show cold weather compromises the respiratory system. He also added that individuals with compromised immune systems are at a higher risk for developing a viral infection. He urges patients to use common sense when dealing with cold symptoms.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacourse@mncable.net

Here are some simple dishes you can try during this Lenten season.

This dish is great by itself or as a side dish for your favorite chicken, fish or other meat:

MUSHROOM OVEN RICE
1 cup uncooked long grain rice
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
1 can chicken broth (14 1/2 ounces)
1/3 cup water
1 to 2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes

Sauté rice in butter for 2 minutes or until golden. Add celery and onion and cook and stir 2 minutes. Add mushrooms and cook and stir until celery is tender. Place in greased 1 1/2 quart baking dish. Stir in broth, water, soy sauce and parsley. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 45-50 minutes or until liquid is absorbed and rice is tender.

Not just good for you but good tasting too:

BROCCOLI CASSEROLE
2 pounds fresh broccoli, cut into florets
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup crushed cheese-flavored crackers

Place 1 inch of water and broccoli in saucepan and bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 5-8 minutes or until crisp-tender. Drain and place in greased 2 quart baking dish.

In bowl, combine soup, mayonnaise, cheese and lemon juice. Pour over broccoli and sprinkle with crushed crackers. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes or until heated through.

Try this tasty and easy chicken recipe with one of the above dishes:

SIMPLE BAKED CHICKEN
1/2 cup Italian salad dressing
1/2 cup soy sauce
6 bone-in chicken breast halves
1/8 teaspoon onion salt
1/8 teaspoon garlic salt

In measuring cup, combine salad dressing and soy sauce. Pour 3/4 cup of the mixture in large resealable plastic bag and add chicken. Seal bag and turn to coat. Refrigerate for 4 hours or overnight, turning several times. Refrigerate remaining marinade for basting.

Drain chicken and discard marinade. Place chicken, skin side up, on a rack in roasting pan. Sprinkle with onion and garlic salts. Brushing occasionally with reserved marinade, bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 45-60 minutes until juices run clear and a meat thermometer reads 170 degrees.

This tangy salad will be great with any of the above dishes:

FROSTED ORANGE SALAD
3 small packages orange gelatin
3 cups boiling water
1 (20 ounce) can crushed pineapple
3 cups cold water
4 medium firm bananas, sliced
2 1/2 cups miniature marshmallows

Topping
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1 egg, beaten
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
3/4 cup chopped pecans, toasted
1/2 cup flaked coconut, toasted

In bowl, dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Drain pineapple, reserving juice. Stir cold water, bananas, marshmallows and pineapple into gelatin. Pour into a 9x13 inch dish which has been coated with nonstick spray. Refrigerate until firm.

In saucepan, combine sugar and flour. Stir in reserved pineapple juice until smooth. Bring to a boil over medium heat, cooking until thickened and bubbly. Reduce heat, cook and stir 2 minutes more. Remove from heat. Stir a small amount of hot filling into the egg, then return all to the pan, stirring constantly. Bring to gentle boil and boil and stir 2 minutes longer. Cool.

In mixing bowl, beat cream cheese smooth. Add cooled filling mixture. Fold in whipped cream and spread over gelatin. Sprinkle with nuts and coconut. Recipe serves 12.

Thank You

Thank you does not seem like enough to say to all of you that were there for all of us as our lives went to pieces. You were there for us at the hospital, at our home, at the prayer service, at the funeral and at the benefit. You went out of your way to be thoughtful. You went out of your way to be nice. You've done this for all of us without thinking twice. We want to tell you we are grateful for your kind and considerate way. It means more to us than words could ever say.

Thank you to all our friends who were involved with the benefit that was given for Patty. Thank you to all who donated items for the supper and for the silent auction. Thank you to everyone for preparing, serving the supper and to those who cleaned up after. Thank you to the Eagles Club for hosting the benefit. A special thank you to Thrivent Financial and to Wal-Mart for the Supplement Fund.

Drunk driving is a persistant problem in MN

Data from the Minnesota Department of Public Safety indicates just how much of a problem drunk driving remains. In spite of many educational efforts, and tougher laws, it remains a persistent problem.

According to a recent report, 462,425 - or one in eight Minnesotans - have a driving while intoxicated offense on their record. That's an astounding number - even sobering ... we hope.

Because driving while intoxicated is obviously such a widespread problem, and a problem that costs millions ($310 million per year for alcohol-related traffic crashes), we all share in the responsibility of putting an end to drinking and driving.

But how, if after all the legislation and education that has already taken place, can this problem be solved?

In a recent news release on the Mothers Against Drunk Driving Web site, U.S. Secretary of Transportation Mary E. Peters said, "Drunk driving is a problem that is painful and persistent, but it's also preventable. Pairing the public and private sectors for the common good is a powerful combination, one that will help us achieve real results in terms of saving lives and preventing injuries."

MADD proposes continuing intensive high-visibility law enforcement; full implementation of current alcohol ignition interlock technologies (an alcohol ignition interlock device that prevents the car from being started if the driver is drunk); exploration of other advanced vehicle technologies; and, mobilization of a grassroots effort in the fight to eliminate drunk driving.

Fred Webber, president and CEO of Alliance of Automobile Manufacturers, points out what we all know to be true: "There is no single solution that will eliminate drunk driving. Drunk driving remains a behavioral challenge, an enforcement challenge and a challenge requiring innovative new approaches, including exploring new technologies."

We need to continue to face up to these challenges.

Daylight-saving time begins Sunday

Though we cannot touch or feel it, we sense it is slipping by.

Our daily lives are measured by its existence, yet no one is quite sure whether it's good to be early or late. And though we are told time changes everything, we also know that it changes nothing. Now, time is about to change.

Daylight-saving time begins early this year, and whether we like it or not, clocks all across the nation, except where exempted, will advance one hour.

A new law will take effect on March 11. We all knew, or were reminded every year, that federal law specified that daylight-saving time applied from 2 a.m. on the first Sunday of April until 2 a.m. on the last Sunday of October in areas that do not specifically exempt themselves. When the Energy Policy Act of 2005 was signed into law that all changed. The law now specifies that daylight-saving time will begin on the second Sunday in March and end the first Sunday in November.

So now, we remind everyone that time springs forward on March 11, and falls back on Nov. 4.

Bagley racer wins Pro class at Grand 400

Bagley racer Josh Davis won the Sled Head 24/7 Pro 600 class at the United States Cross-Country (USCC) circuit's Grand 400 in Garrison. Davis rode his Polaris to a field-best time of 1 hour, 30 minutes, 9 seconds to give him a lead of 21 seconds over second place Polaris rider Gabe Bunke of Moorhead. Third place went to Ski-Doo rider Bryan Dyrdahl of Bagley, with a time of 1 hour, 31 minutes, 6 seconds. The Grand 400 was the third round of USCC's new Triple Crown series.

Due to heavy snowfall and winds, which shut down area roads, racing on Saturday, March 3, was canceled. Sunday's race conditions were excellent. The track was a serpentine style with roughly 6.5-mile laps. A few sleds reached 100 mph ... some riders crashed due to drifts created by blowing snow. Garrison received 18 inches of new snow.

Bunke won the Stud Boy Pro Open class. Davis finished second followed by Dyrdahl. Goodridge Arctic Cat rider Jason Kangas won the Action Graphics Semi-Pro class. Ski-Doo rider Cory Grant, Thompson, Manitoba, Canada, won the Woody's Semi-Pro Open Class. Cory Davidson of Holt, won the Carver Performance Vet 30+ class aboard his Yamaha. Jon Arneson of Maple Plain, won the Scott USA Master 40+ class aboard his Arctic Cat. Lewiston Polaris racer Paul Anderson won the FXR Legends 50+ class. Chad Lian of Thief River Falls won the Black Magic Powersports 440 class aboard his Arctic Cat. Winona Ski-Doo racer Jenna Sobeck won the PowerMadd Women's class. Chris Kusch of Ham Lake won the Arctic Cat Amateur 600 class aboard his Ski-Doo while Hawley Polaris racer Carson Kerr won the Ski-Doo Amateur Open Class. Justin Morken, an Arctic Cat rider from East Grand Forks won the SnowWeek Junior 14-17 class while Minto, N.D., racer Adam Mach won the SnowTech Junior 10-13 class aboard his Arctic Cat. Morken also won the TekVest Amateur Fan class. Dennis (ZZ) Topp, a John Deere rider from Baudette, won the Vintage Twin class. In the 120's it was Moorhead Arctic Cat racer Stuart Brandt winning the Sno-X 120cc stock and Sno-X 120cc modified classes.

USCC's season finale is schedule for March 9-10 in Munising, Mich. View www.uscracing.com for more information.

Tractors, car destroyed in fire Thursday

Three tractors, a car and tools were destroyed in a fire Thursday night 16 miles from the city of Goodridge. No injuries were reported.

From about a mile away in foggy conditions, a neighbor noticed the fire at Tom Lewis' shop at 10364 380th Ave. S.E. Upon arriving at the scene, firefighters found that three tractors, a car, tools and shop equipment had burned, said Goodridge Fire Chief Dale Hanson. He noted that a contractor was building an addition onto the shop and the contractor's Hydro-Mac was also destroyed in the fire. Hanson didn't have the name of the contractor.

Hanson said it wasn't known what caused the fire and Lewis' insurance company will investigate the cause. He noted the shop addition sustained some damage where it was attached to the older portion of the shop. Firefighters were dispatched to the scene at 8 p.m. Thursday and remained on the scene for about two and a half hours.

Agriculture: Celebrating its horsepower

From a team of horses in the early 1900s to tractors with the power of 40 to 300 horses today, American farmers provide consumers with more and better quality food than ever before. In fact, one farmer now supplies food for about 129 people in the United States and abroad compared with just 25.8 people in 1960.

The efficiency of American farmers pays off in the price American consumers pay for food as well. U.S. consumers spend roughly 9 percent of their income on food compared with 11 percent in the United Kingdom, 17 percent in Japan, 27 percent in South Africa and 53 percent in India. This great value is due in large part to improved equipment efficiency, enhanced crop and livestock genetics through biotechnology and conventional breeding, and advances in information management.

All Americans are asked to enjoy and admire the wonders of American agriculture as National Agriculture Day is celebrated on the first day of Spring.

Equipment changes boost farm output

Today's farmers work nearly three-and-one-half times more land than their predecessors from 1900. Their needs are different, the crops are different and the rules governing production practices are different.

"There is an on-going consolidation in agriculture that results in fewer farmers farming more acres," says Doug DeVries, senior vice president agricultural marketing for North America, Australia and Asia at John Deere in Moline, Ill. "Their needs for equipment are changing. Their expectations for what the equipment will do for their farming operation are also changing."

DeVries adds that John Deere has had three of its largest product introductions ever in the last four years - despite tough economic times. "We've almost revamped our entire product line to provide more efficient production solutions for farmers," he says. "When we sell a planter, we're really selling the ability to plant a crop. Farmers want solutions in the form of bigger, faster equipment that provides them with better information about their farming operations."

Information management aids in food safety, production efficiency

John Deere also provides technology services to farmers that include wireless information transfer and satellite guidance systems for driving equipment. With JD Link™ farmers can have information about their equipment and production operations transferred directly from the equipment in the field to a Web site for easy access later. This can greatly improve their efficiency and increase the life of their equipment by ensuring more timely maintenance.

GreenStar™ AutoTrac is a satellite guidance system introduced to farmers by John Deere in 2002 and expanded in 2003. This assisted steering system is extremely accurate (within 4-inches pass to pass accuracy) and guides the tractor in a straight line down the row. The operator still turns the tractor at the end of each pass, and must also steer around obstacles such as trees, ditches, and waterways. This technology helps farmers by reducing fatigue and benefits consumers by reducing input costs so the end product costs less when it reaches the retail shelf.

Overall, new technology, such as Field Doc, an agronomic data collection system that uses KeyCard software and three common GreenStar components, provides farmers with better, more timely information to ensure quality, efficient crop production. The information infrastructure also allows growers to track their crops and the production processes used to produce those crops better. A key factor as biotechnology and traceability of specific crop varieties become even more important in food production.

Biotechnology increases capacity, product quality

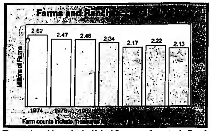
Biotechnology is another factor in the efficiency of American farmers and their ability to provide more, higher quality food and livestock. Biotechnology provides benefits similar to traditional plant and livestock breeding, but does so in a more controlled environment and with faster results.

Advancements made in plant biotechnology provide consumers with better quality products in many areas. And those benefits are just beginning. There are many products in the biotechnology research pipeline that will provide better livestock feed resulting in leaner meat for consumers. Many of these same products will lessen the environmental impact of livestock production, by reducing waste and/or the chemicals found in animal waste.

Pharmaceutical companies are actively working with farmers to develop crops that can go directly from the field to pharmaceutical production - eliminating some of the processing steps that occur in today's operations. This research will significantly reduce the costs required to produce many life-saving drugs.

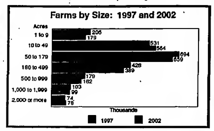
New uses benefit consumers, farmers alike

Research and technology advancements have also resulted in new uses for commodity crops like corn, soybeans and various grains. Use of products like ethanol and soy-diesel will reduce American independence on fossil fuels and improve air quality throughout the United States and the world. Ethanol is the largest industrial use of these commodity crops, but soy-diesel and other uses are emerging every year. According to DeVries, resins from corn and soybeans are used in some of the panels that go into John Deere equipment. "We've really just seen the tip of the iceberg in the use of renewable resources," says DeVries. "The more we can use commodity crops in industrial applications, the better off we'll all be."



Programs, technology preserve environment, advance productivity

American agriculture can also be celebrated for its efforts in environmental conservation. Farmers and ranchers provide food and habitat for approximately 75 percent of this nation's wildlife. The current farm bill has provisions for farmers to create environmental habitats that will ensure protection of the land and water resources of this country.



Farmers use computer and satellite technology to map their fields for production inputs. This increases yields and reduces crop inputs like fertilizer and crop protection chemicals. "Most farmers use some form of mapping process in their operations," says DeVries. "What we at John Deere have done is provide them with advanced technology through Field Doc and JD Office™ to efficiently use those maps and track their production information to help make wise, data-driven decisions about their farming operation."

With today's technology, farmers are better able to match seed characteristics and production practices to soil type and climate conditions. The result is higher yields with lower input costs from more efficient use of chemicals, fertilizers and tillage. Ultimately, that results in more food at a lower cost for consumers.

Today's farmers understand the importance of improving the quality and quantity of food available to the world. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, it is estimated that there will be 7.5 billion people in the world by the year 2020 (we're currently at 6.2 billion). It's agriculture's job to find a way to feed those people. Advancements in crop technology, equipment technology and information management will make that possible. American farmers and others involved in the agriculture industry have met and will continue to meet this challenge again and again.

The number of farms in the United States continues to decline. A United States Census Bureau census shows the changes that have taken place since 1974. Other information shows that as the number of farms decline, the farms are producing more.

A United States Census Bureau census shows changes in the size of farms that took place between 1997 and 2002.

Technology is changing agriculture

The reason for innovations in production agriculture is no different than other industries - technology. The application of new technologies like global positioning systems, self-propelled machine operations and electronic data have changed the nature of the business of agriculture.

One of the greatest examples of this technology is the growth of self-guided systems in tractors within the last several years, according to Doug DeVries, senior vice president, agricultural equipment marketing for North America, Australia and Asia at John Deere in Moline, Ill.

"Many of our tractors today operate by these global positioning systems," DeVries said. "They provide an efficiency that operators by themselves can't achieve. They reduce the number of passes through a field, reduce the amount of chemical applied, reduce the amount of tillage required and reduce the amount of fuel necessary for operations."

It's important to increase awareness of the benefits these technologies and agriculture in general bring to Americans, which is the reason we celebrate National Agriculture Day on March 21, 2007. "National Agriculture Day is an opportunity to get the story of agriculture in front of the American public," DeVries said. "It's always been a great story to tell, but it's even better now with the advent of new technologies that will continue to help support what we eat, wear and use every day."

A recent, significant advancement in agriculture has been the development of renewable fuels. "As we develop new sources of renewable energy, whether it comes from corn, soybeans, grasses or other crops, we now have the capability to support our energy needs on a long-term basis," DeVries added. "That's exciting and incredibly important to celebrate."

Take time on National Agriculture Day, March 21, 2007, to celebrate the row crop farmers, fruit and vegetable producers, food scientists, livestock ranchers, equipment manufacturers and others who help shape our country's agriculture industry. Events in Washington D.C., on March 15, leading up to National Agriculture Day, include an FFA Capitol Hill Rally, luncheon at the National Press Club and a reception on Capitol Hill.

National Ag Day is organized by the Agriculture Council of America (ACA). ACA is a nonprofit organization composed of leaders in the agricultural, food and fiber community, dedicating its efforts to increasing the public's awareness of agriculture's role in modern society.

AFBF: Current farm bill should be model for new law

The structure of the 2002 farm bill provides the kind of support farm and ranch families need to preserve their way of life, while providing a safe and secure food supply, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

"Going forward, American agriculture needs a solid farm program modeled after the current one," said AFBF Chief Economist Bob Young, at an outlook forum organized by the Agriculture Department. "The agricultural budget and programs that provide a reliable safety net for America's farmers must fully consider the growing challenges and needs of the agriculture sector, which is being asked to do more than ever for our nation."

The current farm bill has helped U.S. farmers weather many economic uncertainties, according to Young.

"It also has provided important initiatives that help farmers and ranchers care for the environment while producing food, fiber and renewable fuel for all Americans. Farm Bureau members agree that the current farm program does not need a complete overhaul," Young explained.

Regarding USDA's recently announced proposals for new farm legislation, "They do address a number of Farm Bureau's priority issues, including conservation, renewable energy and incentives for farmers just starting out," Young said.

However, funding questions and troublesome issues including means testing and payment limits, must be addressed, according to AFBF.

"We will work with our allies in Congress to hammer out the best possible budget profile and the best possible safety net provisions for our farmers," Young pledged.

AFBF will continue to strenuously oppose a means test for farm program eligibility. USDA has proposed excluding farmers with adjusted gross incomes of more than $200,000 from receiving farm program payments.

"The administration's proposal for changing the means test represents inequity in its most severe form," Young said. "This is a major change in policy that may well impact many more operations than the 72,000 farmers USDA suggests."

A proposal to eliminate a provision in current law covering how farmers organize their operations, known as the three-entity rule, was also met with disfavor by Farm Bureau.

"Dropping the three-entity rule largely does away with the safety net for a number of commercially viable, full-time producers, especially those growing Southern crops," Young said. "It strips away their ability to play economic catch up, especially after a bad year. The type of financial hardship this will cause producers - even those on the upper end of the gross income scale - will be harsh."

Celebrate National Ag Day on March 21

American agriculture is responsible for providing the necessities of everyday life ... food, fiber, clothing and even fuel. That's the message of National Ag Day, which is celebrated March 21, 2007. Producers, agricultural associations, corporations, universities, government agencies and countless others across America will gather to celebrate the abundance provided by agriculture on this first day of spring.

The National Ag Day program is committed to increasing public awareness about American agriculture. As the world population soars, there is even greater demand for the food, fiber and renewable resources that the United States produces.

The Agriculture Council of America, organizers of National Ag Day, believe that every American should understand how food, fiber and renewable resource products are produced and should value the essential role of agriculture in maintaining a strong economy. They should appreciate the role agriculture plays in providing safe, abundant and affordable products. National Ag Day will focus on educating Americans about the industry, so they may also acknowledge and consider career opportunities in the agriculture, food, fiber and renewable resource industry.

Each year, the National Ag Day program gathers members of the agricultural industry in an effort to promote American agriculture. Focused on sharing how agriculture provides almost everything we eat, use and wear on a daily basis, the National Ag Day program helps educate millions of consumers each year. Join this effort to promote American agriculture to everyone during National Ag Week, March 18-24, 2007. For more information, contact the Agriculture Council of America at (913) 491-1895.

State's organic acreage increased more than 50 percent in last five years

The amount of Minnesota farmland dedicated to organic production increased more than 50 percent since 2000, according to a new Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) report on the state's organic farming sector. The MDA report also shows Minnesota leads the nation in organic corn and soybean production, and remains in the top 10 for organic production of other grains, dairy and beef cattle.

According to the report, Minnesota had more than 525 certified organic farms in 2006. Certified organic acreage grew 57 percent from 2000 to 2005, to slightly more than 129,000 acres. The complete report, titled The Status of Organic Farming in Minnesota: A Report to the Legislature, can be viewed on the MDA Web site at http://www.mda.state.mn.us/esap/organic/organicrpt2006.pdf.

Agriculture Commissioner Gene Hugoson said the continued growth of Minnesota's organic agriculture sector is driven by the popularity of organic products.

"The ability to give consumers what they want is vital in today's agriculture economy, and Minnesota's success with organic production shows we have that ability," Hugoson said. "Strong consumer interest is driving demand for organic farm products and ingredients, and we expect continued growth in this area."

The MDA report cites studies by the Organic Trade Association showing the estimated sales of organic food and beverages grew at just over 18 percent per year between 1997 and 2005. Nationwide, sales of organic food reached $13.8 billion in 2005.

The report shows Minnesota's organic farmers are optimistic about their profitability and their future. More than three-quarters of farmers surveyed said they expected they or a family member would still be farming in 20 years. Although they have a positive outlook, the report shows organic growers face production challenges including weed and pest control, drift from non-organic operations, and the limited availability of local food processing, particularly for meat.

The MDA report lists several recommendations for supporting the continued growth and vitality of Minnesota's organic farming industry. These recommendations include providing information and technical assistance to help growers learn about certification requirements and marketing options and providing assistance to farmer groups to help them to explore and pursue value-added organic business opportunities.

Living snow fences offer winter protection

by Gary Wyatt
U of M Extension

After several mild winters, severe winter weather may come as a shocker. But it doesn't take long to see and feel the danger when you're driving in blowing and drifting snow.

Winter weather in Minnesota claims an average of eight fatalities each year due to winter driving conditions, according to the state department of transportation. These conditions are responsible for an average of 280 injury accidents, amounting to more than $17 million annually.

Various structural and living snow fences can be established on the landscape to manage and reduce blowing and drifting snow on roadways. Structural snow fences are physical, tall fences made from wood, plastic or other semi-permanent material. Living snow fences, on the other hand, are living plants such as trees, shrubs and native grasses, planted about 200 feet from the right-of-way.

These fences form a barrier so the wind drops the snow on the leeward side of the barrier, thus protecting the road or property down wind.

Living snow fences offer many advantages: improved winter driving conditions, visibility, wildlife habitat and rural aesthetics. These plantings also reduce soil erosion by wind in the spring and fall. As an added bonus, snow drifts in crop fields can help replenish subsoil moisture for the next growing season.

During an average winter, a one-quarter mile long, high-density dogwood shrub-row in Watonwan County can capture more than 20 tons of snow. This is snow that doesn't need to be moved by a snowplow.

Living snow fences also reduce the impact of salt to the environment, and less fuel is needed to clear roadways.

Living snow fences are by far the most preferred practice to reduce blowing and drifting snow to roadways, communities and farmsteads. Landowners can receive annual payments for 10 to 15 years, cost-sharing and other incentives through the USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) with the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) continuous sign-up. Also, the Minnesota Department of Transportation has identified state roadways that are winter problem areas, and is offering incentive payments in addition to the FSA-CRP payments and incentives.

The land between the planting and the roadway (150 to 200 feet) can also be enrolled in CRP. This is beneficial because it creates valuable "block" nesting cover for grassland nesting birds such as pheasants, meadowlarks, mallards and bobolinks. This block is a wide area of grassland that allows birds to nest and offers protection from predators.

New memorandum of understanding with U.S. - Mexico consultative committee on agriculture

Agriculture Secretary Mike Johanns and Mexico's Agriculture Secretary Alberto Cardenas and Economy Secretary Eduardo Sojo has signed a Memorandum of Understanding to reestablish the U.S.-Mexico Consultative Committee on Agriculture (CCA).

"The United States and Mexico have a longstanding, excellent bilateral trade relationship," said Johanns. "The CCA has proven to be an important venue for addressing and resolving issues that arise between our countries. It provides a mechanism to work out problems before they become larger, more formal disputes. This renewed CCA will help maintain the close working relationships that have developed between our leaders and trade facilitators."

The CCA, which was previously signed by U.S. Trade Representative Susan C. Schwab, has served historically as a forum for important trade issues related to market access, sanitary and phytosanitary measures, biotechnology and animal and plant health. Mexico was a global leader in reopening its market to U.S. beef after the discovery of bovine spongiform encephalopathy in U.S. cattle in December 2003.

Enhancing trade between the United States and Mexico has paid off not only for producers, but for consumers in both countries. Mexico is the United States' second largest agricultural market, and the United States is Mexico's most important trade destination.

Renewal of the CCA is expected to continue to benefit American farmers and consumers, further increasing two-way agricultural trade flows between the United States and Mexico, which topped $20 billion in 2006.

Going Bananas!

There are over 500 different types of bananas. That means if you ate a different kind of banana every day, it would take almost a year and a half to eat every one!

Although generally regarded as a tree, this large tropical plant is really an herb. That means it does not have a woody tronk like a tree. The stalk is composed of leaf sheaths that overlap each other and grow from an underground stem called a rhizome.

The banana plant can grow as high as 20 feet tall. That's as big as a two-story house!

Bananas are about 99.5 percent fat free. Bananas are a great source of potassium. Potassium helps build muscle power and keeps your body fluids in balance.

Bananas are most likely the first fruit ever to be grown on a farm.

Producers reminded of March 15 deadline

The Pennington County Farm Service Agency Office reminds producers that March 15 is the deadline to purchase Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program coverage for most spring-seeded crops and pasture.

NAP provides financial assistance to eligible producers affected by a natural disaster. The program covers crops for which Federal Crop Insurance is not available. NAP covers losses greater than 50 percent of the expected production, based upon the producer's approved yield and reported acreage.

To apply for 2007 crop coverage, producers must complete a CCC-471 application for coverage and pay the service fee. The application and service fee must be paid by the applicable sales closing date. The service fee is $100 per crop per county, or $300 per producer per county not to exceed $900 per producer in all counties. The service fee covers all acreage for the applicable crop grown in the county.

Producers with questions concerning NAP should contact the Pennington County FSA Office at 681-1612, ext. 2 or their local FSA Office.

This interactive training will provide research-based strategies for developing early literacy skills in children age birth to 5. Current research on early literacy and brain development indicates that it is never too early to prepare children for success as readers. The Public Library Association has incorporated the latest research into "Every Child Ready to Read at Your Library" to train librarians in the use of these skills for library story times. Knowing that many children are in daycare or other preschool programs, NWRL wishes to share the training with Early Childhood Family Education, Head Start and School Readiness staff, childcare providers, and anyone else who works with young children.

Joyce Frischheiser, retired ECFE coordinator/parent educator and Thief River Falls Public Library Board member, will lead this workshop. A certificate for clock hours will be offered. Training topics will include the six skills that children birth to 5 need to learn how to read, how to incorporate these six skills into typical early childhood activities and how to share this information with parents. Time will be given for participants to network to determine ways to enhance community early literacy offerings, to include those at the public library.

Rural Reflections

Grant Nelson

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

"Just paying for a little piece of history doesn't make you the owner," said Grant Nelson." In the case of this fine old snowmobile, I had to meet the former owner and hear some stories so I had some context of what it meant to him. Now I'll have those stories and some of my own for the next owner. I just hope I won't meet him or her for a long time."

This snowmobile's life

If it's true that what we own sometimes owns us, then maybe the story of our life is also shared by those possessions we own. If that's the case, then my John Deere snowmobile has a pretty good biography. This story started at the Doug Schwartz ranch near Bowman, N.D., and continues now at our farm west of St Hilaire.

The land near Bowman is open and subject to high wind. I'm used to gravel roads at every mile line and a grader that maintains these roads in summer and plows them in winter. The geographical area around Bowman in the 70s was too great and the population too sparse to expect consistently open roads in the winter. This fact was never more poignant than when someone needed medical help.

Doug Schwartz was one of the first volunteer emergency medical technicians for the Bowman Ambulance. In the early 1970s he and his ambulance partner, Ervin Schneider, received the call to help a rancher who'd ran his own snowmobile through a barn after the throttle stuck. Large drifts blocked the path of the ambulance but Doug and Ervin had their snowmobiles, one of them was that John Deere 400 that now lives with us. Doug pulled a sleigh from Bowman 14 miles one way to pick-up that rancher then return with him to the hospital. It was a moonless night in bitter conditions, which was a testament to both the bravery of the rescuers and the dependability of those early snowmobiles. Over the years, Doug Schwartz and his snowmobile delivered medicine to snow-bound ranchers and participated in several search and rescues. He also hauled nurses to and from the hospital when the weather made roads impassible.

This story reminded me of the brave sled dogs and musher Leonhard Seppala who in 1925 delivered diphtheria serum to Nome, Alaska. At the time, the cold, snow and wind made air delivery of the serum impossible. Like those sled dogs, Schwartz's John Deere snowmobile eventually retired to an easier life. Schwartz's son, Jason Helgeson, told me of how he and his siblings took charge of the 400 once it was turned out to pasture. Although it no longer made medical deliveries, the old sled made great family memories right up until the track let loose near Mandan, N.D., somewhere on the Heart River. It was kept in a shop until about six years ago when it was moved to a real pasture to live out it's time pointed towards the rising sun.

Jason Helgeson and I met through an Internet Web site where he advertised the snowmobile for sale. I recently made the trip to Mandan and brought home the 400 along with its pasture-mate, a John Deere JDX-8 from the same era. The 400 no longer faces the sun but rather has staked claim to a portion of concrete on my shop floor. My plan is to restore it and make a few changes so that it will wear its history on its own sleeve. While the 400 probably won't deliver nurses or medicine anymore, neither will it be static or on display under glass.

I believe that just paying for a little piece of history doesn't make you the owner. In the case of this fine old snowmobile, I had to meet the former owner and hear some stories so I had some context of what it meant to him. Now I'll have those stories and some of my own for the next owner. I just hope I won't meet him or her for a long time.

Courtney Halvorson of Red Lake County Centrel hed har peth blocked by Nikki Churness of Clearbrook-Gonvick during the Section 8A East girls high school besketball tournarnant finels Tuesday at tha Ralph Engelstad Arena. The Bears baat the Mustangs 64-59.

Section 8A East girls high school basketball final...

Bears beat Mustangs 64-59

Free throws spelled the difference Tuesday as top-seeded Clearbrook-Gonvick beat No. 2 seed Red Lake County Central 64-59 in the Section 8A East girls high school basketball tournament finals at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls.

The two teams had identical 40 percent 21-for-52 shooting performances from the field. The Mustangs had an 8-5 edge in 3-pointers, but they also struggled through a 9-for-18 night at the free throw line, were the Bears were 17-for-21. The winners made 11 of 12 foul shots over the final 6 1/2 minutes to win it.

"I thought we played fairly decent, but our free throw percentage was not good," offered Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto.

Led by Brittany Gustafson's 16 first half points, Red Lake County Central enjoyed early success. Her fourth 3-pointer of the half put the Mustangs up 26-16 with 5:52 remaining.

However, Red Lake County Central went scoreless the rest of the way and went into intermission clinging to a 26-25 lead.

"Brittany came out of the gate real well," noted Koivisto. "I thought the longer we could stay with them, or keep the lead, the more pressure they would feel – being the No. 1 seed with all those seniors."

■ Championship Friday March 9 - (at REA) Clearbrook-Gonvick vs. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, 7 p.m.

But the Bears' all-senior starting line-up handled the task. The lead changed hands 11 times in the second half, and during a five-minute stretch from 13:11 to 8:10, they swapped leads on every basket.

An 8-0 Clearbrook-Gonvick run finally ended the lead swings, giving the Bears a 50-45 edge following two Rebecca Gunvalson free throws with 4:30 remaining.

Although clock-watching was in full mode, Red Lake County Central stayed within striking range when Halvorson hit a 3-point basket off an in-bounds play to make it 60-57 with 41.3 seconds left.

Two Heidi Kjolhaug free throws and a Red Lake County Central turnover with 14.9 seconds to play all but sealed the Mustangs' fate. Moments later Claire Rydeen tacked on two more free throws to put it out of reach at 64-57 with just 13.6 seconds showing.

Kjolhaug scored 16 points and Gunvalson had 14 for the Bears. Gustafson and Halvorson, the two seniors in the Mustangs' starting line-up, scored 22 and 21 points, respectively.

Clearbrook-Gonvick outrebounded Red Lake County Central 30-24. The Mustangs topped the turnover figures 19-18.

It was an 18-9 finish for the Mustangs, with four of those losses coming at the hands of the Bears.

Koivisto, who celebrated his 400th win as a head coach in mid-February, said it was tough seeing the season come to an end, especially since he will lose a pair of 1,000-point career scorers in Gustafson and Halvorson. "It might be a while before we have a team this good," he said.

Gators hold off Freeze 46-43

■ B/G-MR girls win Section 8A West basketball title

They narrowed the gap once again, but it still wasn't enough to change the outcome Tuesday as the Northern Freeze lost a 46-43 Section 8A West girls basketball tournament title game match-up against Badger/Greenbush-Middle River.

It was the third setback of the 2006-07 season at the hands of the Gators for the Freeze, who lost the first meeting at home by 11, 57-46; the second one on the road by seven, 54-47, and the post-season encounter at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls by three.

The top-seeded Gators had their troubles early, falling behind 18-10 as Lacey Petersen capped an 8-0 Northern Freeze run by scoring off a base line drive with 3:35 remaining in the first half.

But a rebound basket by Reggie Wollin with 4.5 seconds left off a turnover-fueled fast break had Badger/Greenbush-Middle River within 20-16 at the break.

The game turned in the Gators' favor when three consecutive three-point possessions highlighted an 11-0 run that wiped out the final Northern Freeze lead of the night and put Badger/Greenbush-Middle River ahead 38-28 with 7:38 left.

A 3-point play off a drive by Wollin started the outburst. Liz Schenkey followed with a 3-point basket and a 3-point play off a fast break, then Anna Wickland finished off another fast break for the double digit lead.

The third-seeded Northern Freeze, having reached the finals with a one-point overtime win against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo and a two-point victory over No. 2 seeded Kittson County Central, never fully recovered.

"They made a run on us," pointed out Northern Freeze coach Tom Mjelde. "We were able to come back in the other games, but it was just too far this time."

The Gators, though, were not able to shake the Freeze. Alycia Dahl scored on back-to-back possessions with an inside move and a drive through traffic to slice Badger/Greenbush-Middle River lead to 40-41 with 1:12 still remaining.

"Alycia wasn't going to be denied," said Mjelde. "She took the ball to the basket when we really needed it."

However, the Gators' following possession was a textbook lesson on how to preserve a late-game lead as they ran the clock down to 22 seconds before Wicklund popped open under the basket. She made the lay-up and added a free throw for a three-point play and a 46-41 scoreboard cushion.

Two Kayla Halvorson free throws with 13.3 seconds to play completed the scoring.

Tom Neibauer of Bedgar/Greanbush-Middle River gave instructions from the sidalines during the Gators' Section 8A girls high school basketbell tournament metch-up with the Northern Freeze.

Neibeuar joined exclusive company when ha picked up his 500th win es a high school coach in a first-round post-season win over East Grend Forks Sacred Heart.

Tom Neibauer joins 500-win club

Consistently good. That's probably shortest, easiest and the most precise description of the Tom Neibauer-coached girls high school basketball program at Badger/Greenbush-Middle River.

That's especially true over the last five years when the Gators have averaged nearly 25 wins per season.

That kind of success elevated Neibauer into select company when he reached the 500-win level as a high school coach with a 75-35 Section 8A West tournament quarterfinal victory over East Grand Forks.

He has been coaching basketball for 30 years now. Twenty-seven of those years have been at the high school level – 26 as head coach of the Middle River Skippers, then the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River cooperative when the programs merged 16 years ago. He also spent three years as the head coach of the Northland Community and Technical College women's basketball team.

The Gators' current run of 20-win seasons began with a 22-6 finish in 2002-03. They were 25-3 in 2003-04; 28-2 in 2004-05; and 24-4 in 2005-06. They took a 25-4 record into Friday's 2007 Section 8A championship game against Clearbrook-Gonvick at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls.

A 501-168 career record is no accident. "The kids put in a lot of time during the off-season," said Neibauer. "We out-work people; we play good defense; and for the most part, pass the ball well."

In the addition to strong teams, Neibauer has also coached some outstanding individual players, including 3,000-point scorer Kierah Kimbrough, 2,000-point scorer Krissi Super and 1,000-point scorers Dawn Nelson and Kaley Mekash, a senior on the 2006-07 squad.

Neibauer takes pride in the Gators' success against a strong schedule. "We're not that big of a school," he said. "A lot of our wins have been against schools bigger than us. We don't shy away from anybody. You get better by playing better teams."

The reason the 63-year-old Neibauer has stayed in the coaching business this long is simple. "There's just not that much to do in Middle River from 3 to 6," he quipped.

Certainly there's more to it than that. "I like being around good people, and we've had a lot of good people over the years," offered Neibauer.

NJCAA Division III national basketball tournaments...

NCTC teams heading to N.Y.

Players, coaches and school personnel from Northland Community and Technical College will travel by bus, plane and bus again, to reach the 2007 National Junior College Athletic Association Division III men's and women's national basketball tournaments.

The Northland men and women are both national tournament qualifiers. Both tournaments are scheduled March 15-17 in New York – the men at Delhi and the women in Utica.

Northland's delegation will bus to Minneapolis Monday and fly to Syracuse, N.Y., Tuesday morning. At that point, the two groups will separate. The two tournament sites, however, are only about 80 miles apart in central New York.

Both Northland teams play 6 p.m. Thursday quarterfinal games. The men will face Gloucester Community College of New York; the women will take on College of DuPage from Glen Ellyn, N.Y.

It's hectic, but exciting time for Northland athletics director Deb Jacobson. "We're pretty pumped," she said. "To have both teams going is pretty special. That sort of thing just never happens."

To be sure, the twin-qualification requires more than just pocket change to cover tournament expenses, admitted Jacobson.

Although the athletic department budget does include a post-season fund, those monies were depleted when the Pioneers advanced to the Minnesota Community College Conference state football playoffs last fall. Proceeds from the school book store will go a long ways in covering the expenses, explained Jacobson, who said a big boost came when the Northland campus in East Grand Forks agreed to pay for half of the cost of the trip since their students are eligible to compete in the Thief River Falls campus athletic programs.

TRF offense hits wall in setback at Perham

■ Section 8AAA girls basketball

It was a tough night on offense for Thief River Falls in a 52-36 Friday (March 2) Section 8AAA girls high school basketball tournament quarterfinal loss to host Perham.

The Prowlers were within 26-20 at halftime, but they could generate just 16 second half points.

There were just two double figure scorers in the game: the Prowlers' Amanda Hoard with 14 points (along with nine rebounds) and the Yellowjackets' Tara Sailor with 12 points.

Thief River Falls struggled through a 26 percent 17-for-66 shooting performance from the field. The Prowlers were a quiet 1-for-2 at the free throw line.

Perham was 22-for-66 from the floor (33 percent) and 8-for-15 at the line. The Yellowjackets outrebounded the Prowlers 46-40.

Thief River Falls finished the year 8-17.

NCTC recruits Curfman for volleyball, Conely for volleyball and basketball

Women's sports programs at Northland Community and Technical College landed a pair of area high school recruits this week.

Leigh Curfman of Fosston announced she will play volleyball for the Pioneers next fall, while Brooke Conely of Warren-Alvarado-Oslo said she will play both volleyball and basketball at Northland during the 2007-08 school year.

Lisa Handley is the Northland volleyball coach. Guy Finstrom is the Northland women's basketball coach.

TRF freshmen are 19-5

Thief River Falls freshmen boys completed a 19-5 basketball season with a 71-67 Monday overtime win against Detroit Lakes.

Riley Simenson scored 16 points and Jacob Langeson had 10, while Josh Wane and Brady Harbott both had 9-point games for the winners.

Thief River Falls led 36-32 at halftime. Regulation time ended in a 63-63 tie.

Section 8A boys basketball tournament shifts into REA

Section 8A East and West boys high school basketball tournament semifinals will be played today (Saturday) at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls.

Winners will return for Tuesday, March 13, East and West finals.

The state tournament qualifying Section 8A championship game will be played at the same site Friday, March 16.

Gators 46-43 winners over Freeze

Schenkey scored all of her team high 17 points in the second half. Mekash netted 13.

"Liz took over in the second half," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer.

Mjelde agreed. "Schenkey was the key," he said. "She made the big shots they needed to win the game."

Petersen scored 18 points and Dahl had 13 for the winners.

"It was a great defensive battle between Alycia Dahl and Kaley Mekash," said Neibauer. "They really went at it."

The Gators were 20-for-42 from the field (48 percent) and 4-for-7 at the free throw line. Northern Freeze went 18-for-39 from the floor (46 percent) and 6-for-9 at the line. Northern Freeze finished with a 21-18 rebound edge, but they also topped the turnover charts with those very same numbers, 21-18.

"Second half, they increased their defensive pressure, and we didn't handle it very well," explained Mjelde.

Neibauer said the Gators' second half defense was indeed the difference. "First half, we let them control the ball and eat too much time off the clock," he said. "Second half, we were tougher on defense and forced some turnovers."

Northern Freeze ended the year 15-11. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River took a 25-4 record into Friday's Section 8A championship game against Clearbrook-Gonvick.

Taking the ball to the basket, Thief River Falls center Adam Rodahl scored two of his 11 points Thursday in the Prowlers' 68-39 boys high school basketball tournament win over Fergus Falls.

Prowlers post Section 8AAA win vs. Otters

Section 8AAA Boys Basketball

■ Quarterfinals Thursday, March 8 - Thief River Falls 68, Fergus Falls 39, Park Rapids Area 81, Detroit Lakes 39, Willmar 88, Litchfield 37; Rocori 53, Little Falls 29.

■ Semifinals Saturday, March 10 - (at MSUM) Rocori vs. Park Rapids Area, 6 p.m.; Thief River Falls vs. Willmar, 7:30 p.m.

■ Championship Thursday, March 15 - (at MSUM) semifinal winners, 7 p.m.

It's post-season, and the only thing that really matters is the final score. That's why Thief River Falls head coach Chris McLean was a happy camper Tuesday when the Prowlers beat visiting Fergus Falls 68-39 in the Section 8AAA boys high school basketball tournament quarterfinals.

There were no style points to be had, but it was the Prowlers' first post-season win in three years, moving them into the semifinals tonight (Saturday) at Minnesota State University Moorhead.

"I thought the kids played pretty darn hard," said McLean. "It's not always going to be pretty. At tournament time, games tend to slow down a little. You have to be able to execute your half-court game."

Thief River Falls won a single regular-season match-up with Fergus Falls 77-56. This one looked like it might be closer until the Prowlers closed out the first half with an 8-1 run to turn a 26-20 lead into a 34-21 cushion.

While holding the Otters without a field goal over the final 4:22 of the half, the Prowlers broke away on a pair of free throws by Adam Rodahl, back-to-back baskets underneath by Andrew BlackLance and a put-back by BlackLance at the horn.

Thief River Falls then duplicated that effort with an 8-1 run over the first 4:36 of the second half. After a free throw by the Otters' Derek Hansen, the Prowlers got a three-point play from Alex Yaggie, and a single free throw by Yaggie that was followed by a pair of baskets from BlackLance to put it out of reach, 42-22.

It became a rout when Thief River Falls turned a 47-30 lead into a 61-34 scoreboard bulge with just 2:54 to play.

Yaggie and BlackLance led the Prowlers with 15 and 14 points, respectively. Rodahl scored 11, while Ryan Winkelman contributed 9 and Kasey Trontvet 8. The Prowlers' deep bench spread out court time, with McLean employing 11 players in the first half.

Fergus Falls got a 16-point game from Hansen, a sophomore forward who scored the Otters' first eight points and had 13 by halftime.

Thief River Falls was 24-for-55 from the field (44 percent) and enjoyed an 18-for-25 night at the free throw line. Fergus Falls struggled through a 14-for-48 shooting night from the floor (29 percent) and had just as much trouble at the free throw line with a 9-for-19 showing.

The Prowlers finished with a 35-32 rebound edge over the Otters, who topped the turnover charts 23-15.

Thief River Falls improved to 17-7. Fergus Falls finished 2-23.

The Thief River Falls Academic Boosters Club has reorganized. It is seeking active members and supportive members. The next meeting is scheduled Wednesday, March 14 at 9:30 a.m. at the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

Academic Boosters Club reorganizes

The Thief River Falls Academic Boosters Club has reorganized, and it is seeking supportive members and active members.

The club, which hasn't had a membership since 2003, was originally formed in 1991. It recently reorganized under the mission "to promote academic excellence and to recognize and celebrate academic achievement by students at all levels of education." The club plans special projects, sponsors events that focus on academic areas and provides financial assistance as needed.

Its upcoming events include an academic breakfast, the academic lettering breakfast and the honors banquet.

Active club members help the club achieve its mission through financial support of $10 per year, monthly meeting attendance and occasional volunteering. Supportive members help the club achieve its mission through financial support of $10 per year, with no requirements to volunteer or attend meetings although supportive members are welcome to do so at any time.

Letters will soon be sent, inviting the public to join the club. If you are interested in being either an active member or supportive member, send a $10 check to the Academic Boosters Club, District Service Center, 230 LaBree Ave. S., Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

The next Academic Boosters Club meeting is scheduled Wednesday, March 14 at 9:30 a.m. at the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

Comments sought on revised assessment for Glacial Ridge

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is seeking public comment on a revised environmental assessment (EA) that examines the cumulative impact of the public hunting program at Glacial Ridge National Wildlife Refuge, located in Polk County.

This EA is part of a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service effort to review all public hunting programs on National Wildlife Refuges and Wetland Management Districts to ensure they fully comply with the National Environmental Policy Act.

The original Glacial Ridge NWR Hunting Plan and Environmental Assessment were approved in February 2005. On August 31, 2006, a summary judgment issued by U.S. District Court Judge Ricardo M. Urbina on a March 14, 2003, lawsuit by The Fund for Animals, declared that the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service did not adequately consider the cumulative impacts of opening refuges to hunting under the NEPA. This decision affected 37 refuges, including the Glacial Ridge NWR, with a May 1, 2007, date to address NEPA deficiencies.

No actual changes were made to the 2005 approved Hunting Plan. The Revised EA also didn't change other than the analysis of cumulative impacts, which are addressed in subsections 4.3-4.7. The approved Glacial Ridge NWR Hunting Plan authorized the following hunting:

• White-tailed deer (archery, regular firearm and muzzleloader) on the majority of the refuge.

• Prairie chicken and sharp-tailed grouse as per Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Permit Areas.

• Migratory birds (ducks, geese, coot, common snipe, mourning dove, woodcock and rail) on 40 percent of the refuge.

All hunting is in accordance with federal, state and refuge regulations.

"I encourage all interested parties to review the revised environmental assessment, contact the refuge if they have any questions, and then provide us with any comments they feel are appropriate," said Refuge Manager Dave Bennett. Public review and comment is a critical part of the policy development process. All comments received from the public will be reviewed and considered before finalizing the revised EA.

Copies of the revised EA may be viewed at the Crookston Public Library or at the Rydell NWR headquarters located three miles west of Erskine on Highway 2 and then two-and-a-half miles south on Polk County Highway 210. Written comments on the EA will be accepted through April 8. Written comments should be submitted to Dave Bennett, Refuge Manager, 17788 349th St. S.E., Erskine, MN 56535; fax: (218) 687-2225; or e-mail dave_bennett@fws.gov.

Gain understanding and insight on how to pray for soldiers in combat, veterans and their families as Pastor Rick Wadholm shares his experiences as an American Legion chaplain who ministers to veterans.

Following their time in the military, Rick and his wife, Carol, felt God's stirring in their hearts to return to Bible school and to their "calling." Their first place of ministry was serving as missionaries to the American Indians in Arizona; however, they sensed a deep longing to minister to military families. They were overjoyed when they were given the opportunity to come to North Dakota to minister to the families of the Grand Forks Air Force Base. For the past 10 years, Rick and Carol have been pastors at Baseview Assembly of God Church along Highway 2 near Emerado, N.D. In addition to their work at Baseview, Rick and Carol both work at jobs on the Grand Forks Air Force Base.

Rick is also involved with veterans of all ages at the American Legion Post in Grand Forks, where he is the chaplain. As the Legion chaplain, Rick also participates in a weekly ministry to hospitalized veterans, where God has done some incredible miracles.

Investigation completed regarding RLF mayor

The Red Lake County Sheriff's Department has completed its criminal investigation into allegations made against Red Lake Falls Mayor Robert Philion.

Given that the department has finished its investigation and the case involves the mayor, the Pennington County Attorney's Office is considering whether to file charges against Philion. Red Lake County Attorney Dan Geller had requested that Pennington County Attorney Al Rogalla handle the case.

The investigation stems from a report from Julie Cudaback regarding a home she bid on and purchased as part of the city's buyout program. Cudaback of Warroad had purchased Philion's former home, 109 Seventh St. in Red Lake Falls. Cudaback alleges that Philion took several structural items out of the home even though a contract specifically indicated he was not supposed to do so. The buyout program was initiated due to properties that were sliding into the Clearwater River.

As part of the investigation, the Red Lake County Sheriff's Department executed search warrants at City Hall, Philion's former residence and a property that he owns across the street from the home at the crux of the issue.

Piecing together solutions to challenges at Challenger

and, not surprisingly, she has no regrets.

In the last year, everything has been falling into place. She's had two major shows in Minneapolis, and she has had success in teaching, too - she teaches art at St. Thomas and St. Kate's, and advises their "slam" poetry teams.

According to Wikipedia, an online encyclopedia, "slam poetry is a postmodern performance poetry, a form of spoken word performed at a competitive poetry event, called a "slam," at which poets perform their own poems (or, in rare cases, those of others) that are "judged" on a numeric scale by randomly picked members of the audience." Arnold's team has won at state competitions and performed in national competitions.

Arnold now lives in Minneapolis with her husband Hamlin Metzger, and their cat, Basil. Arnold says she's never been happier, and says her future will consist of doing exactly what she's doing now because, as she says, it sparkles, it's pretty, and it makes her feel good.

Through experiences like the artist-in-residency program she's involved in at Challenger Elementary School, she said she hopes she can guide students to find something that makes them feel just as good about their future.

"If they imagine it, they can become it," said Arnold.

Jill Johnson, a close friend and teacher at Challenger Elementary School, said that after observing several of Arnold's classes, she was deeply moved. "I have witnessed children discover a deeper part of themselves they didn't know existed. I have become a better teacher watching Lisa. I think I can safely say that other teachers feel the same way."

Influential people

Arnold says she still feels a strong connection to Thief River Falls. The daughter of Judy Sorum and Arlen Sorum and of Ron Arnold, Arnold says when she is asked about her hometown, she describes it as a town, close to the Canadian border in northern Minnesota, that while cold in winter is populated with warm and welcoming people.

As a child growing up in Thief River Falls, some of the influential personalities in her life included Ms. Moe, her kindergarten teacher, Mr. Isaacson, and Mr. Dyrud - teachers, she said, who challenged her.

Arnold said rather than rebelling, she accepted the challenges and it helped her explore the world around her. She became involved in experiences that helped develop her leadership skills, and, when she went on to UND, she explored leadership opportunities there, too.

These experiences, combined with what she described as a sensitivity to violence, and a need to stick up for the little guy, helped her find her voice - and that voice is helping others find their voice through art.

Arnold is enthusiastic about her opportunity to help children in Thief River Falls find their voice.

When she asked children what important lessons they learned in poetry class, their comments included: "Wow, I love poetry. I learned how to use my five senses. I learned that poetry is important. I learned not to let other people control my life. Lisa, I didn't know that my light could shine that big."

"What could make the experience any better," said Arnold. "Thanks for letting me share; I'm jazzed. These little humans are so talented, amazing and pretty dang funny."

She thanked Jill Johnson, a childhood friend who is a title instructor and teacher at Challenger Elementary School, for helping her secure this residency. She also thanked Thief River Glass, Thief River Interiors, the Zehlians, the Thief River Falls Education Foundation, Judy and Arlen Sorum, Gretchen Beito, Ruth and Dic Tweet, and the parents of Challenger Elementary School for their contributions to this project. She also asks for continued community support for this project and other artistic endeavors in the community. Contributions, she said, are welcome.

"The memories that are being created at Challenger will be treasured for years to come. The legacy the children will create in April by making the mosaic pieces will be one that our whole community will be proud of," said Johnson.

Don't blame the weather

with a tissue when sneezing or cough/sneeze into their upper sleeve, not their hands. And hand washing is important for everyone, to protect themselves and others.

Another way for someone to protect themselves from a viral infection is vaccination. Vaccinations can keep someone from developing influenza and viral pneumonia. But they will still be at risk for developing bacterial infections.

Influenza

It is also important to know how to distinguish between cold viruses and influenza. Klein said patients can tell the difference between true influenza and flu-like viral infections based on the symptoms.

Typically, influenza symptoms appear very sudden. Someone may go to work in the morning, feeling fine. As the influenza virus attacks, patients will see an onset of fever, sore throat, coughing, fatigue, body and muscle aches.

"If you feel like this is different than a common cold or you've been exposed to someone whose had a positive influenza test, you should see a doctor to receive medication.

Dr. Jawad Kahn, internal medicine for Dakota Clinic, said the worst infection this time of year is influenza.

"The worst thing about influenza, is that it has a different make up each year. Different shifts and drifts each year, which makes the development of vaccines difficult, which is why vaccines work well, but are not 100 percent effective."

Dr. Suresh Sreedharen, pediatrics for Dakota Clinic, said he has seen many respiratory infections in pediatric patients, mostly influenza and Respiratory Syncytial Virus (RSV). Influenza and RSV occur in children more than any other virus and as such, Dakota Clinic has rapid testing available for them.

Sreedharen said there have been a few cases where a child needed to be admitted into the hospital due to influenza. That is typically due to dehydration or respiratory problems. Sreedharen said children can be admitted if their respiratory rate is increased; if his or her breathing is labored; and the level of oxygen saturation in the blood is low.

Hospital stays are typically less than 24 hours and in extreme cases, they may last a couple of days. Sreedharen added that children who were born premature are more likely to need hospitalization due to viral infections.

If influenza is detected early in patients of any age, there is medication available that can make coping with the illness easier.

Bronchitis

Bronchitis typically occurs as a secondary infection in patients who have had some form of respiratory infection. Symptoms include a slight fever, chills, trouble breathing, a raspy throat, a dry hacking cough or a cough that produces gray or yellow mucus.

Specifically, people who smoke, have asthma, heart problems or have other lung ailments have a higher risk of developing a secondary infection. "Usually these people have an underlying lung problem such as allergies or asthma," Kahn said.

Kahn said most secondary infections will clear up between four and six weeks. Patients should see a doctor if they showcase any symptoms of pneumonia, an unexplained shortness of breath, or a cough that lasts more than four to six weeks.

Pneumonia

Pneumonia is a common secondary infection, which many patients who have recovered from influenza or flu-like illnesses may develop.

"Usually, influenza lasts two weeks or so. If people show signs of improvement and then their condition deteriorates, there is some cause for concern. But to be able to make sure that you don't have superimposed pneumonia is a tough call," Kahn said.

Pneumonia symptoms include a high grade fever 101-106 degrees; shaking chills; coughing that brings up bloody, dark yellow, green or rust colored mucus; pain in chest when taking deep breaths or coughing; nausea and vomiting; shortness of breath or fast breathing; and a rattling sound when breathing or wheezing.

With viral infections in general, Kahn warns that a doctor visit is not always necessary. "Not all infections are treatable and they don't necessarily need to be treated. Most will disappear on their own without any complications."

The department received $4,620 in grants and donations in 2006.

It received new equipment in the form of two pagers, wildland fighting gear, fire hoses, fire boots and miscellaneous clothing.

The department donated its services to Seven Clans Casino for three pride fights, four powwows, one fireworks display; to the St. Hilaire Demo Derby; and for controlled burns in the city.

In terms of training, the department had firefighter and CPR training. It also had six personal first responder refresher courses, two runs to Seven Clans Casino and two building training burns.

instrumental in building capacity and has provided needed resources for our nation's firefighters," said Under Secretary for Preparedness George Foresman. "From the purchase of equipment to first responder training, the AFG program has had an immensely positive impact on fire-related initiatives, which has directly resulted in saving lives and property in communities throughout the United States."

The AFG program is administered by the Department's Directorate for Preparedness through its Office of Grants and Training in cooperation with the United States Fire Administration, also a division of the Preparedness Directorate.

The Directorate for Preparedness bolsters the nation's security through a multilayered system of preparedness measures based on risk assessment and management. Working with federal, state, local and private sector partners, the Directorate for Preparedness identifies threats, determines vulnerabilities and targets resources where risk is greatest. Through grants, training and exercises, fire service, public health and citizen preparedness initiatives, the Directorate fosters a layered system of protective measures to safeguard borders, critical infrastructure and cyber security and telecommunications systems.

The Office of Grants and Training, the federal government's lead agency responsible for preparing the nation against terrorism and other catastrophic events, provides a wide array of support to the emergency preparedness and response community. The U.S. Fire Administration (USFA) works to reduce life and economic losses due to fire and related emergencies through leadership, advocacy, coordination and support.

Levying penalties and fines is one of the MPCA's many tools used to encourage compliance with environmental laws. County signs "25 by 25 Initiative"

Pennington County goes on record supporting federal "25 by 25 Initiative"

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Pennington County became the first Minnesota county to officially support the federal "25 by 25 Initiative" this week. The Pennington County Board of Commissioners unanimously approved a support resolution during the March 13 county board meeting. Other Minnesota counties, such as Redwood County, are also expected to approve support resolutions.

The 25 by 25 Initiative calls for the use of renewable energy and a goal for the United States as a nation to get 25 percent of its energy from renewable resources like wind, solar and biofuels by the year 2025.

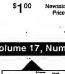
Leaders from a broad alliance of agricultural, energy, environmental, business and labor groups, representing more than 400 organizations, presented specific recommendations for reaching the ambitious energy goal to congressional leaders in Washington, D.C. last month. The 25 by 25 Initiative and "25 by 25 Action Plan: Charting America's Energy Future," were later presented to the National Association of Counties (NACD) for support last week.

Commissioner Don Jensen attended a NACO Agriculture and Rural Affairs Steering Committee meeting last week, in which support for the initiative was approved. Jensen said he wasn't sure as to the bill's standing in congress, as it was just recently introduced, but he feels the bill makes sense.

"This nation as a whole is going to get behind this initiative, to make sure it's funded, to get ethanol and cellulose plants (for cellulosic ethanol) going and begin the research and development process," Jensen said.

In its support resolution, the Pennington County Board stated that "rural communities and agriculture sectors will experience multiple benefits, including establishing additional markets for agricultural commodities; increasing farm income; creating added value uses for crops, livestock and their byproducts; more productive use of marginal lands; the resolution of air, water and soil quality problems that may arise from agricultural operations; improving wildlife habitat and creating many new job opportunities."

Specifically, the board feels that local agriculture can play an important role in the development of new energy solutions.



"I think it could have a very good impact on the area, especially the cellulose and ethanol industries," Jensen said. "We could be growing that stuff on our farm land or using our CRP (Conservation Reserve Program) acres – it's a step in the right direction to become independent of oil and oil producing countries."

The "25 by 25 Action Plan" states that achieving a 25 by 25 renewable energy future will generate $700 billion annually in new economic activity; increase farm income by $180 billion, including $37 billion in 2025 alone; create four to five million new jobs; reduce oil consumption by 2.5 million barrels per day; and reduce carbon dioxide emissions by 1 billion tons.

What is cellulosic ethanol?

Cellulosic ethanol is produced from straw or other plant wastes in the same fashion as traditional ehtanol that is made from corn or soybeans. While chemically identical to ethanol produced from corn or soybeans, cellulose ethanol exhibits a net energy content three times higher than corn ethanol, while emitting a low net level of greenhouse gases.

Yields of cellulosic ethanol have been improved through recent recent technological developments. Those developments are also driving down production costs, bringing the nation closer to the day when cellulosic ethanol could replace oil.

W/A/O School Board considers reductions

Warren - "Staffing reduction recommendations that would produce savings of $197,000 for the 2007-08 school year were presented to the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo School Board at its meeting Monday night.

"Superintendent Ken Henry, who noted this is the district's fifth year of making budget cuts in the face of declining enrollment, said proposed reductions for next year affect six areas and will not be sufficient to keep the district from deficit spending, even if all are adopted as recommended." - Warren Sheaf, March 14, 2007

All-day everyday kindergarten discussed

Fosston - "The Fosston School Board held a special session March 8 to discuss issues pertaining to upcoming decisions. Outside of policy development issues, the focus was on all-day everyday kindergarten, a new guidance counselor position and the Title 1 program.

"Magelssen Elementary School Principal Greg Bruce gave board members the results of a recent parent survey on the issue of all-day everyday kindergarten. Bruce reported that 29 of the 48 surveys had been returned. Of those, 21 were in favor of such a program with eight against the program. Fosston Superintendent Dale Salberg recommended that those who didn't respond, be contacted by phone in order to get their feedback.

"Bruce was asked by the board about what negative responses he has received. He stated that some parents said they would keep their children home if the district instituted this type of kindergarten program. Others felt their children would not be ready. Board members Marlys Balstad and Lora Lee Saeter went on to discuss that such a program would benefit those who may be falling behind but that the district must respect the parents' wishes."

"The school board instructed Bruce to get a final tally and comments from parents, plus a financial synopsis of all possible options for the next regular meeting on March 22." - The 13 Towns of Fosston, March 13, 2007, by Dan Kodahl

NCTC dedicates Veterans Center

Dedication of resource center will take place at the college March 27

A dedication ceremony and open house will be conducted for the newly established Veterans Resource Center located at the Thief River Falls campus of Northland Community and Technical College, from 1 to 5 p.m. on Tuesday, March 27.

Community members are welcome for the dedication and ribbon cutting ceremony. The dedication ceremony will be conducted in the cafeteria at 1 p.m. Everyone will be invited into the Veterans Center for refreshments following the dedication ceremony. In addition, an open house will be held in the Center for guests until 5 p.m. Guests should enter the building at the college's main entrance.

Located in room 453, the Center serves veterans attending or planning to attend colleges or universities and will assist in addressing needs, answering questions, and accessing resources to facilitate the educational process. The office will also assist with families and dependents of veterans. Video conferencing is available by appointment for family members of service members who are currently serving. To schedule a video conference appointment, contact the NCTC Veterans Resource Center.

Dave Bellefeuille, who works with higher education veterans programs across the region for the Department of Veterans Affairs, will be staffing the NCTC Office on Tuesday's from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. during the 2007 spring semester. The hours will be expanded as student staff is added.

Veterans and their families may contact Bellefeuille by calling 218-831-0291 or via email, veteran.center@northlandcollege.edu. Individuals may also call the NCTC Veterans Resource Center at 218-683-7036.

Women's Issues

Susan Haukaas travels to India to learn more about issues affecting women

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Ask anyone to name a country or continent affected on a large scale by AIDS. Most will name Africa. One Thief River Falls resident recently learned that another country is also dealing with an AIDS crisis.

Susan Haukaas traveled in southern India from Feb. 15 to 26 through Women Building Global Community. Haukaas, director of youth ministries at Zion Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls, was selected to participate in the program offered by the Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America and the ELCA Global Mission Companion Synods Program. Along with other women ages 21 to 35, she learned about issues in India and especially those issues affecting young women. Group members are required to talk to others about their experiences in India, and they're required to commit at least two years to the program.

They learned about many issues in India. AIDS is a major issue there. "They're getting to the point that they're rivaling Africa," said Haukaas about the number of AIDS cases in India. According to USAID, more than 4.5 million people are infected with HIV/AIDS in India. In sub-Saharan Africa, 24.7 million people were infected with HIV in 2006, the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS indicated.

It's difficult to provide AIDS education in India because people don't talk about sex, Haukaas noted. The lack of AIDS education was especially noticeable when Haukaas and other WBGC participants talked to four women and a man infected with AIDS. One of the women said someone was infected with AIDS as a result of phlegm from a chest cold the person had.

The lack of AIDS education has also resulted in a lack of people being tested for the disease. People don't get tested for AIDS unless they're sick, Haukaas said.

There's also a stigma associated with AIDS. "When you get AIDS [in India], strangers won't take care of you and you're lucky if your family does," Haukaas said.

Haukaas also learned about other issues in India, including violence against women. In India, a woman's family won't help her if she has been abused by her husband, Haukaas noted. Families believe it's the woman's fault that she has been abused.

To learn more about India, the group also visited a number of colleges and churches, many of which welcomed the group with flowers and/or shawls. It also attended a

Christian radio station to install new translators in region to intensify signal

Thirteen Towns

"Nothing short of dynamite!"

Those are the words used by Shine the Light Incorporated President Carsten Hovland as he discussed the expansion of Today's Christian Music Q107 FM. According to both Hovland and Pine to Prairie Broadcasting General Manager Phil Ehlke, the Fosston-based radio station will serve a total population of a quarter million people within the next few months. This will happen through the addition of four new translators, which will intensify the signal in Thief River Falls, Bemidji, Roseau and Park Rapids plus a 20 mile radius outside of these communities.

The station's signal already reaches Thief River Falls and Bemidji, however, it is not clear in certain sections of these cities. Q107 FM does not reach Roseau and is weak in Park Rapids.

The 501c-3 nonprofit Shine the Light Incorporated has been the ministry of Q107 since the 50,000-watt station went on the air in 1993. Q107 is part of the Pine to Prairie Broadcasting Corporation family, which also owns Q-country 96.7 FM and Talking Oldies 1480 AM also based in Fosston. Both entities have enjoyed a close relationship over the years since Pine to Prairie by nature is also a Christian organization.

GM Phil Ehlke told the Thirteen Towns in a recent interview that the opportunity for expansion literally fell into their laps through an offer made by another Christian organization called Radio Assist Ministry.

Spring weather brings new concerns

NOAA issues 2007 U.S. Spring Outlook Forecast

Scientists at NOAA highlighted near term flooding in portions of the Midwest and Ohio Valley and continued drought in the Southwest as areas of concern from April through June in the agency's 2007 Spring Outlook, which was released March 15.

"NOAA's National Hydrologic Assessment indicates a flooding potential this spring for southeast Colorado," said Brig. Gen. David L. Johnson, U.S. Air Force (Ret.), director of the NOAA National Weather Service. "The soil moisture is high due to the melting of an above normal snowpack, which resulted from record snowfall in December and January.

The upper Midwest is currently in the middle of its snowmelt. Warmer than normal temperatures in recent weeks have increased the risk of flooding due to ice jams over portions of eastern South Dakota, eastern Iowa, southeastern Minnesota, southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois. In addition, high soil moisture over northeastern Ohio and northwestern Pennsylvania and extreme southwestern New York state could lead to flooding if additional heavy precipitation occurs.

Scientists at the NOAA National Climatic Data Center said that precipitation during the December 2006-February 2007 U.S. winter season was above average in much of the center of the [illegible]. Meanwhile, large sections of the East, Southeast and West were [illegible] than average.

Much of southern [illegible] experienced its driest [illegible] in more than a century. "With the dry season fast approaching, there are major concerns that drought conditions will not only fail to improve but actually worsen in coming months," said Doug LeComte, drought specialist for the NOAA Climate Prediction Center. "The outlook for any significant drought improvement from now through spring looks grim for not only southern California but for much of the Southwest as well."

In addition, Florida is approaching its dry season. Abnormally dry winter weather over the southern half of the peninsula has brought [illegible] reduces [illegible] abnormally [illegible] conditions.

With spring so tantalizing close and winter snow quickly melting, many were lured into thinking it was safe to start planning for the fishing opener. Thursday, winter delivered an encore performance, dropping several inches of snow on the region, covering any boats, campers and motorcycles that may have been brought out of storage last week.

Get out the green and let's have a Happy St. Patrick's Day party tonight.

First of all, have a hearty Irish meal tonight - what's more Irish than potatoes, corned beef and cabbage? You can fix this one in no time at all, at all:

CORNED BEEF CASSEROLE
1 pound red potatoes, cut into small wedges
1 1/2 cups water
1 large onion, sliced thin and separated into rings
4 cups coleslaw mix
8 ounces thin sliced deli corned beef, cut into 1/4 inch strips
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1/3 cup red wine or cider vinegar
4 teaspoons spicy brown or horseradish mustard
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon caraway seeds
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Place potatoes and water in 3 quart micro-safe bowl. Cover and microwave 6-8 minutes on high. Add onion, cover and cook for 4 minutes. Stir in coleslaw mix, cover and cook for 3-4 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Drain.

In large skillet, sauté corned beef in oil for 3-4 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients, cook and stir for 1 minute or until heated through. Add to potato mixture and toss to combine. Cover and microwave for 2-3 minutes or until heated through. Serve immediately.

Serves 4.

Here's a tasty salad to go with your hearty dish tonight - this one has nutritional information too:

RAISIN-WALNUT WALDORF SALAD
1/2 cup raisins
1 cup boiling water
4 cups chopped, unpeeled green or red apples
2 celery ribs, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons lime or lemon juice
1 (8 ounce) cup fat free plain yogurt
2 tablespoons sugar free instant vanilla pudding mix
2 tablespoons of sugar (or sugar substitute equivalent)
1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Combine raisins and boiling water. Let stand for 4 minutes, then drain. Combine raisins, apples, celery and lemon juice and toss.

Combine yogurt, pudding mix and sweetener (or sugar). Pour over apple mixture and toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate 1 hour. Stir in walnuts just before serving. Recipe serves 6.

Nutritional Information: One 3/4 cup serving equals 181 calories, 7 g fat, 1 mg chol, 232 mg sodium, 30 g carb, 3 g fiber, 4 g protein. Diabetic Exchange is 2 fruit, 1 fat.

Everybody likes a St. Paddy's Day cake - have this easy one for dessert tonight - yum, yum:

ST PADDY'S DAYCAKE
1 package white cake mix
2 small packages lime gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup cold water
Topping:
1 cup cold milk
1 small package instant vanilla pudding mix
1 (8 ounce) container frozen whipped topping, thawed
Green (or other) sprinkles, if desired

Prepare and bake cake according to package directions, using 9x13 inch baking dish. Cool for 1 hour. In small bowl, dissolve gelatin in boiling water, stir in cold water and set aside.

With meat fork or skewer, poke holes about 2 inches apart in cooled cake. Slowly pour gelatin over cake and refrigerate.

In bowl, whisk milk and pudding mix for 2 minutes or until soft set. Fold in whipped topping and spread over cake. Decorate with sprinkles, if desired. Cover and refrigerate until serving.

Always wanted to make homemade Hot Cross buns - here you are - they'll be great for St. Paddy's Day too, so they will:

HOT CROSS BUNS
2 packages (1/4 ounce each) active dry yeast
1/4 cup warm water (110 to 115 degrees)
1 cup warm milk (same)
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup shortening
2 eggs
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon allspice
4 1/2 to 5 cups flour
1 cup dried currants
1 egg white, slightly beaten
Icing:
1 3/4 cups powdered sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
4 to 6 teaspoons milk

In bowl, dissolve yeast in warm water. Add milk, sugar, shortening, eggs, salt, cinnamon, allspice and 3 cups flour. Beat smooth. Stir in currants and enough remaining flour to form a soft dough.

Turn onto floured surface and knead until smooth and elastic, 6-8 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled, 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Cover and let rest 10 minutes. Roll to 1/2 inch thickness on lightly floured surface. cut with floured 2 1/2 inch biscuit cutter and place 2 inches apart on lightly greased baking sheets. Cover and let rise until doubled, 30 minutes.

Brush with egg white and bake at 350 degrees for 12-15 minutes, until golden. Remove to racks to cool.

For icing, combine sugar, vanilla and enough milk to be of piping consistency. Pipe a cross on top of each bun. Makes 2 dozen buns.

Klondike Derby held March 3

Over 125 Scouts and adult leaders attended the annual Boy Scout District Klondike Derby held March 3 at the Pennington County Sportsmen's Club in Thief River Falls.

Hosted by Troop 59, Thief River Falls, this event gave many Scouts an opportunity to have fun as well as learn many Scout skills. The snow didn't stop this crew but only made the event more fun. A total of eight Boy Scout troops and four Webelos dens participated from the six - county Scouting district as well as a troop that traveled from North Dakota. The Boy Scouts and Webelos Scouts took part in fire-building, first aid, knots, map skills, a team sled race and a cooking contest.

Awards were given to the following troops for the klondike race: first place – Troop 57, Thief River Falls; second place – Troop 59, Thief River Falls; and third place – Troop 50, Warren. Troop 151 of Warroad was honored for having the Most Creative Sled.

Awards were given to the following troops for the Chili Cooking Contest: first place – Troop 57, Thief River Falls; second place – Troop 41, Crookston; and third place – Troop 59, Thief River Falls.

This event was co-chaired by John Braastad and Bob Torkelson. Committee members included Kim Tunheim, Jay Tunheim, Beth Fortier, Diane Bach, Mike Baumann, Dan Radeke, Ryan Brang and Fred McCullough.

Scouts gathered to listen to the fire-building demonstration during the annual Boy Scout Klondike Derby. More than 125 Scouts and adult leaders attended the derby, which was held March 3 in Thief River Falls. (Submitted photo)

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Why celebrate agriculture?

Agriculture provides almost everything we eat, use and wear on a daily basis, says the National Ag Day Organization. But, unfortunately, too few people truly understand this contribution. This is particularly the case in our schools, where students may only be exposed to agriculture if they enroll in related vocational training. By building awareness, the Agriculture Council of America is encouraging young people to consider career opportunities in agriculture. You should too.

Why consider agriculture if statistics keep showing that the number of farms and ranches are declining? Because of the valuable contribution they make to our society, and because maintaining our advantage in the world market is dependent upon education and research.

While statistics continue to show a decline in the number of farms, the size of those farms have continued to grow, and efficiency has improved. According to the National Ag Day Organization, today's farmers work nearly three-and-one-half times more land than their predecessors from 1900. More recently, statistics tell us that each American farmer feeds more than 144 people ... a dramatic increase from 25 people in the 1960s.

The efficiencies developed over the years have resulted in lower food prices, as well. U.S. consumers spend roughly 9 percent of their income on food compared with 11 percent in the United Kingdom, 17 percent in Japan, 27 percent in South Africa and 53 percent in India.

The conclusion we can draw from this information is that American agriculture is doing more - and doing it better. But we also know that as the world population soars, there is an even greater demand for the food and fiber produced in the United States. To maintain and improve on our advantage, we will need to continue to encourage young people to enter agriculture. That doesn't necessarily mean drive a tractor. It can also mean research, education and the multitude of other career opportunities connected to agriculture, including the development and production of renewable resources that may lead this nation to energy independence.

On March 21, we will gather together to celebrate National Ag Day. The message this year is that American agriculture is responsible for providing the necessities of everyday life ... food, fiber, clothing and even fuel. It is also much more. Join this effort to promote and celebrate the importance of American agriculture. It's part of our past, present and future.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

When Rep. Dave Olin states that, "Clearly transportation is not paying its fair share in the growth of our state economy." I have to wonder where that statement came from.

Legislators are lamenting that our state's highway system is in desperate need of maintenance while they salivate over federal dollars lying just out of reach for lack of money in state coffers. The answer to all our problems can be cured if we are willing to accept a tax on gasoline that would give the state the money and qualify for federal funding.

They may be right. But I have to wonder why they have been waiting since 1988, the last gas tax hike, to make a move. There are a lot of years between now and 1988. It seems almost typical government practice to ignore a problem until it becomes a crisis, then tell us that drastic measures are needed or we will face certain doom.

Olin and Sen. LeRoy Stumpf are both touting the gas tax hike as the cure-all. While it may be a certain and quick way to raise the needed dollars, I have to wonder if they have considered how that hike, along with already uncertain pump prices, will affect those of us who live this far out of the metro area.

Living in northern Minnesota, for most of us, is a choice we relish. The lifestyle is slower, the friends are closer, and small town life in general is something most of us cherish. But continuing to live here is becoming more difficult as the years pass. Many of us have seen small businesses, once the mainstay of our small towns, dry up as society became more mobile. We are forced out of our towns to purchase many things that were once readily available in any town in the area.

With the loss of businesses came the loss of jobs. With the loss jobs came a loss in population. And with smaller populations, it becomes more and more difficult to attract new businesses to the area. With each step, our standard of living diminishes.

Now our small towns are becoming bedroom communities to employers like Digi-Key, Arctic Cat, Polaris, Marvin Windows, and some smaller manufacturers that have managed to stay solvent in the area. That means those who are employed by these companies need to drive to work each and every day.

The math is pretty simple, driving and filling the car regularly takes a good chunk out of any earnings that may be realized. We can't trust oil companies to provide any kind of stability in pump prices, and now it appears our legislators want to add more fuel to that fire.

I don't know the answer to their problem. Funds are needed. I would just like to see them take a hard look before throwing on this patch. It would really be great if they could come up with some sort of strategic planning (another phrase for "responsibility") instead of continually relying on crisis management for these kinds of things.

Maybe a few less $200 tax rebates when they are feeling flush over revenue surpluses. The rebates didn't really change anyone's lifestyle anyway.

To the Editor:

This year's State High School Hockey Tournament was a wonderful opportunity to watch hockey teams from Roseau and Grand Rapids play a championship game. Both teams played with passion and determination. I thought their sportsmanship was commendable.

It is great to see the rich tradition of hockey in Roseau carried on by such capable and outstanding young men. You represented your city very well, and we are proud to call you our state champions.

Sincerely,
Dave Olin

National Native HIV/AIDS Awareness Day to be held

The first annual National Native HIV/AIDS Awareness Day will be held March 21 to increase awareness about the impact that HIV/AIDS has had on American Indians, Alaska Natives and Native Hawaiians. Organizers are making the day "a call to action" for all Americans to become informed about the epidemic.

The theme for this year's observance is "A celebration of life ... protecting our future, protecting our people."

In the U.S., American Indians and Alaska Natives had the third highest rate (above Caucasians) of AIDS diagnosis in 2004 despite having the smallest population, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

"We have had 180 cases of HIV infection reported among American Indians in Minnesota since the epidemic began. Unfortunately, 74 of the 180 have died," said Peter Carr, director of the STD and HIV Section at the Minnesota Department of Health. "We estimate that there are 93 currently living with HIV in Minnesota and that includes those who have relocated to our state."

Among the 93 American Indians living with HIV in Minnesota, 55 cases are among males and 38 cases are among females. Prevention and testing remain the most important ways of stopping the spread of HIV.

"The most important message that I can give to anyone is to know your HIV status by getting tested, practice safe sex at all times, and don't share needles for drug use, piercing or tattooing," said Carr. "For those that test positive, some of the new treatments have been very beneficial. The earlier you test, the better."

Health officials note that social stigma about HIV and the fear of seeing people they know at local health care facilities may stop some people from getting tested. Having alternatives for testing, prevention and treatment may help alleviate these barriers.

To help curb the epidemic in Minnesota, the STD and HIV Section at MDH currently funds 22 programs through 19 agencies aimed at preventing the spread of HIV in adults and young people of all races who inject drugs and/or engage in sexual behaviors that transmit HIV. One of these programs includes the Indigenous Peoples Task Force based in Minneapolis that has been one of the key leaders in reaching American Indian populations in Minnesota with HIV prevention efforts over the past several years.

The MDH HIV/AIDS Surveillance Report 2005, which includes data specific for American Indians, can be found on the MDH Web site (www.health.state.mn.us). The MDH Web site also provides information, fact sheets and a calendar of local activities for the observance.

Information about HIV is also available from the Minnesota AIDS Project AIDSLine, 1-800-248-2437. MAP AIDSLine offers statewide information and referral services, including prevention education, HIV risk assessments, HIV testing and referrals to HIV testing sites, as well as community resources and prevention programs that serve women.

Debbie Checks In

My sister, Debbie, attended kindergarten with me back in 1970. If my sister and I were the same age this would not be surprising. However, Debbie is 14 years older than me so it was an act of charity more than necessity for her lonely younger brother. For her friendship and benevolence, I've felt always that my sister is such a sweet person. Over time, this same repressed '60s child has slowly let her inner craziness show. Never one to hide her light under a bushel, Debbie has expressed her gentle insanity through different medias such as telephone, e-mail and letters. I want to share with you what happens when "Debbie checks in."

Debbie has always sent me letters and little cards - silent, humble containers that contain her bright, funny and crazy thoughts within. My sister remembers every birthday and moment of the lives of her family - at least for the first sentence. After the first few words of congratulation, most letters slide sideways into Debbie's recent adventures. Most of her updates deal with what kind of sex her pet Rat Terrier dogs have been engaged in on the living room rug and the latest produce of these efforts (recently seven puppies.) She used to talk about her sheep, which would interest me right up to the point that she would not only talk baby talk to them but then document these conversations including some really refreshing ideas from the perspective of the sheep. I usually read the letters, share them with my wife and then file them for the time we decide to commit Debbie to a nice institution.

As technology changed, Debbie changed with it. I don't mean Debbie changed her habits, I mean she changed the mode of delivery of her lovely nonsense. The day she purchased her first cell phone was the day I became serious about building my own panic room. As cell phone coverage gets worse, Debbie becomes more determined to drive her message across. Debbie becomes progressively louder as cell coverage becomes progressively poorer. At times, I've pondered leaning my head out the living room window to see if the wind can deliver her extremely loud, one-sided conversation better than what cellular coverage can provide. One tactic I began was that whenever sister Deb calls on her cell phone, I make up the parts of the conversation that are lost. I recently started improvising by using the script of whatever movie I'm watching when she calls up. If I can only hear one of three words she speaks, then I just take two of every three words from the movie on our television and add them into the conversation. I was recently watching "Jeremiah Johnson" when Deb called on her cell so I quickly began splicing. I don't know what killing bear and trapping beaver have to do with an upcoming family function, but when it's Deb, you have to improvise.

My sister Debbie is not (clinically) insane. She's just a lot of fun and needs to blow-off steam from a job that at times contains pressure. She has always been so kind to our family, and I'm sure she will even wish to send an e-mail congratulating me on today's well-written column. Too bad I haven't shared my new e-mail address with Deb - maybe she can just shout out the window.

Cause of death determined for Warroad man

The cause of death has been determined for a Warroad man, who was found unconscious with purple lips at a Thief River Falls home in February.

It has been determined that Andrew T. Gennes, 21, died due to alcohol intoxication, according to Thief River Falls Police Chief Kim Murphy.

At 7:57 p.m. Feb. 1, police were dispatched to 217 Tindolph Ave. N. Gennes was taken to Northwest Medical Center, where he was apparently pronounced dead. His body was then taken to the Ramsey County Medical Examiner's Office.

Two Erskine men injured after vehicle becomes airborne

Two Erskine men were injured early Wednesday morning after an accident in which their vehicle went airborne.

Scott E. Peterson, 38, was taken by LifeFlight to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D., according to the Minnesota State Patrol report. His passenger, Richard C. Edgar, 21, was also taken to Altru. Both men were listed in satisfactory condition Thursday afternoon, an Altru nursing staff member indicated.

At the time of the accident, Peterson was driving a 1985 Chevy Cavalier northbound on Highway 9 near the intersection with U.S. Highway 2 in Polk County. According to the report, his vehicle then skidded through the intersection, struck a ditch, went airborne into trees and down a steep embankment. Neither Peterson nor Edgar were wearing seat belts. The car was totalled. The accident occurred between midnight and 4 a.m.

The Polk County Sheriff's Department and Crookston Police Department assisted the State Patrol.

RLF mayor's case sent back to sheriff's department

Pennington County Attorney Al Rogalla has reviewed the case against Red Lake Falls Mayor Bob Philion. However, Rogalla has sent the case back to the Red Lake County Sheriff's Department for more statements.

Philion is being investigated after Julie Cudaback bid on and purchased a home through the city's buyout program. Cudaback of Warroad had purchased Philion's former home, 109 Seventh St. in Red Lake Falls. Cudaback alleges that Philion took several structural items out of the home even though a contract specifically indicated he was not supposed to do so. The buyout program was initiated due to properties that were sliding into the Clearwater River.

As part of the investigation, the Red Lake County Sheriff's Department executed search warrants at City Hall, Philion's former residence and a property that he owns across the street from the home at the heart of the matter.

Red Lake County Attorney Dan Geller requested that Rogalla handle the case.

Fosston man stabbed Tuesday

A Fosston man was allegedly stabbed by a woman early Tuesday morning in Fosston. The woman was taken into custody.

William Arthur Kirk, 42, was driven by a private individual to First Care Hospital in Fosston, according to the Polk County Sheriff's Department. He was later transported by First Care paramedics to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D. He has since been discharged, noted an Altru nursing staff member on Thursday afternoon.

The sheriff's department didn't indicate where Kirk had been stabbed on his body.

Kirkia Basargin, 28, Fosston, was arrested for assault with a weapon as a result of the incident at 208 S. Johnson Ave. in Fosston.

The sheriff's department was dispatched to the scene at about 2:50 a.m. Tuesday. It indicated no further information would be released at this time. The incident remains under investigation.

Allan Dostal of Badger/Greenbush-Middle River had his path to the basket blocked by Casey Larson of Warren-Alvarado-Oslo during Tuesday's Section 8A West boys high school basketball tournament final at the Ralph Engelstad Arena. The Gators beat the Ponies 76-60.

Fast start nets B/G-MR title

Strong starts have become habit-forming for the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River boys high school basketball team in post-season play. The Gators led Norman County West 52-17 at halftime en route to an 84-44 Section 8A West quarterfinal win and had a 60-26 intermission cushion in a 106-62 semifinal victory over Stephen-Argyle. That trend continued Tuesday when a 40-26 difference at the break led to a 76-60 title game decision against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo.

"The whole tournament, we've gotten off to a good start," acknowledged Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Kent Christian. "That's a matter of the kids being ready to play."

The outcome advanced the 22-6 Gators into the Section 8A championship game Friday against Fertile-Beltrami, a 78-59 winner over Clearbrook-Gonvick in the 8A East final that kicked off a doubleheader in the Ralph Engelstad Arena that drew an announced crowd of 2,303 fans.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo split a pair of high-scoring regular season meetings, with the Gators winning the first one 82-77 and the Ponies handing B/G-MR one of its four overtime losses this winter in the rematch, 72-71.

There wasn't much suspense in the tournament encounter as the Gators floored the Ponies by jumping out to a two-touchdown lead in the first four minutes. Half of that early-game offense came from Jordan Creviston, whose four-point play – a 3-point basket and free throw – made it 20-6. The 6-0 junior forward had 16 points by halftime and finished the night with 30.

Tournament Results
■ Section 8A East final - Fertile-Beltrami 78, Clearbrook-Gonvick 59
■ Section 8A West final - Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 76, Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 60
■ Section 8A championship - Fertile-Beltrami (23-5) vs. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River (22-6), Friday, March 16, 7 p.m., TRF-Ralph Engelstad Arena

"The strength of this team is balance," explained Christian. "A couple of kids weren't playing well offensively at the start, but Jordan picked it up."

Warren-Alvarado-Oslo, after coming back from a 19-point first half deficit to hand Marshall County Central an 81-78 overtime loss in the Saturday semifinals, looked like it might be capable of pulling off the same kind of magic when the Ponies chopped the difference to 28-22 following a Matt McFarland basket from underneath with 7:40 still to play in the first half.

The Gators, however, answered with a 9-0 run to shoot their lead back to 37-22 on a three-point play by Creviston with 5:06 left.

Only once in the second half did the Gators' lead shrink to a single-digit figure – when Brian Bye banked in a short turnaround jumper to make it 58-49 with 8:23 on the clock.

The Ponies' potential to score from 3-point range still gave them a glimmer of hope after McFarland scored on the inside for a 66-55 difference with 2:33 to go. But again, the Gators met the challenge with a title-clinching 7-0 response that produced the game's biggest spread at 73-55 on a fast break lay-up by Zach Creviston with 1:13 remaining.

"We've been playing good basketball all year, but we're definitely peaking at the right time," offered Christian.

Zach Creviston, a 6-2 sophomore forward, wound up with 22 points. Casey Larson, a 6-1 sophomore forward, led the Ponies with 20 points, while McFarland, a 6-2 senior guard, and Evan Mattson, a 6-1 junior forward, both netted 13.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 25-for-52 from the field (48 percent and a busy 23-for-34 at the free throw line. Warren-Alvarado-Oslo went 20-for-49 from the floor (41 percent) and had a 13-for-19 free throw night. The Gators outrebounded the Ponies 40-30. Turnovers were even at 13-apiece.

The Ponies finished the year 19-8.

Gators win state debut

Tom Neihauer is going to remember his 504th win as a high school basketball coach. How would you ever forget a victory in a first-ever state tournament appearance?

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River avoided a one-and-done showing and guaranteed itself a three-game, four-day Twin Cities stay by beating Christ's Household of Faith 47-39 Wednesday in the 2007 Class A girls state quarterfinals at the Target Center in Minneapolis.

It was the state tournament debut for the Gators, formed through a consolidation/cooperative merger put into place for the 1992-93 school year. Neihauer coached the Middle River girls before the three communities combined. None of them had reached the state tournament on their own.

The win over Christ's Household of Faith, a small, private school located in St. Paul, advanced Badger/Greenbush-Middle River into the Friday Class A state semifinals against defending champion Fulda, a 65-36 first round winner over Rushford-Peterson.

Liz Schenkey got Badger/Greenbush-Middle River off on the right foot. The winners, who led from start to finish, had a 13-4 advantage 6 1/2 minutes into the game, and the 5-10 junior guard had all 13 of the Gators' points.

A jumper by Kaley Mekash with 11 seconds remaining made it 29-17 at the half. It would be the largest point spread of the night.

Christ's Household of Faith cut the difference to just 32-29 when Damara Scheeler hit a jump shot with nine minutes remaining in the game. But the Gators answered the challenge with an 8-2 run that pushed their lead back to 40-31 on two Reggie Wollin free throws with 4:56 left. It was an 11-point, 44-33 gap on a Wollin free throw with just 1:54 on the clock.

Schenkey led all scorers and rebounders with 23 points and eight boards. Mekash had a 14 point game for the Gators, who improved their record to 27-4.

The Lions were led by 5-7 senior forward Hilary Geerdes with 12 points and 5-8 senior center Irena Bratzel with 10. Sarah Palenschat, a 5-11 junior center, who had seven triple-doubles this winter, was limited to just two points, but she was still a dominating figure in the middle with an eye-popping 13 blocked shots.

A 31 percent 14-for-45 Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shooting figure from the field included an 18 percent 4-for-22 second half showing. Christ's Household of Faith put together a 44 percent 18-for-41 shooting figure, but the Lions were quiet 2-for-2 at the free throw line, where the Gators went 17-for-21.

Section 8A East final...

Second half run leads to win for Fertile-Beltrami

A 15-0 second half run that turned a 49-45 deficit into a 60-49 lead carried Fertile-Beltrami to a 78-59 win over Clearbrook-Gonvick Tuesday in the Section 8A East boys high school basketball tournament final at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls.

The lead changed hands eight times and there were a couple of ties in a first half that ended with the Falcons on top 36-35 following a Cody Coauette rebound basket with 30.1 seconds remaining.

It was more of the same in the first 4 1/2 minutes of the second half, with a Jordan Westrum free throw producing that five-point Clearbrook-Gonvick lead. But that's when things began to go in the Falcons' favor. A Cory Stevens 3-pointer started the game-turning run that culminated in a Jordon Solie basket from underneath with 9:13 to play. By the time Clayton Johnson hit a long jumper, the Bears had gone a fatal 4 minutes, 41 seconds without a point.

Fertile-Beltrami would out-score Clearbrook-Gonvick 33-10 over the last 13 1/2 minutes of the game as the Falcons improved to 23-5 heading into Friday's Section 8A championship game. The Bears finished 20-7.

Stevens, a 6-1 senior guard, scored the Falcons' first seven points and finished with 28. Dustin Kise, a 6-0 junior guard, scored 15 of his 24 points in the second half.

Johnson, a 5-11 senior guard, led the Bears with 27 points.

Fertile-Beltrami shot 49 percent from the field (29/59) and made 17 of 23 free throw attempts. Clearbrook-Gonvick shot 37 percent from the floor (21/57) and went 13-for-20 at the line. The Falcons finished with a 35-24 rebound advantage and topped the turnover charts 14-13.

Evan Mattson of Warren-Alvarado-Oslo had to contend with Badger/Greenbush-Middle River defenders Nathan Thompson (35) and Dale Stauffenecker as he brought the ball down the floor in the second half of Tuesday's Section 8A West boys high school basketball tournament match-up at the Ralph Engelstad Arena. An early lead propelled the Gators to a 76-60 win.

Gators win state tournament debut

The Gators finished with a 31-25 rebound advantage.

Both sides had turnover problems: 35 for the Lions and 30 for the Gators. However, while Badger/Greenbush-Middle River scored 23 points off the opponent's ball-handling errors, Christ's Household of Faith scored only eight points off the Gators' turnovers.

It was the tenth time the Gators have held an opponent under 40 points this year, and the fourth time they've accomplished that feat in five post-season games.

Christ's Household of Faith, a team that appeared in five previous state tournaments but was returning to the field after an eight-year absence, finished with a 21-9 record.

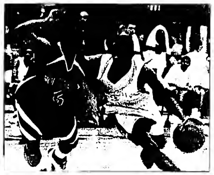
Northland men reach Final Four



Defense did it again for the Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team Thursday when the Pioneers made their National Junior College Athletic Association Division III national tournament debut with a 55-44 quarterfinal win over Gloucester County College of New Jersey.

It was the 25th straight win for the 28-4 Pioneers, advancing them into the Friday semifinals of the eight-team, three-day tournament being hosted by the State University of New York College of Technology in Delhi, N.Y.

The 44 points represented a season-low for the nationally-ranked Northland defense. The Pioneers gave up just 55 and 52 points in national tournament-qualifying Region 13 wins over Minneapolis and Central Lakes.

Northland had a 24-14 lead with six minutes left in the first half. A Gloucester comeback resulted in a 24-24 tie on a pair of Zane Oksley free throws with just over a minute left, but the Pioneers had a 28-24 edge at the half, thanks to a buzzer-beater by Trumaine Johnson.

It was tied again at 38-38 on a basket by Gloucester's Antry Miles with seven minutes remaining in the game. Northland, however, outscored the Roadrunners 17-6 the rest of the way for the win, with the 11-point final representing the biggest scoreboard spread of the game.

Johnson scored 18 points, Kyrk Freeman had 16 and Tomas Loberg 10 to lead the Northland offense. The Pioneers were 19-for-46 from the field (41 percent) and 13-for-24 at the free throw line.

Kyle Wakefield scored 17 points and Miles had 11 for the Roadrunners, who went 17-for-52 from the floor (33 percent) and 10-for-21 at the line.

Gloucester finished with a 41-34 edge on the boards. Loberg led the Pioneers with eight rebounds. Northland's Matt Fontes was credited with eight assists.

The Pioneers lost 6-4 freshman center Brock Esaw to a knee injury in the first half. He is not expected to play the rest of the tournament.

Gloucester, a repeat tournament entry from 2006, fell to 23-10 with the loss.

College of DuPage pulled away in the second half to beat Northland Community and Technical College 79-66 Thursday in the opening round quarterfinals of the 2007 National Junior College Athletic Association Division III women's national basketball tournament at Utica, N.Y.

The loss dropped the 14-17 Pioneers into the Friday consolation round against 17-11 Brookdale Community College of N.J., a 70-45 first round victim of unbeaten host Mohawk Valley Community College.

Trailing 38-31 with 1 1/2 minutes left in the first half, Northland got back to within 38-37 by the break as Jackie Fossum scored off a drive just before the horn.

The lead had changed hands six times and there were five ties in the first half. It remained close until the midway mark of the second half when the Chicago-area Chaparrals went on a 12-2 run to open up a 16-point lead with just over seven minutes to play.

Fossum put together an 18-point, 10-rebound double-double, while Casey Engelstad scored 13 points and grabbed 9 rebounds for the Region 13B champion Pioneers.

FSA Commodity Loan and LDP deadlines near

The Pennington County FSA Office wants to remind producers who are planning to use the Farm Service Agency (FSA) commodity loan program for their 2006 crop that March 31, 2007, is the deadline for filing applications for the following 2006 crops: wheat, barley, oats, canola, and flax. March 31, 2007, is also the deadline for requesting a loan deficiency payment (LDP) for the crops earning an LDP.

To be eligible for a loan or LDP, a producer must have complied with the annual program requirements for the farm that produced the crop and maintain beneficial interest in the commodity placed under loan or LDP. Loan eligibility also requires that the commodity must be in storable condition, meet the specific commodity eligibility requirements, not been substituted, purchased, bartered or received as a gift, and not been previously pledged for a loan deficiency payment.

Commodity loan and LDP applications are required to be completed through the FSA County Office that maintains the farm program records. Producers considering using the FSA commodity loan program for the listed crops should contact the Pennington County FSA Office at 681-1612 ext. 2 or their local FSA Office to complete an application before the March 31 [illegible]

Q107 to intensify coverage in area

The Twin Falls, Idaho-based group purchased the construction permits for the aforementioned sites a few years ago, and recently offered to sell them to Shine the Light at an extremely low cost. The amazing offer was too good to pass up.

What makes this deal even more impressive is that the Federal Communications Commission currently has a licensing moratorium on translators, Ehlke stated. "Just when we thought there really wasn't potential for growth, this amazing thing happens to Shine the Light and Q107 FM. We now have the potential of reaching tens of thousands of new listeners."

This is not to say Q107 hasn't experienced any rate of growth. In the last few years, the radio station has built one new translator in Walker and upgraded its 104.9 FM signal in Grand Forks, N.D. Pine to Prairie and Shine the Light are working on plans to build a Grand Forks broadcast studio. The station has afternoon live radio program being broadcast from the city weekdays from 4 to 6 p.m.

However, for both Carsten Hovland and Phil Ehlke, the motivation is not about expanding presence in the region, but increasing the Q107's ability to minister the grace and love of Christ. Hovland echoed the intensity of these sentiments by saying, "Without that what's the purpose of being on the air." Ehlke explained the concept further by commenting, "It's a little different with Christian radio. The main focus is not about corporation; it's not about the people that work there; it is about the Gospel of Christ."

Shine the Light is facing some hard deadlines on the project. The FCC is requiring the translators in Thief River Falls to be up and running by April 6 of this year, and the one in Park Rapids to be completed by May 26.

The main hurdle now is money. To address that need, Shine the Light and Q107 conducted a one day on-air fundraising event entitled "Expansion Explosion Sharathon" on March 14. The goal was to raise $75,000 in 12 hours. That amount would cover the amount needed to build all four translators and construct the studio in Grand Forks.

If accomplished, this would mean that Q107 would have the largest coverage area of any radio station in northwest Minnesota. For the city of Fosston, it means having what many rural communities don't have - a strong, established broadcast entity.

The Thief River Falls Band Boosters recently donetad a Sousaphone to the LHS Pap Band. "We ere so appreciativa to the Bend Boosters for this gift", said bend director Rachel Route, "We had mora tuba players in the pep band than we had sousaphones for them to play, I went to the boostars with this and thay ware eble to meet our need," The Band boosters are eble to provide additional rasources to the Thief River Fells band program through tha Band Burger Dinner fundraisers they hold twice e year. The Spring dinnar will be held Monday, March 19 from 4:30-7 p.m. in the LHS cafetaria. Tha FMS Morning Darkness Jazz Bend will provide entertainment from 5-6pm and the LHS Jazz Band will go on from 6-7pm. Tickets for edults ere $6 and $3 for children. (Submitted photo)

Spellers from area schools advance to Multi-Regional State Spelling Bee

The Northwest Service Cooperative hosted the Region 1 & 2 Spelling Bee on March 3 at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls. Advancing from local and district competitions, forty-one students in grades 5-8 from 37 schools in northwestern Minnesota participated in the Regional Spelling Bee. Spellers participated in a written round in the morning with the top 27 students from this round continuing in the afternoon with an oral round that lasted eight rounds with 117 words.

The top four spellers of the Regional Spelling Bee will advance to the Multi-Regional State Spelling Bee on March 22 in St. Cloud with the winner of this bee advancing to the 80th Annual National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C., on May 30-31. Region 1 & 2 winning spellers who will go on to compete at the Multi-Regional State Spelling Bee are Elizabeth Patterson, Grade 5, Bagley School District; Nolan Vorderbruggen, Grade 7, Blackduck School District; Landon Adolphson, Grade 8, Stephen/Argyle School District; and Reed Klinkhammer, Grade 6, Win-E-Mac School District.

Additional local students competing at the Regional Spelling Bee included Vanessa Burkel, Badger; Suzanne Dufault, Fosston; Kimberly Williamson, Greenbush/Middle River; Trenton Olson, Goodridge; Jake Saurdiff, Grygla; Arthur Kukowski, Lancaster; Peter Rokke, Marshall County Central - Newfolden; Shelby Pahlen, Red Lake County Central; Tyler Hensel, Red Lake Falls; Tyler Ostgaard, Roseau; Joshua O'Connell, St. Bernard's – Thief River Falls; Shelby Dvergsten, Thief River Falls; Kirstyn Scholin, Thief River Falls; Sahrina Budziszewski, Tri-County – Karlstad; and Aaron Judovsky, Warren/Alvarado/Oslo.

Avis Dyrud from NCTC served as the reader for the Regional Spelling Bee. Lloyd Hietala, Badger School District; Brenda Leier, Thief River Falls School District; and Jan Anderson, Red Lake Falls School District, assisted as judges.

The Multi-Regional State Spelling Bee will be held March 22 with winning spellers from six regions participating.

The spelling bee is a series of competitions for students in grades 5-8 beginning at the classroom level and progressing on to district, region, state and national levels. Benefits for students include improving spelling, increasing vocabulary, learning concepts, developing correct English usage, developing poise in public performance and being recognized for their participation.

Spring weather brings new concerns

Potential Outlook for February through June 2007 calls for the potential for significant wildfire activity to be higher than normal this spring over portions of the southern tier of states and northern Minnesota," said Tom Wordell, Wildland National Interagency Fire Center fire analyst.

As of March 13, there have been approximately 9,748 wildfires encompassing 137,554 acres. This is 112 percent of the average number of fires, and 63 percent of average total acreage to date.

The U.S. Seasonal Drought Outlook calls for drought conditions persisting or intensifying through June over much of the Southwest, potentially spreading into portions of Utah and western Colorado. Drought conditions also are expected to persist across peninsular Florida. Some improvement is predicted over the extreme northern Plains as well as portions of Texas and Oklahoma.

For the nation as a whole, the U.S. Spring Outlook for April through June is for increased chances of below-normal precipitation from the central Rockies into much of Nevada and the southern half of California, as well as Louisiana, eastern Texas and eastern Oklahoma. The remainder of the country, including Alaska and Hawaii, has equal chances of above, near or below normal precipitation.

Meanwhile, above normal temperatures are more likely across a wide area of the country, from the West through the Plains into the Southeast, while below normal temperatures are likely for southwest California and Hawaii. The remainder of the country has equal chances of above, near or below normal temperature.

An equal chance, either for temperature or precipitation, is predicted when there are no reliable and skillful signals on which to base the seasonal outlook.

NOAA wants to remind everyone that springtime weather can often bring severe storms. NOAA has a variety of weather safety information online to help keep you safe. Everyone should have a NOAA Weather Radio All Hazards to stay ahead of the storms.
